HON. HUGH GUTHRIE ADDRESSES ELECTORS OF EAST PETERBORO ON BEHALF OF MR. J E. SEXSMITH

Explain Fully Aims of New Union Government and Urged Voters to Back up the Men in the Trenches---Meeting Marked by Absence of Political Feeling.

East Peterborough is all right. It will give a majority for Mr. J. E. Sexsmith and Union Government if the Laurier faction stand by their guns and insist on an election. The riding is well represented at the front, every town and village, every hamlet, has its quota in the country's forces. All classes and ranks of society are represented in the army. The friends at home have not forgotten the brave men overseas, and will back them up. The way to do this is to support the Government that stands pledged to render those men prompt and effective aid. The representative of that Government in East Peterborough is Mr. Sexsmith, and he will get the votes of those who for the time have buried partisanship and are standing shoulder to shoulder in a united effort to win the war.

The campaign on behalf of Mr. Sexsmith was opened by a mass meeting in Norwood last night, the chief speaker being Hon. Hugh Guthrie, one of the Liberal representatives from Ontario and Solicitor-General in the new Government, a man well known as one of the leading publicists of the day and who has two sons at the front, neither one of whom is yet 21 years of age. Mr. Guthrie is one of the leading orators in Canada, possessor of a resonant voice and an imposing stage presence. Every sentence is complete and every argument which he uses is convincing. The large audience that filled the town hall last night listened to him with the closest attention for over two hours. Prominent among his hearers were the women relatives of East Peterborough's fighting force, the new voters who will take so important a part in the coming election.

The meeting last night was marked by unanimity of sentiment and by the utter lack of anything like party rancor. There were no unkind or caustic references to the other side. The name of William H. Johnston, the nominee of the Laurier party convention, was scarcely mentioned, and when it was, reference was made to his personal integrity and to his value as a citizen of the county.

Mr. G. A. Brethen, well known as a representative farmer, who has never been an active partisan, presided, and in his opening address expressed the hope that the good fellowship that seemed to unite all factions now would continue even after the war. Mr. Sexsmith gave a concise resume of his record in Parliament, and Rev. Charles Adams, pastor of the Methodist church at Havelock, was one of the speakers. He appealed especially to those too old for active service to do their bit as opportunity is given them. For himself, eh has offered to leave his study and to take the place at the plow of any farmer's son who is overseas.

Mr. Guthrie's Address.

Mr. Guthrie said he had been lambasted from one end of the Dominion to the other for entering the Union Government, but he had no regrets to express, no apologies to offer, for his course. Six years ago he spoke in the same hall on behalf of the candidacy of Mr. F. D. Kerr. He believed he was right on the issue at that time, and believes so still. He would not have come to the meeting last night if he had not been sure of the position of Mr. Sexsmith and certain that Mr. Johnston, an estimable citizen, was a follower of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The points that he so clearly emphasized were that Union Government is not understood. England adopted it soon after the war broke out; France, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand followed this example. Canada alone held out.

He does not maintain that we have an ideal coalition, but that is Sir Wilfrid Laurier's fault. He was asked to name half the members of the Cabinet and to enter it himself, but refused to co-operate with any government that favored compulsion.

Mr. Guthrie and his Liberal associates in the Union Government have not changed their coats or renounced their principles. They have simply cast off their partisanship until after the war.

If Quebec had responded under the voluntary system, conscription would never have been necessary in Canada. The 436,000 volunteers are five and a half per cent. of the entire population, a magnificent record, but the voluntary system had its limitations, as was realized when the casualties exceeded the enlistments by three to one. The great question now is,

LLOYD GEORGE TO SPEAK LATER

DEFERS STATEMENT TO COMMONS WITH REGARD TO PARIS SPEECH.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Nov. 14.—Premier Lloyd George was asked in the Commons today by Former Premier Asquith for a statement in regard to his Paris speech, in which he spoke of the new inter-Allied committee and the blunders which he said had been made by the Allies. The Premier is expected to defer a full statement until later, when an opportunity will be given the House to discuss it.

ON THE FRENCH FRONT.

Paris, Nov. 14.—The French made successful raids in the vicinity of St. Quentinsa Pignuel and the Chaume Wood. Artillery is active on the Meuse. Elsewhere all is calm.

HUNS MEET WITH COMPLETE ROUT

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Nov. 14.—The Germans met with a complete defeat at the hands of the British yesterday in Flanders, the war office reports. An attempt to recapture the ground recently won by British near Passchendaele was repulsed.

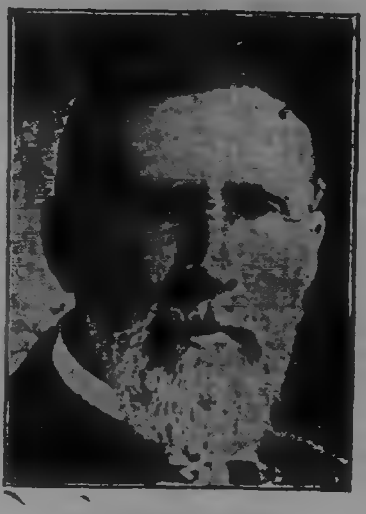
The official communication follows: Following upon increased activity of their artillery already noted, the Germans yesterday attacked the positions held by our troops on the high ground north of Passchendaele. The attack was repulsed completely. This is the section captured and presumably held by the Canadians.

Hugh Chambers, for many years M. C. R. car inspector, was killed by a train at Niagara Falls.

Union Mass Meeting at the Armories

Sir George Foster, Canada's capable Minister of Trade and Commerce, will arrive from Toronto this evening on the 5.40 G. T. R. train. He will be met by Capt. Burnham and other loyal supporters of the Union Administration, and escorted to the Empress Hotel, where he will register during his stay in Peterborough.

Sir George will leave the Empress tonight at a quarter to eight for the Armories, where he will deliver an address in support of Capt. Burnham and the Union Government. He is an eloquent and lucid speaker, and apart from the information he will offer as to the reasons for coalition and unity of all parties in this time of Canada's crisis, his speech will be worth while from a rhetoric point of view.



SIR GEORGE FOSTER

Amongst other things, Sir George has an earnest warning against the "umbrella" candidates which none can really afford to miss. This warning is one object of his tour.

The Armories will be well heated and comfortably seated. Ladies are invited. The members of the Veterans' Association will occupy seats on the platform.

YOU SHOULD BE THERE.

TWO TOWNS LOST

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Berlin, Nov. 14.—The capture by the Austro-German forces of the towns of Primolano, in the Sugana Valley, and Feltre, west of the upper Piave river, is claimed today by army headquarters. Only artillery fighting is reported along the River Piave.

Bertrand James McCaul, 132 Lewis street.

Ernest Philip Colback, 253 Princess street.

Harold N. Sellon, 23 Aylmer St.

Norman D. Seaton, 460 Charlotte St.

Exempted in C Class.

John Sykes Boyd, 311 Stewart St.

Thresher Asks Exemption.

Sydney Todd, aged 34, R. R. No. 5, Peterborough, an AII man, asked exemption on the grounds of being engaged in threshing, a work necessary to the prosecution of the war. He owns a threshing outfit himself. Since August 15th has been working overtime among the farmers, but may be through with his thresh- the contracts by Christmas. Mr. George Montcrief testified that there is no better man in the country, both in regard to farming and threshing, than Sydney Todd; he is troubled with rheumatism.

Mr. Aylmer said many may suffer from rheumatism and still could not be classed as unfit. We've got to get a hundred thousand men, and if we cannot get them from among the single men, recourse to married men would follow. Judgment deferred.

Albert L. Lightheart, 22 years old, 221 Rink street, an AII applicant asked to be exempted on the ground that he is sole support of his mother and little nephew.

Frank B. Jackson, 27 years old, 155 Aylmer street another AII man, asked time to arrange his business affairs. He was given till February first.

German Claim.

Fred Saltzman is a German by birth, who left the Fatherland when four years of age for England, where he lived eight years. He came with his father to Canada ten years ago. His father is living in Smiths Falls. Neither he nor his father have been naturalized. His father was born in Lorraine under French rule, and he was born in Lorraine under German domination. Saltzman claimed recognition as an Alien. He works in the C.G.E. as a toolmaker, and had been classed as an AII man. His exemption was granted, he not having been naturalized.

Are Charged With MacRobbie Murder

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Hamilton, Nov. 14. — Charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Dr. D. G. MacRobbie, a well-known Hamilton physician on August 19th, Harry Smith, J. J. McAuliffe, Walter Scott and Herbert Asseltine, all well known citizens, were placed on trial at the Assizes here today. All pleaded not guilty.

The principal witness this morning was William Bell, employe of the Crescent Oil Co., on whose premises MacRobbie was found in a dying condition. He repeated the evidence given at the inquest and preliminary proceedings.

In the court room today the police had prepared a replica of the room in which Dr. MacRobbie met his death. The case is causing much interest.

D. C. Bradshaw Late of Peterboro Wounded

Information is to hand that Quartermaster Sergeant D. C. Bradshaw has been wounded in France. This gallant young officer will be remembered in Peterborough as accountant with the Royal Bank, being transferred two years ago last summer to Sudbury, where he enlisted with the 227th Battalion. Some time after reaching England officers and men of the battalion were drafted to France. Quartermaster Sergeant Bradshaw is a keen sport, and a star hockey player. His home is in London, Ont.

LIMIT PROFITS THAT ARE MADE BY PACKERS

Government Announces Policy With Regard to Packing House Plants.

TAKE ALL OVER 15 PER CENT.

Half Over Seven Per Cent Will Also Be Conscripted.

Ottawa, Nov. 14. — Official announcement was made yesterday of the Government's plan to establish Government control of all packing-houses in Canada, a step which Sir Robert Borden announced would be taken shortly after the formation of the present Union Administration. The action taken provides for a control of the profits of the packers and for the appropriation by the Government of all profits in excess of 15 per cent. One-half of all profits in excess of 7 per cent. and up to 15 per cent., will be taken by the Government. The official announcement is as follows:

In carrying out the policy of the Union Government as announced by the Prime Minister shortly after its formation it has been decided to establish effective control over all packing-houses in Canada.

The control of profits shall be as follows:

1. No packer shall be entitled to a profit of more than 2 per cent. of his total annual turnover, that is, his total sales during any one year.

2. If the 2 per cent. on annual turnover exceeds 7 per cent. on the actual capital invested in the business, the profits shall be further restricted as follows:

(a) Up to 7 per cent. on capital the packer may retain the profits;

(b) If the profits exceed 7 per cent and do not exceed 15 per cent., one-half of the profits in excess of 7 per cent. shall belong to the packer and one-half to the Government.

(c) All profits in excess of 15 per cent. shall belong to the Government.

Suitable regulations shall be made to ensure the carrying out of this policy.

The above is the fulfilment of a plan which has been in course of preparation for some time and was announced at Winnipeg on October 22nd.

CALGARY SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Calgary, Nov. 14.—Victory Loan subscriptions in Calgary totalled $184,700. Of this amount approximately $100,000 was subscribed for at the banks and the remainder was taken by canvassers.

WIN THE WAR ASSOCIATION WILL SEND REPRESENTATIVE TO CITY TO WORK FOR CAPT. BURNHAM

Situation Here is Perfectly Understood and no Other Course is Left Association When Liberals Reject Offers of Union---Mrs. Hyslop to Hold Meetings.

Mr. Burnham received a telephone communication this afternoon from Mr King secretary of the Win-the-War Association, Toronto, who asked Mr. Burnham if he would accept the assistance of Mrs. Hyslop, organizer of Liberal Unionist Women's Clubs. Mr. Burnham said that he would be glad to but asked Mr. King if he understood that he was not the nominee of a Union convention but a supporter of the Borden Union Government. Mr. King replied that he understood the situation in Peterborough perfectly and that when the Liberal Convention turned down the offer of a Union convention and nominated their own candidate there was nothing for it but the position taken by Mr. Burnham. This position the Win-the-War Association approved of and Mrs. Hyslop will arrive next week to help Mr. Burnham in organization.

CASE OF SISTER MARY BASIL IS ON AT KINGSTON

Charges Archbishop Spratt with Assault, Abduction and False Arrest.

Says She Was Forced to Return to Convent Against Her Will.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Kingston, Nov. 14. — Sister Mary Basil continued her testimony this morning in the trial of her action against Archbishop Spratt and others to recover $29,000 damages for assault, abduction, false arrest and imprisonment. The witness, still in the garb of a nun, told of her interviews with Dr. Phelan, who had pronounced her insane. She told how she was induced to move to the convent in Belleville, where she had first been treated with great kindness, but later, she said, had been subjected to persecutions.

CAPT. BURNHAM'S ADDRESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

Election-day is December 17th. Its nearness admits of no further delay on the part of candidates in formally addressing you. It was hoped that political parties in West Peterborough might unite, as the members of the Borden Union Administration have done, in its support. But since the Liberal Convention has met and chosen its standard-bearer, who has not declared himself to be a supporter of the Borden Union Administration, it becomes necessary for me, without more, to solicit your suffrages. At the convention of the Conservatives of West Peterborough, duly assembled, I was chosen as their candidate to support Sir Robert Borden and his Administration. The Prime Minister has formed a Union Administration, composed of Conservative, Liberal and Labour representatives, to the end that he may the more fully and surely carry in a spirit of national unity and co-operation Canada's share in the war to a successful conclusion.

I pledge myself, therefore, with that same spirit of unity and co-operation, to support the Borden Union Administration and its policies, and I earnestly and respectfully solicit your votes and support accordingly. This is no ordinary political campaign, and it is hoped that all well-wishers of the Borden Union Administration will make every effort to secure the return of its supporters.

I have the honour to remain,

Yours truly,
J. H. BURNHAM.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 14, 1917

MR. SEXSMITH'S STATUS.

THE STATUS of Mr. J. E. Sexsmith as a Union candidate has been officially recognized by the Government. Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Solicitor-General, spoke at Norwood last night on behalf of Mr. Sexsmith's candidature. Mr. Guthrie made his position clear when he stated that he would not have come to the meeting unless he had been sure of Mr. Sexsmith's position on the Union question and of the fact that the Liberals had put a straight Laurier candidate in the field against him. The situation is as plain as a pikestaff to any but the blinded partisan, and the conditions that prevail in the West Riding are exactly similar.

Premier Borden, in response to a telegram, said, it is quite true, that any candidate nominated at a Union convention would be recognized by the Government and recommended to the support of the public. He could hardly say less, and certainly not more, than this. There is nothing in his statement that can be construed as meaning that a supporter of the Union Government brought before the public in any other way is not to be entitled to recognition when his opponent is an avowed opponent of the Government, a clear partisan through and through.

The present is no time to stand for formalities, the observance of which would lead to the same conditions as already exist. There are in each riding two men in the field. One of each pair is for Union, the other against it. The voters should have no difficulty in making a selection. Premier Borden will not hesitate over the question as to which of the quartette will support him.

The soldiers in Europe will not be at a loss as to which of the candidates are to be reckoned as their friends.

Sir George E. Foster, one of the outstanding figures in Canadian public life, and prominent in the new Cabinet, comes to Peterborough tonight to speak on behalf of the Union Government and Capt. Burnham's candidature. Sir George, too, it is safe to assume, would not speak at such a meeting unless he was assured of Capt. Burnham's position and if the Liberals had not nominated Mr. R. R. Hall on Saturday.

EAST PETERBOROUGH ASSURED.

EAST PETERBOROUGH electors at the Norwood meeting last night heard Mr. J. W. Sexsmith, who has represented them in Parliament for the past nine years, give a straightforward account of his stewardship, the frank statement of a man who has nothing to conceal and nothing in his record for which to apologize. Mr. Sexsmith is close to the people. He knows what his constituents require, and has always worked energetically for their interests.

The electors also had an opportunity to hear an estimate of Mr. Sexsmith presented by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, who has sat for years in Parliament with Mr. Sexsmith and who has learned to respect the latter's fidelity to the trust that the people have reposed in him. The two gentlemen have followed different leaders in the past, but they are united in a common purpose now. Mr. Guthrie's complimentary tribute to his former opponent's worth should have weight with Mr. Sexsmith's friends at home.

East Peterborough residents have every reason to feel proud of their representative. He is a man who would do honor to any constituency, as his record testifies. He never was a partisan in the accepted sense of the term, and his present position calls for no violent wrench of former associations. It is to be regretted that the will of the majority of the electors had not prevailed and that the riding had not been spared the unseemly spectacle of an undignified scramble for office on the part of the anti-Unionists.

SACRIFICE OF PERSONAL PREFERENCE.

UNION GOVERNMENT undoubtedly calls for some slight sacrifices of personal preference by those Unionist supporters who will be called to vote for accepted Unionist candidates whom they have been accustomed to look upon as political opponents. Is this slight sacrifice of personal inclination deserving even of mention in comparison with the sacrifices and the service which the young manhood of Canada has been called upon from every recruiting platform to make, or that which we are now compelling our young manhood to make under the Military Service Act?

It is idle to say that "nothing matters but the war," and immediately to act as if our old political preference must be preserved at all costs. It is not as if either Liberal or Conservative were called upon to make the slightest sacrifice of principle. Matters upon which the parties differed in principle will and must stand over until after the war. The Union Government can "carry on" only with a strong public support. Belief in its success is vital. Doubts about its success, if widely or loudly uttered, would foredoom it to failure. This would be a national catastrophe joyfully welcomed by our enemies. The expression of personal preference has made Russia powerless. This country has called upon our political leaders to "get together." They have got together. The rank and file must follow suit.

ARE YOU WAR WEARY?

YES? WELL, who is not? We all want the war to end soon. But we know it cannot end until Germany is beaten. Peace without victory would be but a period of preparations for another war. The only way to end the war is by hard, unfaltering blows. The soldiers cannot strike such blows unless non-combatants provide the funds.

What is the use of saying you hope the war will end soon, unless you are willing to help end it? Every dollar that is subscribed to Canada's Victory Loan will help to end the war—and win it, too.

Canada is prosperous. Exports were never so great; wages were never so high; the producer never before got such returns. The increased value of Canada's products many times exceeds the one hundred and fifty millions the Government needs to carry on the war.

The people have the money. Let them use it to buy victory and permanent peace; to preserve the flow of Canada's exports and the home circulation of money.

The Victory Loan is an assurance policy on prosperity. It is organized thrift. It means more power to the men who are fighting. It will help to avenge the sons who have fallen. It provides a sure return to the investor!

Remember, war profits are sane and just. The Government offers you your legitimate share. Help your country to help you.

FUSION OR CONFUSION?

EVERY CANADIAN worthy of the name says, "We must win the war," but it is not every Canadian who has a definite policy by which to win the war. Conscription is a definite policy—the details may not satisfy everyone, but the principle is certainly sound, for voluntary effort has been exhausted—and if anyone says we should have continued to try it, but on a large national scale, then surely the large numbers who are now seeking exemption from national conscription show the absolute futility of such a suggestion. When the house is on fire, we must unite to put it out, and if some men in the fire-bucket line have had differences between themselves as to the building of the house, or the furnishing of the house, they would be guilty of the most supreme folly, or rather of the deepest criminality, if they declined to help to save the building. The world is now on fire, and Canada, as part of it, is on fire—it is surely the act of elementary patriotism to unite as one man to quench the flames and save the nation. Let the settlement of other questions be suspended meanwhile, and let us support the National Union Government. Old party ties must, for the time being, be broken, and thus courage and true patriotism must be, and in fact have been, vindicated. It is not the case of the greater, including the less, but it is that the greater—that is the supreme safety of the people—so preponderates that it extinguishes the less—at least until the war is ended or won, which is the same thing.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

Changes in Wholesale Drygoods.

(Toronto Telegram.)

In 1878, or seven years after the late W. R. Brock opened a warehouse in Toronto, this city was the business address of twenty-nine wholesale drygoods warehouses. Toronto's general wholesale drygoods warehouses are today reduced to three.

May Save Baseball.

Baseball has never appeared to be a favorite sport among women. But Wellesley is pointing with pride to a star pitcher, who is also the best athlete in college. Even if the present league players are all called to war there is hope for the great American game.

(Hamilton Spectator.)

With the British but forty miles from Jerusalem, it is possible they may celebrate their Christmas there, or at least at "the little town of Bethlehem," but six miles from the sacred city.

The Customary Course.

(New York Evening Sun.)

Berlin protests against English brutality in bombarding German towns. It is a typically German sort of blech. Germans have been killing English civilians in unfortified towns for threee years; now that England has been driven to reprisal, it is all wrong. The German official explanation will be that the Allies started this sort of thing and that the Germans reluctantly followed. Many friends of Germany will repeat the lie, knowing it to be a lie, for a space. And then the fanatics, after having repeated it for a certain length of time, will hypnotize themselves into believing that it is not a lie. This is the usual course of pro-German propaganda.

The Draft Age.

(Chicago Tribune.)

It has been recognized as a mistake that the draft age was not fixed at nineteen when the nation adopted the wise policy of conscription. Sentimentalism may have had a great deal to do with it. Public opinion may have been feared. The young man of eighteen or nineteen years could volunteer, but twenty-one was made the youngest draft age, and it was a mistake.

Not a Bad Slogan.

(Ottawa Journal.)

"To hell with party while the war is on," seems a shocking slogan for those followers of Hon. Mr. Rowell in Western Ontario to adopt, but these are strange times.

Too Much Talk.

(Winnipeg Telegram.)

If Russia is worn out, it is not with fighting. Russia did good work early in the war, even when traitors within her camps were betraying her armies into German hands. Her good work ceased when she stopped to talk about it. Russia's weariness proceeds not from the toils of war, but from an epidemic of excessive conversation. She has used up her wind for the wrong purpose.

Cheer Up!

A Life of Noble Service.

Dr. Carman's life of more than four score years will stand as a challenge to men of this generation who take life easily, with no thought of responsibility for the welfare of others. VIEWPOINT OF A LABOR MAN

A. J. Bolwell, the local correspondent of The Typographical Journal, in the latest issue of that publication, discusses the labor situation in this city with its relation to politics as follows:

"While a Dominion elction is right at hand, organized labor in this city is not at this date in a position to say what's what in regard to a candidate on the independent labor party platform. Perhaps before many days, and certainly ere this appears in print, the workers will know what is expected of them. The Trades and Labor Council by that time may have a man away from the post. However, the writer is of the opinion that we must learn to creep before we walk. We believe it to be policy to first carry off some honor in the municipal field. Get an alderman or two in the local Council. There are men—no doubt plenty of them—holding cards in this city equal to holding an alderman's job. This would give the interest and inspiration to try for higher honors. It would gradually work up a healthy appetite, which at the present time is hardly sufficiently whetted for the larger purpose. There are many places in Canada much larger than Peterborough, with men who stand out prominently in the ranks of organized labor, yet what can labor be proud of today in the House at Ottawa or those at the provincial capitals? We hope and believe that out of the seven independent labor party candidates in Toronto, at least two or three will come through winners. We have that much confidence in organized labor in that city. Later on more will be sent down to represent (not misrepresent) labor. The day is coming in Canada, as it has in England, when we will have a direct voice in the councils of the nation. But we, like they, must grow by degrees, and be satisfied with a small beginning, seeing in each success the signal for another drive. It is our earnest hope that organized labor in this city and elsewhere — will not stand supinely by and wait for some serious situation to present itself and bring them to a full sense of their opportunities and responsibilities."

TODAY'S STORY

"I really think that Slambok should be in the asylum," explained Magenta. "He's as nutty as a man can be. He imagines all sorts of fool things. He has the idea that people are pursuing him, intending to take his life, and he's quite sure his neighbors are plotting and conspiring against him. When a man's wheels go turning backward that way it's time to round him up and file him away in a large stone building with an iron fence around it."

"Maybe you are right," conservatively admitted Fishpaw. "I suppose it indicates insanity when a man is troubled with hallucinations; but if we begin locking up all the people who see things when they aren't there I'm afraid there won't be enough of us at large to wind the town clock.

"There goes Kersmith, driving his old buckskin mare. He has plenty of money and could afford to own an eight cylinder limousine, but he spends all his spare time arguing that a horse is more satisfactory and more reliable than anything propelled by gasoline. If he had a good horse one might understand the position he takes; but that old mare has the colic every night and he has to go out and nurse her and feed her dope out of a bottle when he ought to be enjoying a few samples of tired nature's sweet restorer.

"Kersmith undoubtedly has flying squirrels in his dome, but his mania is harmless and nobody suggests locking him up.

"I have been dealing with Scantling, the grocer, for a long time, and he often tells me he could and would sell goods cheaper if he could cut out the credit business and sell for cash only. He actually believes what he says. No doubt he could sell cheaper if he did an exclusively cash business; but when he says he would do so it's a sure sign his mind is affected, and if we undertake to lock up all the loonies he will be in the first draft. But would it be advisable to sequestrate him? He is a good citizen and it would seem rather hard to take harsh measures merely because he thinks he would sell cheaper for cash.

"You can't walk for five minutes in any direction without meeting a man who has hallucinations. There goes Samovar, who imagines that his daughter Matilda is destined to be the world's great prima donna. If you observe him closely you will see that his raiment is seedy and his shoes run down at the heel. His hat did service in the Harrison campaign.

"He is spending all he can earn on Matilda. Her musical education is the one great aim and dream of his life. Now, Matilda has a voice like a guinea hen with a sore throat. All the teachers in the world couldn't make a singer of her, and the neighbors complain bitterly of the uproar when she is practicing, but they feel sorry for her dad and hate to say anything.

"It might be a good thing for him to be locked up in a padded cell for a while and give him a chance to recover from his delusion, but in such matters nobody likes to take the initial step.

"I have my own hallucinations. Every now and then I get the idea that I can entertain a crowd by making a speech, although I know, in my lucid moments, that I am the worst talker in the country. Only last night a man threw a dead cat at me when I was discussing the living issues. Yet I would vigorously protest if you tried to railroad me to the boob depot."

Wit and Wisdom

A certain gamekeeper is very clever in every branch of his business, and in the gentle art of extracting a substantial tip from a departing sportsman he has few equals.

The other day he was saying good-bye to a gentleman who had been shooting over the estate—a gentleman who, to do him justice, has never claimed to be a crack shot.

"Well, good-bye, John," he said to the gamekeeper, as they reached the station. "I've not made a very big bag, but, of course, you are not in any way to blame for that. However, I've thoroughly enjoyed myself."

"Glad to hear it, sir," responded John. "As you say, you've not done anything very startling, but then, there's compensations."

"Indeed!" laughed the gentleman. "What are they?"

"Well," said John slowly, "the birds may question your aim, an' the other gentlemen may question your wisdom in wasting cartridges, but nobody can question your liberality."

John deserved the substantial tip he received.

A trained ostrich recently disconcerted its exhibitor at a music hall by continually endeavoring to break away from all restraint and to climb over the footlights into the orchestra.

The widely-advertised act came to a sudden end and the professor emerged from behind the curtain and apologized for the actions of his pet in about these words:

"Lydies and gentlemen — Hy am very sorry to disappoint you this hevening. We are compelled to cease our hengagement until the management hengages a new orchestra leader.

"The one at present hemployed 'as no 'air on top of 'is 'ead, and my bird takes hit for a hegg."

A parson in a little country village sent his man of all work one Sunday morning to the butcher, whose name was David, to inquire as to the non-delivery of some meat which ought to have arrived the previous evening.

When the lad returned, his master had gone on to church, so he went to the sacred edifice, too.

Just as he arrived the parson was speaking these words:

"What did David say?"

Great was his surprise and that of the congregation when the reply came from the lad:

"He said that he won't let you have the meat until you have paid for the last lot."

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOOK.

(By LEE PAPE.)

Pop was reeding sumthing in a magazine after suppir, wich after he finished it he sed, And wats more, I bleeve every werd of it.

Wy wats it about? sed ma, and pop sed, Its about the power of suggestion. The power of suggestion is mightier than the sord.

Wich jest then the doorbel rang, being Mr. Lewitses ring, and pop sed, Thats Lew, now watch your Unkle Dudley try the power of suggestion on him. Wich I went down and opened the door, and Mr. Lewis came up smoaking a segar, saying, Good evening everybody, I jest dropped in on my way home on purpose to exercise the perrogative of free speech a few moments.

Always welcome, Lew, set down and rest your face and hands, sed pop. Wich Mr. Lewis did, still smoaking his segar, and pop sed, Pew, Lew, for the love of Peet, wats that cooking?

I trust youre not referring to the delicious aromer of this segar, sed Mr. Lewis, and pop sed, O, thats wat it is, is it, I thawt for a moment sumbodys shoes were on fire.

Now that you mention it, I bleeve I did notice an odd taist about this segar, sed Mr. Lewis. Wich pop winked at me and ma, saying, Odd, well I shood think so. In my candid opinion, Lew, that cigar must be entitled to a leeding place amung the 10 or 12 very werst segars in the world.

And Mr. Lewis took some more puffs, and then he sed, confownd it, I bleeve youre rite. And he took the segar out of his mouth and looked at it and then he put it in the ash tray, and then he took 3 more jest like it out of his vest pockit and throo them on the table, saying, I woodent even carry them erround with me.

And then him and pop tawked about bowling and the war and diffrent things, and pritty soon Mr. Lewis went home, wich as soon as he did pop picked up one of the 3 segars, saying, Looks like a ixpensive segar. And he smelled it, saying, Smells like one, to. And he put it in his mouth and lit it and took about 3 puffs and started to cawf, saying, Wy, blast it all, it reerly is one of the werlds 10 werst segars.

Hee hee, sed ma, laffing.

TOUCH OF ORIGINALITY MARKS A FRENCH MODEL

Every Costume From the Strictly Tailored Street Suit to the Graceful Tea Coat, Boasts the Characteristic Note of Originality.

Paris, France.—Clothes, to insure any measure of success today, must be picturesque, and quaint as well, with, if possible, some touch of originality. Then, having achieved these necessary characteristics, they will still remain ~~entirely simple, both~~ in design and effect. These delightful results are being generally seen and recognized equally in children's clothes as those intended for grown-ups. The one exception made to this is in the case of severe tailor-made, though even this, too, manages something unexpected in the way of a collar. As quite a different material may be used, velvet, velveteen, corduroy and thickly ribbed silk are all pressed into this service; or the collar will evolve into a soft affair of crepe-de-chine, capable of doing the duties of a scarf as well, though, if this is so, it is restrained within discreet limits. A tailor suit, possessing a collar of this description, will ~~yet take front~~ rank among the most practical models, showing the freedom possible to individual expression today. A wide unlined band, closely holding the hip-line, is also appearing on these suits.

There are many attractive models for what may be called the "tailleur de visite," quite a representative instance of the perfect balance of silhouette, insisted upon by the designers of these garments, being seen lately. This was a costume in white ratine; a simply molded upper part, cut with a long waistline, and being left in sac form, was gently eased into a circular basque, which yet was only slightly full. There was a deep, but in no way remarkable, turned-down collar and cavalier cuffs; also, an inside cravat of black satin was seen, in a "bunchy" bow between the corners of the collar in front. The skirt worn with this was almost narrow, bordered, as were all the edges, with narrow soutache in bright blue. This suit, as the description conveys, was of the simplest construction, and yet distinguished by an indescribable chic, unmistakable and distinct. The hat worn with it was the crowning point in the general scheme. It was rather low, with a widely turned-up brim in broad outline, and, as is so often the case now, this was entirely enveloped with the fine tulle veil, swathed over the entire head, including the hat. Another of the new costumes is seen in a long three-quarter coat, with one of the latest cape collars which are so contrived as to fit quite cosily high round the neck. This coat is decorated with a deep bordering of ~~matelasse embroi~~dery, carried round the cape and finishing the sleeves, as well as the hem of the coat. Here it is quite a deep border, which runs up at each side in semicircles.

An instance of the picturesque form of tailor-made, again in white velour cloth, has a deep crossover waistcoat of tete-de-negre suede, as its piece-de-resistance, from which the straight fronts are widely turned back and kept back by means of sets of dull copper buttons. The collar shows a particularly happy arrangement, being moderate in size and loosely turned over; it is lined with the same tete-de-negre suede as the waistcoat. The rest of this model in its skillful details carried out the originality of its main scheme. Quaint little shawl points are seen finishing some of the collars on the new sac coats, and are usually in Scotch plaids, edged with frayed-out wool. These form part of the collar itself, which is fitted closely round the neck.

One or two models, making a first appearance at one or other of the favorite places, are almost daringly oriental, yet in no way overstepping a true artistic sense. One in particular, which will probably influence, in a greater or less degree, the soft frock of the coming months, is decidedly Turkish in outline. This is seen as a kimono overdress, in rose voil, the sides drawn straight down from the shoulder and, after being held at the waistline with a narrow girdle, which is passed round twice befor hanging in straight ends at the centre front, these are gathered together in a loose puff and looped under, as it were, in this way giving a slightly drawn-up effect to the wide panel front. There is a wide border of ficelle lace at the foot of the panel, which is of finely kilted chiffon in a lighter shade of pink. At the waist a square tablier of the same lace gives characted to the upper part, while the loose sleeves are left to fall in their own natural grace. There is undoubted attraction in this model.

Pte. R. H. Mark of 19th Batt. is Dead

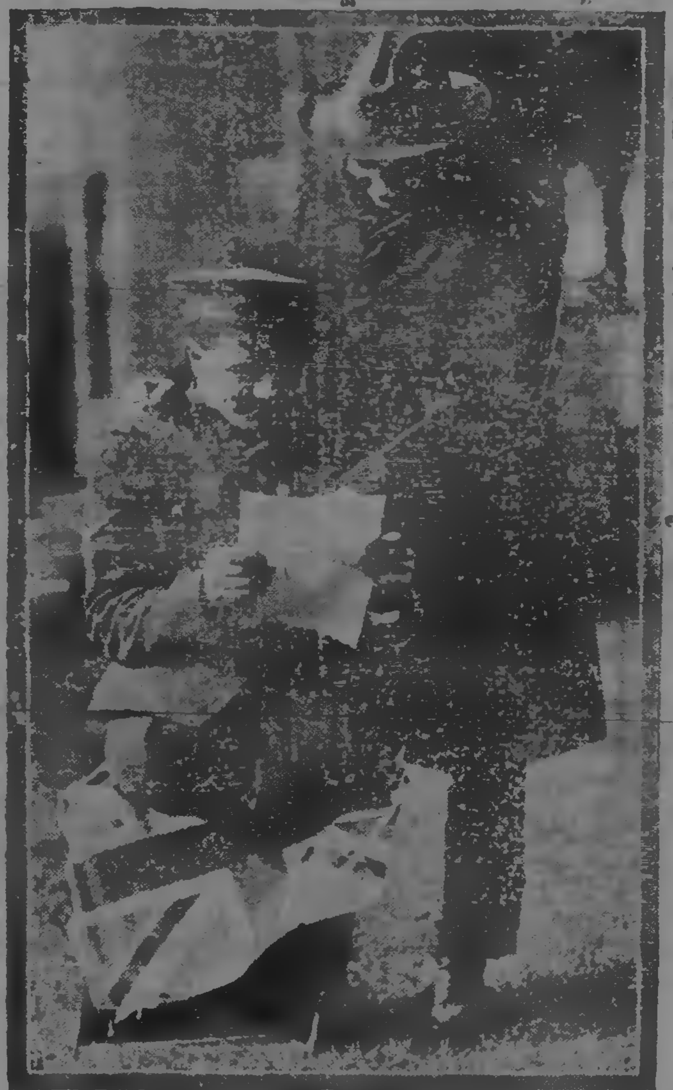
Ottawa has officially notified the friends of Private Henry Marks, of Cameron, that this gallant young soldier died of wounds on Nov. 3rd. He was wounded in France on October 31st. Deceased enlisted with the 109th Battalion, and is survived by a wife and two children.

Isn't it queer how long some people can talk about nothing?

THE JOCKEY OF DEATH

This is one of the greatest feature dramas ever shown on the screens yet. It was shown in Loew's Theatre one full week, when hundreds could not gain admission. The prices at Loew's were 25c, 50c, and 75c, but this world-masterpiece can be seen in the Royal Theatre Friday and Saturday at the same old prices: Afternoon 10c, evenings 15c. All who can should attend the matinees as the theatre's seating capacity will be taxed to the limit at night.

STUDYING THE VICTORY LOAN



This picture shows "Jock" Waddell, "the cheeriest veteran in Canada," reading over a Victory Loan prospectus with one of the canvassers. This is the soldier who was one of the first to enlist in the first battalion, first division. He was among the first to be wounded and since that time has undergone 26 surgical operations. In spite of his tribulations, he is one of the cheeriest "boosters" for the Victory Loan.

THE RED CROSS EXECUTIVE SUM UP CAMPAIGN RESULTS

Members are Encouraged by Generous Response of the Citizens—More Socks for Soldiers Urgently Needed.

The regular executive meeting of the local Red Cross Society which was held Monday afternoon, was one of marked interest and importance, for it was then, that the results of the Red Cross campaign, recently instituted and so successfully carried through by the Advisory Board, were definitely announced and formally handed over to the Red Cross Executive. That the primary objective of $20,000, was, the second day, raised to $30,000 and that ultimately $30,090, was realized testified not only to the ~~generosity of the public and~~ their real interest in Red Cross work, but also to the excellent organization and untiring zeal of the members of the Advisory Board, to whose efforts, the splendid success of the campaign was almost entirely due. The sincere appreciation of the Executive for the indefatigable enthusiasm, evinced by every member of the Advisory Board in the work of the recent campaign was testified to by the hearty endorsement of the vote of thanks, moved by Mrs. Allan and seconded by Mrs. Wood.

The Executive wish also gratefully to acknowledge the generous donation of $50 from the Girls of the Overall Club, the proceeds from the unique tea, held last Saturday at Mrs. Cressman's.

More Socks Needed.

Those of us, who heard Captain Julia Henshaw's vivid story of Red Cross work among the men in France, could not but be impressed by the imperative demand for socks, socks and still more socks. Let us keep this need constantly in mind and ply our needles still more vigorously, when we realize that the efficient work of the Canadian War Contingent Association, which reaches the boys in the trenches, is dependent on the sum total of individual efforts. Every pair of socks means added comfort for a soldier lad should any of us require any further incentive? Every Wednesday afternoon, Miss Burnett, the convener of the Knitting Committee, is in the Red Cross workroom in the Public Library and will gladly supply wool to anyone willing to knit for the boys at the front.

Parcels Arrive Safely.

In connection with the report of the Packing Committee, it is both interesting and gratifying to know that letters were received this week from Col. Hodgetts, London, Eng., assuring the local society of the safe arrival in London of all parcels, shipped during the summer months up to October 10th.

The report of the Packing Committee for October is as follows:

8 dressing gowns, 6 bed jackets, 45 day shirts, 162 pairs pyjamas, 9 hospital night shirts, 558 pairs socks, 162 pairs for the C.W.C.A., 438 sheets, 1455 towels.

The following societies and auxiliaries have sent in supplies: St. Andrew's Church, Berean Bible Class; All Saints Church, 57th Chapter I.O.D.E.; George St. Methodist; St. John's C.W.A.; Murray Street Baptist; St. Paul's Church Auxiliary; Trinity Church; St. Peter's Patriotic Club; Thursday Club.

FLORA H. DAVIDSON, Convener.

"THE BIRD OF PARADISE."

When "The Bird of Paradise" comes to The Grand next Wednesday, Nov. 21, with special matinee, a new Luana will be introduced to the theatregoers of this city. This young player is Celete Scudder, a discovery of Oliver Morosco, the well-known producer, who claims that she is the dramatic find of the year.

This Hawaiian romance, by Richard Walton Tully, was seen here last season and sprang into prominence. The tragic story of the love of this little brown-skinned girl for an American, his final abandonment of her, the uplifting of another man through the influence of an American girl, and the tragic ending of the Hawaiian princess, who gives her life to save her people from destruction, ~~form a series of dramatic stage pic~~tures that are not forgotten.

FOUR DOCTORS DISAGREED

Pains Disappeared After Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Wilmington, Del.—"I was suffering from a terrible backache and pains in my side, with bearing down pains and was very nervous. I was always tired, always drowsy, never could get enough sleep and could not eat. I had four doctors and each told me something different. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. I got good results and I now feel better than I have felt for years and I am gaining in weight. I can gladly recommend it to all women."—Mrs. GEORGE W. SEBOLD, 1611 West 4th Street, Wilmington, Del.

CONTRIBUTE YOUR SAVINGS TOWARD DEFEATING ENEMY

Victory Bonds are Better than Cash---Return Large Interest---Preserve Your Freedom.

The Victory Loan campaigns has started off in Peterborough to a good swing, with energetic working teams fired with enthusiastic determination to leave no stone unturned to make a record to be proud of. So far the great bulk of subscriptions are of $50 and $100 amounts, but the monied men of the community have not yet been canvassed to any extent.

The first day's subscriptions, totaled up yesterday afternoon, amounted to $103,500, received as follows: From team workers, $31,450; from city banks, $70,050; from county banks, $2000.

Better Than Cash.

Victory Bonds are always as good and oftentimes preferable to cash. They give a larger interest than is obtainable upon cash, which must either be retained, earning nothing, or deposited in a bank at a low rate of interest.

Preserve Your Freedom.

The subscription lists will continue open until Monday, Dec. 1, and all should remember that the duration of the war depends largely upon the size of this Victory Loan. Above all things, money is going to be the big factor in winning the mighty struggle in which Canada is engaged, for the conscription of men will be useless without the funds with which to purchase their equipment and supplies. You cannot devote your savings to a more noble purpose than that of defeating the brutal Huns and the preservation of freedom to mankind in general. Not till victory is won can our brave Canadians at the front return home to their loved ones, and the quicker that victory comes the more there will be to return. The Empire expects each and every British subject to do his and her part in the stupendous fight forced upon it by a designing foe, with Canada as an objective, and the object of the Victory Loan is to preserve Canada for Canadians and hasten the war to a triumphant conclusion, permanent world peace and the establishment of universal democracy.

Junk Yards.

Dr. Amys reported that a Jew had purchased the Jackson property on Haggard street, and want authority to establish a junk yard there. He could not see his way clear to grant such authority unless he used an adjoining lot away from Haggard for his junk.

This man now has hens in the cellar, rags in an out-house and bottles galore. This was the result of Saniary Inspector Stapleton's inspection.

"BONDS or BONDAGE"

You know what Bondage means. To learn all about the Bonds, come to the Big VICTORY LOAN MASS MEETING, to be held in the OPERA HOUSE

Thursday Eve'g, Nov. 15th

AT 8 O'CLOCK

Bring the women with you, and all catch hold and lift.

Good Music. Good Songs. Splendid Speeches.

J. J DUFFUS, Chairman Meeting
W. H. BRADBURN, County Chairman

HON. HUGH GUTHRIE

"Are we, having sent the men over, going to back them up?" Never mind party issues, but think only of the men in the trenches.

The Canadian soldiers are on duty continuously in the trenches twelve days at a time, double that served by the British and Australian troops, on account of the lack of reinforcements. Gen. Currie's message to Canada is: "For God's sake send us men." There are 8,000 a month required, and between last April and October only 700 a month were forthcoming.

The news of the defeat of Union Government in Canada would be the most cheering intelligence Germany could receive. German papers are now publishing reports of the opposition to conscription, that is the issue today.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is inconsistent because the Militia Act passed in 1904 by his administration was really conscription, and he has gone back on his own measure and has denounced it in his manifesto.

Why has he done this? Because the French people and the French members will not stand for conscription.

The soap-box orators, the dynamiters and the anti-conscriptionists are remaining quiet in Quebec because they hope for victory for Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and in that case they know there will be an end of the draft.

There is no conscription in Ireland, where 370,000 men have enlisted. It was not needed. It would not be needed in Canada if Quebec had done as well as Ireland.

All the Liberal provincial premiers, the leaders of the party and the Liberal papers are opposed to the policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Does this mean nothing?

Mr. Guthrie made an earnest defence of the Alien Disfranchisement Act, and of the legislation giving the women relatives of the soldiers the right to vote. Not over half the soldiers will be able to vote at the coming election, and it is only right that they be represented at the polls by their friends at home. Thirty-five thousand Canadians are under the sod in Flanders. Would it be right to allow as many aliens to step into their places and vote in their stead?

Mr. Guthrie said the farmer would be least of all affected by the draft law, as men were needed to produce food, and [illegible] would be taken from the land. When the operation of the Act was more fully understood there would be less opposition to it in the rural districts.

The meeting broke up at a late hour by the singing of the National Anthem. Three rousing cheers were given for Mr. Sexsmith.

ELLIOT'S STORE, PETERBORO

Our November Sale of Winter Needs at Special Prices

In spite of the well-known fact that prices of every kind of goods have risen in value, and the ever-increasing scarcity is still sending prices skyward, we are going to give you a sale that will impress its value on your mind for some time to come. We are able to do this only because of late shipments on old orders. We are giving you the benefits.

Every piece of merchandise involved in this sale bears a special sale ticket, so you can easily identify the special items mentioned here.

EXTRAORDINARY VALUES OF THE HIGHEST TYPE, COMMANDING YOUR UNDIVIDED ATTENTION, ABOUND IN EVERY PART OF THE STORE.

A great saving on everything you purchase, bearing the special sale ticket—on Millinery and Winter Mantles—(and every one of them exhaling the breath of the newer fashions).

On these highly necessary adjuncts to your wardrobe, to get the sale price, you just simply divide the price in three, and the third is yours. For instance, when you buy a coat worth thirty dollars, you put ten dollars in your pocket and take the coat; or when the coat, say, costs $10.75, you just pay $7.17 and put $3.58 in your pocket and take the coat.

And when you buy a hat that costs, say, $6.00, you just pay $4.00 for the hat and put $2.00 in your pocket, and take the hat. And it will be just the same in proportion for any hat or coat in the store during this sale.

We have just room for a few special items in this bill. There are hundreds more spread all through the store.

Come and see us. You will save money, not only now, but, in addition, the prices will be greatly higher soon.

Common Cotton Stockings, we are told, will soon be a Dollar a Pair

In view of these conditions, the following prices of real good wool and Cashmere Stockings will soon dispose of thousands of pairs, and we have a wonderful stock of Hose & Underwear, all good values at special prices.

Ladies' Cashmerette Hose

While these last the price will be only 35c per pair, or three pairs for a dollar. At present we have every size. Don't wait—be sure and come early. We never like to tell our customers that goods are out, and, though we have many thousands of pairs, they will run out, you know.

Ribbed Cashmerette Hose

These stockings come in every size from size 6 to size 10.

Your choice of any size for just, per pair	25c
Fine Texture Hose, special quality, per pair	50c
All-wool Fine Cashmere Hose, special price	60c
All 90c and $1.00 Cashmere Hose will be placed on sale for just, per pair	79c

POLITICAL NEWS

The meeting of Great War Veterans that endorsed Capt. Burnham was one of the largest yet held by that body and fully represented veteran sentiment.

The action of the veterans was a mild reproof, to say the least of it, to those enthusiastic so-called Unionists who, to the immense number of seven or eight, met nightly, without public notice, in a private office and settled the affairs of the riding.

Sir George Foster and Mr. Burnham will speak for the Borden Union Administration tonight. Let all good Canadian men and women attend. There will be seating accommodation for ladies, and it is easy to hear the speakers.

Sir George Foster is acknowledged to be the greatest orator in Canada.

Sir George Foster arrives on the 5:40 G. T. R. train and will be met at the station by Mr. Burnham. He will stop at the Empress, where no doubt many will visit him before the meeting, which is at 8 o'clock in the Armories.

If you have property for sale, a "For Sale" Ad. in The Review will sell it sure.

C.P.R. Brings a Tank to Canada

(1) British "Tanks" moving for a charge on German trenches.
(2) The "Tank" is equally at home on the level or climbing hills.
(3) The side that faces the foe. The shells are poured from the opening on the right.

—Photos by Central News.

EVERY one remembers the sensation produced on the battlefront in Flanders by the appearance of the land-battleships familiarly known as "Tanks." Through the efforts of Lord Shaughnessy of the C. P. R., who undertook to cover the heavy expense of transport the British Government has agreed to send one of the "Tanks" to Montreal to take part in a great parade for the Victory Loan. Owing to the urgent need for this "Tank" elsewhere, its stay in this country cannot be for long, so that Montreal will be the only city in Canada to have the privilege of seeing this wonderful [illegible] of war. It carries [illegible] machine guns, and will be manned by a crew of gunners, all of whom have been wounded in actual "Tank" service at the front. The Tank will be [illegible] and guarded night and day by its own crew, who will be assisted by a large squad of C. P. R. police.

King George, while recently in Flanders, rode with the Prince of Wales in a "Tank" almost identical with the one coming to Montreal. The strain of riding in a "Tank" under action is so terrific that after the day each man gets a week's leave to recuperate his nerves. Such, however, is the competition among volunteers to ride in the "Tank" that there is a large waiting list of men who have put down their names for the privilege of fighting the Hun in this way. It will be noted from the close up illustration that the shield of the machine gun is just like a human eyeball, but no human eye was ever more watchful than that of the man behind the gun.

"The Wise Old Bird"

Few People Know This

Large doses of pills for the liver are not as efficient as small doses.

The big dose purges its way through the system fast, but does not cleanse thoroughly.

The small dose (if right) acts gently on the liver, and gives it just the slight help it needs to do its own work, and do it well.

MAN MISSING FROM HIS HOME

JAMES CROUTER HAS NOT BEEN SEEN SINCE WEDNESDAY LAST.

James Crouter, 45 years of age, whose home is at 52 Victoria Avenue, has been missing since last Wednesday. He left home at a quarter to seven, telling his wife he was going across a feild adjoining the house, to Chemong road, to pick up an armful of fire wood. Since that hour no trace whatever of Crouter has been found, despite thorough enquiry.

Crouter is a short, stout man, 5 ft. 3 or 4 inches tall, complexion between fair and dark, clean shaven. He is short sighted and wears duplex glasses. When last seen he was going across a field adjoining dark blue trousers with fine white stripe and black lace boots.

WOULD DRAFT PUGILISTS TO BOX FOR THE SAMMIES

Proposal to Have Title Holders Work for Patriotic Causes---Might Earn Over Half Million a Year.

Seven star boxers could earn half a million dollars annually for the use of the Red Cross fund. How does it sound to you, asks a New York writer. I am broaching the proposition made by the Philadelphia Evening Ledger to the various champions to appear in the ring twice a month, the receipts of the engagements going to the well known worthy cause.

The Ledger would have Uncle Sam commission the following champions: Pete Herman, bantam; Johnny Kilbane, featherweight; Benny Leonard, lightweight; Ted Lewis, welterweight; Mike Gibbons, middleweight; Battling Levinsky, light-heavyweight, and Jess Willard, heavyweight, "into service under our flag' $500,000, slightly more or slightly less, could be derived by the government annually so that it would make fighting worth while for the Yankee boys over there.

All the Big Ones.

"All of the leading boxers in question with the possible exception of Willard are within the draft age, but how much better they could serve our country than by each representing only one man in the trenches. Through their ability in the ring the champions and very near champs could be of better use, and that really wins such battles as are now raging over in the old country.

"Imagine what half a million dollars annually could do to make the khaki-clad fighters feel good, knowing, too, that they had some one back in America fighting—rather, boxing—for them, so that they, the real fighters could enjoy some little recreation and help feed them better as well. Why, it would make 'em fight all the harder, and the harder each individual fights, the harder each company fights, and the harder each regiment fights the sooner Kaiser Bill and his Kultured crowd will have 'K. O. by' recorded next to their names.

"Cushy" Job?

"It wouldn't be much work for the boxers to appear on exhibition twice a month. All of the seven boxers who could do so much good under the management of the bewhiskered old gentleman robed in Old Glory have reputations of the first water; each is a boxer who would jam any club to the turnstiles. And there would be many a fan who [illegible] r fork over a dollar or [illegible] to [illegible] a star box than to drop [illegible] into a Red Cross box.

"Willard alone could draw a $100,000 gate in a bout in which he defended his heavyweight tile, and why shouldn't the big American do that, so that every copper of that sum would be turned over for the use of his or our country? Fred Fulton stands out as Jess' most worthy contender and there is little doubt that Fulton would be more than pleased to box for nothing, so that the Red Cross would benefit by the entire gate, just to get a chance to annex the championship.

"With a boxing show advertised for the Red Cross and the star boxers showing as headliners they could bring in thousands of dollars a week for the great cause. After expenses for the boxers are deducted there is no doubt that Leonard's share for the Red Cross, for one bout, would average $3000; Kilbane, $2000; Lewis, $1500; Gibbons, $2,000; Willard, $10,000; Herman, $1500, and Levinsky, $1000.

Two hours a month for each boxer at these figures and for a year would aggregate a net sum of $504,000. There is no reason to believe the government couldn't draft boxers into the service of the Red Cross. Also there is no reason to believe that any of the fisticuffians would refuse to box for the benefit of the boys fighting against that which, if it were to live on, would soon overthrow democracy.

PLACED HIS HITS.

Probably no boxer ever had a career as replete with incidents as Fighting Bob Fitzsimmons, the greatest puncher the ring has ever known. The incidents were many and varied. Most of them have been told many times. But one of the most amusing has been overlooked.

Bob was touring the country, meeting all comers as a part of a vaudeville act. His manager was Martin Julian. They were in Philadelphia, and Bob was advertised to meet four men—any four—and agreed to stop each of them in three rounds.

The first three were disposed of in one punch each, and the hundreds in the audience were dissatisfied. Cries of "fake" an "set ups" filled the theatre. Julian went to Fitz just before the last bout and whispered: "Let him stay awhile, Bob. Let him go a couple of rounds, anyhow."

Bob's opponent was a young, husky, broad shouldered and with powerful arms. The first round was without incident, but in the second the young husky hit Fitz flush on the chin with a heavy right. It drove Bob back to his heels and hurt. Fitz stalled for an instant, looked him over carefully, pulled his head down between his massive shoulders and began to inch his way in close.

Julian, standing in the wings, realized that Fitz was getting set for a knockout and also realized that Fitz was backing his man toward the footlights. A knockout meant the husky would be knocked out into the orchestra.

"Over here," shouted Julian.

And Bob edged his opponent around until his back was toward the wings. Then he struck. The young husky was driven into the wings and did not come to for nearly half an hour.

Inheritance Tax Argument

Inheritance taxes are very heavy. Unlike fire hazard, they are not merely possible, they are absolutely certain.

They deplete your estate at once, and to your heirs represent a specific and definite loss of money.

In New York a $250,000 estate would pay a combined federal and state tax of about $12,000. If left to a friend or distant relative, about $23,000. The John Jacob Astor estate paid $3,150,000. J. P. Morgan has insured his life for $2,500,000 to cover a similar loss.

Thus the estate is provided promptly with the ready cash to pay this tax and other expenses without the need of hurriedly disposing of securities or other assets, perhaps at a loss, to meet such needs. The logic of the situation urges immediate action. Premium rates, however, low, advance with age, and so does the possibility of entering the physically impaired group and losing the opportunity to secure this protection.

Knowing that this loss is actually coming, it is simply a matter of ordinary business prudence to guard against it. The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada offer you a plan to do so at very low cost.

JOE CHOYNSKI'S BIRTHDAY.

Last Thursday was the forty-ninth anniversary of the birth of Joe Choynski, who in his day was considered the greatest of light heavyweights. Joe was born at San Francisco on November 8, 1868, and was less than two years the junior of that other eminent San Franciscoan, James J. Corbett. Joe reached nearly six feet in altitude before he stopped growing. He began his ring career about thirty years ago, and Corbett, his fellow townsman, was his first opponent. It was a bad start, for Jim stopped him in the first chapter. Joe won all his next few bouts from second-raters, and in 1889 he decided to tackle Corbett again. They were matched to fight at Fairfax, Cal., but the cops broke up the fun. A little later they met at Benicia, Cal., famed as the early home of John Heenan, and Joe traveled twenty-eight terrific rounds, but was finally defeated. A month or two later Choynski and Corbett mingled in San Francisco, and this time Joe was defeated in four rounds. After defeating Frank McLarney at Portland, Ore., and several other coast fighters, Choynski sailed for Australia, where he whipped several good men but was twice defeated by Joe Goddard. Upon his return to America Choynski fought an exhibition with John L. Sullivan.

After defeating several other good men Joe, in 1894, fought a draw with Bob Fitzsimmons at Boston. Two years later he defeated Jim Hall, but was afterward knocked out by Tom Sharkey in San Francisco and by Peter Maher in New York. In 1897 Choynski fought a twenty-round draw with Jim Jeffries. In his later battles Joe was defeated by Kid McCoy, Kid Carter and Jack O'Brien, but his worst defeat was at the hands of the welterweight negro, Joe Walcott, in 1900. He avenged himself on the black race in 1901, at Galveston, by stopping Jack Johnson. After he retired from the ring about fifteen years ago Joe became boxing and physical instructor of a leading athletic club in Pittsburg.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

A meeting of the Y.M.C.A. board of directors was held Tuesday evening, Nov. 13, when a number of important matters were considered. Regarding the finances it was noted that there are still outstanding $4,281 in subscriptions that must be collected before the first of the year; and also that $1256 was still needed in subscriptions, memberships and lockers, to balance all expenses up to the first of the year. It is hoped that every subscriber will make his contribution promptly, as our men are engaged in many patriotic enterprises, and it is with a great deal of difficulty that personal collection calls are made. It seems possible that the amount needed in new money may be realized from the membership canvass now on if members whose fees are due will make prompt payment.

Some forty-five officers of the boys' groups and teams met at a supper held at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night, and agreed to push the membership canvass to the limit, so we are looking for very good results from their efforts.

The following motion was passed by the directors: "It is resolved that the Young Men's Christian Association assure the local pastors of our city of our readines sto co-operate in any forward movement of which they may approve, to deepen the spiritual life of the men of our city and country." The Association feels that some special movement should be made about the first of the year to personally interview a large number of the men of our city regarding their spiritual condition, and, if possible, get them to unite with our churches. The resolution as passed assures our local churches of the deep desire on the part of the Y. M. C. A. to aid them in every possible way in reaching the men of Peterborough.

CASE OF SISTER

Sister Mary said she finally left this institution, and, going to Ottawa, threw herself at the feet of the Papal Ablegate, who asked her to report to Archbishop Spratt at once. This she did. The archbishop ordered her to return to the convent, but she declined to do so.

Witness said she was forty-six years of age, and had been left penniless and, by the actions of the defendants, unprovided for.

The witness, Sister Mary Basil, said that at the orphanage she had charge of Father Mea's rooms, her duties being to keep the rooms in order and get his meals. She said she disarranged the hood of one of the sisters who had told another sister not to give the witness some bread she wanted for Father Mea.

SIR GEORGE FOSTER AT ARMORIES CLEARLY EXPLAINS AIMS OF THE UNION GOVERNMENT

Large Audience Listen to a Masterly Address on the Great Issues of the Day—An Address Which Lacked the Sting of Partisanship—Capt. Burnham Explains his Position.

"Union Government is not the end for which we are working. It is the means to the end we are aiming at—the successful prosecution of the war."

That was one of the expressions which Sir George E. Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, used in his address at the Armories last night, and was indicative of the high ground which he took on every question raised for discussion. There was nothing of the party spirit in anything that he said. While he admitted that mistakes have been made by the Administration, he made no attempt to condone them. He was charitable in his references to the work of the Opposition from Sir Wilfrid Laurier down to the most obscure anti-Unionist in Parliament. His address was an admirable exposition of the aims of Union Government, of the necessity for conscription; of the failure to form a truly representative, fifty-fifty coalition, due to the stand taken by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. His logic was clear and his arguments unanswerable. He must have made converts to the cause of Unionism and confirmed the faith of those already enlisted in the new movement to win the war.

The vast room in the Armories was well filled by an intelligent and interested audience when Mr. Chas. E. Moore, the young president of the West Peterborough Liberal-Conservative Association, called the assemblage to order and introduced Capt. J. H. Burnham as the first speaker. Seated on the platform were members of the Great War Veterans' Association, who have already endorsed Capt. Burnham as their candidate. While citizens kept dropping into the Armories from time to time, not one member of the audience was seen to leave the building until Sir George Foster had finished his masterly address.

Gives Credit to Labor.

Captain Burnham was the first speaker and he left the important issues before the electorate to Sir George Foster. Referring to his present position in the Riding he explained that two years ago he was duly nominated in a Conservative Convention the accredited candidate in support of Sir Robert Borden and his administration. Since then, through the prolongation of the war the political situation in Canada has changed, and there have arisen parties who do not seem to sympathise with the issue at stake. Sir Robert Borden, therefore, deemed it advisable to invite a fusion of the two great parties—Liberal and Conservative—in order that Canada might remain faithful in her responsibilities to her soldiers at the front and to the Empire of which she is a great part. The only other body recognised as a distinct party is that of Labor, and all are aware of the tremendous influence Labor exercises in the affairs of the country, and that it has accomplished more than any other faction in prosecuting the war.

Turned Union Down.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, continued Capt. Burnham, turned down Sir Robert Borden's proposition for an official fusion of both parties into a Union Government and as a result Canada has so far alone of all parts of the Empire, stood apart and declined to unify itself for a successful prosecution of the war. That speaker declared himself in the same position as Mr. Sexsmith in East Peterborough in relation to the Borden administration, whom the Hon. Hugh Guthrie said at Norwood Tuesday night he had no hesitancy in supporting. But whom Sir Robert will select as his candidates for a Union Government will not be made known until five days after nomination, when the Leaders will select their representatives in every constituency in the country, and forward their names to the soldiers in the trenches for voting on.

Win-the-War Party.

Captain Burnham expressed a poor opinion of the so-called Win-the-War party, which he characterized as a body raised from the ashes of politics and if not actually declaring both the Liberal and Conservative parties disloyal, conveying that assumption. If he never had a nomination he would not accept one from them. They no doubt have the best of intentions, but are sadly mistaken in their views.

All Should Unify.

At this time, Captain Burnham went on to say the country needs a unity of all parties, Liberals, Conservatives, Labor, and Independent alike in the best interests of all concerned. He had proposed such a course to the Liberals both by official letter and in the press, and invited that they suggest or receive suggestions for selecting a Union candidate, and whoever that candidate was he would have supported. A resolution to this effect was turned down in the Liberal convention by a large majority, and Mr. R. R. Hall nominated a straight Liberal party candidate.

"That left me," said Capt. Burnham, "the only supporter of the Borden administration in the field, and who can blame me for issuing my address. Had there been four or five months before election I might have deferred and awaited further developments. But the Liberal candidate was in the field and as five weeks is no time in which to contest an election under any circumstances, I had to get busy. My position is, that providing there is no better man in the field with the endorsation of Sir Robert Borden, I am the Union candidate. Am I to lie down and do nothing because of anonymous letters in the press that I had taken no notice of executive meetings of which I had no knowledge, while my opponent is making headway against me? I am opposing a man duly accredited by the Liberal party and am the duly accredited nominee of the great Liberal-Conservative party. If the people rise up and say they do not want me as their representative, well and good; but I stand in this campaign as a supporter of the Borden administration and as a man of some measure of record for service in the interests of West Peterborough.

Sir George Foster.

The Minister of Trade and Commerce rose to speak amid prolonged applause. He first spoke of the Victory Loan, which, he said, will express the sympathy and loyalty of the people to the war and the great cause for which it is being waged. With this war, as in all other things, it is money which makes the mayor go; and this Sir George illustrated by pointing out that it cost $2,000,000 in shells for the Canadians to capture but a small piece of territory in Flanders from the Huns the other day. Canada has given a great deal, but is now asked to put up another $150,000,000, which is a lot of money, but there is a great deal more yet in the country. And Victory Loan workers from coast to coast are confident that this mark

ITALIAN STATESMEN ARE NOT DISMAYED BY SITUATION.

Rome, Wednesday (delayed). — Great enthusiasm and patriotic feeling marked this afternoon's sitting of the Italian chamber of deputies. Prof. Vittorio Orlando in his first speech as premier struck the keynote of his policy, namely, that the situation called for acts rather than for words. The premier spoke feelingly of the assistance being rendered by the Entente Allies to Italy, and the passage in which he expressed the cordial gratitude of Italy to "the great American republic for her willing and powerful aid" roused tremendous cheering.

A nineteen year old young man named Gunn, was sent up to the tribunal by Mr. Worth of the Bonner-Worth factory, where he is employed. He can not read or write and knew nothing of the call to the colors, hence had not been examined. Questioning elicited the fact that while too young for the class under conscription he would cheerfully volunteer. Mr. Aylmer immediately put him in the way of doing so, and he reported as a volunteer.

Wm. Quinlan, 915 Water street, an A man claimed exemption on the ground of ill-health. This was disallowed.

Francis R. Sanderson, 146 Park street, married Sept. 26th, another A man, claimed exemption on the ground of ill-health. Claim not allowed.

Orville Jinks reported that he had by mistake sent his rating to Kingston through the post master instead of bringnig it from the doctors to this tribunal as instructed last week. He is graded AII. Decision deferred.

Papers Mixed Up.

Owing to a mix up at Kingston the claim papers for half a dozen applicants scheduled to appear at this tribunal were found to have been sent to the tribunal in the Judge's chambers, and this caused considerable delay.

CARRIERS ARE STILL ON DUTY

This is the day that the local letter carriers named some weeks ago as the time that they would quit work and resign their positions unless in the meantime the government agreed to grant them the $20 a month increase in wages which they demanded.

This position by the local organization has been sent to other branches in the Dominion for action. To hear from each branch will require considerable time and until this is done no action can be taken here. The date of the threatened strike is accordingly postponed for the present although the letter carriers have by no means abandoned their position.

CAPT. BURNHAM'S ADDRESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

Election-day is December 17th. Its nearness admits of no further delay on the part of candidates in formally addressing you. It was hoped that political parties in West Peterborough might unite, as the members of the Borden Union Administration have done, in its support. But since the Liberal Convention has met and chosen its standard-bearer, who has not declared himself to be a supporter of the Borden Union Administration, it becomes necessary for me, without more, to solicit your suffrages. At the convention of the Conservatives of West Peterborough, duly assembled, I was chosen as their candidate to support Sir Robert Borden and his Administration. The Prime Minister has formed a Union Administration, composed of Conservative, Liberal and Labour representatives, to the end that he may the more fully and surely carry in a spirit of national unity and co-operation Canada's share in the war to a successful conclusion.

I pledge myself, therefore, with that same spirit of unity and co-operation, to support the Borden Union Administration and its policies, and I earnestly and respectfully solicit your votes and support accordingly. This is no ordinary political campaign, and it is hoped that all well-wishers of the Borden Union Administration will make every effort to secure the return of its supporters.

I have the honour to remain.

Yours truly,
J. H. BURNHAM.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1917

COULD NOT TRAP SIR GEORGE.

THE MASTER MIND of Sir George Foster could not be trapped by the sophistries of local politicians last night. Even the keen foresight and hindsight of Mr. Joseph Wearing was no match for the astuteness of the Minister of Trade and Commerce. The men who, while standing out for Union Government without regard to their old-time party affiliation, refuse to accept pretsent conditions, laid their perplexities before Sir George soon after his arrival in the city. It would be too much to say that the deputation was even fairly representative. At all events they received no encouragement at their conference with Sir George, either before or after the meeting to presevere in the course they have marked out for themselves and to go ahead with their Union convention. Sir George left the matter entirely with themselves and advised them to do what they deemed the best for the winning of the war. He asked them to remember the grave issue, and that if Sir Wilfrid Laurier is returned to power he will be unable to put any punch into the prosecution of the war, held back as he certainly would be by his Quebec following.

The statement made by the Minister was an inimitable exhibition of tact and diplomacy, even if it left the delegation at the point from which they had started.

REMEDYING MISTAKES.

"WHAT CAPT. BURNHAM should have done was to resign his nomination as soon as the Union Government was formed," is a statement frequently heard on the streets.

In his address at the Armories last night Sir George Foster as good as admitted that conscription should have been resorted to and a Union Government formed earlier in the history of the war. This, however, was no reason why both should be abandoned now.

If Capt. Burnham made a mistake, it was at the most a technical blunder, a failure to observe a mere formality, and the consequences of this failure are not serious. Because he did not resign is no excuse for a move that will tend to throw the election to the Laurier candidate.

Capt. Burnham made an offer to the Liberal Association, an offer that was flatly refused. He is not responsible for the situation that exists in the riding.

THAT UNION CONVENTION.

IT IS A VERY difficult task to account for the support, characteristically limp as it may be, that The Examiner is giving to the proposal to hold a convention in this city for the purpose of naming a Union candidate to oppose Mr. Hall. The hope of our contemporary is to see the election of Mr. Hall assured by rending the forces arrayed against him. A three-cornered fight would mean an easy victory for the Laurier candidate. It is politics, and peanut politics, at that.

In an unguarded moment The Examiner last night let the cat out of the bag. Its personal spleen against Capt. Burnham got the better of its discretion when it spoke editorially as follows:

> Yet Mr. Burnham persists in regarding himself as the Union candidate, and Sir Robert Borden, more in partisan than Union spirit, permits disregard of the conditions, publicly and formally laid down, and endorses a candidate who has no Union endorsation, and would not be even chosen the candidate of a party if the nomination were to be made today.

There you have it. Anything to get Capt. Burnham. The Examiner professes to believe that he could not be nominated today at a convention of his own party.

Any person who has followed events closely knows that Capt. Burnham is stronger with the people at present than he ever was. He was nominated two years ago almost unanimously. He has grown in the estimation of the public since that time by his independent action in Parliament. He has stood for every war measure. He has befriended labor when labor needed a friend at court. He has championed the cause of the soldier in training, in the trenches, in the hospital, and after he has returned to Canada, as no other member of Parliament has, and was the first public man to declare for a pension scale that took no note of the rank of the beneficiaries.

Capt. Burnham could be easily nominated at a convention of his own party today, a convention legally constituted in every way, by delegates chosen according to regulation or at a mass meeting. He would not find it necessary to drum up recruits on the street and to pad the gathering with his own supporters as was done by his opponent no longer ago than last Saturday.

THE PARAMOUNT NEED.

THE EXAMINER has furnished another plank for Mr. R. R. Hall's platform and offers him another hobbyhorse which he may bestride, and thus mounted, attempt to ride into power. It is the cry for more food. Men are needed, The Examiner admits, but not to the same degree as food is required. The sum and substance of its teaching is that Canada should abandon its attempt to raise more men and devote its energies to the production of wheat, pigs, butter and other supplies for the Allied armies. Can anyone who takes the trouble to read the leading editorial in our contemporary last night arrive at any other conclusion with regard to its import?

The men in Canada's four divisions at the front are on duty without relief twelve days at a time in order to hold their part of the line. The British and Australian soldiers on either side of them are relieved at the end of every six days. The lack of reinforcements account for the extra duty imposed upon the Canadians. Unless these reinforcements are furnished, the Canadian divisions will be eliminated in four months' time. The remnants will be absorbed in the British army and Canada will lose its place as an entity in the war.

The message that General Currie sends to the authorities at Ottawa day after day is an appeal for reinforcements. "For God's sake," he says, "send me more men."

The Canadian soldiers do not lack for food or munitions. What a mockery it would be to answer their call for help by sending them word: "Keep up the fight; hold the line. We are behind you to a man. We are raising wheat, pigs and potatoes to feed you, and are making shells to keep up your supply of ammunition."

The policy which The Examiner proposes will appeal to the young men who are claiming exemption now and to their friends. Among this class it will make votes for Mr. Hall. But how about those who have relatives doing twelve days' of continuous duty in the trenches at a time? How about the relatives of the men who have been in the battle line since the beginning and who cannot be given a furlough because there are none to take their places? How about the relatives of the convalescents who are hobbling back to the trenches from the hospitals when, in ordinary justice, they should be excused from active duty for weeks longer?

Will it appease these relatives to be told that Canada is doing its duty by sending their overworked hero friends more food, the production of which involves no real personal sacrifice but which means new wealth to those engaged in this form of service?

THE UNION CANDIDATE.

MR. HALL is frankly opposed to Union Government, Capt. Burnham is openly in favor of it. Premier Borden cannot designate his choice until after the official nominations are made next Monday, so that, whatever his status, Capt. Burnham cannot be officially recognized until that time.

Sir George Foster, the Unionist nominee in a Toronto constituency, is in the same position, so far as official recognition is concerned. He made that clear in his address last night.

Sir George Foster may not have specifically recommended Capt. Burnham for the support of the electors. He did, however, speak on behalf of Union Government, and every argument he used was really an argument in favor of the election of a man who will support Union Government.

It will be noted, too, that Sir George did not specifically ask his audience to vote against that avowed anti-Unionist, Mr. Hall. Are Mr. Wearing and his friends justified in inferring from this that Sir George is not opposed to the election of the Laurier candidate?

SUPPORTING CAPT. BURNHAM.

"THERE ARE NO prominent citizens supporting Capt. Burnham," said Mr. Joseph Wearing to The Review last night.

General statements are best answered by cold figures. Capt. Burnham's nomination papers have already been signed by over one hundred and fifty electors. These include some of the most prominent Liberals and Conservatives in the riding, so that Mr. Wearing's contention is disposed of.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

CHEERING for Laurier in Toronto will bring little comfort to the soldiers in Flanders.

• • • •

"CAPTAIN BURNHAM," remarked a prominent citizen, "deserves the thanks of the community for bringing such a speaker as Sir George Foster here. I know the meeting last night cost the Captain over $200."

• • • •

IT WOULD HELP the country considerably if we could inaugurate a grouchless Union Government party.

• • • •

• • • •

WHY NOT LET Capt. Burnham finish the work he has carried on so successfully thus far?

• • • •

UNFORTUNATELY the coming local election promises to be worse than anyone ever dreamed was possible.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

Tammany Purveys Vice.

(Hamilton Spectator.)

It is in the field of practically legalised vice that Tammanyism comes to its fullest efflorescence. Every police captain has a rent-roll of gambling-hells, houses of prostitution, etc., where law can be set at defiance if a regular monthly tribute is paid. The ordinary patrolman has free drinks, etc., but the captain of a precinct is in receipt of a princely revenue. If any lawbreaker fails to pay his usual toll, his place is raided, as a warning to others that the "system" must be complied with, and to make a show in the newspapers of apparent enforcement of law. Of course, the captain has to disgorge the greater part of his gains to the Tammany machine.

Vile Stuff.

(Detroit Free Press.)

Germany is using a substitute for tobacco, says an exchange. They are also using a substitute for decency, and it's vile stuff.

Brains and Money.

(Toronto News.)

There is food for meditation in the news that Rev. Dr. Griffin left an estate of $12,000. After ninety years of life, after a distinguished career in the Church, after administering the Methodist Superannuation Fund for twenty years, he owned a house and a few bonds, the total value being trivial considered as capital. It will not be said that Dr. Griffin was extravagant in his manner of life. He could not be. The salary provided for him by the Methodist Church was modest almost to the point of shyness. Considering the ability of the man and the high value of that ability to the Church, his salary was absurdly inadequate. That is the way of the world. For any man who employs his brains for the country's good, for the preachers, the school teachers and the journalists, there is no reward commensurate with the value of the service rendered. "But great is their reward in heaven." At least one hopes so.

Staunch and Sturdy.

(Toronto News.)

Mr. Lloyd George: "Believe me, this war is depending more and more on these little islands. Month by month, week by week, I can see the burden falling more heavily upon the shoulders of Britain; but I can also see Britain straightening up to bear it."

Caught.

(Detroit Free Press.)

A man's leg was caught and pulled in a revolving door in a Louisville hotel. Here they have bill clerks for the same purpose.

Wit and Wisdom

Something in That.

"I was just thinking."

"What?"

"What a pitiful showing we should make in this war if our young men were as afraid to die as some of our older men are of giving up their dollars."

What She Suffered.

"What makes you so thin, Bligson?"

"My wife's ill."

"And you're worrying about her, eh?"

"Not exactly. Its the form, not the severity, of her illness that affects me."

"How so? From what is she suffering?"

"Extreme Hooveritis."

Too Risky.

Benjamin Birdie, the famous jockey, was taken suddenly ill, and the trainer advised him to visit a doctor in the town.

"He'll put you right in a jiffy," he said.

The same evening he found Benjamin lying curled up in the stables, kicking his legs about in agony.

"Hello, Benny! Haven't you been to the doctor'?"

"Yes."

"Well, didn't he do you any good?"

"I didn't go in. When I got to his office there was a brass plate on the door: 'Dr. Kurem—ten to one.' I wasn't going to monkey with a long shot like that!"

The Best Medicine.

She was never happy unless she was suffering from some malady or other. Her physician was at his wits' end in treating her because he disliked to dose her with medicine for imaginary ailments.

One day he examined her and found, as usual, that there was nothing wrong.

"I shall give you something for what troubles you, but you must promise faithfully to follow directions."

She assented; but much to her surprise, found later that the directions were: "Keep this bottle tightly corked."

It is often safer to follow your own intuition than the advice of a disinterested friend.

After a man has been married about so long he joins the peace-at-any-price advocates.

A Hint to the Ladies.

He was a typical Scotsman and when he was asked his opinion of the trouble which had arisen between a couple who began to find the yoke of Hymen a burden, he was not slow in giving it.

"It's all along o' these hasty marriages. They didna understand one anither; they'd only knowed each ither a matter o' seven years."

"Well, that seems long enough," said an interested listener.

"Long eno'? Bah! ye're wrong! When a body's coortin' he canna be too carfu'. Why, my coortship lasted nineteen years!"

"You certainly were careful. And did you find your plan successful when you married?"

"Ye jump to conclusions," said the old man, impatiently. "I understood her then so I didna marry her!"

EDITOR'S MAIL

CRITICIZING MR. BURNHAM.

Editor Review: In Mr. Burnham's address at the Armouries last night he stated that he had been willing to cooperate with the Liberals of this constituency in the interests of union here.

The facts are as follows: Mr. Burnham was selected as a straight Conservative candidate at a Conservative convention over a year before Union Government was thought of. When the Union Government was formed the only proper course for Mr. Burnham to take was to resign as the Conservative candidate and thus clear the way for a Union convention in accordance with the action of party leaders on both sides and the spirit of the country. Did Mr. Burnham take this patriotic course? He certainly did not. Instead of this he stubbornly took the position that he was the Union candidate and endorsed as such by the Conservative executive here and Sir Robert Borden at Ottawa. As a matter of fact Mr. Burnham was never endorsed by the Conservative executive, as he was later forced to acknowledge, and at the meeting last night it would appear that the President of the Conservative Association is the only member of the Executive prepared to back him up in his present attitude. Sir Robert Borden has also plainly stated in a telegram to five prominent Conservatives here that he will endorse as the Government candidate the man selected at a Union convention. If Sir Robert is true to his word this cuts Mr. Burnham out absolutely.

The truth is that all efforts towards cooperation and unity in this constituency have been blocked by Mr. Burnham's stubborn, selfish, unpatriotic attitude. His total disregard for the feelings of either friends or enemies and his open hostility toward public opinion as manifested here smacks all together too much of the Prussianism that we are fighting against. We want no Kaiser to reign over us in West Peterborough.

A Union convention will be held at Victoria Hall tomorrow night and all men and women who believe that in order to successfully overcome a common foe who is as yet unbeaten, all parties and classes should stand united are earnestly urged to attend.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH WEARING.

IF LITTLE STOMACH IS SOUR, LIVER TORPID, OR BOWELS CLOGGED.

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When, cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can not cause injury No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

..Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

Canada Must Change that Record

FEWER CANADIANS in proportion to the population have lent their money to the nation than have either the British or American people.

This in spite of the fact that the individual wealth of the Canadian people to-day is greater than it has ever been and is one of the largest of any country in the world.

MRS. CHAS. PEDEN GAINS 27 POUNDS

TWICE EXAMINED AND EACH TIME TOLD OPERATION WAS ONLY HOPE.

"I have just finished my third bottle of Tanlac and have gained twenty-seven pounds," was the truly remarkable statement made by Mrs. Chas. Peden, residing at 550 Mill St., Huntsville, Alta. Mrs. Peden is one of the best known and highly respected women of that thriving little city, where she has made her home for a number of years.

"When I commenced taking the medicine," she continued, "I only weighed ninety-eight pounds; now I weigh 125 pounds, and never felt better in my life. For years I have suffered with a bad back. At times the pains took the form of torture, and I was twice examined, and each time I was told that I had appendicitis and that an operation would be my only hope. I had fallen off until I only weighed ninety-eight pounds, and was so weak I could hardly get around.

"I had no appetite at all scarcely, and what little I did eat would cause gas to form in my stomach, which gave me palpitation of the heart, sick headaches and a dizzy feeling about the head. When the spells came on I would get awfully nervous. I worried about myself until I could rest and sleep but little.

"I had fallen off until I was almost skin and bones, and my strength and energy were slowly leaving me. I had a dread of the future, and could see nothing but the operating table and knife. I had a perfect horror of an operation, but I had made up my mind that it was either life or death and prepared to submit to it. I had made all preparations for the operation and called on my sister to tell her good-bye, as I did not know whether I would live to see her again or not. My sister begged and plead with me not to allow them to cut on me, and told me to wait and try a good tonic for a while. The next day, as I returned from the consultation room, I thought of what she said, and as I had heard so much about Tanlac I decided to try it as a last resort, and stopped at Gilbert's drug store and bought a bottle. Of course, I had lost heart and had no faith in the medicine, but, to please my sister, I made up my mind to take it, and, oh, what a happy day that was for me!

"I never returned for the operation but just kept taking the Tanlac. Right from the start I began to feel better. The medicine seemed to take hold right at once. It had a soothing effect, and in a few days I felt no pain at all. I was so happy over the wonderful improvement in my condition that I sent for my neighbors to tell them how much better I felt. I sent and got another bottle of Tanlac, and have just finished taking my third bottle, and feel like I have been made all over again into a new woman.

"As I have said before, I now weigh 125 pounds, and my improvement has been so rapid that none of my clothes are big enough for me. I will have to make them all over again. I now have a ravenous appetite, and my husband says I am simply eating him out of house and home. I have even gone back to my coffee, which I was told not to touch. Those terrible pains in my back and head have all disappeared, and I sleep like a child. I am no longer nervous, and when I get up mornings I feel refreshed, cheerful and bright. I am now able to attend to my household duties, and I feel as if I had started life all over again. My husband is highly delighted and my recovery is the talk of the neighborhood. I do nothing but rejoice all day long over the recovery of my health, and praise Tanlac to everybody.

"I feel so grateful for my escape from the operating table and the knife that you may publish what I have said; you may, if you will, tell other women suffering as I was to come and see me, and I will be glad to tell them all about my case."

"Fruit-a-tives" Builds Up The Whole System

Those who take "Fruit-a-tives" for the first time, are often astonished at the way it builds them up and makes them feel better all over. They may be taking "Fruit-a-tives" for some specific disease, as Constipation, Indigestion, Chronic Headaches or Neuralgia, Kidney or Bladder Trouble, Rheumatism or Pain in the Back. And they find when "Fruit-a-tives" has cured the disease, that they feel better and stronger in every way. This is due to the wonderful tonic properties of these famous tablets, made from fruit juices.

will be over-subscribed. Three-quarters of the world, he said, are fighting the great menace of a power' a civilization, a kulture, an absence of humanity and followers of an autocratic militarism which threatens all we hold dear. Canadians, he declared, did not yet understand what war and sacrifice meant, and have only a halting appreciation of their full duty in this hour of crisis.

Family Differences.

Sir George was not conversant with the family political differences in Peterborough; and as an outsider he was afraid that were he called on to judge he would have to officiate like another Solomon, cut both parties in two and endeavor to make a joint organization of the severed parts.

New Election Conditions.

The minister said never before had Canada experienced such an election as this. Five days after nomination each leader will designate his candidates and their names and policy will be forwarded to the soldiers in the trenches for their guidance in voting. Sir Robert will designate the man in every riding who is for Union government. Mr. Hall is the Liberal nominee on a Laurier platform; and if there are others apart from Capt. Burnham nominated in support of the Borden administration, Sir Robert will designate his candidate.

The Need For Union.

Turning to the need of a Union government Sir George said that experience and observation has taught Canada that not a single belligerent has during the war, excepting Australia, had a general election. France, Italy, Russia, Great Britain, all have experienced changes in government but with recourse to elections. Great Britain concluded that the greatest amount of fighting strength could only be obtained by a unison of all parties, and Labor, Liberals, Conservatives, Independents, all joined themselves together for the prosecution of the war and eliminated the need of an election. And only yesterday the mother country extended the life of its parliament another eight months. Even in Australia the Hughes Liberal government and the Labor party applied the spirit of fusion to their election. It can't be that all these countries have been deceived in getting togther under one banner during the life of the war

Had They Only Known

The Minister here drew a vivid word picture of the war, its financial burden, the man-power at the front, the millions who have bitten the dust and given up their lives, the train of misery, death, starvation and outrage following in its wake, and doubted if all this could have been visualized in August, 1914, if any nation would have stood behind it. And now three-quarters of the civilised world have made up their minds not to give up until they have once for all ridden the world of a menace it would be intolerable to live under, and conditions which would threaten military domination, brutality and slavery.

Drop Party Strife.

With the continuation of this war there gradually grew in Canada a feeling that party strife and political warfare were out of place when men were shedding their blood on the altar of liberty, and a realization that could never perform its duty to the men in the trenches unless selective conscription was resorted to, and that no single party was strong enough to uphold the tremendous task of conducting the war to a triumphant end. Hence the proposition by Sir Robert Borden to drop all petty party differences in a Union of Conservatives and Liberals, not as a selection of party members but a union of British people. Sir Robert on his return from England last spring, proposed this to Sir Wilfrid Laurier who replied that he was a little late. But, contended Sir George, because we did not suggest this union at first is no reason why it should not be adopted later on. "So now we go to the country on a fifty-fifty proposition for the election of a Union Government, denuded of all party principles."

Conscription the Only Way.

Turning to conscription, Sir George said that every great belligerent power is conducting war by means of conscription. Democratic France, Democratic Italy, although she has a King, Great Britain, previously wedded to the voluntary system, New Zealand, South Africa, Australia to the extent of a second referendum—all recognize that selective conscription is the only way to maintain their armies at the front.

"Sir Wilfrid, in Quebec," continued the Minister, "is fond of pointing to Australia as an example of voluntary service. Well, let me answer him by pointing out that Australia at first estimated that it would require 16,000 men enlisted every month to main her army of 100,000. They subsequently revised this estimate to 75,000 men a month, and during an experience of six months under the voluntary system they only raised in June 4,500 men, in July 3,800 men, in August 3,200 and in September 2,300 men. Therefore the Australian government is now going to the people for the power to conscript, recognizing that they must have selective conscription or quit the war. So Sir Wilfrid has the last prop knocked from under him. And now we have the democratic United States of America concluding from their first entry into the war that they would model their operations under conscription, resulting in 1,200,000 men being already in arms."

Liberals Uniting.

With Sir Wilfrid's refusal of official party union, Sir George went on to say, Sir Robert has reached out into the ranks of Liberalism for cooperation in forming a Union government, and with encouraging results.

In British Columbia, Mr. Brewster is out with all his strength, with other Liberals and promises for a fair division of both parties are bright. In Alberta A. L. Sifton, Liberal leader forms part of the Union Government, and is upheld by a large, if not dominating section of Liberals. A fair division of parties is promised from this Province Prospects are also bright in Saskatchewan, where Mr. Calder is backed by the Liberal Premier. Then the Manitoba Legislature is in favor of Union, and throughout the whole country the element of Liberals behind Sir Robert is quite as respectable as the element would have been had Sir Wilfrid consented to coalition. Then from Ontario there will be as large, if not equal, representation from Liberals as from Conservatives, to say nothing of Guthrie, Rowell and Mewbern. There is Murray in Nova Scotia, the Liberal leader of a Liberal Government, out in full advocacy for Union. Mr. Fielding is running in a constituency for the Union Government. MacLean is a member of the government, while in New Brunswick Mr. Pugsley, now Lieut.-Governor is strong for Union, as also is Mr. Carvell a member of Sir Robert's administration. Liberals have responded to Sir Robert Borden's call because they honestly believe that the Union Government is not the end, but the means to the higher ends of an administration which aims at more thoroughly and efficiently carrying out the great work Canada has to do.

Petty Appeals.

"You'll be appealed to in many kinds of petty ways," continued the Minister—"the price of butter, of eggs, bacon and so forth—but, though these questions are important, the main issue is that all should do their level best to bring this war to a victorious conclusion. Can we not for the time being put our feet firmly down on the lesser things, and keep our minds on the great need for bringing the war to as speedy an end as commensurate with the Empire's interests.

Peril to Peterborough.

In giving his hearers a graphic description of what war is to France and Belgium, of the horrors it had brought upon Armenia, Poland, and Serbia, Sir George declared that the Huns were a real peril to Peterborough, to Canada, to the British Empire, and to the civilization of the whole world. Feelings of humanity alone, he said, should impel Canadians to rise in all their might and combat the foe. The world now has only one thing to do, and that is to rid itself of this atrocious Prussian menace; destroy it so that no longer shall nations live in dread of its ambition for world domination and power. And to this end the Borden government is asking endorsation of conscription in support of Canadians overseas.

The Quebec Cry.

The Minister, in conclusion, trumpeted due warning against the cry raised in Quebec that it is not men that is needed at the front, but munitions and food. Munitions is a selfish plea—that of a man who sticks to munitions at $3 and $4 a day rather than go near the trenches. As to food, the government is arranging for increased production; but not a bushel of grain can be produced before October, not a bushel sent overseas before next December. In the meantime what is to become of our kith and kin who have won imperishable glory for Canada and Canadians? Unless we send them reinforcements the four divisions overseas will in time have faded away so that not a Canadian division, a Canadian banner, nor a Canadian individuality will be known. Those brave men did not enlist that we should negative all that they went for by failing to send them support in holding positions they have gained as the greatest soldiers that have fought on the planes of France and Flanders — none greater! Now is the time to eliminate political ambition, sink party prejudice and thrust trivial things into a second place in order to magnify the one great ideal of British liberty and universal justice. The only way to maintain that great and glorious heritage and trust handed down to us by our forefathers is at the point of the sword.

The meeting closed with the National anthem, and all waited while it was sung.

CAMPAIGN NOTES

General Sir Sam Hughes passed through the city this morning on his way to Lindsay. Capt. Burnham met him by appointment at the depot for a conference.

• • •

Mr. Joseph Wearing was asked yesterday if he were supporting Mr. Hall.

"Certainly not," was the reply. "Mr. Hall shirks in all patriotic matters, and could not be elected poundkeeper."

How comes it, then, that Mr. Wearing told Sir George Foster that Mr. Hall was a strong man in the community and that it would take one of surpassing strength to defeat him?

Somehow or other, too, Mr. Wearing left with his hearers the impression that the man of surpassing strength he had in mind was no less a personage than Mr. Wearing himself.

Mrs. Margaret Hyslop, organizer for the Win-the-War Association, will be in Peterborough on Monday for the purpose of beginning work among the women of the city on behalf of Capt. Burnham. Secretary King of the association wrote Capt. Burnham to that effect today.

• • •

Mr. Fair said last night at the interview with Sir George Foster that if Mr. Burnham would resign it would clear the atmosphere. Mr. Burnham has no itnention of resigning unless Sir Robert Borden recognizes somebody else as the Union Government candidate.

"The people of Peterborough do not yet consider Mr. Fair or Mr. Herb Kendry or even Mr. Wearing their spokesmen. There are some funny things in every election, but sad as the time is, it is furnishing some odd incidents," remarked an observer.

The Argentine Congress will grant authorization to the Government to arrange for a Military Mission to France and a Naval Mission to England or the United States.

New Council Has No Executive Powers

London, Nov. 14.—Premier Lloyd George explained to the House of Commons today that the Inter-Allied Council, the establishment of which was arranged for at the recent conference of British and French and Italian representatives, would have no executive power. He said the final decision in regard to matters of strategy and distribution and movement of the armies would rest with the several Governments of the Allies.

Instructive Lecture to Fraser Missn. Band

Mrs. H. D. Robertson, who has spent several years in China, delivered an exceedingly interesting and illuminating address Wednesday evening to the Fraser Mission Band of St. Paul's Church.

The attendance was large and keen interest was manifested in Mrs. Robertson's able treatment of a difficult subject, including a concise word story of industrial, religious and social conditions in China. The discourse was agreeably punctuated with definitions of Chinese habits and customs, and calculated to stimulate Fraser Mission Band members to, if anything, increased energy in support of Christian missionary work in the East.

Dog Which Bit Girl Affected by Rabies

Last Thursday a little girl was bitten by a dog owned by Mrs. Cameron, who lives on the Chemong road. The animal was shot by the police and Dr. Fortune sent its head to Ottawa for examination. Today Dr. Fortune received a telegram from the government pathologist at Ottawa stating that the head sent him is affected by rabies.

As a result of the foregoing an inspector is coming down from Toronto to cooperate with Dr. Fortune in having all dogs in the city again confined.

The child who was bitten will have to be sent to the Pasteur Institute, Toronto, for treatmen.

Winnipeg, Nov. 14.—In the first day of the Manitoba campaign to roll up $15,000,000 for the Canadian Victory Loan, the province piled up over $2,000,000. HALIFAX TO SEE A PARTY FIGHT

Halifax, Nov. 15.—The Conservatives of Halifax, at their convention tonight, nominated Hon. A. K. Maclean and Peter F. Martin, Mayor of Halifax, to contest this constituency at the coming Federal election.

Late in the afternoon Premier Borden made a strong effort to bring about an agreement between the two parties and thus avoid an election. He sent for a number of representative Liberals and suggested as a compromise the names of Geo. S. Campbell (Conservative) and Dr. Edward Blackadder (Liberal). The committee placed these names before the Liberal convention, which declined to accede to any saw-off, and as a result there will be a party fight in Halifax.

It was announced that Sir Robert Borden, who sat in the last Parliament for one of the Halifax seats, would probably run in King's county, the constituency formerly represented by DeWitt Foster.

The situation in Halifax is precisely that in Peterborough. The Prime Minister could not avoid a party fight because the Liberal Convention turned the proposition down. They are not going to hold any further Unionist meetings, as proposed, in Peterborough.

Big Jess Willard Goes to Winter Quarters

Big Jess Willard returned to Chicago this week to go into winter quarters. Camping on his trail is the man who made him a champion, Tom Jones, ex-manager. Tom seeks earnest and feeling conversation with the big fellow. Jones declares Jess owes him money, and has been owing him since the chap so unceremoniously dispensed with a manager and decided that a secretary was all he needed. Inasmuch as Jess seems to have passed up the fighting business, and has become an inactive champion, he really doesn't need a fight manager.

He has become very unpopular during the last year. His attitude of indifference, if not actual hostility, toward all moves toward promoting funds for the Red Cross and other war moves, has turned many of his former friends against him. While other champions have volunteered their services and have been and are doing excellent work as boxing instructors, where they have not actually enlisted, the heavyweight champion has refused even to appear at benefit performances, and that in a surly manner, that offended his friends.

He will find no warm welcome here after his flourish at volunteering his services and then ducking. A man who has made a fortune by boxing, and then refuses even to support the greatest fight the world has ever known, is a sorry-looking champion.

Willard apparently has no intention of fighting again. So long as he can capitalize his towering shape with a circus he is content. However, he is rapidly losing his value as an attraction, and will be unable to drag down any big money in the near future, unless he gets into the ring again.

Jones will endeavor to secure an interview with Willard. "I don't know whether he'll see me or not, but I'm going to make a man-sized effort to see him," says Tom. "There is no question of his financial obligation to me, and I see no reason why he shouldn't pay up."

OUTLOOK FOR HOCKEY FOR COMING SEASON

Hockey clubs all over the province are organizing for the coming season and making ready for the 28th annual meeting of the O.H.A., which will be held in the Temple building, Toronto, on Saturday, December 1, at 10 a.m. Each club is entitled to one delegate. Notice of amendments to constitution, etc., must be in the hands of the secretary by Saturday of this week; nominations for office by the following Saturday. Certificates are issued to all players. Junior players must be under 20 years of age January 1, 1918. Official birth certificates are required. Under the required O.H.A. residence rule a player must be a bona fide and continuous resident of the town to which his club belongs since August 1, 1917. The exceptions are enlisted soldiers, students, teachers and sailors. The last named must play where they were living last January. Sailors enlisted for overseas service, like students and teachers, may play in their home teams, with a soldiers' team in the town or regimental district in which they are located, or with any team in the town in which they are located. In the case of a returned soldier from overseas, he may play wherever he desires to locate, and in the case of an honorably discharged soldier he may play in his home town. Players living in rural districts, villages or police villages must play in their nearest O.H.A. town.

WHERE IS OUR WANDERING JOSH TODAY?

One of the most interesting and difficult occupations that have been carried on as a sideline by baseball observers for several years is keeping track of Josh Devore. That intrepid traveller, once famed as the lucky dog of the diamond, began his thirty-first year Monday, as he was born on Nov. 13, 1887, in Murray City, Ohio. In the days of his festive youth Josh played in Meriden, Mass., and Raleigh, N. C., and then was given a trial by the Giants. He didn't quite fill the bill, however, and was given a railroad ticket to Newark. After bearing it with the Bears for some time he was recalled to the McGraw club and shared in the world's series melon in 1911 and 1912. He was shipped to Cincinnati in 1913, but was sold to the Phillies, who swapped him to the Braves in time for Josh to horn in on the series kale in 1914. In 1915 our hero spent the summer with the Ohio State League. He was manager of the club which started in Chillicothe, but which was later transferred to Huntington, and then to Maysville, Ky. Devore won the second season pennant for Maysville, but lost in the playoff with Portsmouth. In 1916 Josh started in a Philadelphia uniform, but Pat Moran separated him from the payroll in April. Josh then made a short stay in Milwaukee, but in mid-season the Brewers released him to Topeka. Otherwise Josh has led a quiet and uneventful career.

THIRD SULLIVAN-RYAN CONTEST

On Nov. 13, 1886, thirty-two years ago, John L. Sullivan knocked out Paddy Ryan in the third round at San Francisco. This was the third and last meeting between the two great Irish fighters. Ryan was champion of America when he first met the "Boston Strong Boy" at Mississippi City in 1882. Paddy was knocked out in the ninth round and John L. became the king of American pugilism. Ryan tried to regain his lost laurels at New York in 1885, but the police stopped the bout before it had fairly started. They were then matched by a San Francisco club, but poor old Paddy was only a bite for the voracious John L. Ryan fought only one more battle. This was against Joe McAuliffe in New York and Paddy was whipped. Ryan hailed originally from Tipperary, but settled in Troy, N. J., where he died. He attained the championship in 1880 by whipping Joe Goss in a terrific 87-round battle at Collier's Station, West Virginia.

PTE. HAWMAU WRITES HOME

Ward 224 D,
Can. Convalescent Hospital
Bear Wood, Workingham,
Berks, England.

Dear Sister, Percy and Family:

Just a few lines to let you know I am getting along O. K. I met Miss Jean Cameron Smith here. She is matron of this hospital, and came from Powassan with the 1st Contingent. This is the first time I have met her over here, but we used to correspond when I was in hospital in Halesworth.

I was on an outing yesterday to Windsor Castle, and I had a swell time. About twenty went from here by special invitation from the King. We had lunch with the princess, and she gave us each a postcard of the castle. The princess is a very nice young lady and I was talking to her about twenty minutes. She asked me what part of Canada I came from, and, before I thought, I said Powassan. Well, she said she had never heard of that province, and asked me if it was in the wilderness. So, of course, I said, "Yes, very much so." Ha, ha! The King wasn't there to receive us. However, I like the princess best, and hope the King is absent next time I go there. I am sending mother the invitation card, so you can see it when you go up there.

Miss R[illegible], from Nonsuch, is coming here tomorrow and is to take me for a car ride, so I must spend all day in trying to look my best, eh? She has been here several times now and took me for a car ride to Reading, a city close by.

I had a letter from Ed. a short time ago. He is well and rather glad that I got hit, for he didn't like to see me in those scraps.

Must close now. Hope you are all well, and trust I shall hear from you real soon. I remain,

Your loving brother, JACK.

C. G. E. WIN TWO FROM PRINTERS

Last night in a five pin league fixture the C.G.E. team won two of the three games from the Printers. The Printers were badly handicapped by the absence of three players, while the C.G.E. were one player short. Seaton, for the C.G.E., was high man for the night with a 500 total and high single of 246 in the first game. Henderson was high for the Printers with 485 total.

Tonight the Eko Club and the Centrals meet, and a fast game is anticipated.

SOME HEALTH FALLACIES.

"If I were asked who keeps infectious disease going my reply would be most emphatically women in general, but chiefly the mothers." This hard saying came from a noted English surgeon who was addressing a gathering of women. The new idea of public health was his topic. Continuing, he said, "One is horrified to observe the profound ignorance that prevails even among clever and cultivated people as regards the true nature and treatment of disease. For instance, you will find numerous persons of your acquaintance who still believe that rubbing the eyelids with a gold wedding ring will cure a style, and that piercing the ears strengthens the vision; that lunatics are affected by the phases of the moon; that consumption is hereditary; that the application of red flannel (it must be red) cures sore throat, and that a raw beef-steak is good for a black eye; that pricks from rusty nails cause lock-jaw, and that the swallowing of grape stones sets up appendicitis, finally, that measles and other children's diseases are inevitable and that the sooner one is 'through with them' the better, and that, on that account, it is both useless and unnecessary to endeavour to segregate the other children when once a case occurs in a house.

FOUND LOST BAG CONTAINING $10.50 AFTER IT WAS ADVERTISED.

At the Police Court this morning Benjamin Roddy pleaded not guilty to a charge of having retained a satchel he had found belonging to Mrs. Ethel Eakens of Millbrook, the loss of which she advertised, and which contained amongst other things the sum of $10.50 and a letter of identification.

Accused pleaded not guilty and requested adjournment until 3 o'clock to get a material witness to court. Adjournment was granted.

Advertised Her Loss.

Mrs. Ethel Eakins of Millbrook testified to losing the satchel on Oct. 31 when coming in from Mr. Hunter's of North Monaghan via Charlotte St. at noon, to take the train home. At the station she found she had lost her handbag, in which there was $10 in bills and some silver, two fancy collars, a pair of gloves, a key of her house, a smal penknife. The satchel also contained a letter from France, to the best of her knowledge, she having been in the habit of carrying it there. The letter was addressed to hr.

Witness here opened her satchel, which had been returned to her by the police, and found therein everything but her gloves and a few small things of no material value. A child's glove which did not belong to her was in the satchel. She had advertised the satchel in a local paper the day it was lost.

Accused said he did not see the advertisement

WOES OF SERBIA TOLD BY MISS HELEN LOSANITCH

Interested Audience Listens to Graphic Recital at Collegiate Assembly Hall.

There was a large and intensely appreciative audience at the Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall last night when Miss Helen Losanitch addressed the assembly on Serbia's woes and described atrocities committed by the Austrians in their two invasions.

Judge Huycke made a very acceptable chairman of the proceedings.

Before telling of her visits to her country people in camps of refuge in France and Corsica, Miss Losanitch outlined briefly the story of Serbia from the time it fell under Turkish rule in the fourteenth century. For five centuries the Serbs lived under that dominance, yet kept their national spirit alive. In 1804 Serbia rose against the Turk. In 1912 she allied herself with the other Balkan States to free those Christian peoples from Turkish sway, and now Serbia is in her sixth year of fighting.

The atrocities committed by the Austrians in their two invasions of Serbia during this war included the killing of 5,600 non-combatants, women, children and old men, the burning of people alive in their homes and the crucifixion of children, to say nothing of the bringing into the country of 1,200 typhus patients, so that eventually 250,000 to 260,000 people died as a result.

The Flight From Serbia.

The awful hardships of the flight through Montenegro to Scutari, as experienced by Miss Losanitch's own parents, was a frightful story, as was that of 30,000 child refugees, only 6,000 of whom reached the Albanian coast.

Both pictures and story told of the hospitality of the allied countries, which the refugees, to the number of about 30,000, are now enjoying. Six thousand people are being cared for in Corsica by the Serbian Relief Committee of London and the French Government. They have homes, churches, schools, workrooms and a wonderful Scottish Women's Hospital, of which Miss Losanitch showed pictures also pictures of some of the thirty-three babies that have been born there, only three of whom are girl babies.

CASH MUST COME WITH THE ORDER

HOW TO RESERVE SEATS IN THE THEATRE BY MAIL.

The sale of seats for "The Bird of Paradise," which comes to the Grand Opera House next Wednesday, opened briskly this morning and orders for seats came in by mail. Of these, however, some thirty-seven did not contain the remittance necessary to reserve the seats ordered. The management of the Grand wish to advise patrons that unless the amount to cover the order is enclosed no attention will be paid to requests by mail for reservation.

It is also necessary to advise whether tickets are required for afternoon or evening performance.

SPECIAL ATTRACTION AT GRAND TONIGHT

The management of the Victory Loan Committee announces that they have secured that stirring moving picture "Miss Canada" for use at the big mass meeting in the Opera House tonight. You should be there. No admission.

MISS CELETE SCUDDER with "The Bird of Paradise."

"The Bird of Paradise," Richard Walton Tully's super-melodrama of fair Hawaii, is announced for presentation at The Grand next Wednesday, Nov. 21, for two performances. Despite it is now in its seventh year, there are no signs of waning interest with the theatre-going public. Each year a new face has appeared in the leading role. This season the part of Luana, the little Hawaiian princess, is to be enacted by Miss Celete Scudder, one of the youngest leading women to portray this famous role. Miss Scudder gained recognition last season by her clever interpretation of the role of Frailty in "Experience," which won for her the much coveted part in which she will be seen in "The Bird of Paradise."

The popularity of this attraction is enhanced by the weird and beautiful music blended into the play by the five Hawaiian singers, whose singing is one of the fascinating charms of the drama.

Rousing Mass Meeting in the Opera House—Nearly Half Objective in Victory Loan Reached—Peterboro' Subscribing Loyally.

THERE was an atmosphere of endorsation and approval at the mass meeting in the Opera House last night to boost the Victory Loan campaign. The utterances of the several speakers were timely and appropriate, and were punctuated by applause from the audience as their truths were driven home.

Mayor Duffus presided over the proceedings, and with him on the stage were seated Mr. G. A. Gillespie, M.L.A., ex-Mayor Bradburn, Judge Huycke, Father Phelan, Captain Oakes (chaplain 92nd Battalion), Vincent Eastwood, J. J. Hartley, W. L. McKinnon, B.A., organizer for the Victory Loan, Eastern Ontario division, and Dr. McCulloch.

The "Miss Canada" moving pictures were of a high order of merit and appreciated as such.

$750,000 FROM PETERBOROUGH

Mayor Duffus, in a neat address, explained that Canada was being asked to subscribe to the Victory Loan $150,000,000 for the maintenance of her soldiers at the front, and a successful prosecution of the war. Of this amount, Peterborough City and County are expected to buy bonds at five and one-half per cent. interest to the amoun of $750,000, and he was confident that with its energetic team committees, and ex-Alderman W. H. Bradburn as their chairman, this city and county will reach the million mark.

Overseas Experience

Captain Oakes, with his battle-front experience at Vimy Ridge and elsewhere, gave a graphic picture of what Canadians are doing in the great world-struggle, and declared them worthy of everything we Canadians at home can offer in their support. In fact, he said we never can begin to do enough for them.

Captain Oakes here gave a vivid story of the capture of Vimy Ridge by the Canadians on April 9th last, which stronghold the French in 1915 unsuccessfully attacked with a loss of over 80,000 men. Vimy Ridge, he described as the key to Lens, is five and a half miles long and 450 feet high. It was won on Easter Monday morning by the Canadian division, supported on the right by Scotch Highlanders and on the left by English battalions, and protected by an artillery barrage from guns of all callibre as far back as twenty miles. In this action Canadians won the greatest victory in the history of the war up to that time, and ousted the Huns from a position they never had intended to give up. In fact, Germany fully expected that after the war Vimy Ridge would mark the international boundary between France and Germany.

We, who cannot go to the front, he continued, are offered an opportunity to back up these forces who have proudly upheld the honor of the Dominion by subscribing to the Victory Loan, and the best we can do in that direction is none too good. It must be remembered that Great Britain expects this of us. She has been bearing the financial burden of all her allies and the time has come when she expects Canada to assume her own burden of the war. In the last three years Great Britain has loaned five thousand million dollars to this Dominion and her allies, and the war has cost the Mother Country over 31 thousand million dollars. Up to the time war was declared Britain had invested three thousand million dollars in Canada to help in permanent improvements, and now by assisting her in our turn Canadians will be only paying back a debt they owe and at the same time helping themselves.

In closing, Captain Oakes designated two classes who should especially respond to the Victory Loan call—farmers and factory employees, both of whom are being enriched by the war's demand and prices of food and ammunitions.

Judge Huycke

As a citizen Judge Huycke spoke of the Canadians valor at Vimy Ridge, which was of local interest as

UNIONISTS, GENUINE AND SPURIOUS

Will the "delegates" to the "convention" which is called for tonight in Victoria Hall read the following editorial from the Toronto Mail and Empire before they commit themselves to any course? It fits local conditions so aptly that it would almost appear to have been written with West Peterborough in the writer's mind. The article says:

"In every constituency of English-speaking Canadians the majority of the voters must desire to return to the next Parliament a supporter of Union Government. In all cases they will doubtless have an opportunity of doing so, and in many ridings in this province there may be perplexity as to which of two professing Unionists is the one the more deserving of the people's choice. It will rarely happen that both are equally thoroughgoing adherents of Unionism, and it will generally happen that one is insincere. It is most important that every sham Unionist be detected and rejected. The next House of Commons should, as far as possible, be a win-the-war House, and it should contain no English-speaking member capable of betraying his electors or proving false to the men at the front. The country means to stand by its defenders to the end of the war, and to deal handsomely with them when the war is over. These heroes must not have to depend on a House that has rotten spots in it. The method of eliminating would-be candidates who simply masquerade as Unionists will have to be studied out in each constituency. In those constituencies in which men sat in the last House are offering themselves for nomination the electors have at least a record to go upon. Such of these ex-members as can point to the support of the Borden Government's war measures, the measures the Union Government has been formed to carry out, are Unionists of record. A last-moment deserter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier who appears as a competitor of such an ex-member for nomination as a Union Government candidate ought not to be admitted to that footing. It is surely a strange token of a man's recent recantation of Laurierism that he hastens to snatch the nomination from a candidate who helped to enact the body of legislation the Union Government is formed to carry out. Not for a moment should an ex-Laurier aspirant for a seat in Parliament be allowed to dispute the title of 'Union Government candidate' with a man who in the last House strongly supported the Prime Minister in his war measures and in his efforts to form a Union Government. The genuine adherent of the Union Government is not a man who will oppose the return of a man who was a Unionist in the last House."

ITALIANS OPEN UP FLOOD GATES TO DROWN AUSTRO-GERMAN ARMY

Turning Water into the Valley will Prevent any Enemy Attempt to Attack Right Flank of Italy's Forces.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Italian Headquarters, Nov. 16.—The flood gates of the Piave and Sile rivers northeast of Venice have been opened by Italian engineers. The action of the Italians in opening the flood gates of the Piave and Sile Rivers probably means an attempt to drown out the Austro-German forces which crossed the lower Piave several days ago at Grisolera, about 17 miles northeast of Venice.

The flooding of the triangle formed by the two rivers and the Adriatic also probably would make ineffective any German attempt to debouch in force against the right flank of the Italian army along the Piave.

Paris, Nov. 16.—A German attack in Belgium was repulsed last night by the French. German aviators bombarded the region south of Nancy. There were no victims.

FIGHTING ON ITALIAN FRONT.

Rome, Nov. 16.—All along the mountain front from Asiago to the Piave River attacks by the Austro-German forces, which are seeking to crush in the Italian line, have been repulsed, it is announced officially. All positions attacked yesterday remained in the hands of the Italians. On the Venetian plains artillery battles of intense severity across the Piave River are in progress.

TO CALL OFF LABOR STRIKE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Nov. 16.—An attempt to negotiate for the creation of a Socialist government in Russia and the postponement of the railway strike there, are described in an Exchange Telegraph Co. despatch from Petrograd, dated Tuesady. Premier Kerensky, the despatch adds, has issued proclamations declaring his adherence to the revolution and guaranteeing the clearing out of the Bolsheviki as well as the transferrence of power to democratic organizations, the preliminary parliament, and the committee for safeguarding the country and the revolution.

It is reported from Kiev, the despatch adds, that there is heavy fighting throughout that city. Airplanes are participating on both sides, and there have been numerous casualties. The armistice at Moscow expires today.

NUN SENT WEST AND LATER WAS BROUGHT BACK

Mother General Testifies in the Church Case at Kingston.

HAD TROUBLE WITH OTHERS

Finally Sent to Montreal to Be Examined as to Her Sanity.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Kingston, Nov. 16.—Mother General Mary Francis Regis, one of the defendants in the action by Sister Mary Basil for $29,000 damages, was the chief witness called by the defence this morning. She told of her association with Sister Mary and said that their relations were always friendly, so far as she was concerned. However, Sister Mary had trouble with some of the other sisters and she was finally transferred to the Roman Catholic Hospital at Daysland, Alta., whither she went after some protestations. As a result of something which happened at Daysland, Sister Mary was brought back east.

The Mother General said that the object of sending Sister Mary to Montreal was to get her away from Father Mea's influence, also to decide whether she was sound mentally as the authorities had power to dismiss an incorrigible Sister who is mentally defective. The worst things the plaintiff had done to her, said the Mother General, was to show disrespect towards her.

All the Virtue in the Work Is Not on the Side of the Workers.

PLAIN TALK FROM A.F. OF S. HEAD

Convention Decides to Take up Work of Sending Tobacco to Soldiers.

Buffalo, Nov. 16.—While its committees labored in secret the thirty-seventh annual convention of the American Federation of Labor marked time and heard a talk from its president, Samuel Gompers. Mr. Gompers made the downright statement that the long-standing problems affecting capital and labor are practically unsolvable.

"All that can be done," he said, "is to solve problems confronting us from day to day. We can allay all disputes during the war if you gentlemen will bear in mind that all the virtues are not on your side and all the vices on theirs. It is not fair to take the derelict and hold him up as a type of labor any more than it is fair to hold up a gradgrind as a type of employers. Neither side can claim all the patriotism, but it is possible to obtain a better understanding, so that the standards of American life shall not be lowered, to the end that our boys at the front

MEN WHO HAVE DEFAULTED GIVEN A CHANCE TO SAVE THEMSELVES

Military Depot Established at Armories Where all Such May Surrender and Get Into the Service.

Major Scott of Kingston is establishing at the Armories a military depot, where men who have not obeyed the Military Service Act, and surrender, will, under order-in-council, be enrolled in the forces. Even men summarily convicted as deserters may here sign up by permission of the military officer commanding.

Must Report to Police.

There are many men, perhaps, who for good reasons could not either register or report, and are consequently classed as deserters. For instance, Chief of Police Thompson has in hand one Class E man who since medically examined had been ill until he surrendered to the police recently. Of course due consideration will be shown this man by the authorities, and any similarly situated should report at once to Chief Thompson, as all delinquents, no matter what their class, are rated as deserters.

SCOTT ACT MUST APPLY

In Places Where Ontario Temperance Act Conflicts

When the Canada Temperance Act and the Ontario Temperance Act conflict the former must prevail, according to a judgment delivered by Mr. Justice Masten at Osgoode Hall.

SUB. MENACE NOT YET DEFEATED

EVEN IF THE RETURNS OF LAST WEEK'S LOSSES ARE FAVORABLE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Nov. 16.—In reply to a question in the House of Commons today, Sir Eric Geddes, First Lord of the Admiralty, said: "The good returns of tonnage sinking by enemy submarines last week are indeed comparatively favorable. The result of the last two months ought not to be taken as indicating that the submarine menace is a thing of the past or defeated."

SUB MENACE IS STILL A FACTOR

AMERICAN EXPERTS DO NOT BELIEVE THAT DANGER IS PAST.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Nov. 16.—American naval experts, it was made plain today, do not agree with the view that the lull in the submarine activities indicates a collapse of the U Boat campaign or that the anti-submarine measures have proved wholly effective. They agree that progress is being made against the menace, but meanwhile the American navy will continue its preparation to deal with the problem.

CAPT. BURNHAM'S ADDRESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

Election-day is December 17th. Its nearness admits of no further delay on the part of candidates in formally addressing you. It was hoped that political parties in West Peterborough might unite, as the members of the Borden Union Administration have done, in its support. But since the Liberal Convention has met and chosen its standard-bearer, who has not declared himself to be a supporter of the Borden Union Administration, it becomes necessary for me, without more, to solicit your suffrages. At the convention of the Conservatives of West Peterborough, duly assembled, I was chosen as their candidate to support Sir Robert Borden and his Administration. The Prime Minister has formed a Union Administration, composed of Conservative, Liberal and Labour representatives, to the end that he may the more fully and surely carry in a spirit of national unity and co-operation Canada's share in the war to a successful conclusion.

I pledge myself, therefore, with that same spirit of unity and co-operation, to support the Borden Union Administration and its policies, and I earnestly and respectfully solicit your votes and support accordingly. This is no ordinary political campaign, and it is hoped that all well-wishers of the Borden Union Administration will make every effort to secure the return of its supporters.

I have the honour to remain.

Yours truly,
J. H. BURNHAM.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1917

THE "CONVENTION" TONIGHT.

IF THERE IS a Union candidate nominated at the impromptu convention in Victoria Hall tonight, Capt. Burnham will remain in the field. This will make a three-cornered contest in the riding and will make the way to office easy for Mr. Hall. Capt. Burnham authorizes this statement with regard to his intentions.

If, however, a Union candidate other than Capt. Burnham is nominated at a regularly constituted convention, he (Capt. Burnham) will withdraw and leave a clear field for his successor and Mr. Hall to fight it out between them.

What could be fairer than that?

VOTE AS YOU INVEST.

IF A MAN contributed $5 or any amount to an election fund he would naturally be anxious to see the principle that he endorsed come out a winner, and would most certainly back up his contribution with his vote.

If a man laid a bet on a certain horse in a race, he would not be likely to give his favorite dope to lessen his winning powers or to bribe the jockey to hold in his mount.

If a man invested money in a manufacturing concern, he would not connive with an incendiary to burn down the factory nor foment labor troubles among the workers, or to do anything else calculated to pare down the annual dividends.

Why should not a man follow the same line of procedure in political matters as in private life and vote as he invests?

The man or woman who buys a Victory bond does so in the firm faith that the country will pay the rate of interest regularly and the principal in full when the bond matures. The ability of the nation to fulfil this pledge depends upon the outcome of the present war.

If the conflict ends in favor of the Germans and the latter overrun this country, as they most certainly would, the war bonds will become in very truth so many scraps of paper. All values would be lost to the Canadians. Following the course which they adopted in Belgium, the Germans would levy a war tax on this country that would impoverish every property owner. The nation's financial obligations would be repudiated by the conquerors. Every farmer in Canada would be dispossessed of his holdings. Even if he were allowed to remain on his land, it would be only as a serf working for his foreign taskmasters.

The Union Government is the Government that is pledged to win the war by the most modern methods that have been tried out by the Allied Powers in Europe and that have been adopted at the outset by the United States, that was not slow to profit by the mistakes of the powers that were earlier in the war.

A vote for the Union Government is a vote for the safety of the war bonds that are being bought so extensively today. The money is to be spent in winning the war. It cannot be repaid if the war is lost. Then let every man, every woman, who has a vote, use that vote as he or she invests.

But the people are hopeful that the war will be won. It will require sacrifice, however, to achieve victory. Unless money is provided, the cause of the Allies is doomed to collapse, and then all of Canada's wealth will be lost to the Germans. To buy Victory bonds is a patriotic duty. More than that, it is an investment that is intended to save to us all our earthly possessions. Then buy a bond, with implicit faith that the money will be well spent in the cause of human freedom.

MR WEARING THE SPOKESMAN.

MR. JOSEPH WEARING appears to be the recognized official spokesman of the "Unionist Party," whether as the head of a delegation or as the correspondent to the local press, and it must be conceded that he takes up his duties with commendable vigor. Unfortunately, however, this does not imply that Mr. Wearing is always right either in his premises or conclusions. He told Sir George Foster the other night that the Unionists wished to prevent the election of Mr. Hall. If his is so, disrupting the voters, who, if left unmolested, would most surely vote against Mr. Hall, would hardly appear to be the logical method to accomplish the object in view.

Mr. Wearing should read again the statement that Capt. Burnham published in The Review of November 7, in which he said he was ready to consider any Union proposition from a duly appointed convention. Mr. Wearing is too good a lawyer not to know that the meeting advertised for tonight does not answer this condition, so that Capt. Burnham will not be bound by anything that gathering may be pleased to do.

THE WAR NOT YET WON.

ANY MAN who believes that the war is already as good as won is living in a fool's paradise. The cold facts must be faced bravely. Self-deception and over-confidence conspire to aid the arms of the enemy.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, a member of the new Union Government, whose utterances are entitled to be regarded as official, in his address to the electors of East Peterborough the other night, did not attempt to minimize the country's peril. One of his statements was to the effect that a close analysis of the losses in shipping due to the activity of the German submarines, shows that every second carload of foodstuffs sent to the Allies goes to the bottom of the ocean. He is not blind to the fact, however, that the Allies are making substantial gains in controlling this menace, although it has not been by any means disposed of.

The submarine warfare would be carried on as fiercely as ever while Sir Wilfrid Laurier was taking a referendum on conscription. The party that proposes that Canada devote every national energy to the production of food would combat the evil from the wrong angle, just as would the man who attempted to build houses quicker than an enemy could burn them down, instead of putting the incendiary out of business. The only way to finally and effectively free the world of the submarine atrocities is to crush the German military system and bring the proud empire to its knees.

Only a few days ago it began to look as if the war was really nearing the end. The Allies were making gains on every front. Then Russia weakened. Most surprising of all, a large portion of the forces of the Central Empires were diverted to the Italian front, and that brave army was beaten back. This war has been full of surprises. No one can presume to prophesy what new barbarity a day or an hour may bring forth.

Does that look as if the war was already won? Is this a time to palaver about referendums or to recommend that Canada do nothing but produce food for the barbarous Huns to sink in the highways of the sea?

WHY UNION IS IMPERFECT.

> "Can a government of twenty-two members, fourteen Conservatives and eight Liberals, be considered a Union Givernment in the honest, patriotic and war-winning sense of the term?"
> —The Examiner.

THE UNION GOVERNMENT would have consisted of an equal number of Liberals and Conservatives if Sir Wilfrid Laurier had accepted the offer of Sir Robert Borden to nominate members from among his own following and enter the Cabinet himself. But Sir Wilfrid refused to be associated with any administration that stood for the selective draft.

Why, then, blame the deficiencies of the present make-up of the new Administration upon the Conservative party when Sir Wilfrid Laurier alone is responsible?

CALLING ON SIR GEORGE.

IT WAS ONLY TO BE expected that when a public man so eminent as Sir George Foster visited this city, prominent members of both parties should call at his hotel and welcome him. Perhaps it was natural, too, for some citizens to pester him with purely family affairs, as he intimated in his address at the Armories.

It is not fair, however, to insinuate, as a local paper so mendaciously does, that every man who called on Sir George went there for the purpose of protesting against his speaking a word in "official endorsation" of Capt. Burnham. With some it was merely a friendly call and had no connection with purely local political affairs.

The list of callers, as published in a local paper, is misleading, to put it mildly. Anyone at all familiar with some men mentioned know they had no such object in view and that they were in no sense members of any delegation.

THAT WORD "OFFICIAL."

SIR GEORGE FOSTER at the Armories Wednesday night stated his case so clearly that even our contemporary has no excuse for failing to understand him. He asserted in concise language that there could be no official recognition of any candidate until after the nomination next Monday. He was himself nominated at a Union convention in North Toronto, and yet he cannot consider himself as the official Union candidate, although no one will be inclined to question his fidelity to the present Administration. That word "official" makes all the difference.

No one doubts for a moment that R. R. Hall is a supporter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, but Mr. Hall cannot be regarded as the "official" nominee until after the nomination next week. With as much consistency, the charge can be made that Mr. Hall is going about under false colors, as to insinuate the same with regard to Capt. Burnham. Sir George Foster had no authority to designate Capt. Burnham or anyone else as the official candidate, even though The Examiner crows over his failure to do so. That is the prerogative of Sir Robert Borden himself, and cannot be exercised until after the official nomination.

THE KINDNESS THAT HURTS

"There's no use talking," said Willowby to his widowed mother and sole support. "I gotter look for another job. The boss is too rough."

"Is he, dear? I'm so sorry," responded the Widow Willowby, stroking the boy's beautiful, curly yellow hair. "I was just beginning to find your salary quite helpful, but if the boss treats you meanly I suppose you might as well cease working there."

"Sure! I'd be getting the sack soon, anyway. I'll just tell him he can——"

"Just a minute," interrupted the Willowby boarder. "I know something about bosses. I have done a little in the bossing line myself. That is to say, I have been assistant boss, and, though I have never been the man that bosses the bosses, I have been assistant boss to the bosses' boss' assistant, so I speak with authority.

"'If you say the boss treats you mean, that may be true, but when you say that he is going to can you there is a discrepancy somewhere. No boss ever sends a man out into the world with a kick. He prefers to pat candidates for the blue envelope over to the door and then put them out.

"If your boss comes along and apologizes for stumbling over your feet, makes you a polite bow and brushes a fleck of dust off your shoulder, arranges your necktie and inquires as to your health, tells you a joke and gives you a cigar, turn him around real quick and you will see that he has a large and enthusiastic can in his hand or up his sleeve or under his coat. That's the way you get your walking papers.

"But suppose he comes along yelling, 'Gangway, all! Get those sprawling gunboats out of the way so that somebody who's doing some work can get by here! If you're not doing anything yourself you might at least not interfere with those who are working! What is this, an Indian summer vacation you're pulling here? We'll have to get a hammock for you to loll around in! If you want anything, press a button, and we'll all come and wait on you! If you don't want me to take you up by the scruff of the neck and your coattails and throw you out of this place, brace up! Get a little starch in your backbone and a little pep in your gizzard and step in and do some work!'

"Then you can be reasonably sure of holding your job. He wouldn't take that amount of trouble with you otherwise."

"Oh, dear!" cried the Widow Willowby, as she stroked her darling's curls again. "I should hate to have Willowby talked to that way!"

"It's just a question of which you want the most—kindness or a job," said the boarder with conviction. "To me the kindest man in the world is the one who takes the trouble to keep me in my job."

HOW TO SAVE IN USE OF COAL

of the requirements of the present and approaching months. This does not mean that people must suffer from cold. It merely means that they may avoid wasteful methods of handling and using coal by following approved methods. This affects every one, and all may read with profit the suggestions of Van H. Manning, director of the federal bureau of mines:

"It is everybody's business to save coal. If the consumers can be aroused to an intelligent consideration of the burning of coal, they can begin to save 10 per cent of the production (600,000,000 tons) at once. With more effort, through instruction and a moderate remodeling of coal burning equipment, which could all be accomplished during the war, a further considerable saving can be made.

"The immediate problem is a difficult one. We cannot scrap all out of date power plants. We must start by doing the best with what we have. We must reach the man with the shovel. People shovel the 20 per cent of our coal used for domestic purposes. Firemen shovel the 60 odd per cent of our coal used by power plants and railroads.

"The householder must realize that when he throws a shovelful of anthracite coal into his furnace its value is equivalent to half a pound of sugar, or half a loaf of bread or a pint of milk.

"He must appreciate that it is worth while to examine his house and to overhaul his heating equipment. Weather strips, double windows, pipe coverings, clean flues and chimneys, and tight fittings in ash pit, doors, dampers and furnace parts will all pay.

"Damper control is one of the chief secrets of economical heating. Clean surfaces are most essential, as soot is a poorer conductor of heat than asbestos. Care, attention and taking pains will be the greatest factors in saving domestic coal.

"The fireman is, however, the biggest single factor to be considered in a campaign to secure the largest saving of coal. Many manufacturers have made a serious mistake in failing to consider the fireman as a skilled worker. He is not well instructed nor given proper labor saving devices. As coal increases in price or becomes difficult to get, the fireman handles more and more of his employer's money.

"In carrying out a campaign to promote the saving of coal, let the appeal be made to the householder to cut down his consumption in every way possible, but above all give serious consideration to methods by which a systematic relationship may be established between the office and the fireman."

TODAY'S STORY

"What in the world was the matter?" asked Bilson. "While that wonderful four piece orchestra was giving us that rhapsody at the moving picture theater you sat as if in a stupor. Evidently you did not hear a note of it. Your ears were sealed to all that harmony. Were you getting ready to hibernate for the winter? It was awful."

"I know it, Henry," replied Mrs. Bilson. "But how could any one listen to the music when that pathetic film was on? My, how I felt for that poor girl, wandering the cold street, and nobody to help but the camera man and the director! Wasn't that villain a brute?"

"I don't know, dear! I told you I paid no attention to the film. The music had me. It was great stuff."

"What a mind!" said Mrs. Bilson. "This was Effa Sping's best feature. She had never had anything to suit her until now.

"Her waif is just wonderful. So different from Maida Bilker's. Maida is a born society belle and when she is cast as a waif she looks anything but the part. Effa is a born waif. I wouldn't be surprised if she was some poor orphan in real life before she got into the moving pictures."

"We won't go into Effa's past history or antecedents. Oh, that music! Honestly, Miranda, it made a poet out of me again, the way the springtime used to, and the harvest moon. I'm not joking. I wrote the words down on my program as they came to me. You know I'm ordinarily modest, but this seems awfully good even if I did write it. How is this:

"'The oboe flirted with the flute,
It trilled its love song—then was mute.'"

"My goodness!" said Mrs. Bilson. "I didn't know you had it in you!"

"Well, I had," said Bilson. "I did another little poem while the music was on. Listen to this:

"'The trombone growls in anger at the drum.
The drum beats back in anger—then is mum.'"

"It is great poetry, Henry," said Mrs. Bilson. "But the tickets cost 15 cents apiece and while the war is on we ought not to waste money or anything. While you were trying to put a halter on Pegasus I was raking in new ideas by wholesale.

"I learned exactly how Effa Sping gets her hair up in that odd twist. I noticed for the first time that she has feet much larger than mine. That dress she wore in the living room scene is a peau de sole with jet trimmin. I think one just like it will be awfully becoming to me and I want to see my modiste tomorrow and take her to see the film. If she thinks well of it I'll buy the goods while I'm downtown and—"

"Hereafter," said Bilson, interrupting, "we are to see no films but Charlie Chaplin."

WOMAN GIVEN TWO DAYS

To Make Up Her Mind for Surgical Operation. She Refused; Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"One year ago I was very sick and I suffered with pains in my side and back until I nearly went crazy. I went to different doctors and they all said I had female trouble and would not get any relief until I would be operated on. I had suffered for four years before this time, but I kept getting worse the more medicine I took. Every month since I was a young girl I had suffered with cramps in my sides at periods and was never regular. I saw your advertisement in the newspaper and the picture of a woman who had been saved from an operation and this picture was impressed on my mind. The doctor had given me only two more days to make up my mind so I sent my husband to the drug store at once for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and believe me, I only took four doses before I felt a change and when I had finished the third bottle I was cured and never felt better. I grant you the privilege to publish my letter and am only too glad to let other women know of my cure."—Mrs. THOS. McGONIGAL, 3453 Hartville Street, Phila., Pa.

ford was one of the advo- two-meals-a-day propos- aining season and often followed the system all through the playing year. He was a big fellow, was getting heavy, and was reaching the period when an athlete is regarded as aging. To the average ball player the two-a-day plan is no hardship, because few of the men get into the dining room before 9 o'clock in the spring, and before 10 o'clock in the regular season, where there is no morning practice on the road. And one thing that never was wrong with Sam was his condition. His eye might dim temporarily, but he was all right otherwise.

On the other hand, a player of exactly the same type as Crawford—Elmer Flick—could not deny himself the pleasures of the table. He had a good appetite, and liked to satisfy it. Flick should have been a big leaguer at least a half dozen years longer than he was. When he went out he was still a comparatively young man. And he had been in the .300 list four times in the National league, and four times in the American, showing that, even if his speed deserted him, he had the natural ability to hold him in harness for some time longer. But inability to keep in his old condition—an inability due in no way to bad habits, for Elmer was not wont to put his foot on the rail, or to stay out late—finally slowed him to minor league speed.

Great plans were formulated to combat the alien menace in the United States.

HAMILTONS TO PLAY DETROITS

SERIES OF GAMES ARRANGED BETWEEN THE TWO HOCKEY TEAMS.

Harry S. Brown, manager of the Detroit hockey club, threw a bombshell into the camp of the Hamilton hockey club when he came all the way from Detroit to hurl a defi at the intermediate champions of the O. H. A.

Brown paid a visit to the Arena, where a number of the members of Hamilton's champions were enjoying a skating session. A hurry-up call was sent out for the players, and in the presence of the representatives of two newspaper men Mr. Broan hurled his defi. He suggested a home-and-home series of four games, two in each city. Games are to count, but in the event of both teams winning twice, he suggests that the club that has scored the most goals in the four games have the say as to where the fifth and final game be played.

These games are to take place before the O. H. A. season commences, and Mr. Brown plans to open the Detroit season with the Hamilton crew. He would like to have the team play in Detroit Nov. 29 and 30, the first being Thanksgiving Day.

Needless to say the Hamilton players did not back up on the proposal, and they expressed their eagerness to take on the Yankee team. They made such a favorable showing last winter in a two-game series in Detroit that they believe they can turn the trick in home-and-home games, and so far as they are concerned the series is practically arranged.

Final arrangements will be completed at a meeting of the Hamilton hockey club called by the players for tomorrow night. Officers for the year will be elected, and other plans will be discussed.

EDITOR'S MAIL

DID NOT SAY IT.

Editor Review: Your issue of last night quoted me as stating that "Mr. Hall shirks in all patriotic matters and could not be elected poundkeeper." I need only say that I have never made any such statement. As a matter of fact it is well known that Mr. Hall has been active in patriotic work since the war began and it is well recognized too that in this election Mr. Hall will be a hard man to beat.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH WEARING.

Mr. Wearing was unwittingly misquoted yesterday and the error is regretted. What it was intended to represent him as saying was that the candidacy of Mr. Hall was offensive to patriotic sentiment and even this much Mr. Wearing denies having said. No one knows better than The Review how active Mr. Hall has been in patriotic work. No one marvels more that he should go back on the record now.—Ed. Review.

REPLY TO MR. WEARING.

Editor Review: Mr. Joseph Wearing's letter in last night's issue must not go unnoticed. It is very outspoken. Such epithets as "stubborn, selfish and unpatriotic," are in extremely bad taste, and savor of the well-known maxim of the legal profession that when one has a bad case one should abuse the other side. Does this account for Mr. Wearing's intemperate effusion?

But when we come to read his letter we find it teems with inaccuracies and false conclusions. First and foremost is the mendacious statement that Capt. Burnham has blocked all efforts towards co-operation and unity in this constituency. Nothing could be further from the truth. He has stated again and again that he is willing to stand or fall by a duly constituted convention in which official Liberal-Conservatives, Liberals and Laborites were properly represented.

The attempt by a few malcontents headed up by an avowed Liberal to call an independent convention and assume the self-styled name of Unionist, is in no sense of the word a Union convention, for no representative of either of the great parties has endorsed it. Obviously the true reason and intention is to draw a red herring across the scent, that some of the votes that would go to the real Union candidate should be detached so as to give the Laurier candidate a chance.

The pretense is that Capt. Burnham is not the Conservative nominee. This is as incorrect as the rest of Mr. Wearing's effusion. If the Conservative party did not want Capt. Burnham, there would have been a Conservative convention as soon as it became clear that the Liberals did not want and would not have a Union convention. To say he stubbornly held on to the nomination he received some time ago is a statement unworthy even of Mr. Wearing. How, in the name of common sense, could he hold on to it if the party had not wished it?

But Mr. Wearing's "facts" are so much like fiction that it hardly needs to be pointed out that Mr. Burnham has told the whole constituency both in newspaper and orally that he is ready to support any candidate that is selected by a truly representative Unionist convention, and tonight's meeting is not representative and cannot be. And because Mr. Burnham did not announce his refusal to stand as a candidate, the great exponent of patriotism from Water street dubs the Captain unpatriotic, arrogating to himself all the virtues.

Eleventh hour repentances usually get an incredulous reception, and when a Liberal of Mr. Wearing's type comes out as an opponent of Liberalism at the last moment with a proposal to put up a three-cornered fight, in which the third man is to figure in a catch-vote capacity, seeking to divide the suffrages that every true patriot desires to see united, it should be received with the greatest caution.

By the time this letter is in the hands of the public only an hour or two will be left in which any elector that has been misled by Mr. Wearing's ruse to split the Unionist vote can make up his mind. To him I would give a solemn warning. The promoters of this nefarious scheme, to sidetrack the true issue and split the Union vote, are of all others the most unpatriotic, and any man that loves the ~~freedom~~ and liberty and civilization for which our brothers and sons are bleeding and dying today, will avoid as a pestilence the ill-advised psuedo-convention called by psuedo-patriots for tonight.

Yours truly,
JAS. G. GUISE-BAGLEY.

BENNY KAUFF INJURED.

Benny Kauff of New York Giants home-run fame, had a narrow escape from death, but came through with only a few scratches, when the car in which he was riding was demolished. With a party of friends, including "Hody" Wilcox, the noted race driver, a hunting trip had been planned. They were driving at a high rate of speed on a road east of Rochester, Ind., when the accident happened. Being unfamiliar with the twist in the concrete road, the span of an iron bridge was hit at a sharp curve. Benn and another occupant were thrown from the car, both alighting in the soft dirt at the side of the road and escaping injury. The hunt was staged, as planned, after another machine was secured and the wrecked car hauled back to Rochester.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

SAVE YOUR HAIR! DOUBLE ITS BEAUTY IN JUST A FEW MOMENTS.

"DANDERINE" MAKES YOUR HAIR THICK, GLOSSY, WAVY AND BEAUTIFUL.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair, and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

RETURNED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON DELIGHTED WITH THEIR OUTING.

The Eagle Lake Hunt Club returned yesterday afternoon after a two weeks deer hunt at and in the neighborhood of Little Gold and Eagle Lakes. It seems that venison was not as elusive on this occasion as on many seasons of late, for these hunters have come back rejoicing in the possession of twelve fine specimens of deer, all shot in keen sportsmanlike manner. They report, apart from their luck, a joyous and exhilirating outing.

SIR SAM HUGHES TO HAVE FIGHT

WILL BE OPPOSED BY A LAURIER MAN IN COMING ELECTION.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—General Sir Sam Hughes, who has been in Ottawa this week has gone to Lindsay for the campaign. It was expected General Hughes would have an acclamation, but a Laurier-Liberal has entered the field and the ex-Minister will have opposition in Victoria-Haliburton. However, there is no doubt that the riding as in the past will again endorse General Hughes by a big majority. He will be recognized as an official Union candidate.

"The issue in the election is clear, now that Bourassa has endorsed Laurier," said General Hughes, discussing the election situation. "In my opinion the one gratifying feature is that there is now no doubt where Bourassa stands. There was a belief in Ontario, that Bourassa was behind the Government. That belief was causing great uneasiness, but the open alliance between Laurier and Bourassa makes the issue clear. It is now an open, stand-up fight between the negative forces under Laurier and Bourassa and the position forces of the country."

LOAN MUST BE

Peterborough boys were in that glorious engagement. He denied that he was an extremist, unless it be in so far as having visualized in his mind day and night what may happen if Canadians do not win this war. Peterborough, he contended can readily raise a million dollars for the Victory Loan. This money is asked to keep the old flag flying and to assure that Britain never, never shall be slaves. Peterboro boys died at Vimy Ridge. Peterborough boys are fighting in protection of Peterborough homes, old men and old women, and young and fair maidens, and neither the men nor ladies at home must let them die in vain. We are all fighting for our freedom and that our children in future years may not have to fight for their freedom. All who cannot fight at the front can load the guns like the old men and women in the stockades of old.

In conclusion, His Honor asked Peterborough men to supply the ammunition for Peterborough soldiers, and Peterborough ladies to pass the loaf, by subscribing generously to the Victory Loan.

Every $ a Blow to Enemy

W. L. McKinnon said money fights and every dollar invested in Victory Loan bonds is a blow struck for freedom, this time the whole nation must be behind the loan. The last issue was floated by brokers and bond-houses, and only the fringe of the country was touched by their advertising. But this campaign is one of education in which workers are trying to reach the whole people by a house-to-house canvass of the whole Dominion of Canada. The Victory Loan this time is the business of Canadian people.

Mr. McKinnon here went on to explain the working of the organization, and was proud that the Eastern Division team workers had the first day beaten the team workers of any other division in Ontario. He then quoted figures promising that Canada would reach a $300,000,000 mark. The objective for Eastern Ontario is $5,350,000 and of this $2,579,000 has been raised in three days—18 days to go yet and nearly half the amount already subscribed.

Arrangements, Mr. McKinnon said, had been made by which banks and manufacturers will finance loans of $50 and $100, which can be paid for by purchasers in weekly installments of $1 and $2, respectively. He rejoiced to announce that Peterborough city had reached one-third of its objective and a little over one-fourth if we determine on a million dollar mark.

In conclusion he declared that if the loan is not fully subscribed Canada will suffer a period of depression. Peterborough industries will shut down and prices of products drop. For in event of failure, Great Britain will borrow more largely from the United States, where she can get the loans she needs, and her trade with our neighbors will correspondingly increase to Canada's loss.

CENTRE WARD SUBSCRIBED $17,550,00 ON WEDNESDAY

Victory Loan Workers Encouraged by a General Atmosphere Pervading the Public Generally to Exceed the Objective.

Total Peterborough subscriptions to the Victory Loan, $345,000. Yesterday's results, $74,550.

Fired with an increased wave of enthusiasm stimulated by the encouragement received at last night's mass meeting, together with reports that Peterborough city and county are more than holding their own with other divisions in the Eastern Ontario Division of the Victory Loan Campaign. Peterborough's team committees are out today working like Trojans. They are giving special attention to workers in industries.

Wednesday's Results.

North Ward	$ 7,510
South Ward	8,650
East Ward	6,250
West Ward	10,650
Centre Ward	17,550
Asphodel and Norwood ...	900
Douro and Lakefield	7,400
Smith Township	5,650
Banks' credit of team workers	4,850
Special Names Team	40,050
Total..............	$109,450

Competition between team workers is keen, and on Wednesday those for Centre Ward headed the list with $17,550, while the West Ward was a good second with $10,650.

Will Help Peterborough.

All should bear in mind that the money subscribed for Victory Loan bonds in this city and county will, as far as needed, go foward sending everything that is necessary for the maintenance and comfort of Peterborough soldiers at the front. And the larger the loan the quicker will those gallant sons of this patriotic city and county be returned home, clothed in victory. They are fighting for the liberty of Canada and the Empire, and it is up to those at home to help them through by buying Victory bonds.

Refused Exemption Assaults Tribunal

LIVELY TUSSLE WITH FARMER—POLICE CHIEF CALLED IN

Huntsville, Nov. 16.—The local Exemption Tribunal had a lively half-hour just before the adjournment yesterday. An applicant named Warwood, whose request for exemption was refused, assaulted the members of the Tribunal and for an hour kept them busily employed seeking to overpower him. Chief Watson was called in and finally the man was pinioned and carried to the cells below. The disturber lives on a farm near Alansville, and asked for exemption as the sole support of his widowed mother and manager of the farm. His case was remanded by the local Magistrate.

may be supplied with all that is needful."

Mr. Gompers said he was proud to serve under the leadership of President Wilson. Telegrams to and from the President were read by President Gompers, the President's message expressing appreciation for the patriotic action taken by the Federation. Reports from Newark had it that the situation was satisfactory. At Boston the union leaders are awaiting the arrival of two delegates from the convention, who started for that city last night.

At the morning session President A. McAndrew of the Tobacco Workers' Industrial Union of Louisville urged the convention to interest itself practically in the matter of providing tobacco for the American soldiers in France. Telegrams from Forth Worth, St. Paul, San Francisco and Providence invited the Federation for the session of 1918.

WANTED—MORE OPERA HOUSES

"Opera has always seemed to be a very necessary thing in the State. It has a strong educational value in that it develops the musical taste of the public as well as teaching lessons in history and the humanities in a very forceful manner. Children should be taken to opera as a regular part of their education," said Mme Frieda Hempel in the course of a somewhat lengthy interview with the Etude. "Opera makes a wonderful impression upon the child's imagination — the romance, the color, the music, the action are rarely forgotten. Many of the operas are beautiful big fairy stories and the little folks glory in them. Parents who desire to develop the taste of their children and at the same time stimulate their minds along broader lines can do no better than to take them to the opera.

"Little towns in Europe often have fine opera houses, while many American cities several times their size have to put up with moving picture theatre houses. Why does not some enthusiastic leader take up a campaign for more opera. With the taste of the public educated through countless talking machines records it should not prove a bad business venture if it is gone about in a sensible manner."

Tremblay Turns King's Evidence

MAKES A CLEAN BREAST OF THE WHOLE SERIES OF PLOTS.

Montreal, Nov. 16.—Joseph Tremblay, one of the principal members of the gang of eleven men now being tried before Mr. Justice Pelletier and a jury on the charge of having conspired to commit outrages, turned King's evidence this morning, and announced that he would make a clean breast of the whole series of events leading up to the dynamiting of Lord Atholstan's residence at Cartierville. These include the attempted destruction of Senator Beaubien's residence, the theft of dynamite, the hatching of plans to blow up the Parliament Buildings and to assassinate prominent public men. It is thought that the taking of Tremblay's evidence will occupy the attention of the court for several days.

It was stated that the Crown is now in a position to prove that the entire conspiracy was the work of a small band of highwaymen, who succeeded in winning the confidence of a number of young men holding very strong views against the conscription act, and that having once enmeshed them forced their plans upon them at the point of the revolver.

Others Will Disclose, Too.

Counsel for Monette and Lalumiere followed up Tremblay's announced decision to turn King's evidence by stating that his clients would also take the stand and tell everything.

A sensation was produced when Tremblay stated in his evidence that the Wisintainer now in the prisoner's dock was not the Wisintainer who offered to direct the dynamiters to Lord Atholstan's residence at all, but that it was another of the same name.

Tremblay said it was Desjardins, the detective in the employ of the Federal authorities, who first suggested the bank robbery at Three Rivers.

A FAVORITE OF LLOYD GEORGE

As is well known Britain's Welsh Prime Minister is a lover of music and a staunch advocate of music even in war times. Some of the splendid Welsh hymns are difficult to translate but Lloyd George himself has given the Strand magazine his English version of a favorite hymn. This is of course a literal translation line by line:

"If e'er I cross the wilderness,
I shall forever marvel at Thy grace:
My soul brought to tranquility
After a hundred times losing the day:
And the fetters all shattered,
And my feet completely free,
If ever I am seen thus
Eternal will be the praise.

If e'er I am seen, a sinner
One day at the end of my march
Wonderful will be the singing
And new will be the song:
Sounding 'Victory!'
For a full salvation
Without fear of losing the battle,
Neither in the morn nor yet at eve."

R. R. HALL'S ADDRES

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

I have the honor to accept the unamious nomination of the Party to contest the election as a Candidate to represent the of West Peterborough in the House of Commons.

MASSES REQUIRE JUSTICE

Now is the time in the history of this country when we sh guided by true Liberal principles and stand by the masses as the classes; stand by the people who earn their bread by the of their brow and against the classes who exact unjust profi extortionate tolls out of even the very necesities of life.

WAR POLICY

Today we are engaged in a great War with the Germanic in defence of Canada and the Empire. In the great struggle volved the very existence of the freedom and liberty of mankind.

Our duty is plain. Our course is clear. We must prep any sacrifice of blood and treasure. We must fight Germany u secure a just and a lasting peace. In this resolve all Canadi united from Lake Champlain to the North Pole and from our f East to our furthest West.

Such being our Nation's resolution I pledge myself to s any effective war measure no matter from what source it may We must give immediate and constant support to our noble dian armies who have covered themselves with glory. We mu port them with men. We must feed them. The rich and poo must serve. Our only difference is in how to serve but serve we

FOOD PRODUCTION

Great Britain has appealed to Canada to send her 300 bushels of wheat to feed her teeming millions and those of Ita of France.

This enormous quantity of wheat would feed 40,000,000 peo a whole year. This shows our Allies want food.

To this appeal the Borden Rowell Government only answer less, slay and eat the calf and the lamb and prepare for meatles

Let the Government encourage the Farmer to produce mor him agricultural implements duty free. Supply him with suitabl on fair terms to till the soil. Use our banks and Loan Compa lend him money on fair and easy terms of payment to assist in possible way to plant and produce food stuffs. Supply the farme steam or gasoline tractors to enable one man to do the work Shield us from the profiteer who plunders the farmer and robs t sumer, makes a profit of a million a year and supports Sir Robe den and his hypnotizer Sir Joseph Flavelle.

A forward policy on these lines would be a double blessi would reduce the cost of living at home and would help supp necessities of our Allies overseas.

Remember one single North West farmer produces 2000 bus wheat per year when well directed and equipped. 100,000 men produce 200,000,000 bushels of wheat. Those already on the in the North West properly equipped and manned could produc 000,000 bushels more.

I pledge myself, if elected, to support prompt and immedi forts to reduce the high cost of living.

BORDEN DISCRIMINATES AGAINST ENGLAND

Since the war began the Borden Government imposed an in duty of 5 per cent. on British made goods entering Canada. This be removed at once. Our great Mother of Nations has troubles without the Borden Government thus increasing them.

PROFITEERS AND SOLDIERS

The profits made by War Profiteers should be investigate profiteer should be made to disgorge his excessive profits to b 'to increase the pay of our soldiers and to increase the pens allowances to our soldiers, their mothers, wives, sisters and d ents. None of them should ever be subjected to the indignity o charity" by this grateful Nation on whose behalf they have suff died.

NO CONFIDENCE IN BORDEN

Sir Robert Borden has been for six years and is now the Minister of this Country. Its chief head and front with full p choose and remove his Ministers. He is appealing to this Coun der an assumed name, but the policies and methods of his ment remain.

I cannot stop to repeat the well known charges of grafting on sworn testimony from the mouths of unwilling witnesses ing the purchase of motors, of horses, of binoculars, of banda drugs, of boots, of shells of gauze fuse and of all the implement

These unseemly transactions have taken place under the Sir Robert Borden who now seeks to stifle and conceal further gation with the hollow pretense of so called Union Governmen in no sense whatever represents true believers in the principles tice, truth and liberalism.

BORDEN CONDEMNED FOR SUPPLYING DEFECTIV AMMUNITION

I have no confidence whatever in Sir Robert Borden who our troops for many months with the Ross Rifle and defective a tion which he must have known would jam and become a useles pon after our Canadian boys had nobly entered the battle. Th Rifle was used by our troops at the six battles of St. Julien of Ci of Festubert, of St. Eloi, of Zillebeke and of Sanctuary Wood, battle the rifle jammed and many a Canadian soldier was ne killed or wounded and some of them today languish in German justly cursing the Borden Government without a chance of against it.

GRAFTERS

We must destroy the parasite, the profiteer, the grafter an follower, who are our worst enemies and fight our common foe the resources at our command.

TO OUR NOBLE WOMEN

I appeal to the woman of this Riding who are casting the for the first time to act on the pure impulse of your heart al vote according to the dictates of your own conscience. My he out in sympathy for you in these anxious times. I know yo loved is white and ruddy; the chiefest among ten thousand countenance "is as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars" and by i his I pledge myself to stand.

UNITY OF ACTION AND SENTIMENT

Let us unite our people in this Great War as the armies o Britain and of France are united, marching and fighting side b the parents and guardians of Freedom and Justice.

"With firmness in the right as God gives us to "see the I appeal to you fellow electors to press on to finish the gr in which we are engaged "to bind up the nation's wounds to c him who shall have borne the battle, his widow and the orphan t which we may achieve and cherish a just and a lasting peace nations."

For these reasons I appeal to you my fellow electors for yo and influence in the pending election.

Your Obedient Servant.

WOMEN WORK ON RAILROADS

FOWLER'S PEBLO GLASSES

YOU SEE BOTH WAYS

With Dr. Fowler's bifocal or double vision lenses, you see things clearly at a distance as well as nearby. They are really two lenses in one, with the two parts so fused together that the junction is invisible. The two-purpose lens is a very popular style of eyeglass and gives perfect satisfaction.

$130,000 SO FAR FROM LINDSAY

TOATL RESULT OF THE WORK OF THE TEAMS UP TO WEDNESDAY.

The first three days energetic canvass of Lindsay's team workers for Canada's Victory Loan has netted $130,000.

This has roused the enthusiasm of the hard-working Lindsay committee to the highest pitch. What has been done in the town can be done all over the county it is argued. The campaign will last for the next three weeks, with a lot of missionary work to be done. Victory Loan workers are determined that a strong pull, a long pull and a pull altogether shall bring Lindsay and the County to the for front.

SIR SAM HAD TO TAKE A WALK

AUTO HAD BEEN STOLEN FROM TEMPLE BUILDING—NEW MACHINE.

In Toronto on Wednesday Sir Sam Hughes, Canada's former war lord, was cheated out of an auto ride to the Union Station, Toronto. [illegible] stole A. W. Miles' car from in front of the Temple building on Richmond street. Sir Sam attended St. Andrew's Masonic Lodge in the Temple Building and when the time for his departure to Ottawa arrived, A. W. Miles volunteered to drive Sir Sam to the station. When they reached the street they found the machine missing. Mr. Miles locked the car before going into the meeting. The machine was a new one.

LINDSAY MAN SUED FOR $5000

LOST SIGHT OF ONE OF HIS EYES AND IS AWARDED DAMAGES.

Clarence S. Mark, formerly of Lindsay was awarded $2,000 damages at the Toronto assizes in suit against the city for the loss of an eye. Plaintiff is foreman with the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. and while driving his auto along College street on the evening of April 16th last, he was struck at Dufferin street by a hose wagon from Ossington Ave. fire hall, which was answering an alarm. The plaintiff alleges that the fire truck was running too fast, and that no warning of its approach was given. The defendants, for whom C. S. Colquohoun appeared, claimed that the hose wagon had the right-of-way and that proper warning of its approach was given.

NO TIME FOR REFERENDUM, SAYS SIR ROBERT BORDEN

Premier Opens the Union Campaign in Halifax With an Address to Over 5000 Electors

Premier Borden opening the Union Government campaign in Halifax, addressed 5,000 people in Market Hall, hundreds of others being unable to get in.

"Under the Military Service Act," Sir Robert said, "the highest duty of citizenship is demanded of the people. I am entirely confident that they will not shrink from that duty. The need for reinforcements is insistent, compelling, imperative. Do we fully appreciate the meaning and effect of what is taking place in Russia and in Italy? There never was greater necessity to summon our sternest resolves and to gird on our fullest strength."

Year Delay by Referendum.

A referendum such as Laurier proposed would mean a delay of about a year. "In the meantime the Military Service Act would be suspended," he continued. "The spirit of our men would be broken, and their ranks become more and more depleted. They had asked for reinforcements and you gave them a referendum. All military activity would be at an end, and perhaps the war itself would have come to a conclusion, with results disastrous to our country. This is a war in which the last hundred thousand men may mean victory, the lack of them defeat. Make no mistake about it. The proposal for a referendum has but one meaning. It means that Canadian forces at the front shall be left to their fate, without support and without reinforcements.

"Whether that be the purpose is immaterial; that beyond question, will be the result. It would be hailed with great joy and not a little mirth by the German high command. Can we doubt that if any effort on their part can bring about such a consummation it will be spared?"

French Liberals Declined

Discussing Union Government, Sir Robert mentioned that in his effort to give representation to all elements of the population that strove to maintain the national endeavor in the war, he had offered a Cabinet position to three Liberal French-Canadians, who had declined it.

"I do not," he went on, "reproach them because my effort was unsuccessful, but I do most sincerely regret their decision. For its consequences they are responsible not I. So earnestly did I desire the formation of an administration with the broadest possible basis of representation that I should willingly, and even gladly, have stood aside if it had proved necessary to the accomplishment of that purpose. There may be those in the paty with which I have been associated who would regard this as a reproach to me. I should consider myself unworthy of its best traditions if I had been animated by any other ideal or any other thought. In the awful conditions which confront the world today, why should the political future of any individual or the political fortunes of any party stand for one moment across the path of a great national purpose?

"In my effort to form the present Government I have been assailed sometimes with vehemence, by earnest men within the party which made me its leader more than sixteen years ago. I have been told that a Conservative victory was certain and I was surrendering the fortunes of an historic party to my desire for the accomplishment of an impossible purpose. I did not pause to consider the prospects of a party victory. Its absolute certainty would not have altered the higher purpose which I had at heart, to give representation in the Government to all elements of our population that struggle to maintain national endeavor in this war.

The Sin of Partyism

"Let us remember the words of the apostle: 'Wherefore, seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us.'

"What weight are we to lay aside in this race? The weight of party antagonism. What is the sin that doth so easily beset us? The discord and suspicion so likely to arise from such antagonism. And how shall we understand the patience upon which the apostle dwells? The primary meaning of the word is the quality of suffering, of enduring. And so we take from the apostle's words the lesson that until there shall come to us victory, crowned with abiding peace, we shall suffer, but we must endure."

Greater Love Hath No Man Than This

Half hidden in the files of the London Gazette, where it is set forth with all the ponderousness of official language, is a story of self-sacrifice that stands out pre-eminently, even in this age of deeds of superb courage and super-chivalry.

The record is contained in the announcement of the award of the Albert Medal of the First Class to Lance-Corporal Charles Henry Anderson, late of the 1-14th Battalion of the London Regiment, who lost his life in France in November last. The official narrative is as follows:—On November 28, 1916, Lance-Corporal Anderson was in a hut in France, with eleven other men, when, accidentally, the safety-pin was withdrawn from a bomb. In the semi-darkness he shouted a warning to the men, rushed to the door, and endeavored to open it so as to throw the bomb into a field.

Failing to do this, when he judged that the five seconds during which the fuse was timed to burn had elapsed, he held the bomb as close to his body as possible with both hands in order to screen the other men in the hut. Anderson himself and one other man were mortally wounded by the explosion, and five men were injured. The remaining five escaped unhurt. Anderson sacrificed his life to save his comrades.

When history opens the purple testament of bleeding war ....

every man and woman who has played a part will bear a record.

Your name may not be writ among those of the immortals—

But for honour's sake—for the sake of men like Anderson—see to it that it is writ on the Scroll with those who at least placed their money at the service of their country.

Shall it be said that Canada spares not her sons from the sacrifice of death, yet withholds her dollars needed to give them victory?

Brief History of the Doings of Lieut. Winslow Since He Enlisted.

Lieut. A. C. F. Winslow went on duty August 3, 1914, on the Welland Canal, and on August 15 went to Valcartier, and was attached to the 1st B'n. From there he was transferred to the 2nd B'n, and later to the 14th, with which battalion he went overseas in the large Canadian Armada from Quebec. After a delightful and uneventful trip they arrived at Plymouth, and went to Salisbury Plains. From the mud there in Feb. 1915, they went to Tidworth, and in March to Shorncliffe, whence Lieut. Winslow returned to Canada, arriving just before his father's demise. Immediately after the late Major Winslow's death Arthur went on duty instructing in Toronto, and in October joined the 80th B'n for overseas, but this battalion was broken up and distributed. Arthur's lot was then cast with the 87th (Can. Grenadier Guards), and he went overseas again in May, 1916, landing at Liverpool. After training for some time Lieut. Winslow was sent to take a trench mortar course, and soon after went to France. They had a three days' visit while awaiting transport. When all were ready, they got on the longest, slowest train ever, and proceeded to travel over the worst possible tracks for sixty hours, landing in Belgium. By companies they were taken for their initial baptism of fire, marching about ten miles. They turned up a road which was rather deserted (naturally), ruined houses and shell holes on both sides. Following this up to what is called Hell Blast Corner, they doubled around by sections and proceeded along the Ypres road, parallel to the line. By this time they were in sight of the flares, and it was as dark as pitch. In single file they were ordered to pass through Dickebusch, "Right turn" up to Shrapnel Corner, and down Blighty avenue to the White Chateau, where they struck trenches. Following these up they found the Brit. H. Q. Next day they managed to get a look at the country; not much, to be sure, but interesting, and at night they moved up to the firing line. They stuck to this for thirty-five days, which was very monotonous. The mud, etc., was fierce. Lieut. Winslow was now transferred to the Trench Mortar Battery. They raided Fritz successfully, and afterwards had a rest and proceeded to the Somme, and then northwest of Courcelette, and during the forty-five days there they put over four successful attacks, taking the "Regina Desire" and Snuff Trenches, but lost most of their original men. After forty-seven days they had a rest then went to Vimy, receiving reinforcements. They made a couple more raids on Fritz and had him guessing. On Christmas Day they changed souvenirs with Fritz, meeting half way on No Man's Land, but in the evening they severely strafed him, and a similar occurrence happened on New Year's Day. From then they had instructions to keep bombing him day and night, and they sure did. They were just getting up ammunition for the big show, when Lieut. Winslow got hit for the fourth time and was laid out. He was in the hospital in France and England for nine months and then sent home. While an out-patient he joined the R. F. C. and did some flying. He had to give in and go into hospital again. In Arthur's own words he says, "You can take it from me, Canada, and especially Millbrook, looked pretty good to me. I have to have a couple of operations, but I guess I can stand them. You see, Fritzie got sore at me one day and landed a ten-inch shell at me, which hoisted me about ten yards. Well, the concussion kind of mixed my insides up a bit. When I got off at the station and got hold of hands that really felt like a welcome, well, it was pretty good, and the cheers certainly were encouraging."

Mr. Henry Nugent of Peterborough was a guest of his brother, Mr. W. D. Nugent, on Friday.

Those from this district who attended the Conservative convention at Orono on Tuesday were Messrs. J. A. Vance, L. H. Winslow, R. McCamus, J. Handley, R. Hooton, C. McNeil, J. H. Paul, E. Keegan, D. Fallis, A. J. Fallis, Mat. Fallis, A. J. Henderson, J. McCamus, Geo. Fair, R. Deyell and W. S. Given.

MISS CELETE SCUDDER AS "LUANA"

In "The Bird of Paradise"

"The Bird of Paradise," Richard Walton Tully's romantic drama of the Hawaiian Islands, produced by Oliver Morosco, will be seen at the Grand Opera House, Wednesday, matinee and night, Nov. 21.

This novel play with its wealth of beautiful scenery, its native band of Hawaiian singers and dancers will be seen here.

The story of the play deals with the downfall of one white man through the insidious influence of the tropics, and the uplifting of another through the pure influence of an American girl. Through it all runs the tragic love story of Luana, the pretty little Hawaiian Princess, who thinks she can hold the love of her American husband with her lips and her arms, and failing to do so, gives herself as a human sacrifice to save her people from the wrath of the Goddess Pele.

Mr. Morosco will present a newcomer in the part of Luana, in Miss Celete Scudder, a young lady who has not yet passed her teens, but of whom great things are promised in the dramatic line. Others in the cast are John Warner, Fred Waller, Helen Carew, John Gribner, Taylor Carroll, James Thayer, and the Hawaiian singers and players.

Inheritance Tax Argument

Inheritance taxes are very heavy. Unlike Fire hazard, they are not merely possible, they are absolutely certain.

They deplete your estate at once, and to your heirs represent a specific and definite loss of money.

In New York a $250,000 estate would pay a combined federal and state tax of about $12,000. If left to a friend or distant relative, about $22,000. The John Jacob Astor estate paid $3,150,000. J. P. Morgan has insured his life for $2,500,000 to cover a similar loss.

Thus the estate is provided promptly with the ready cash to pay this tax and other expenses without the need of hurriedly disposing of securities or other assets, perhaps at a loss, to meet such needs. The logic of the situation urges immediate action. Premium rates, however, low, advance with age, and so does the possibility of entering the physically impaired group and losing the opportunity to secure this protection.

Knowing that this loss is actually coming, it is simply a matter of ordinary business prudence to guard against it. The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada offer you a plan to do so at very low cost.

WOMAN ELECTION CLERK.

Returned Soldiers Wanted as Enumerators—All Seem Employed.

Sarnia, Nov. 14.—Mr. A. Weir, returning officer, has appointed Mrs. T. W. Nisbet, President of the Local Council of Women, as Election Clerk in the next Dominion election. This is probably the first time that a woman has been appointed to a position of this kind in Canada.

Mr. Weir has been endeavoring to secure returned soldiers to act as enumerators, but all the returned men appear to have secured positions.

CONDITIONS ON ONTARIO FARMS

Following is a summary of weekly crop reports made by District Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The young fall wheat and rye have picked up somewhat owing to the recent warmer weather, although yet comparatively backward owing to late seeding and delayed growth during the cold weather in October. The Essex Representative reports seeing a farmer sowing fall wheat during the week.

Beans have suffered from the unfavorable weather of the past month, and are unusually late in being harvested. Considerable of the crop was injured by frost.

Roots are turning out well as a class, and storing is nearly completed. Turnips are described as being very uniform in size, and mangels and sugar beets are also favorably regarded both as to yield and quality.

Some potatoes were yet undug as Representatives reported. Statements regarding yield, quality and price vary considerably.

New seeding of clover promises well, in fact clover fields generally will enter the winter in very fair condition where they have not been pastured too closely.

Some Spy apples were still on the trees in Norfolk at the end of the week. Apples in that county are selling at from $1.75 to $2 a bushel, tree run. In boxes, properly graded, they bring $2.50 to $3.25, and in barrels they range from $5 to $6 according to variety and quality.

Live Stock.

Stockers are selling well at auction sales, even though of only medium quality. Many cattle already have been put in for the winter, as pastures had got very poor owing to the bad weather of October. For this reason also the milk flow has fallen off, more especially as mill feeds and other concentrates are very high in price. The Leeds Representative states that the factory at Athens is paying its members $50 a ton net for milk delivered at the factory in fit condition to ship to the Brockville Condensery. The Lanark Representative says: "The total output of milk, according to a cheesemaker I talked with, will be about the same as that of last year; the first part of the season was very much ahead but the latter part is behind."

Hogs are being marketed steadily, but some sold have been below weight and generally unfinished. Prices range from $15 to $16 per cwt.

As to fodders, hay and coarse grains are plentiful, but ensilage and shelled corn will be comparatively scarce, and much of it inferior in quality.

Labor.

The agricultural labor situation is more or less in a daze, and will be until the more immediate matter of military conscription has been settled. Farmers are naturally waiting to see how this calling out of men is going to affect them before they finally make their plans for the coming season. Meantime all necessary roots and other late crops, is being pushed along, together with a fair amount of fall ploughing, which has been favored during the week by more open weather. Threshing for various reasons has been greatly delayed this season. One representative states that more farms are going to be worked on shares.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE FAILS.

Men Charged With Death of Dr. McRobbie Acquitted.

Hamilton, Nov. 16. The trial of Harry Smith, manager of the Crescent Oil Company; J. J. McAuliffe, real estate operator; Walter Scott, architect; and Herbert Asselstine, caretaker of the oil company's premises, on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Dr. D. G. McRobbie, a well-known Hamilton physician, came to a sudden termination last night, when Justice Latchford instructed the jury to return a verdict of acquittal. Three doctors testified that McRobbie's death was due to blows, but his Lordship said: "In my opinion there is no evidence to justify the jury in finding these men or anyone guilty of a crime, if there was one."

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—According to figures given out by the Militia Department the total wastage in the Canadian Expeditionary Force last month was 3,648, being made up of 1,017 men discharged in Canada; 1,565 returned to Canada from overseas for discharge, and 1,066 casualties overseas. The total number of recruits was 1,750. Of these 1,045 men were recruited in the United States.

Music in the Home

WORTHY OF ALL PRAISE.

Benefits of Talents of Great Composers and Musicians Open to All.

The striking statement has been made that compared with the stupendous scale on which this war is being waged, there is no one outstanding hero. Several generals stand out prominently but the one responsible for this assertion means there is no one general big enough to stand head and shoulders above all others and above the whole campaign. Persons however prominent fade away at the thought of the gigantic task itself.

And, is that not so with music? There are the great composers whose works are worthy of all praise. But when viewed against the background of all that music has done and is doing for humanity, the great musicians become mere pigmies.

But the party in the first paragraph said something more. He said the hero in this war is the common soldier whose persistent and dogged sticking with the job through mud and gas and wounds was the human agency on which victory depends. The common member of society cannot be considered a hero musically, but it is true that the benefits of music are open to the masses. The great composers did not write their music for a few. They wrote for all. The gifted pianists, vocalists, violinists, orchestras and bands do not play for the few. They perform for all. That is the secret of the phonograph's success. The artist's talents are not buried among the musicians of the crowded cities but are available throughout the highways and byways of the remotest parts of our country.

THE BELFRY AT BRUGES.

Belgium has many accounts against the Germans. One of them is the destruction of many sets of bell-chimes or, to be more accurate, carillons. In England church chimes seldom go beyond the octave. Eight bells are considered as sufficient for playing the stately old hymn tunes which sing in mellow beauty over the hills and vales on a Sunday morning. But in Belgium the carillon had some of the characteristics of an organ, and indeed was played in the same way. The carillon at Bruges was the pride of the Low Countries. Who knows what has become of it? In all probability the bronse of those lovely bells has gone into cannon or shell by this time. At least a dozen of the famous Belgian churches and Cathedrals had carillons of varying excellence.

FROM KNOWN TO UNKNOWN.

In one respect the vogue for ragtime amongst the frivolous and for Gospel hymns among the devout is not without value in the process of civilization. It is better to have trifling music than none at all, and frequently enough a musical education has been raised from such an unstable foundation as this. Take, for example the case of a young Toronto man who had almost an insane passion for the ditties of the vaudeville stage. He compelled his friends to play the piano at all times to play these melodies. To such an extent did he make use of the piano-playing ability of his fiancee that she was driven to a state of boredom with the music that pleased him. None the less she married him, being a young woman of infinite kindness and forbearance. The young couple had a phonograph, and for a time the husband brought home ragtime and popular records to no end. On one occasion his wife did the choosing. She picked up an operatic number sung by a distinguished soloist. She found a violin record of the Bach-Gounod Ave Maria and a piano record of the Eleventh Liszt Rhapsody. These she brought home and played several times in the hearing of her husband. At first he paid but little attention. On the third repetition he began to get interested. To shorten a long story, it is necessary only to say that today the best and finest records are none too good for this young husband, and all the popular stuff is stowed away.

In like manner, a "song service" enthusiast belonging to a city church became a member of the Choir, the organist being a man of taste and discretion. He was accustomed to set forth in brief comment the musical merits of the anthems studied by the members. Thus the Gospel hymn "fan" got a new vision of the meaning and the power of music and had his whole outlook readjusted.

THE FALSE VIEW OF MUSIC IS BEING OUSTED

Seeing ourselves as others see us, is usually a profitable occupation. It will have one of two results either to kindle anger and resentment and indignation, or to teach us something. The oftener it produces the latter effect the better. Clara Butt who knows Canada as well as Britain is quoted as saying: "The ordinary English view of music is that it is merely something to pass an idle hour, like cards or any other game. Not exactly blameworthy, perhaps but quite unworthy of the serious attention of serious people. Our girls are taught to look upon music as an accomplishment; of its lofty purpose and its divine mission they are taught nothing. It is merely an idle diversion. With our boys it is even worse. At the public schools, a boy with leanings to music is looked upon as a milksop and gradually drops his study of the art and does his best to hide his love for it."

If that is true, if we think there is nothing more in music than a solution to the problem of how to kill [illegible] h is only another way of [illegible] pass an idle hour, if musical leanings are smothered or hidden away, then "there is something rotten in the state of Denmark." But that is not quite true of Canada, not generally. The thousands that are having more music in their homes for the sake of the young folks are believers in the fact that there are deep underlying advantages in having music to make and keep the home what the home should be. It becomes a question of character, and health, and education and the parents' duty, and not a passing pleasure as a game of cards.

It cannot be denied, though, that Clara Butt's accusation is true in some cases. There are those—though let it be said to Canada's credit they are growing fewer in number all the time—whose idea of music is something akin to the "game of cards' thought or even of less importance. People in that category are now considered to be leading an earthly existence that is considerably overdue. Their ideas would have been up-to-date a generation ago.

WHO ARE THE MAXIMALISTS?

It has been a little hard for Americans to understand precisely who the Bolsheviki (or Maximalists as they are coming more commonly to be called) are and what in this crisis of Russian affairs they really want.

A dozen years ago, when the party first got its name of Bolsheviki (which means in Russian those who demand the most, and of which "Maximalist" is a Latinized equivalent), it was merely the radical faction of the Social Democratic party. Today it is stretching a point to call it socialistic at all. The years during which the decaying imperial regime disgusted every thinking man with its frivolous incompetence, the treachery and recklessness with which it mismanaged the war, the terrible toll of suffering and death its feebleness and corruption exacted from the nation, have driven the Bolsheviki beyond the point where they can reason coolly or hold themselves to so intellectual a political doctrine as socialism. They are anarchists in feeling if not in name; they hate the idea of any government, unless it be the unbridled rule of the laboring class. They insist on the folly of making any further sacrifices for a national cause since they care nothing for the nation as a unity, but only for the interests of their own down-trodden and now suddenly emancipated class.

Peasant is King.

The Bolsheviki are by no means a majority of the nation, although by their determination, their assurance and their fervor they have gained control of the workmen's councils and have spread their spirit far and wide among the people. Among the peasants who dwell upon the soil they have not yet made great headway. The struggle in Russia today is for the support of the peasants: the future hangs upon them. Will they follow Kerensky toward the constitutional if socialistic state, or will they permit the Bolshiviki to intoxicate them with the poison of class hatred and anarchism?

It is almost certain that Russia, if it escapes reaction, will establish a government and a social system that are much nearer a pure democracy than our federal system. Capitalism and industrialism will not flourish among the Slavs as they have flourished in Western Europe and in America. But the Bolsheviki, even if we grant them sincerity and a certain inevitability as a protest against the greed and cruelty of the aristocratic regime, are not the sort of men who can establish or govern a state. If they are desperate enough, they can plunge Russia into civil war, deliver it over to the enemy, and even, conceivably, bring the czars back to the throne. But if Russia, like France, must face its Reign of Terror, there is no reason to doubt that, like France, it will end by dispersing and crushing the forces that threaten its national existence.

DEATH ACCIDENTAL.

A Barrie coroner's jury enquiring into the death of A. P. McEachern, killed in a motor accident there on Monday, returned a verdict of accidental death, completely exonerating the driver, Richard Marshall. The evidence showed that the car was not travelling at an excessive speed and that Marshall is a careful and competent driver.

HONEY AS SUGAR SUBSTITUTE

Honey is a food deserving much attention in these days of sugar shortage. Although its action on the digestive organs is slightly different to the action of sugar, it is not strikingly so, and it may be used in place of sugar with good results both in the raw state and for cooking. Bakers and confectioners use perhaps more of it than is realized.

As everyone knows honey is the sugar-like juices of plants collected by bees and deposited by them in the waxen cells of the comb. These juices undergo slight modifications in the honey bag of the bee, but still retain the flavor, and, to some extent, the properties of the plant from which they were taken.

Thus buckwheat flowers give a certain strong, rather acid flavor to the honey, while white clover and alfalfa produce a delicate, light-colored honey. The honey from the flowers of Mount Ida, in Crete, has always been regarded as especially delicate, but the honey of Trebizond, in Turkey, causes severe nausea and headache and other symptoms of poisoning, and it is thought the rhododendrons, which are plentiful there, are responsible for this.

Honey crystallizes very easily and crystallization is rather a proof of purity than otherwise. It may be easily rendered liquid again by putting the jar into hot water. The color of honey also has nothing to do with the purity, as buckwheat honey is always quite dark while clover honey is light. The best of the spring honey is usually somewhat lighter and clearer in color than that of the later seasons, however.

The simplest way of using honey is to serve it like jam or syrup with bread. It is also good with breakfast cereals, boiled rice and pancakes. Sometimes it is diluted with a little hot water to make it easier to pour when it is used as a syrup.

Honey Bread.

Two cups of honey, four cups of rye flour, one teaspoon soda, four teaspoons of aniseed, two teaspoons of ginger, four teaspoons of powdered cardamom seed, two egg yolks, quarter cup of brown sugar.

SALMON AND RICE.

Butter a deep narrow loaf pan, such as is used for baking bread, and line it with freshly cooked warm rice. Fill the centre with cold salmon (either boiled or canned) which has been flaked well with a fork. Season this with pepper salt, a dash of lemon juice or vinegar and a little melted butter. Cover with rice and set the pan into a steamer. When it has steamed about an hour, turn out upon a hot platter and pour over it a white sauce to which hard boiled eggs, cut in small pieces, have been added.

TALKED OF OPERATION

Most persons who talk about themselves are bores. The woman who always tells of her operation has been declared the winner in the contest run by "The American Magazine" to discover the worst bore in existence. The writer says:

"One of the most companionable women I ever knew was so completely transformed by an operation that she unconsciously became a bore to her friends and to her family by tedious repetitions of her hospital experience. Her idea of its importance was so exaggerated that she lost all sense of proportion. Truly her 'operation' became the Alpha and Omega of her existence; from it all events in her life history dated. It was her sole topic of conversation. No matter how skilfully one might steer the conversational bark away from the dreaded topic, she adroitly brought it back. As a result she became self-centred, introspective and — a bore to her friends. Her efforts to entertain merely annoyed; where she hoped to arouse admiration she created disgust, and where she sought sympathy she received only—indifference."

THE FIRST LESSONS.

The happy and prosperous children are those, who have before all else the education that comes by reverence. This education is beyond all doubt the highest, the deepest, the widest and the most perfect of all the forms of education ever given to man. A child that has not been taught to reverence God, and all that represents God to man—honor, honesty, justice, mercy, truth, love, courage, self-sacrifice, is sent into the world like a boat sent out to sea, without rudder, ballast compass or captain. The multiplication table can wait until the child has been taught to reverence all that is holy wise and good, and the imagination received its first impulse.—

WAR MENUS

How to Save Wheat, Beef and Bacon for the men at the front. Issued from the Office of the Food Controller for Canada.

MENU FOR SUNDAY.

Breakfast
Oatmeal Porridge Milk Sugar
Fried Potatoes Brown Bread
Tea or Coffee
Dinner
Fish Kedgeree Baked Potatoes
Bak Powder Biscuits Apple Sauce
Tea
Supper
Hamburg Steak Turnips Potatoes
Rice Pudding with Raisins

1 egg
4 tablespoons rice
1 teaspoon chopped onion
Salt and pepper to taste
2 tablespoons dripping

Put rice into fast-boiling water, with a teaspoon of salt, and boil until tender (about 20 minutes). Drain well, and dry in a colander. Boil the egg hard, cool it in cold water, and chop it coarsely. Melt the fat in a saucepan, stir in the cooked rice, add the fish and seasoning. Make it very hot, then add the chopped egg, and serve at once. If onion is liked, fry it lightly in the fat before putting in the rice.

SUGARLESS WINTER JAM.

To make a winter jam that needs no sugar stone two pounds of dates, put into a preserving pan with one and a half pints of water, one ounce preserved ginger, one pint lemon jelly square. Simmer for half an hour. This makes four and a half pounds of delicious, nutritious and cheap jam.

CORN-MEAL AND FIG PUDDING.

Cook one cup corn-meal with four cups of milk, add one cup figs finely chopped, and one teaspoon salt, and one cup molasses. When the mixture is cool add two eggs well beaten. Pour into a buttered pudding dish and bake for three hours or more. When partly cooked add two cups milk without stirring the pudding.

POPCORN FUDGE.

Boil together two cups sugar, one tablespoon cocoa, half a cup of cream, a pinch of salt, a pinch of cream of tartar. At the sift ball stage remove from fire, flavour with vanilla, and beat until it shows signs of graining. Then quickly beat in two cups of chopped popcorn. Pour at once in a buttered pan. Break up when cold.

BAKED BARLEY CUSTARD.

Cook half a cup of pearl barley in two cups of water to which a teaspoon of salt has been added. If the barley has been soaked in this over night one and a half hours' cooking is enough. When done add two cups milk, one egg well beaten, two tablespoons sugar and one teaspoon butter. Remove to a well greased pudding dish or small custard cups and bake in a slow oven. This dish is recommended for children.

A TEA DISH.

Cut half a pound of raw steak in small bits. Put in pan with a quart of cold water, two onions, a tablespoon butter, and a dash of salt and pepper. Let simmer for two hours, then add two cups sliced raw potato. Cook half an hour, add a tablespoon of flour smoothed with cold water. Cook a minute or two longer and serve hot, with crackers or bread and butter.

FOR GOOD TEA.

Rinse out the teapot, fill it with boiling water and let stand until it is thoroughly heated while the water for the tea is being prepared. Use fresh water, and by this is meant water drawn fresh; do not under any circumstances use water that has been standing in the tea kettle. Bring to a rapid boil; empty the teapot; put in one level teaspoon of tea for every cup and pour on the boiling water. Now, for the successful secret of good tea, permit the tea to stand only for five minutes. Use at once and you will have a delicious cup of tea. Owing to an astringent in the tea, it should not be permitted to stand longer than the allotted five minutes.

You may be deceived

"SALADA" B114

and possibly you will not detect this imitation until the tea-pot reveals it. Demand always the genuine "Salada" in the sealed aluminum packet, and see that you get it, if you want that unique flavour of fresh, clean leaves properly prepared and packed.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

THE COAT COLLAR.

Large collars of cloth or fur, bunched up round the neck with a monastic curtness, would be chosen by few women except at the peremptory dictates of fashion; yet a glance at the advertisement pages of any newspaper shows that no winter coat is up to date without the "huge" collar. If the giant collar lies flat on the shoulders, the coat must be worn open. If the fastenings are closed, up goes the collar like a cowl about the ears. One cannot call it pretty; but it gives protection.

HAVE A CHEQUE BOOK.

Whether you are a home-maker or a business woman, begin a bank account as soon as you can; it is important. No matter how small it is, it makes you self-reliant and intelligent in money matters. Instead of keeping money in the house, a dangerous practice from several points of view, use your cheque book for payment of all but very small amounts. A cheque book, if you keep it written up, shows you just what you have, and what has become of what you no longer have. Make a point of making out your cheques correctly, then the man at the wicket will be your friend. Remember to enter the date, the cheque and account numbers, to whom payable, the amount, and your signature; and by all means don't forget the two-cent stamp for the war tax. Be sure to write out the amount in the body of the cheque, repeating it in figures in the space provided below. When you number your cheque number the stub belonging to it, and fill in briefly on the stub particulars of the cheque—to whom paid, amount, date and, if you like for ready reference, what it was paid for. Have your book made up frequently and check up your amount on deposit with the amounts of your cheques sent out. Thus you will avoid the horrible error of sending out a cheque when your account is not big enough to meet the payment. That is overdrawing your account and is quite unpardonable.

PAY A JUST PRICE.

"By a just price I mean a price which will sustain the industries concerned in a high state of efficiency, provide a living for those who conduct them, enable them to pay good wages, and make possible the expansions of their enterprises which will from time to time become necessary as the stupendous undertakings of this great war develop.

WHAT GIRLS MAY DO.

Study the Want Column.

I don't mean when you are out of work. Then you are naturally inclined to do so. I mean, study it regularly.

I got the idea from a girl who is one of the brightest and most successful young business women I know. I ran across her lately in a new position. It was a considerable rise from her last, and this wasn't the first time she had bettered herself in the few years I had known her.

"How do you always manage to find something so much better?" I asked her, as we sat over luncheon, for she had insisted on taking me out "to celebrate."

Then she explained that it had always been her rule to study the Help wanted Columns thoroughly. She didn't mean that she was looking for a change in jobs so much as for an inspiration.

"I find out what positions are being offered, and get an idea of salaries. If my work is being underpaid I can go to my employer and say so. Then I find out what better work I could do along my own line with more experience, or by adding some branch or by following some improved system. If I see that there is a real opportunity awaiting me in a new place, I go for it. If I discover that the addition of a knowledge of filing or technical terms is going to make that salary bigger, I go to work to study and be ready for the next office that comes along. I don't mean to say that a girl can learn everything that promises her higher wages. But I do mean to say that you will get a lot of solid and helpful information by reading the "wants," and I owe my present good position and comfortable salary very largely to them.—Jessie Roberts.

We could not wisely or reasonably do less than pay such prices. They are necessary for the maintenance and development of industry, and the maintenance and development of industry are necessary for the great task we have on hand." — President Wilson.

"GET BEHIND CAPT. BURNHAM"--E. A. PECK

MEETING TO NOMINATE UNION CANDIDATE A DEMONSTRATION FOR CAPT. BURNHAM

Enthusiasm for the Regular Nominee was Unminstakable and Vote for Him was Overwhelming---Mr. Peck also Nominated ---Recommends all Unionists to Support Capt. Burnham.

To cries of "Burnham! Burnham!! Burnham!!!" the Union mass meeting in Victoria Hall last night broke up in disorder without nominating a candidate. And the only man in the election field today, with nominations on Monday, pronouncedly behind the Union Government and its policy of sending help to the men in the trenches, and of doing it now, is Captain Burnham. Chairman Dobbin refused to give a decision as to whether Mr. Peck or Capt. Burnham had the majority. The big hall, gallery included, was packed with an enthusiastic mass of humanity representative of every possible interest in the riding. Conservatives, Liberals, Laborites, Socialists, were all there in battalions, and at the end a large faction were clamoring for fair play and Burnham.

The trouble first arouse when the chairman, Alderman Dobbin, refused to accept a nomination for Capt. Burnham on the ground that he was not eligible, being the Conservative nominee of a convention held two years ago. A large section here conceived that a decision to shut Mr. Burnham out had been prearranged, and they vigorously protested.

The Burnham supporters were appeased by Mr. Soden proposing that Mr. Burnham's nomination be accepted, in which Chairman Dobbin evidently acquiesced.

Trouble again arose when, in Capt. Burnham's absence, Mr. J. Guise-Bagley came forward to speak, but Chairman Dobbin ruled that Capt. Burnham could not stand as both a Conservative and Union nominee.

Cries of, "Oh, yes, he can; Oh, yes, he can."

WOULD NOT BE DENIED.

The crowd would not be denied, however, and Mr. Guise-Bagley, in a brief speech, said not a man in Peterborough or Canada stands stronger for the soldiers and winning the war than Capt. Burnham. (Cheers.) He had in England volunteered to serve at the front, even in the most menial capacity, but had been refused as too old. As paymaster of the 93rd, Capt. Burnham gave his whole pay to the Red Cross. (Prolonged cheers.) Mr. Guise-Bagley here referred to Capt. Burnham's expressed willingness to abide by the Premier's choice between himself and any candidate nominated at a Union convention, and spoke of him having waited until the eleventh hour in the hope of being invited to a joint meeting of Liberals and Conservatives before issuing his address. At the very bottom of this meeting, the speaker continued, there is something more than the selection of a Union candidate. This meeting is conceived by someone who conceals his views with the intention of splitting the Conservative vote and letting Mr. Hall in. Capt. Burnham is bitterly opposed by some because of his demand in the House for a conscription of wealth. (Applause.) If Mr. Burnham is not elected, the very ends which this meeting has pronounced as vital—immediate reinforcements for our boys at the front—will be defeated.

Mr. Wearing—"I've had as much to do with—"

Cries of "Too much, too much," and Mr. Wearing was yelled down.

Mr. Soden here stepped forward, and with difficulty secured a hearing. Amongst other things, he said he did not like a hair in Capt. Burnham's head, but still were he the nominee of a Union Convention he would support him. (Cheers).

In a passage at arms between Mr. Soden, Mr. Guise-Bagley and Mr. Geo. A. Helson, as to were the Liberal and Conservative executives consulted as to calling this meeting. Mr. Guise-Bagley greeted Mr. Soden with the remark: "The most important factor is they were not consulted." (Prolonged applause).

Chairman Dobbin did not think such a course necessary in calling a Union meeting of citizens.

Mr. Kemp—"This is merely a gathering of sore heads."(Cheers and yells).

Still More Trouble.

When it came to voting on Capt. Burnham's nomination still more trouble arose, Chairman Dobbin's attitude evidently conveying to a large number that he was too eager to declare that nomination lost.

He called for a showing of hands, but cries for a ballot stopped proceedings for some time. The chairman contended it impossible to take a ballot in any reasonable time from so vast an assembly, and next tried a standing vote.

Again Burnham supporters accepted Mr. Dobbin's attitude as directly antagonistic to Capt. Burnham, and called for a new chairman.

Several suggestions were here made for taking a vote satisfactory to all concerned, but to no avail, and vociferous uproar ensued.

Again Ald. Dobbin called for a standing vote in support of Capt. Burnham, and the audience all stood up and started to disperse.

Cheers for the King were here called for and lustily given, the National Anthem was sung, and the huge gathering left, exchanging complimentary and uncomplimentary reflections, but in the main good natured for all that.

MUST FORGET OURSELVES FOR SAKE OF THE CAUSE.

Captain Burnham returned today at noon from Toronto. In a word with a Review reporter he smilingly observed that the reports of last night's meeting had an old-time ring about them. He hoped, however, that all angry passions would be laid aside and that all Unionists would unite for the sake of the cause and the heroes in the trenches.

"We must forget ourselves in the cause. It is not too much to say that we live or die in the outcome of this war."

Petrograd, Nov. 17.—Deserted by most of his officers and virtually ordered to surrender to the Bolshevikl. Premier Kerensky evaded the guards sent for him and has disappeared. General Dukhonin has resumed temporarily the post of commander-in-chief of the Kerensky forces recently defeated at Tsarskoe Selo. Gen. Krasnoff' report concerning the disappearance of Kerensky confirms that he fled under disguise.

Premier Kerensky when told that his officers were against him and that his men were on the point of deserting, agreed to come to Petrograd but while the guard was being arranged he disappeared out of sight.

Lines Advanced at Different Points and Enemy's Defences on Main Ridge Captured--Number of Germans taken Prisoners ---French, too, Report New Successes To-day.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Nov. 17.—Further progress was made yesterday by the British troops on the main ridge in the vicinity of Passchendae, on the Belgian battle front, the British War Office announced today.

The official communication follows: A successful operation was carried out late yesterday evening by detachments from the Highland, Berkshire and Lancashire battalions in the vicinity of Passchendaele. Further portions of the enemy's defenses on the main ridge north of the village including a strongly fortified farm, were captured by us. We also took a number of prisoners. West of this locality also we have advanced our lines slightly at certain points. The enemy's artillery has been active throughout the night on the battle front. German shelling has been particularly severe in the Passchendaele sector.

Gains on French Front

Paris, Nov. 17.—There were active artillery engagements last night north of Courteeon, says today's official communication. We repulsed the enemy detachment which attempted to approach our lines in this region and inflicted serious losses on it. Raids on German trenches southeast of St. Quentin in Champagne, east of Telon and in Woevre enabled us to bring back prisoners including one officer and war materials.

In the Upper Alsace artillery fighting was rather heavy at Schonhelz. Everywhere else the night passed quietly.

"SUPPORT CAPT. BURNHAM," SAYS MR. PECK

Editor of The Review: As one of those whose names were somewhat prominent at last night's meeting in Victoria Hall, a few further words from me may not seem out of place. With many others, I had felt that, in view of the formation of a Union Government composed of Liberals and Conservatives, a practically new party, to be designated the Union Party, has come into existence, and that that Union Party was entitled to be assembled in each riding for the purpose of selecting a candidate to represent its views. If this were not done, the result would follow that many Liberals who have broken (temporarily at any rate) from their party, for the purpose of supporting a Union Government, would have no opportunity of expressing their views on the question of the candidate to represent them. How such conventions should be called would depend upon circumstances, as no recognized precedent exists. It might be, as has been suggested, that the executives of the two old parties might get together and arrange for such a convention, but, if the executives do not act, are the men I have referred to to be absolutely debarred from getting together in such an important matter?

In this riding, no action having been taken by the executives, the only other course was followed. A number of old Liberals and Conservatives met together and arranged for the calling of a public and open meeting. I consider that the meeting last night was quite justified in selecting and endorsing a Union candidate, if those present had seen fit to do so. That no decision was come to, is, I consider, a great pity. So far as I am concerned, and as I stated, I only wished to obtain the views of the meeting and to be guided by what it might desire.

Discussion as to what the result would have been, if an accurate expression of views could have been obtained from each individual present, is of no importance. It would have required a very much stronger expression of opinion than was shown in my favor to have persuaded me that it was my duty to enter into the contest. In the result, the fight is evidently going to be between Mr. Hall and Mr Burnham. As to which of these gentlemen, those interested in Union Government and what it stands for, should support, there is no room for doubt.

Mr. Hall's position is antagonistic to the Union Government and to conscription. It is unthinkable that we Unionists should support a man who is desirous of the return of Laurier to power. And our only other course is to fall in line behind Mr. Burnham and endeavor to roll up for him an overwhelming majority.

In view of the tremendous importance of the issues before us, no personal differences should permit us to deviate from what, as I have endeavored feebly to point out, is our paramount duty.

Yours,
E. A. PECK.

No Able-Bodied Man Exempt in Britain

COMPLETE MOBILIZATION OF MAN-POWER PURPOSE OF AUTHORITIES

London, Nov. 17.— A general review of the present attitude of the British Tribunals towards applicants for exemption will doubtless be of interest to Canada. Speaking broadly, any man under thirty, whether married, has little chance of securing exemption on personal grounds. Men passed for general service, even those with several children or who are the sole remaining sons, have practically no chance of exemption unless engaged in work of national importance. Returning the recently transferred from the military to the Ministry of National Service, the indications are that the change will produce a still further stiffening of the process. Men of a low medical category in occupations unessential in war are to be drafted without delay into more useful work. All the same, the Director of National Service emphasized the futility of guarding against a certain proportion of young men remaining in munition works, etc., since such work requires its due proportion of young, virile manhood. The whole aim, in fact, is now to get the entire able-bodied population of military age distributed equitably between the forces in the field and the civil forces on war work at home.

CAPT. BURNHAM'S ADDRESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

Election-day is December 17th. Its nearness admits of no further delay on the part of candidates in formally addressing you. It was hoped that political parties in West Peterborough might unite, as the members of the Borden Union Administration have done, in its support. But since the Liberal Convention has met and chosen its standard-bearer, who has not declared himself to be a supporter of the Borden Union Administration, it becomes necessary for me, without more, to solicit your suffrages. At the convention of the Conservatives of West Peterborough, duly assembled, I was chosen as their candidate to support Sir Robert Borden and his Administration. The Prime Minister has formed a Union Administration, composed of Conservative, Liberal and Labour representatives, to the end that he may the more fully and surely carry in a spirit of national unity and co-operation Canada's share in the war to a successful conclusion.

I pledge myself, therefore, with that same spirit of unity and co-operation, to support the Borden Union Administration and its policies, and I earnestly and respectfully solicit your votes and support accordingly. This is no ordinary political campaign, and it is hoped that all well-wishers of the Borden Union Administration will make every effort to secure the return of its supporters.

I have the honour to remain.

Yours truly,
J. H. BURNHAM.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1917

UNITY IN UNION.

THERE MAY HAVE BEEN Judases at the feast last night, men who were set on betraying their fellows into the hands of the enemy, but, in all charity, it must be admitted that the majority of the gathering were sincere in their avowed mission. What could have been fairer than the stand taken by Col. Mills and Capt. Roden, who announced that they would support Premier Borden's choice, whether he was the nominee at last night's meeting or not? What could have been more manly or straightforward than the course taken by Mayor Duffus on insisting that Capt. Burnham's nomination be received and Mr. Guise-Bagley heard on his behalf?

The convention has cleared the air by demonstrating Capt. Burnham's strength with the masses. In a letter which does him credit, Mr. E. A. Peck recommends that all differences be sunk and that everybody get behind Capt. Burnham and the Union Government.

Any objections that may have existed against Capt. Burnham have been based on purely personal grounds. He is not always amenable to requests. His integrity has never been questioned. His record in Parliament is all to the good. His generosity has helped many a poor dependent of the soldiers. There is no question as to where he stands on Unionism. His war record is above suspicion. His cause is so just that it requires neither craft nor fine equivocation to support it. No Unionist should find it a difficult matter to support him. This is no time to be influenced by personal likes and dislikes.

Capt. Burnham is the Union candidate, and all sincere Unionists will support him.

MR. WEARING'S AFFECTIONS.

MR. JOSEPH WEARING declared at the meeting at Victoria Hall last night that he loved Sir Wilfrid Laurier before conscription was thought of and that he still loves him. Mr. Wearing, it seems, is unable to work up any enthusiastic affection for the members of the opposite political party.

"But if you love them which love you, what reward have ye? Do not even the publicans the same?"

MR. HALL'S ADDRESS.

MR. HALL'S ADDRESS to the electors of West Peterborough, published yesterday, is certainly a fine specimen of literary perfection. More than that, it is clearly devised, showing unmistakably the handiwork of the polished lawyer and the artful politician.

In his address Mr. Hall's chief concern seems to be to conceal his connection with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in whose name and under whose leadership he accepted the nomination a week ago. It cannot be through an oversight that in an address nearly two columns in extent he fails to once mention the head of the party or to make the remotest reference to him or his principles. While sitting with publicans and sinners Mr. Hall would still strive to maintain his social status among the scribes and the Pharisees.

Mr. Hall evades the question of conscription. He admits that men are needed and must be sent, but he does not allude to the fact that, as a follower of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he must accept that leader's platform and the policy that would lose an entire precious year in settling the question as to how these men are to be recruited.

By what peculiar process of reasoning does Mr. Hall arrive at the conclusion that on the war issue all Canada is united, when Quebec, with a population of over a million and a half, has sent only seven thousand men into the service, or one thousand less than Canada should raise every month?

Mr. Hall says agricultural machinery should be free, that stock-in-trade of the Liberals in every election campaign. The duty on agricultural machinery is more than five per cent. lower than it was in the days when Mr. Hall's party was in power, and yet this class of machinery, like everything else, is dearer. Any farm machinery not manufactured in this country is admitted duty free, a legislative enactment by the Borden Government in 1913. When the tariff was increased in 1915 to meet the war expenses, the duty on farm implements was not molested. On this score the farmers certainly have nothing of which to complain.

Mr. Hall's party fought tooth and nail against the proposition for a Federal grant of $5,000,000 to aid the farmers of Canada, this money to be paid in yearly instalments. Suggesting help for the farmers comes with ill grace now from that quarter.

How does Mr. Hall propose to furnish the farmers with suitable help at fair wages in a time like this, when there is a scarcity of labor in all departments of industry and the cities are still luring the men from the rural districts? He might as well try to curry favor with the rural voters by blaming the Government for the excessive droughts or protracted wet spells.

There never was a time in Canada when the farmer had so many opportunities to extend his credit and secure accommodation at the banks as at present. It was Sir Thomas White, not the Liberal party, who introduced these reforms.

Premier Borden discriminates against England, according to Mr. Hall. He has never done anything of the kind. He accepted the British preference as framed by his predecessors, and left it unchanged until the war tariff increase two years ago, when the tax on British imports was increased five per cent. and that on those coming from other countries by seven and a half. England at that time was exporting nothing to speak of but luxuries for the wealthy. The new tax was a tax on the rich, a class which Mr. Hall professes a desire to reach.

Considering the platform on which he stands, and his acceptance of Sir Wilfrid Laurier as a leader, Mr. Hall's bid for the votes of the newly-enfranchised women cannot be regarded as other than brazen. What Sir Wilfrid Laurier stands for, Mr. Hall will stand for, too, if elected. The soldiers will be left in the trenches doing double duty while Sir Wilfrid, Mr. Hall and the rest of the party ascertain first whether they are in need of help, and, if they are, how it is to be sent.

There are 35,000 graves of martyred Canadian heroes in France and Flanders. This means, on a safe estimate, at least twice that number of mourning women at home. Half a million women will vote for the first time in Canada, and vote as their relatives in Europe, alive or dead, would have them vote, and not to encourage the slackers who have avoided their duty. Mr. Hall cannot stand by the soldiers so long as he is under the spell of Sir Wilfrid and his followers.

Mr. Hall's adaptation of the famous address of Abraham Lincoln to his own case is little short of blasphemous. God in his wisdom has certainly not given the light to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Hall as Lincoln received it, or, if He did, seeing, they failed to perceive. Had they been enlightened as Lincoln was, the one would not have failed his Empire in a crisis, the other would not be temporizing with the issue for political gain. Lincoln never while the war lasted abated his energy in its prosecuting. He never favored the slacker, never connived at neglect of the duty of citizenship.

"To bind up the nation's wounds" forsooth! The wounds with which Sir Wilfrid Laurier is concerned are the feelings of his compatriots lacerated by the prospect of military service, rather than the shell-torn bodies of the dead or dying in Europe.

IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING.

MR. G. N. GORDON occupied a seat on the platform at the Union convention last night, and was tendered the courtesy of a nomination, which he gracefully declined. In the course of his remarks Mr. Gordon made a speech that would have nicely filled the bill at any gathering, and was in no particular at variance with anything contained in the published platform of Mr. R. R. Hall. As if to leave no doubt as to his attitude, Mr. Gordon concluded his remarks by reading an extract from the Gettysburg address of President Lincoln, the identical extract which Mr. Hall himself has incorporated into his address to the electors.

This can hardly be construed as other than an endorsation by Mr. Gordon of the policy of Mr. Hall.

However, the meeting last night was not supposed to have been called for the purpose of exploiting Mr. Hall or to hear even a part of his platform approvingly read.

GETTING IN OUT OF THE RAIN.

MR. ANDREW MACFARLANE, who nominated Mr. R. R. Hall a week ago, attempted at last night's meeting to get a hearing. His appearance was the signal for another outburst on the part of Capt. Burnham's supporters. Mr. Macfarlane, between the waves of noise, was understood to declare that Mr. Hall is not a supporter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Mr. Hall is already attempting to get in out of the rain. He is essaying the old political stunt of running with the hare while hunting with the hounds. He was nominated at a straight Liberal convention and as a Laurier candidate. It is too late to retreat now, even though in his election address he makes no reference to his leader. By his works and by his associations he shall be known.

APOLOGIZING FOR SIR WILFRID.

MR. JOSEPH WEARING and Mayor Conant of Oshawa, at last night's meeting, emphasized their regard for Sis Wilfrid Laurier. This was only natural, but they went further and gave it as their opinion that Sir Wilfrid was not responsible for his present position, but had been forced into it by others.

No man, be he public or private citizen, can excuse himself on such grounds. Sir Wilfrid had the chance of resigning the leadership if he was convinced that the attitude he has taken is wrong. A man's principles should be stronger than even fidelity to a political faction. And for his principles any man should be willing to make sacrifices.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

IT WAS LIKE Victoria Hall in the old days.

• • • •

WOULD YOU vote for Bourassa if he were a candidate

• • • •

MR. HALL'S last ditch in a controversial sense is the abuse of Premier Borden.

• • • •

MR. HALL, being a seasoned skater, naturally recognizes thin ice at a single glance.

• • • •

in West Peterborough? Mr. Bourassa is behind Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and Mr. Hall is in the same boat.

• • • •

STARTING a political rumor today and denying it tomorrow is at least not conserving valuable print paper.

• • • •

MAY THE COMING winter have many a sleetless day, regardless of anything the Fuel Controller may say or do.

• • • •

SURELY Mr. Hall does not intend that quotation from Lincoln as something to fit, the case of his own party leader.

• • • •

ANYWAY, if Mr. Hall does pitch into Sir Robert Borden, he has the wit to refrain from anything like panegyrics on Sir Wilfrid.

• • • •

PROBABLY a majority of the audience last night did not turn out to listen to Liberal speeches, but they were treated to one or two nevertheless.

• • • •

WILL THE WOMEN conservators tell a wondering public what they expect to conserve by going back to the hoopskirts of their grandmothers?

• • • •

PROBABLY the referendum on conscription that will be taken in West Peterborough on December 17 will be sufficient to convince Mr. Hall that his judgment is sadly at fault.

OPPOSED TO AIR REPRISALS

(From The New York Sun)

The finish of the Rev. Joseph H. McMahon's lecture on "The Morality of Reprisals," given before the Catholic Library Association at Delmonico's yesterday, was like the story of snakes in Ireland after St. Patrick's time—"there are none." There is no morality, he held, in the plea for reprisals for the German air raids on innocent non-combatants and wholesale murders like the sinking of the Lusitania. But in dwelling on the gradual growth of the demand for reprisals in England and France, he bade his audience remember that "We in America have not suffered as those countries have suffered."

"Reprisals are the children's tit for tat," he said. "But it is strange to find a man like Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, whom we think of as a gentleman of letters, demanding innocent lives for innocent lives. Let us, however, like President Wilson, seek to do justice to those who are opposed to us. He has always drawn the distinction between the German people and their Government.

"And even if they act like savages we should not. To murder innocent women and children is outside the conventions of war. It is true that, once we grant the right to kill, the manner of killing—poison gas, shrapnel, what not—is a matter of detail. But these details are settled by convention, though it is true, the conventions of The Hague have been sadly violated. But reprisals are a thing outside these conventions, they involve moral law. If, as we assert, the sinking of the Lusitania was murder, reprisal would be murder and therefore would be the breaking of the Fifth Commandment. 'Thou shalt not kill.'

"We are handicapped, if you like, in this war by Christian humanity. But we have entered it for high motives, and we must be true to the conscience of humanity as it cries out through President Wilson. Never was a more magnificent stand than has been taken by our President, whose utterances since August, 1914, will go down in history as among the supreme documents of the world. Those papers have earned a place in the classics.

"The United States alone of all the nations, bids its soldiers in the manual for their instruction to remember that they are responsible to the laws of morality and to God. The word God is used in the sixteenth act of the manual in which this warning is given. So let us remember that while war is war, to slay innocent children is no part of it."

HARRY LAUDER IN A NEW ROLE

Harry Lauder inaugurated the campaign in Detroit to raise that city's quota of $700,000 of the nation's $35,000,000 Y.M.C.A. war fund, and moved his hearers as his comedy and songs never have done. "The world is ablaze, and the Allies must be the firemen to put it out," he said. "You cannot buy liberty with dollars, but maybe you can help to save a regiment, or a battalion with your dollars. Turn your dollars into bullets, and do it today. Tomorrow may be too late. Stand behind the Y.M.C.A. like the Rock of Ages—be a shareholder in the bank of humanity. Give, give, give! Give all you can. Prussianism must be wiped out. If the German empire can consolidate for everything that is hellish and abominable, surely the English-speaking world can unite for everything that is good and noble."

Lauder declared German propagandists are still abroad in America, and that only a few days ago government agents discovered tons of German guns and ammunition buried in American soil.

Stretching forth both hands in an appealing gesture, he exclaimed: "America is suffering from a German plague, and America must get busy and stamp it out—for God's sake, America, awake!"

When roars of acquiescent applause that greeted this appeal died out, he provoked another demonstration by explaining: "Thank God for President Wilson, for his noble mind, for his strong arm!"

A moment later, he brought more applause when he again referred to German propaganda, and to the page in the American school spelling books which contained the eulogy entitled "The Kaiser in the Making," by saying: "I tell you, they made a bad job of it!

"Get the German teachers, who taught German, and this eulogy of the Kaiser, to American school children, out of the American schools, and then burn all school books containing that eulogy!" he demanded and was answered with another ovation.

Lauder uttered an impassioned appeal for a closer relationship between America and England, no, not England, because, he said, there is no more "England" but "the British empire."

"We are all one people, speaking one language; why, in God's name, should we be separated, save physically, by the oceans that divide us?" he questioned, and then called upon both the "British empire" and "America, her big brother," to "get busy, and mix the materal that will cement America and the British empire."

Lauder reminded his hearers that while God commands us to love God, and our neighbors, God does not command us to love God's enemies, and declared that Prussian military rule is God's enemy.

Lauder told a remarkable instance of Prussian atrocity and brutality, prefacing the recounting by saying that his son, whom he called his "companion," told him.

"My son, who does not lie, told me the Germans had captured some 60 of the immortal Forty-second Highlanders, stripped them and then forced them in the rain, to stand at attention, all nigh,t

"In the morning, an officer told them they were free to go back to their own trenches.

"So they started away, thanking God for thei rdeliverance.

"But, the Prussians—the boche—turned their machine guns upon these sixty men, and slaughtered them as they trustingly walked away to the freedom they had been promised!"

TODAY'S STORY

The applicants for promotion to the vacant lieutenancy lined up stiffly as the great Gen. Hawser approached to examine them.

"Sergt. Scollops," said the general crisply, "if you were the officer in command while the enemy was attacking and your men suddenly ran out of ammunition, what would you do?"

"I'd retreat with great dignity but greater celerity," responded Sergt. Scollops, "after first ordering my men to stick their bayonets in the ground for the Germans to trip over."

"Sergt. Stump, what would you do in a similar emergency?" asked Gen. Hawser.

"I'd give the order to charge, frightening the enemy into thinking that we were waiting to fire until we could see the whites of their eyes, thus capturing them all without firing a shot, having, of course, none to fire."

"I'd quickly empty all the exploded shells in sight, fill them with sausages hastily commandeered from the commissary department, and fire them well past the enemy trenches. Then after the hungry Germans had flung down their guns and were scurrying to the rear after the sausages, I would give the order to charge, picking up the enemy's guns on the way, and keep them on the run."

"I appoint you lieutenant," said Gen. Hawser, cordially, and the other applicants, generously ready to admit Scoots' great strategical genius, gave him a rousing cheer.

SUPPORT CAPT. BURNHAM

Editor Review:—Now that there is no possiblity of a candidate being nominated at a Union Convention, and in order that remarks of mine made in the heat of the moment may not be wrongly interpreted, I wish to state that I believe that Mr. Burnham has done his bit to the fullest extent of his means and ability since the war began.

The meeting last night was a whole-hearted effort on the part of representatives of the Conservative, Liberal, and Labour parties to get together for once in a life time. It would appear, however, that it is easier to mix oil and water than to unite the different parties under one leader.

Yours truly.

Still Chance For Merger

There's a long winter ahead, for which reason it is not advisable to consign the Union League plan to the scrap heap. It is known that powerful influence soon will be brought to bear on the American Association to reconsider the proposition to hook up with the International. It is possible that a money consideration will cut an important figure in the negotiations that probably will be resumed in the near future.

Baseball politicians say that if the Kansas City and Milwaukee clubs could be taken care of in a new east and west combination there would be plain sailing. One of the plans already discussed. although highly improbable. is the substitution of Kansas City for Washington in the American League, and the formation of a new ten-club circuit embracing Milwaukee, Toledo, Columbus, Louisville, Indianapolis, Toronto, Buffalo, Providence. Newark and Baltimore.

The American League. however, is not yet ready to abandon Washington, while a ten-club league always has been considered too unwieldy. But at that, it seems unwise to bury the Union League at this time.

A PUGILISTIC CLASSIC

Twenty-nine years ago Jack Dempsey, then at the height of his powers as middleweight champion of the world, and Prof. Mike Donovan former middleweight champion, engaged in what has always been considered one of the classics of the boxing game. The memorable contest was staged in Brooklyn. Both men were Irish, and there was bad blood between them, and—well, figure it out for yourself. Donovan, after a long retirement, had returned to the [illegible] to [illegible] his grudge against the champion. Despite the fact that Mike was rather advanced in years for such an undertaking—he had fought in the civil war and thereafter, in the ring for twenty years—it was some rookus. Well, the house was packed to the ceiling to watch the bout, which was scheduled to go for six rounds. Those who expected to see Dempsey "put it all over" the professor, had another thing coming. The first round was about even. The second round belonged to Mike. The third was again even; in the fourth Dempsey showed up strong, but in the fifth and sixth rounds it was nip and tuck, slam and dodge, biff and feint, with about fifty different things going on every second and both men using every ounce of strength and every trick of generalship and science known to the game. In the end the referee called it a draw. Youth must be served—so the saying goes—but that was an off night for youth.

The scores were as follows:

HOCKEYISTS IN KHAKI

Kingston, Nov. 17.—Hockey prospects for Kingston are not pressing subjects of conversation just yet, but there are reasonable assurances that this city will not suffer greatly this season for want of the old game. The local batteries and other units contain some splendid players. These men have played in the O.H.A. and in other leagues before becoming soldiers. Their experience as players will be in great demand, and at least one, if not more garrison teams for the O.H.A. will be formed.

Major W. J. McManus is very anxious to start this matter now, so that all preparations can be made in plenty of time for the winter. To do so he is arranging for a Garrison League. Any O.H.A. team or other aggregation to play outside games will be chosen from the best players in it. This Garrison League will furnish many games and train the players and form the organization for the more important contests.

ABOUT SOLDIERING.

Things Women May and May Not Do in War.

In spite of the greatly enlarged field in which we can work there are impossibilities that should be clearly recognized. One girl writes that she wants to join a cavalry regiment for women and sees no reason why those young women who want to fight should be forbidden.

A woman's cavalry regiment would be a decided nuisance. There are times when women have fought and fought well. In cases of invasion, in a case like that of poor Servia, for instance, some women fought beside their men. But when such a pass is reached a nation is very close to extinction.

Other girls want to fly for the army, want to become dispatch bearers on the field, ask for commissions as sharpshooters, etc. The army is not a place for women in any capacity but that of nurse. There she can be supremely useful. Whatever a woman's capacity or training she should remember that she is a woman and that she would be decidedly in the way and very much a problem in a world of men such as a modern army must be.

Women can do their part in work that is open to them, such as cable and telegraph censoring, clerical work, nursing, relief work, enlisting work and supply organization. The country needs the services of woman, and tells her very clearly how and where it needs her. Let her fit herself for work she can do and not struggle for impossibilities, making a waste of her time and her energy.

Swiss Bath Train.

What is being called the first bath train of the Swiss Army has just been put into commission. Realizing the great necessity of affording the soldiers guarding the frontiers adequate bathing facilities, and recognizing the insufficiency of the present system, the Swiss military authorities have, in conjunction with the Swiss federal railways and a prominent firm of manufacturers of central heating plants, devised a special railway train, arranged in such a manner that it becomes a large bathing establishment. The bath train consists of a locomotive, a tank wagon of 15,000 liter capacity, and, for the present, two third-class passenger coaches, fitted up with shower baths and dressing rooms. Each shower compartment contains 12 showers, fixed on the ceiling in two rows. The dressing rooms in each coach accommodate 36 men. One thousand men can be accommodated in a day. The water is heated by means of the steam from the locomotive, as are also the shower compartments and dressing rooms. The whole mechanism for pumping the water from the tank wagon into the shower compartments is also operated from the locomotive.

DRUNK HAD $100 ON HIS PERSON

WAS TAKEN INTO THE FATHERLY KEEPING OF THE LOCAL POLICE

The police took into their fatherly keeping last night a drunk, who had imbibed too freely with others, in dark alley-ways, of John Barleycorn. The man was in a beastly state of intoxication, had on his person no less than $100 and had at his heels more than one questionable character.

This morning at the police court, he was fined $10, and left quite content that the other $90 had been preserved for him by the police.

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love the pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

LLOYD GEORGE CRITICIZED BY CORRESPONDENT OF LONDON TIMES

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Nov. 17.—The Military correspondent of the Times, referring to Premier Lloyd George's recent speech in Paris says: "When the Premier narrates the follies of the British and Foreign colleagues and lays the responsibility for allied misfortunes on them while forgetting his own share in these transactions, it becomes necessary to speak out."

The writer then examines separately the premier's assertions to show that the government of which Premier Lloyd George is a member is responsible for the failures which he pilloried in Paris.

After commenting adversely on the premier's references to the Russian and Italian campaigns the writer says: "It would have been better had Lloyd George adhered to facts."

Letter of Thanks To Those Who Knit

FROM MRS. KNOX, PRESIDENT CANADIAN KITCHENER LEAGUE

On the threshold of the fourth winter, since the beginning of this war, we again appeal to all those who so generously responded to our request for knitters during the past three years, not to relax their efforts in providing comforts for the noble men in the trenches.

We feel that socks are the one great essential to the winning of this terrible war. The appeals from the trenches and from the mothers and fathers whose boys are there, increase instead of diminish. An almost unlimited number of socks are needed if the Canadian Kitchener League meets all the demands made upon it.

I wish to take this opportunity on behalf of the officers and members of our League of thanking all those who have worked so hard in contributing to the splendid total of 9071 pairs of socks now sent to the trenches, as well as 832 other knitted articles.

And still there may be some women who have not got busy as yet, if so the Canadian Kitchener League will welcome them in their work.

Trusting every woman who reads this will give it her most sincere attention and by her aid give a little more comfort to the men and strength to the nation and thanking you again on behalf of the League, I remain,

M. D. KNOX, Pres.

MEETING TO NOMINATE

Those Nominated.

G. N. GORDON, (Grit), by F. Wyman and J. Creighton, (Labor men).

E. A. PECK, (Tory), by G. Walter Green and Basil Hall, (Both Liberals).

MAYOR DUFFUS, (Liberal), by Robert Fair and R. B. Roger, (Both Conservatives).

CAPTAIN BURNHAM, by Geo. A. Nelson and Dawson Kennedy, (Both Conservatives).

The meeting split on Capt. Burnham after a show of hands had been called for on behalf of Mayor Duffus and Mr. Peck.

Old Time Enthusiasm.

The hall was taxed to its utmost capacity, and presented a scene of old-time election enthusiasm. Many ladies were present.

Seated on the platform were Ald. Dobbin, chairman, J. A. Aylmer, Lt.-Col. Mills, R. B. Roger, Basil Hall, W. C. Austin, G. Walter Green, W. H. Bradburn, Jos. Wearing, R. J. Soden, Robert Harstone, Robert Fair, Mayor Duffus, G. N. Gordon, Chas. Coleman, G. W. Green, Jas. Hales, K. C., Toronto, and Geo. D. Conant, Mayor of Oshawa.

On motion of G. Walter Green and W. C. Austin (two Grits), Ald. Dobbin was voted into the chair, and in a brief opening address remarked that this was the first time in 67 years a meeting had been called under the joint auspices of both the Liberal and Conservative parties to consider the nomination of a candidate for the House of Commons who would represent this community, irrespective of party politics.

Ex-Mayor W. H. Bradburn spoke to the Victory Loan campaign, and urged contributions from all.

Represent Same Policy.

Jas. Hales, K.C., of Toronto, grandson of Mr. Thos. Hales, of Hale's Bridge, was the first speaker, and he never expected to see the day when the Mail, Globe and the Star of Toronto would be found representing the same policy. He had no doubt partyism has had its use in the past and will be found useful in the future. But we are at war, he went ont, fighting for our liberty and our lives, and this is no time for us to engage in party political strife. Surely, after all the boys at the front have done in upholding Canada's honor and glory, we can eliminate partyism from the present electorial situation and unite in one big effort. With one big end in view—that of conscripting manhood in succor of our gallant soldiers in France and Flanders. And I wonder, he said, if by any chance the great message we shall send to our soldiers overseas will be one of disappointment, and somehow I don't believe it will. (Cheers). Of course, he admitted, we don't all agree, but have you ever seen a better disposition than that exhibited by Sir Robert Borden and Hon. N. W. Rowell? In a strong appeal for fusion of interests, Mr. Hales had no doubt that in supporting a platform originating with a Union Government all parties in years to come will accredit us with having adopted the only proper course. He declared that all the Provinces are in sympathy with the Union Government and its policy of Win-the-War as the first and most important program for immediate action. The problem before Canada now is to send to Ottawa a strong following of the Union administration, with its conscription measure in support of the forces overseas. He eulogised the Union platform, which included building ships and abolishing patronage, which he hoped would never come back again as it had existed in the past. He firmly believes that Canada was at the dawn of a new and better day, and was optimistic as to the progress of the war.

Mr. Geo. D. Conant.

Mayor of Oshawa was present at the request of Hon. N. W. Rowell. He did not desire to interfere in the local situation nor the problem before the convention. In discussing Sir Robert Borden's administation he regretted that all Liberals associated with that government are characterized by many as traitors and dishonest. Why, he could not conceive. He cared not whether Canada is governed by Conservative, Grit, Laborites or Socialists, for the main issue today is whether Canada is in future to be governed by the British or Germans; and until that question is settled he will neither be Socialist, Laborite, Grit or Tory. Continuing, the speaker respected, honored and almost loved Sir Wilfrid, but must disagree with him in his attitude on conscription. He agreed with his manifesto as far as it goes, but when it comes to the discussion of the Military Act he cannot follow him any longer. We can't, he said, get away from the supreme issue: 'Are we going to back up the boys at the front. He had not so much left Sir Wilfrid Laurier as decided to follow the noble example of the men who left Sir Wilfrid and joined the Union Government such men as Carvell and Rowell who affiliated themselves with Union from a stern sense of duty.

In conclusion, he contended that the success of the Union Government is paramount over everything. "Whatever your views may be it is your duty to yourself, your children, to Canada, and the Empire to select the strongest possible candidate in support of the Union and Conscription."

Mr. J. A. Aylmer

Spoke of the win-the-war movement, which he characterized as successor to the National Service League, better known as the Speakers' Patriotic League, out of which the win-the-war party was developed. He urged setting aside all petty party strife and bringing all resources of the country, with a united Canada, behind the Union Government to maintain our Canadian divisions facing the enemy overseas.

Robert Harstone

Said he supported, as a strong Liberal, Sir Robert Borden, as the only course to get needed help for our boys at the front. "I am at this meeting to urge united action, irrespective of politics. The reason there is a Union Government is because of the Liberals, and I have great faith in this government." After reading Sir Wilfrid's manifesto he found he could not follow him, as there is no time for delay so far as Canadian soldiers are concerned.

Mr. R. J. Soden

Explained, as a private citizen, in the matter of supporting the Union or any other government, there is no alternative. One party is determined to send a stream of men across the seas until what we started in to do is done. He characterized Liberal platform on the issue at stake as one of grave menace to Canada and the Empire. "I stand, he declared," with those—I don't care whether they be Laborites, Socialists, Tories or grits who are united to lick Germany hollow, (Prolonged cheers.)

"I don't care who created the Union Government, so long as it creates a hammer which is going to win this war, and that can only be accomplished by a unity of all the manhood, wealth and production of this Canada of ours.. The only way to select a Union candidate is by a fusion of all political factions in one individuality, and I vote for the man approved by the Union Administration, whoever he may be, for united we stand, divided we fall. (Prolonged cheers.)

Lieut.-Col. Mills

Characterized the audience as representative of all parties in Peterboro, and appreciated the object for which the convention had been called—the selection of a candidate to be approved of by Sir Robert Borden. The Liberals have nominated their man; two years ago the conservatives nominated a candidate, but conditions have changed since then, and it is for this meeting to select a union nominee.

Joseph Wearing

Explained that he was a strong Liberal, and loved Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who, however, he regretted had been forced into a position in which he could not follow him. He (the speaker) was out-and-out for conscription, which Sir Wilfrid is not. He believed that men should be forced to defend their country when that country is in danger of being blotted out, the same as men are forced to pay their taxes to keep their country from bankruptcy. Sir Wilfrid's referendum would delay reinforcements months, perhaps years, and Mr. R. R. Hall, whether he likes it or not, will be forced to support Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his procrastinative measures.

Continuing, Mr. Wearing said he suggested to Mr. Burnham a good many times that he resign so that people would come together and unite in a Union candidate, but he still stands as a straight Conservative. Mr. wearing believed that Sir Robert Borden would keep his pledge in a telegram sent to five prominent Conservatives that he would endorse the candidature of any man nominated by a Union Convention.

Win-the-War Man

In discussion here Andrew McFarlane claimed that Mr. Hall is not a Laurier Liberal and Dawson Kennedy said Captain Burnham is a win-the-war man.

Mr. Gordon Declined

Mr. Gordon here spoke on the same lines as at the Liberal Convention, and as a Labor Candidate contended that labor, though strong, could not stand alone yet, and must aline itself with him in support of whoever the convention nominated. He declined nomination.

Mr. E. A. Peck

Congratulated the men who organized so strongly a representative convention as in session. In regard to a candidate for the Union Government, he thought it extraordinary that a man nominated by Conservatives two years ago should consider himself as such, and expect Liberals to endorse him. Personally, he was not ambitious, but if the choice of the convention would appreciate the honor and devote all his energies toward winning the seat. He had the cause of labor very much at heart.

Mayor Duffus

Characterized by Chairman Dobbin as the best mayor Peterborough ever had, spoke of the duty of every citizen to subscribe what he possibly can to the Victory Loan. He said he was not a professional politician, and believed the day is fast coming when the Dominion of Canada will be governed by live business and labor men instead of by professional politicians too prone to feather their own nests. In a brief review of his record as mayor of the city, he asked his hearers to judge had he done his duty or not. He was not the candidate of any one faction, as he had always endeavored to represent the interests of the whole community, and to do his duty in support of the soldiers overseas and their dependents at home. His sympathies were with the labor party and agricultural interests and he would not advise sending more men engaged in those interests to the front than is absolutely imperative.

In conclusion, his worship had no quarrel with either political party, and were Mr. Peck nominated he would have his undivided support. "But I want to make it clear that I have not left my own party in so far as a straight party fight is concerned."

We can remember the time when a man could get himself a pair of shoes and a hat for a $5 bill.

PRAISE FOR THE HEROIC DEAD

BANK MANAGER WRITES OF THE LATE PTE. O. J. MORROW

Mrs. O. J. Morrow, of Water St., whose son, Pte. T. Morrow of the 15th Battalion, was killed in action, October 26, has received the following letter from the manager of the Bank of Ottawa, Sudbury, where Pte. Morrow was employed when he enlisted:

The Bank of Ottawa,
Sudbury, Ont., Nov. 15, 1917

My Dear Mrs. Morrow:—I have learned with keen regret that your son Orland has been killed in action. He was not in my office very long but he enlisted from here and for that reason I have followed his career in the army with a great deal of interest. It was a great shock to me to hear the news from Mrs. Rowatt as the last time I heard from Orland he was in the pay office in England and did not expect that he would be allowed to go to the front.

I am enclosing a clipping from yesterday's Sudbury Star in which your son's name appears on the Honor Roll, with other Sudbury boys. We who knew him best feel a keen sense of loss. He was of a bright, happy nature which he carried with him to the office, but which he never allowed to interfere with the conscientious discharge of his duties. Our flag is flying at half-mast in his honor and shall continue to fly for the remainder of the week as a tribute to his bravery.

There is only one word of comfort that I can offer Mrs. Morrow. Being a father myself I can appreciate what it must mean to lose a son, but if my boy had to die in early manhood I could not ask for him a nobler death.

What a contrast between those brave fellows who offered their services voluntarily and are now laying down their lives for their country and the pitiful slackers who are seeking exemption from service for no reason but that they are afraid to go. Is it not some comfort to know that your son belongs among the heroes of the great war and not among the slackers who would not go?

Again assuring you of my sincere sympathy and that of the young ladies of my staff who knew him. I am very truly yours.

C. M. A. HUSTON.

Tailored Boots.

One wears tailored boots now with tailored sport suits of mannish style. The tailored boot looks as masculine as it can and has low, broad heels much perforated decoration and a long pointed toe. It must be as slim as possible and should not be wider than an A width, even if one has to wear it much too long to achieve this narrowness. These good looking boots are of calfskin and are usually in the mahogany brown shade that looks best with tailored street costumes. There are white buckskin tailored boots also for wear with white tailor mades of tussore silk or mohair. The tailored boot is in laced style and is only correct for sport wear or for walking. With all formal costumes the buttoned boot is demanded, and smart buttoned boots now have high heels and very light, dainty soles

FOOD PRODUCTION

Great Britain has appealed to Canada to send her bushels of wheat to feed her teeming millions and those of France.

This enormous quantity of wheat would feed 40,000,00 a whole year. This shows our Allies want food.

To this appeal the Borden Rowell Government only ar less, slay and eat the calf and the lamb and prepare for me

Let the Government encourage the Farmer to produce him agricultural implements duty free. Supply him with su on fair terms to till the soil. A forward policy on these lines would be a double b would reduce the cost of living at home and would help necessities of our Allies overseas.

Remember one single North West farmer produces 200 wheat per year when well directed and equipped. 100 000 produce 200,000 000 bushels of wheat. Those already on in the North West properly equipped and manned could p 000,000 bushels more.

I pledge myself, if elected, to support prompt and im forts to reduce the high cost of living.

AT ONCE! STOPS STOMACH MISERY AND INDIGESTION

"PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN" MAKES SICK, SOUR, GASSY STOMACHS FEEL FINE.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into acids and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down. Pape's Diapepsin helps neutralise the excessive acids in the stomach so your food won't sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is upset, you usually get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it helps to regulate your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. "Pape's Diapepsin" is positive in neutralizing the acidity, so the misery won't come back very quickly.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears, and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder due to acid fermentation.

Bobcaygeon Bought First Victory Bond

At Bobcaygeon the first Victory Loan was purchased by a young woman, and in Peterborough the first bond sold was one for $100 to a domestic servant in East City. In this connection, Mr. Lithgrow of Bobcaygeon said the other day to a young lady that he would like to dispose of the first bond to one of the fair sex. She said she would consider it and gave her application the next morning. Other residents are purchasing in good sums.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Lakefield Presbyterian Church are having a Thank-offering in their church on Nov. 18th.

On Wednesday evening, Nov. 14th, a very interesting meeting of Young People's Society of the Presbyterian Church was held in the Sunday School room. The topic for the evening was Current Events, which was in charge of Clayton Ridpath and Roy Greene.

The anniversary services of the Lakefield Presbyterian Church will be held in the local church on the first Sunday in December. Rev. W. L. H. Rowand of St. Andrew's Church, Peterborough, will have charge of the morning service while Rev. J. A. MacKenzie of Knox Church, Peterborough, will preach in the evening. Special music will be rendered.

Mr. Charles Bickell of Toronto was in the village a few days this week renewing old acquaintances.

Mrs. Gordon Northey has returned from Toronto where she has spent the last few months.

EMBARGO ON IRON

No Shipment Allowed Save in Exceptional Cases

Ottawa, Nov. 17.—The Government has placed an embargo on the shipment of iron and steel from Canada save in exceptional cases in which licenses may be granted by the Customs Department. This action is due to the great shortage of these commodities for munitions, shipbuilding and other operations.

Canada Could Raise $2,800,000,000 War Loan if She Does as Well as Glasgow

The city of Glasgow (Scotland) subscribed $350,000,000 to one British war loan. The population of Glasgow and its environs is 1,000,000. That is an average of $350 per head. I believe some of the French cities did even better than this.

Canada on the Same Basis.

Now, Glasgow is not a rich city compared to Canada. This country is the richest in the world today per capita. If Glasgow can raise $350 per head, Canada could do better—if it wishes. If it did, the 8,000,000 people in Canada could subscribe $2,800,000,000 for this loan, not merely the $150,000,000 asked for.

Is It Impossible Here?

Most people will tell you that is impossible. Probably it is under the present circumstances. We have not yet reached the degree of self-denial practised in Europe, and till we do, our war loans will be but a poor proportion of theirs. And yet, I repeat, Canada is the richest country in the world today per capita.

Our Point of View.

Many women will tell the canvassers for this loan that they have no money to spare, that they are down to bed-rock in economy. Yet probably they are wondering whether they ought to buy that $250 fur coat or the $150 cloth one. They already have two or three which would do perfectly well, but the fashions have changed so, and Mrs. Smith has got the sweetest new seal, and "if her husband can afford it, so can mine." It will never enter the minds of many otherwise adorable ladies that it would be possible for them to manage without any new clothes at all for two or three years, so well are their wardrobes stocked up. The average Canadian woman of the middle and upper classes would look well dressed if she bought nothing new for the next three years. Quite a large number of high-minded people are going without, especially those with relatives at the war. But tens of thousands are not altering their methods of living at all. It is only fair to say that they really have no conception of the possibilities of economy. The necessities of life are largely a matter of experience. A Japanese workman earns two cents per hour, and probably raises his family under quite comfortable circumstances for them. A French farmer would be very comfortably situated if he earned $500 a year, and would consider $2000 a year absolute riches.

No Poor People Here.

The Canadian people, always surrounded with plenty, have never been taught to see on how little one can live. There are few or no examples of poverty constantly before their eyes, as in the United Kingdom or Europe. In the United Kingdom in normal times there are about 13,000,000 people on the verge of starvation, which means that these people have little or no income at all. They earn, not $10 a week, as the "poor" man does here, but nothing at all; they can't get work, and they must beg, borrow or steal, or live on charity. Those sad circumstances, always before the eyes of Europeans, are one of the reasons why Europeans are so much more thifty than people here.

Economies To Help the Loan.

Some of these facts properly told will accomplish a good deal of good. They will gradually sink in. The people in Europe, generally speaking, have ceased to buy new clothes since the war started, and their self-denial in this and other directions is not only a saving in supplies, but it is so much for a war loan. If you or I save $200 a year in clothes, that means much more than it seems. It means a saving in the shipping required for the transportation of yarn from England to Canada. It means so much more available for army and navy supplies. It means that $200 a year can be released for investment in a war loan. Its chief reward, however, is the knowledge that one is doing one's duty. Thousands of people in this country will be happier if they can be brought to practise self-denial for this reason.

A Possibility!

Besides, if the Canadian people cared to take this matter up thoroughly, they will render the commercial prospects of Canada incalculable benefit. They ought to be able on the same basis as the United Kingdom, to raise at least $2,000,000,000 a year in loans. Most of this money could presumably be spent in supplies for the British Government in Canada itself, or lent to the United Kingdom. The country could in a short time be turned from a borrowing to a lending nation. Perhaps that is far too much to expect, because the habits of extravagance are too deeply seated to be eradicated in a few years. But it shows the possibilities.

The "Poor" Family Could Take $250.

There are very few Canadian families which could not afford to take $250 of the war loan if they practised self-denial. The 70,000 autoists in Ontario could easily, on the average, subscribe for $1000 each, or $70,000,000 in all. If they can't, they are clearly spending money in a luxury that is unjustified in thes serious times.

OLD AND YOUNG, RICH AND POOR ARE BUYING VICTORY BONDS

The total amount subscribed by Peterborough city and county to the Victory Loan up to last night was $436,150. Yesterday's selling amounted to $98,750.

Young and old, rich and poor, both sexes, are buying Victory bonds as generously as their purses will allow. Even newsboys have caught the enthusiasm and realize the crying need for the loan, as evidenced by the action of one eleven-year-old son of a returned soldier who drew on his savings from selling papers to buy a Victory bond. This spirit of support of Canada and the British Empire and all that they stand for is commendable in one so young, and promises great things for the rising generation of Canadian manhood.

Thursday's Results.

North Ward	$5,300
South Ward	3,100
East Ward	4,350
West Ward	7,800
Centre Ward	9,150
Asphodel and Norwood	100
Douro and Lakefield	11,350
Otonabee	700
Banks—For credit of team workers	4,200
Special names team	20,600
	66,650

Meeting At Havelock.

Mr. Warren, County organizer, Mr. F. D. Kerr and others were at Havelock last night, and addressed a rousing and tensely enthusiastic meeting in the interests of the Loan. Conditions at this railway centre are encouraging.

One-Third Objective.

Nearly one-third of the Ontarian objective for the Victory Loan of $150,000,000 has been secured. Over $45,000,000, it was believed Thursday night at Provincial Headquarters, Toronto, would be in hand this morning when the complete figures for the country districts were counted. Of this the city of Toronto has contributed approximately $19,790,000. This shows a big increase on the day's returns. The canvassers took in $3,000,000, and the special subscriptions were $5,875,400, making a total from both sources of $8,877,800.

Roosevelt Coming.

Immense interest has been aroused by the announcement that ex-President Roosevelt of the United States is to speak in Torono on November 26. The Armories have been secured, as it is sure the largest available building will be needed. Details will be given later.

Everything goes round in a sewing circle.

It is just as important to say the right thing in the wrong place as it is to say the right thing in the right place.

WANTS LUMBER BUSINESS.

Good Results From Campaign in British Columbia.

British Columbia is making a bold bid for Ontario and Eastern Canadian lumber business, and the chances are that Douglas fir will oust southern pine from his place in the "affection" of eastern Canadian architects and writers of building specifications.

After a cursory investigation of the lumber market, an energetic campaign was decided upon. A lumber commissioner was appointed and located in Toronto. The duty of this official is to confer with architects, engineers, and users of wood in general—not particularly for the lumber trade—to woo them away from their southern instincts, and develop a liking for the British Columbia output.

Many good results have accrued. The British Columbia lumber commissioner in Toronto has in many instances been able to assure users of lumber in this Province of the efficacy of Douglas fir, which, heretofore, so it is claimed, has been more or less discriminated against in the city by-laws.

One report states that: "It was found that city by-laws, where they existed, uniformly gave preference to southern pine. For instance, Toronto allowed a fibre stress for Douglas fir of only 1,200 lb. per square inch, as against 1,600 lb. for southern pine, which meant that the southern pine had a 25 per cent. advantage over Douglas fir. After repeated and persistent endeavor Toronto now admits Douglas fir and southern pine on an even basis. This is particularly important, because in Ontario the standard for Toronto is usually followed by other cities and municipalities."

It is now claimed that the fact that shipments east from British Columbia have doubled during the past year, the policy of establishing the office in Toronto has been vindicated.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

MONCRIEF—DOBBIN.

A pretty November wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 14th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert [illegible] Dobbin, North Monaghan, when their eldest daughter, Leona Jane, became the bride of Mr. Sidney Earl Moncrief, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Moncrief, North Monaghan, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. J. P. Wilson.

Promptly at one o'clock the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by her cousin, Miss Genevieve Elmhirst, of Lindsay. She was most charmingly gowned in white Georgette crepe, with the conventional wedding veil and orange blossoms, and carried an immense bouquet of bridal roses.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Clara Doblin, who was dressed in pink silk, and carried pink roses. Little Miss Mildred Dobbin, also a sister of the bride, dressed in pink, with touches of black velvet, and carrying a basket of pink and white carnations, acted as flower girl. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Norman Moncrief.

After the ceremony the bridal party adjourned to the dining-room, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served to about eighty guests.

The young couple were the recipients of many costly presents, showing the high esteem in which they are held in the community. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace, to the bridesmaid and pianist, pearl pins, and to the little flower girl a gold locket.

The happy couple left on the four o'clock train for a short honeymoon in Toronto, the bride travelling in a suit of burgundy velour, with gray hat and white fox furs. On their return they will reside on Charlotte street, in Peterborough.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. P. Elmhirst, Miss Genevieve Elmhirst, Mrs. [illegible]. A. Heels, Miss Annie Anderson, Mrs. Geo. Dobbin and Miss Wilma Dobbin, of Lindsay; Mr. Eric Lawrason and Mrs. Bert Sugden of Toronto, and Mrs. Jas. Elmhirst of Winnipeg.

Mrs. Hughes-Charles of Port Hope is the guest of Miss Archer, Rubidge street.

Mrs. Vincent Eastwood is returning from Toronto today, after a short visit with friends.

Miss Denham who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Denham returned to her home in Chicago today.

Mrs. N. Foster and Mrs. F. Pedrick, of Ottawa, are the guests of Mrs. J. T. Mills, Hunter street.

Mr. T. Dawson of Chicago is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. D. H. Burritt, of Toronto, is the guest of friends in the city.

HONOR SYSTEM AT THE GRAND

PHOTOPLAY A STRIKING ARGUMENT IN FAVOR OF PRISON REFORM.

"The Honor System" the photoplay now running at the Grand, is an illustrated argument in favor of prison reform. It shows how human derelicts can be treated like men and so converted into useful members of society. Any one interested in this subject should see the pictures, and they are thrilling enough to claim the interest of young and old alike. The honor system marks an epoch in the world's history, a new wave of reform in the management of the erring classes.

SISTER MARY MADE TROUBLE

Kingston, Nov. 17.—Continuing the evidence for the defence in the trial of the case of Sister Mary Basil against Archbishop Spratt and others for damages for abduction and other grievances, the Sister of the Annunciation, who was the superior of St. Mary-of-the-Lake Orphanage, declared the plaintiff had caused much trouble at the Orphanage and had said that she (the witness) was a fool and should be tarred and feathered.

Witness admitted that on one occasion, fearing that Sister Mary was about to attack her, she struck her, blackening her eyes and causing her nose to bleed. For this assault she was punished, being deprived of her liberty for thirty days, having to kiss the feet of seven sisters and losing her office.

Another Sister said Sister Mary had referred to the Mother Superior as a scoundrel.

This concluded the evidence and the lawyers proceeded to the argument.

DELIGHTFUL ORGAN RECITAL

The organ recital by Miss Ida G. Sanderson in the Murray street Baptist church last night was attended by a large audience, who lost no opportunity to demonstrate their unqualified appreciation of the unusually excellent numbers offered by an organist of exceptional talent. Miss Sanderson gave four numbers which displayed her versatility, technique, touch and tone in a manner quickly recognized by the critical audience and vigorously responded to.

The piano and organ patrol characteristique written by Mr. Asa Huycke, for piano and organ, with Mr. Huycke at the piano is a remarkable musical composition and was rendered with a skill that elicited the warmest of approval. Its versatility is of a captivating nature. In the distance a band is heard approaching first the drum, then in quick succession tubas and horns; then trombones, cornets and smaller instruments come into prominence. As the band approaches and marches past the piccolo livens up things by playing a variation on the trio part of the march; then the reeds are heard in a wild skirl, followed, up gradually by the larger instruments until finally nothing is heard but the bass horns and an occasional thump of the big drum. Miss Sanderson took the organ parts, and the whole number was a fitting termination to a program which would stand repetition again and again.

Miss Winnifred Parker gave an interest-retaining and admirably read reading on "A Day In Old Japan", with organ accompaniment, which was peculiarly illuminating as to Japanese life!

Mr. Asa Huycke, in splendid baritone voice, was heard to irresistible advantage in "The Lute Player" and a pretty little aria, "Oh, so Pure, from 'Martha'". Both these numbers held the audience at tense attention.

Miss Sanderson and Mr. J. H. Renwick made very acceptable accompanists—on piano and organ, respectively—for Mr. Huycke.

The whole recital was of a nature apart from the ordinary, and afforded an exceedingly pleasant evening's revelation in the possibilities of entertainments of its character.

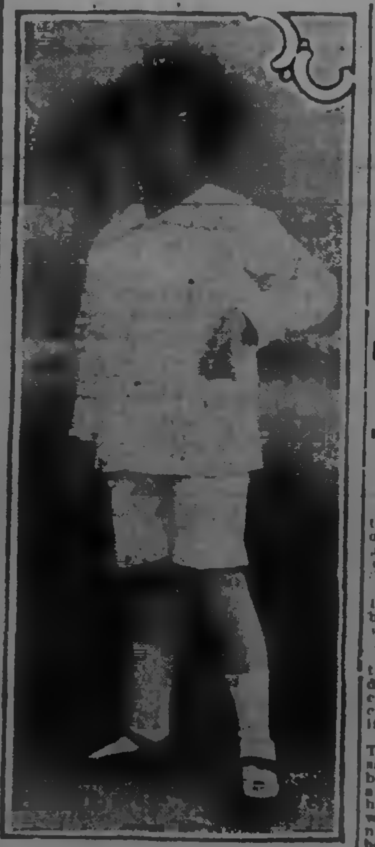
MANLY GARB.

Sonnyboy Dons His Very Best Suit For Sunday.

White linen makes a small boy the coolest kind of summer raiment. When the Norfolk jacket is widely belted, fitted out with an embroidered collar and slit pockets what more does a fond parent desire?



CORRECT AS POSSIBLE.

LACE REVIVAL.

Miles of It Are Being Used to Trim Garments.

Another change in fashions which is creating a stir of interest in this country is the lavish use of lace. France had much of it in reserve, but she made it fashionable in order to give the women and older children a chance to earn money through wartime. Thousands of the Belgian lace makers are refugees in France, and to revive the fashion for lace was to make these exiles self supporting.

The American designers jump with joy over the idea of putting lace on gowns, for there must be miles of it stored away in this country waiting for a chance to see the sunlight. Now there will be a chance to use it up for frocks, wraps, blouses, peplums, hats, parasols and accessories. The designers are even putting precious lace on satin frocks for the afternoon, and afternoon gowns are made of a new kind of shadow lace in ecru or oyster white dropped over a black satin sheath lining.

The success of the peplum or outside blouse will give an impetus to loose waists that can be girdled in with Chinese brocade or with the new brilliant ribbons copied from antique designs. These blouses may be lined with white or colored chiffon or silk net and worn with any kind of skirt.

Jenny has brought up the crochet lace of the Roumanian peasants, and this, in string or biscuit color, makes an admirable peplum blouse over a dark or light skirt for country club wear.

Another method of using lace as an accessory is to drape it in the form of broad suspenders over the shoulders, let it drop to the hips and then cascade it there to give the oval silhouette.

Cherult makes a gown of cafe au lait crepe de chine in a straight line from head to foot, with half the skirt of black crepe de chine. From shoulders to hips there are draped suspenders of black Chantilly lace.

Dried Savories.

One woman states: "I grow celery to pull when a few inches high. I look it over, wash it and shake water off; then I roll it in a clean cloth and dry it in the sun between thin cloth on the window screens. After it is dry I run it through a fine cutter. When it is crisp dry I bottle it for cooking. I also do sage leaves in the same way."

Home Grown Salads.

Make window boxes for the back windows and in them sow thyme, parsley, radishes, lettuce, carrots and cucumber seed, also some onions. Four such window boxes, if replanted every three weeks, will furnish enough greens to supply a family of three for the summer.

The NEW EDISON

Over 1,000,000 People have heard this test!

OVER one million music-lovers have attended "re-creation concerts" in practically every city on this continent, at which famous artists have sung or played in unison and direct comparison with their re-created voices on

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul."

This host of people went to these concerts critical, doubting and curious. They came away amazed, dumfounded and convinced convinced that Thos. A. Edison had given to the world a new art—the re-creation of music so flawlessly that it is absolutely impossible to tell the real from the re-creation.

No "talking machine" ever dared make such a test. None but the NEW EDISON could successfully sustain such comparison and have over 500 music critics confess that one could not be distinguished from the other.

When you hear the NEW EDISON pouring forth real music, in all its original beauty and warmth, you too will realize the wonder of this marvelous invention and will long to add to your home the happiness, pleasure, inspiration and comfort that only good music can bring.

We cordially invite you to hear this, Mr. Edison's favorite invention, in our showrooms. A visit entails no obligation to purchase.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

WHAT TO SEND OVERSEAS

What should I send?" is a frequent question. It is answered by the comfort committee of the Y.M.C.A., in the list given below. Notice, please, that they emphasize the importance of socks as being the greatest need of all, for men in the trenches. Home-made candies and cake are recommended as well as plenty of candies. The latter, the committee say are often more acceptable than food. Here is the list, divided into clothing, eatables, and equipment:

1. Goods to wear (in order of importance), (a) Socks, in large quantities. Greatest need of all, (b) Gloves, woollen gloves are good, but a light leather glove is very satisfactory, especially if large enough to wear over a wollen glove, (c) Balaclave helmets. (d) Light sweaters, to be worn under tunic. Such a sweater is issued by the army, but soon after the winter issue many men are found without them. (e) Handkerchiefs, (f) Light woollen under clothing would make a most useful gift.

2. Goods to eat and drink. (a) Home-made candies which will keep such as toffee, fudge, etc., in small packets. (b) Cake, home-made if possible, and fruit cake by preference. (c) Cocoa, in 1-4 lb. cans; Cafe au lait are the most acceptable gifts in the drink line.

3. Equipment (a) Tommy's Cookers—one of the finest things. Refills in plenty. (b) Candies — in unlimited quantities. During winter issue candies are scarce and candies are often more acceptable than food. (c) A correspondence Wallet, to fit the pocket in which paper to fit could be placed. (d) Pencils, short, indelible of good quality; otherwise regular lead pencils. (e) Ink pellets for Fountain pens.

NEEDLES AND BAGS

Knitting needles need be no longer ugly or, rather, unbeautiful lengths of steel; instead, they are dainty amber or white—or almost any color that one desires—lengths of wood or celluloid or what not, slender, and adorned, many a time, with silver heads or enamel; pretty things that one likes to carry about and use.

Then there are the knitting bags. Two or three years ago when knitting first began to come into its own again to any appreciable extent—of course, it is understood that some have never wholly dropped the art—it was found necessary to have some sort of a receptacle to carry it about in. One popular style was made flat, cut somewhat after the shape of a garden basket. These were made of cretonne, as a rule. They, however, soon proved too small for anything much bigger than wristlets, and so new bags had to be fashioned. Gradually they grew larger until a favorite style has come to be, to describe it roughly, that made of a yard of cretonne, gathered up at each end on a large oval embroidery hoop of wood, which has already been covered with a strip of the same material. Then the ends are sewn up part of the way and the bag is ready for use. This is big enough to hold even the longest needles, any amount of wool and a full-sized sweater, besides the various little things which one may want to carry along, when off for an afternoon's visit. These are built on the order of the most capacious of mending or stocking bags.

PLUCK OF WOMEN

To women's work Lord Northcliffe attributes Britain's ability to keep up her industrial activity. He says:

"Do you understand how with 5,000,000 men in the field Great Britain maintains her credit and her exports as before? It has been done only by the women of every class going into the great industrial plants and proving as efficient as men at tasks which a few years ago were considered impossible for women.

"Five million women have taken the place of as many men. I am not sure that all these are proper tasks for women, but war is war, and in many cases the spirit of the women is stronger than their physical strength."

THE CHILD'S TEETH

The first teeth, which are not completed until the child is two and a half years old, should have systematic care. It is a very serious mistake to think that this first set of teeth is of no importance. As these milk teeth are the fixed starting-points for the arrangement of the later permanent set, the beauty and strength of the permanent teeth are dependent upon the preservation of these first little teeth. If they are prematurely extracted, they make of the permanent teeth an unsightly jumble that will seriously hamper the harmonious development of your child's face and mouth.

VASELINE USEFUL

Have you ever stopped to think what a help a bottle of vaseline will be to you? For instance, dandruff is a common complaint among women who spend little time in caring for their hair. One of the simplest helps in getting rid of dandruff is to apply vaseline to the scalp with the tips of the fingers every night for a week, and then shampoo the hair. Repeat this for several weeks and your hair will be much improved.

Lots of men tell you how to get rich who haven't time to tell you why they didn't.

SERMON FROM THE SANCTUM

EDITOR OF ORILLIA PACKET DELIVERS AN EXCELLENT MORAL DISCOURSE.

If the editor of The Orillia Packet had chosen another vocation it would probably have been that of a preacher. He is an authority on theological questions, and is as conversant with the Bible as he is with the highways and bypaths of the English language. When he essays the role of pastor and, from his editorial chair, delivers a sermon to his fellow-toilers in the newspaper field, it behooves every newspaper man in Ontario to sit up and take notice. One of the latest ventures of The Packet man in this branch of endeavor is the best yet. It is as follows:

"There is a suspicion abroad that, as a rule, writers on the daily papers have a meagre knowledge of the Bible. This week one finds the Toronto Mail and Empire quoting 'God helps those who help themselves,' apparently under the impression that it is repeating a text of scripture. Not only is this impression incorrect, but the statement is entirely at variance with the teaching of the New Testament.

"God helps those who are unselfish and who help others. 'God helps those who help themselves' suggests a rule of conduct which not only would rob mankind of its noblest traits, but at the same time place upon an all-wise and beneficent Providence the responsibility for this degradation. God has helped all the soldiers of the Cross from Paul down to the present day, not because they helped themselves, but because they counted not even life itself dear unto them so that they might help others.

"'God helps those who help themselves' has kept many a slacker at home, while his more heroic and less selfish fellows have gone across the seas to do battle for their ideals of truth and righteousness. It has kept many a dollar in stingy pockets, and formed the miserable excuse for all sorts of meanness and selfishness since the present war began.

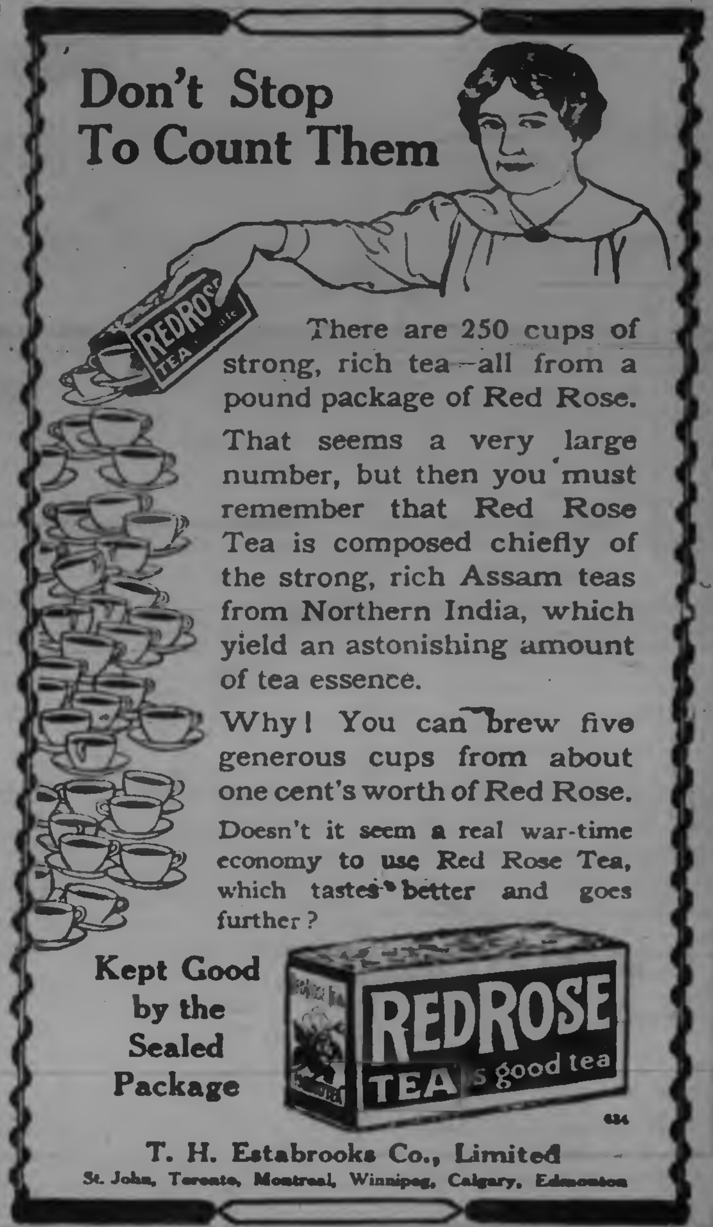
"'Charity begins at home' is another favorite weapon of defence in the armory of the selfish man. Charity began at home with the priest and Levite on the Jericho road. It did not begin at home with the Good Samaritan, as may be known from the fact that the charity which begins at home always ends there. It spends its lifetime getting enough together to enable it to travel farther, but that time never comes, for the simple reason that the bigger the selfish man's 'pile' grows the smaller it looks, and the more greedy and avaricious he gets.

"Some day, when his barns are full to bursting and he is in the midst of preparations to build bigger, he will hear his condemnation in the summons, 'Thou fool! this night shall thy soul be required of thee.' Then the Charity which began at home goes on a journey at last."

Rheumatism

In the days of our fathers and grandfathers rheumatism was thought to be the unavoidable penalty of middle life and old age. Almost every elderly person had rheumatism as well as many young people. Medical science did not understand the trouble—did not know that it was rooted in the blood. It was thought that rheumatism was the mere effect of exposure to cold and damp, and it was treated with liniments and hot applications, which sometimes gave temporary relief, but did not cure the trouble. In those days there were thousands of rheumatic cripples. Now, medical science understands that rheumatism is a disease of the blood, and that with good, rich, red blood, any man or woman of any age can defy rheumatism and can be cured by killing the poisons in the blood which causes it. There are many elderly people who have never felt a twinge of rheumatism, and many who have conquered it by simply keeping their blood rich and pure. The blood making, blood enriching qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is becoming every year more widely known, and it is the more general use of these pills that has robbed rheumatism of its terrors. At the first sign of poor blood which is shown by loss of appetite, palpitations, dull skin and dim eyes, protect yourself against the further ravages of disease by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have cured thousands of people. If you give them a fair trial they will not disappoint you.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.



Don't Stop To Count Them

There are 250 cups of strong, rich tea—all from a pound package of Red Rose.

That seems a very large number, but then you must remember that Red Rose Tea is composed chiefly of the strong, rich Assam teas from Northern India, which yield an astonishing amount of tea essence.

Why! You can brew five generous cups from about one cent's worth of Red Rose.

Doesn't it seem a real war-time economy to use Red Rose Tea, which tastes better and goes further?

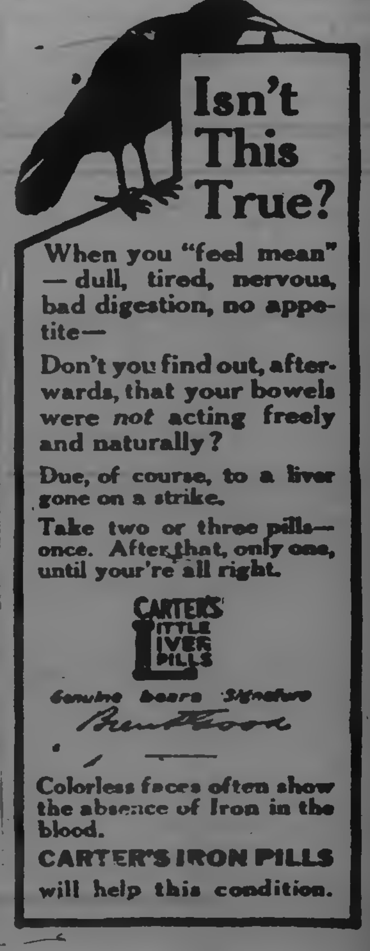
NO WEDDING BREAKFAST AT VICE-REGAL MARRIAGE

There was no wedding breakfast at Rideau Hall when the Governor-General's daughter was married the other day. It was "because of the war." And in Washington the White House does no entertaining now that the country is at war. Women's societies in cities and towns are giving up the "tea" that was the universal closing of their afternoon gatherings, or if that point has not been reached a bread and butter plainness takes the place of cake and sugariness. Bazaar announcements say that "owing to patriotic reasons there will be no candy table." It is very practical and simple, and as an example it is very good and easy to follow. Really there was quite an amount of time wasted at Guild meetings, for instance, when we stopped our sewing for a cup of tea. And someone who prepared the cup of tea did no sewing at all. If we had the interest of the Guild's work very much at heart, we might have thought, too, that even the comparatively small cost of the refreshments, if applied to the work, would help that along. It is especially a day of small things now, but combined, they make the big ones.

Forty thousand women are needed before the end of the war for the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, to work with the forces in England and abroad. Already the W.A.A.C. has several thousand women at work in France and Belgium. They are motor drivers, mechanics, cooks, clerks, waitresses, and all kinds of domestic workers. Then, a far remove from domestic work, women are urgently needed, over there in Britain and on the Continent, for work with the Royal Flying Corps, to take the place of men in many capacities. It is not so long since the women of Britain felt ignored and complained that their offers of service had not been accepted. This does not mean that any women are wanted to go to England from other countries. There are enough women in Great Britain, and surely we should never again hear of the "surplus" women who once were a social problem in England. In Canada time may bring to the women a demand similar to that of the W.A.A.C. and in that connection it is well to note that the competent, thoroughly skilled domestic worker is a need in the English W.A.A.C. The few weeks of special training after enlistment does not give the value of a skilled worker. Even a woman soldier's khaki, with army quarters and army rations, won't take the place of competency in giving service to one's country.

"JEAN THE BELOVED."

Dr. Drummond gave Mrs. Blewett the title "Jean the Beloved" and when she came among us we realized that it was well bestowed. Her charm of manner, her exquisite voice, her fine diction, her originality, and above all, her personality form a combination which carries young and old right with her. Her recital, "Women Wise and Otherwise," is more than an entertainment, it is a regular banquet of fun and wisdom.—Winnipeg Free Press.



Isn't This True?

When you "feel mean" — dull, tired, nervous, bad digestion, no appetite—

Don't you find out, afterwards, that your bowels were not acting freely and naturally?

Due, of course, to a liver gone on a strike.

Take two or three pills—once. After that, only one, until your're all right.

On the Peace River.

We launched our craft Necessity, placed our belongings, well tied up in the balloon-silk tent, upon it, and, after I had taken two pictures, pushed off into the current. In our hurry we left one of our bags of dried meat which we had lugged so far, lying upon the beach—to the great joy, no doubt, of some lynx, coyote, or bear.

The ride that followed was decidedly the most exhilarating it has ever been my good fortune to enjoy. We were almost immediately in rough water, and, past the first bend, we were caught by a whirlpool that spun us wildly about in a way that reminded me of the ditty:

"Swing me around again, Willie.
Don't let my feet touch the ground!"

By dint of desperate poling we got into the current again and went careering madly along between the steep rock walls. In some places we were able to find pole bottom and keep our craft reasonably straight; where the poles would not reach we used some rude sweeps that we had made by nailing blocks of wood to short poles. Our great concern, of course, was not to hit a rock, of which there were many, for we knew that the raft was too frail to stand much pounding and would easily go to pieces. Our plight in case it had done so would not have been enviable, for even this high up the Finlay is a big river, there were few landing places, and Joe, though an old riverman, could not swim.

Luckily the water was wonderfully clear, so that we could see dangers remarkably well; in fact, it was so clear that repeatedly we thought ourselves in danger from rocks that really lay far below the surface. We could only travel as fast as the current, but that carried us along at racing speed, and as we swept over the clear depths we again felt, as on Crooked River, the sensation of flying. The play of light on the gorgeously colored boulders which formed the bottom added greatly to the pleasure and novelty of the ride.—From "On the Headwaters of Peace River," by Paul L. Haworth, in Scribner.

Misunderstood.

Redd - Since he took up automobiling he says he thinks he has consumed about 10,000 gallons of gasoline.

Greene - Is it possible? Why, I thought he had given up his bibulous habits!—Yonkers Statesman.

Going Down.

Gabe—He claims he is a descendant of a great family

Steve—Yes, and he is still descending.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Modern Suitor.

Oh, I shall not search for beauty,
Nor for sympathetic eyes,
Nor for what they call a "cutie,"
Nor for winners—otherwise!

For I'm simple—oh, so simple!—
And it matters not to me
If she have oft not a dimple.
Love is blind—I shall not see.

But, I pray, ye gods escort me
(I am loving hope alone)
To a dame who can support me
In a style I've never known!
—Judge.

THE FINEST COLLECTION.

In Which the Bore Encounters a Rival After His Own Heart.

MY DINNER partner was a self made man and not ashamed of it.

"Do you take an interest in china, ma'am?" he asked.

But he didn't wait to hear what I said.

"I think I may say," he continued, "that I have the finest collection of old Dresden china in London."

"If you find it a nuisance," said I. "I've a parlor maid I could recommend to you."

At this point I think he had some idea of having the finest collection of parlor maids in Middlesex, but he made it small dogs instead. Was I interested in these?

"I don't think I should be far wrong," he began, but I hustled him through his sentence.

"Finest collection in?"— I asked.

"England," he said.

He went over their points, and in an expansive moment I marveled. This was imprudent, as it caused him to search his mind for some further spectacular triumph wherewith to amaze and delight.

"That," he said, looking up the table, "is my wife."

"Marvelous," said I.

He took this in the best part. "You refer to her diamonds?" he said.

"Did I?" said I.

"The finest collection in Great Britain," he declared, and spread himself over the subject.

Later, in a mood of concession, he inquired as to my specialities. I had none, at least none that I could think of. Was I not married? That was so, I agreed, but then so many women are.

"You have sons, ma'am?" he persisted.

I thought of baby. "Ah, yes, of course," I said. "The finest collection in Europe."—Punch.

How Did She Know?

The young man carefully removed the cigars from his vest pocket and placed them on the piano. Then he opened his arms.

But the young girl did not flutter to them.

"You," she said coldly, "have loved before."—Chicago Herald.

The Limit.

"Titewad is a mean old cuss, isn't he?" said Mack.

"What is he doing now?" asked Mack.

"He is feeding his gold fish on white pasteboard and making them imagine it is fish food," replied Mack.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Value of Foods.

Those who have made careful study of the nutritive properties of various grains and foods, agree that white corn is the most satisfactory. It is also the cheapest. Figures quoted by the Literary Digest show that one pound of cornmeal, hominy, or grits is equal in food value to one pound of wheat flour, one pound of rice, one and one-half pounds of cheese, two and three-quarter pounds of round steak, two dozen eggs, one half peck of potatoes, six pints of milk. "The south knows and appreciates the value of white corn for table use; why not the north, the east, and the west?"

PRIZE FURNITURE.

One Woman Testifies What She Made of a Table.

"I have recently made a little dressing table which is both attractive in appearance and useful, yet its cost was almost nominal. The foundation is an old kitchen table, which was thoroughly scraped and painted in a light putty color. To the back of this I affixed in an upright position a mirror about two feet six inches high and twenty inches wide. (This is one of three mirrors, equal in size and framed in wide plain oak frames, that I purchased for a very small price in a secondhand shop.) Now I have the other two mirrors hinged in a vertical position to the frame of the central mirror, so that I can adjust them as occasion demands, swinging them backward and forward on the principle of the mirrors on expensive dressing tables. On the top of the table is cretonne in putty, orange and blue, covered with plate glass. The dressing table seat was a piano bench, whose glaring mahogany finish I obliterated with putty colored paint. Upon the bench is a long cushion of cretonne matching the dressing table top and bound with putty colored cord. As this equipment was very moderate in cost, its real beauty is doubly appreciated."

Sour Cream Dressing.

One cupful of fresh sour cream, one teaspoonful each of salt, sugar, pepper and mustard. Beat well and set in ice chest two hours before using.

No. 2.—Melt one tablespoonful of butter; beat it with two egg yolks and one teaspoonful of onion juice. Add one cupful of sour cream, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of cayenne and one-half teaspoonful of sugar. Use for cucumbers or cold boiled vegetables.

Was Hardly Able To Walk, He Says

MORGAN GETS ABOUT AS WELL AS ANYBODY SINCE TANLAC OVERCAME HIS RHEUMATISM.

"You can see for yourself how well I can use my limbs now, but before I began this Tanlac I was so crippled up with rheumatism it was difficult for me to walk at all." This statement was made by Edwin Morgan, of 20 Cartwright street, London, in a conversation with the Tanlac representative at the Standard Drug Company, Ltd., recently.

"The rheumatism," he continued, "was in both my legs, and hurt me so bad I could hardly get up the door steps; in fact, I could hardly walk at all, and besides this I had pains in my back and my kidneys were out of order all the time. I had very little appetite, was always tired, and all the treatment and medicines I tried did me no good. Finally the rheumatism got me down, and when I first commenced on Tanlac I had been in bed for a week or more.

"No, sir, I never did notice a change for the better until I got to taking Tanlac, then I soon got up and about, and the fact that I can even go up a flight of stairs without any trouble, and to-day for the first time in a long time I have put in a full day's work. My limbs don't hurt me now, the pain is gone out of my back, and my kidneys are in fine shape. I have a fine appetite and sleep good every night, and although I am sixty-eight years old I am beginning to feel almost like a young man again. All my misery is gone, and at the rate I am taking on strength I'll soon be as robust as ever. I am just now starting on my third bottle, and I will be glad to tell anyone how it is helping me."

FALL SUITS.

Latest Points About Their Lines, Length and Plaits.

There seems to be some variety of opinion as to the amount of fur to be used on the coats of the coming season, some authorities prophesying a lessening of the peltry, while others pile furs on in amazing quantities, deep bands around the bottoms, huge collars, cuffs to the elbows and fur belts. Whether fur trimmed or not, the coats are usually longer than they have been, a feature in harmony with their straighter lines.

Suit coats, too, have added a bit to their length in assuming their straightness and slimness, and as a result last year's suit is likely to look more passe than is usual in one season's time nowadays. There are shorter suit coats, even short coats with flaring peplums, but these are the exception, as are the short box coats, through which some designers attain the straight line. So far the longer suit coat has the stage center.

Skirts also are straight and longer. Many women refused to listen to Paris when she said "longer skirts" last spring. But Paris has a way of insisting upon a point until femininity succumbs. The suit skirt is none too long now, ankle length possibly. But the woman who goes about showing all of a high top boot and a section of stockings to match has not even the faintest gleam of fashion to back up her bad taste now.

Plaits are much used to give the straight and narrow skirt lines without making the narrowness uncomfortable, and, though kilting is allowable, the plaiting is more often employed in flat panels.

Velvet is, by the way, to have a great season unless prophecy fails. Paris has made much of it, and it is eminently suitable for the straight little suit of a simple sort, which is the last word in smartness. The material itself lends elegance, and the coloring is well chosen, but the lines and detail may be of the simplest as Paris understands simplicity.

HOW THE WAR IS FINANCED

John M. Oskison, a noted American writer on financial questions, tells how the war is financed by the different nations engaged. He says that with a not very effective organization for making loans popular, Germany has marketed six great issues of bonds ranging in amounts from $3,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000.

No fixed amount was ever named, the German government asked for all the people would subscribe. For one issue more than 2,400,000 Germans subscribed in amounts of less than $50—the minimum fixed by our government in selling the second liberty loan.

In France the last loan had 600,000 subscribers through the post-offices alone. No such countrywide and organized effort as we recently made has been found necessary to induce the French people to take government loans.

In England, by way of contrast, each great war loan has been accompanied by tremendous advertising campaigns. At the close of one campaign 100,000 meetings were held simultaneously throughout England, and employers urged their workers to subscribe under a co-operative plan.

With every possible agency at work and with the loan divided into pieces as small as $5, England induced some 8,000,000 of her citizens to take nearly $5,000,000,000 of one loan paying 5 per cent. interest.

Canada is in the midst of marketing the third war loan of $150,000,000, and for a country of its small population and considering her contribution in men and war materials what the Dominion has done and is doing makes a splendid achievement.

America lived up to tradition. The more than $5,000,000,000 subscribed for the second liberty loan was an adequate response. It was what the government asked.

Next time we shall begin to appreciate the records of the countries at war in Europe. Germany, with her 70,000,000 people, taking loan after loan approximating $5,000,000,000; France doing as well, and England meeting every fresh offering of bonds with increasing enthusiasm.

Make no mistake the next loan will not be long delayed. In the first year of our participation we shall have need for nearly as much money as the government spent in the last 120 years!

Let us get ready to measure up to the standard of France, of England—yes, and of Germany. Let us fix our minds on one purpose—to be ready at any time to subscribe something to whatever issue of liberty bonds if offered.

German Aims in Russia
Are Candidly Discussed
In Both of the Countries

GERMANY'S dream of world-domination is beginning to fade and her diplomats and publicists are slowly realising that, unaided, she can never achieve the desired goal. So the talk is turning to new alliances, now or later, and further efforts are clearly foreshadowed to entrap the Russian Republic into that close alliance with Germany which was almost achieved under the regime of the Czar and Boris Sturmer. The Kolnische Zeitung paints a charming picture of the delights that would follow for Germany could the aim of the kaiser's diplomats be accomplished and Russia and Japan be detached from the Grand Alliance. The Rhenish organ, however, realizes that if this pretty scheme fails Weltmacht must remain a thing that this generation of Germans will never see:

"If the Russian chooses the Englishman as his friend, the world power of Germany is relegated to a misty distance; it is, indeed, doubtful whether, in that event, our object can ever be achieved. Moreover, in addition to this loss, we shall have for a long time to come to reckon with continental struggles which will cost blood, money, and strength, and the result of which—with Germany standing at the side of Austria-Hungary against Russia, France, and England—can not be calculated. It is impossible to call attention too insistently to the importance of this decisive moment."

The wicked English and the naughty Americans have just got to be crushed, and this oracle on foreign affairs perceives that a German-Russian-Japanese Alliance is the only way to do it. This is how it works out:

"If there is a way to effect from without, in favor of the rising world Powers, the comparatively rapid dissolution of the British Empire, it is only by means of a German-Russian-Japanese world-coalition. Of course, such a coalition is, at bottom, another 'syndicate for the division of the world.' But the object of the political map of the earth is not to remain unaltered; the utmost German devotion to peace would not dispose of the aggressive imperialism of the others, but would merely permit Germany's development to decay. We have the choice between being full partners in the future syndicate for the division of the world or being despised outsiders.

"If we succeed, by means of Russian and Japanese advances, with German and German-Turkish protection of their flanks, in destroying the English positions in the Middle and Far East, the ultimate reconciliation of Russian and North-American Imperialism will be facilitated, because North America will then be unable to co-operate with Great Britain in the Pacific Ocean. Perhaps, in a later future—to mention only one of the numerous possibilities—the North-American-Far-Eastern line of separation will run straight across the Australian Continent, which, as is well known, is eagerly coveted by the Japanese.

"If we are able to overthrow the British, and thus to render Russia and Japan decisive service in Asia against England, we ought to be able to obtain permanent recognition of our Turkish and Near-Eastern policy, and to make the western edge of the Persian mountains the frontier between the Quadruple Alliance's sphere of interest and Russia's sphere of interest."

Our Russian friends, however, do not appear to be quite such fools as our enemy thinks, and the Petrograd Ryetch certainly seems to have its eyes wide open. Discussing the meaning of a separate peace, it remarks:

"Peace, particularly a separate, treacherous peace, is, of course, possible. Such a peace, however, will be with the Germany of William and Hindenburg, the real Germany who has devastated Belgium and Poland, who has destroyed Louvain and Rheims, who treats our prisoners of war like slaves and cattle. That peace will, of course, be peace without annexations for us, a peace by which our ties with brotherly Poland will be severed forever, a Lithuanian-German buffer state created, and the Germans of the Baltic provinces will rejoin Germany, enslaving the Esthonians and Letts. And let us not forget that this peace will bring along with the rest the sure and final destruction of all Armenians with whom Turkey has old scores. Such a peace is possible and thinkable, but this peace will be a disgrace and ruin to Russia, the same as if concluded by Protopopoff and Sturmer. . . .

"What will such a peace give to Russia? Let us even grant that Germany will restore to Russia all she has seized. In such case we shall have as our immediate neighbor poor, Germanized Poland, all her hopes for national rehabilitation shattered forever, the Ukraine torn between Russia and Austria, locked gates to the Mediterranean, necessary not only to the manufacturers, landowners, and capitalists, but to the peasant, agricultural Russia, which must henceforth be the granary of Europe, and in the Caucasus bleeding and suffering Armenia with a portion of her population condemned to rapid, violent extermination.

"Lastly, and most important of all, we are menaced by the inevitable return of the cultural and economic German semi-slavery under which we lived for so many years."

SCENE FROM "THE BIRD OF PARADISE."

The importance of atmosphere in a play is very forcibly illustrated in the [illegible] which has attended the production of Richard Walton Tully's play, "The Bird of Paradise," which comes to "The Grand" next Wednesday, Nov. 21, matinee and evening. Its most valuable asset is its atmosphere—the indolence, the [illegible], the deep passion and the [illegible] simplicity of the clime and temperature of the Hawaiian Islands. The story of the plot concerns itself with the subject of intermarriage of the race. For a time it was the question of the mixture of black and white, with Dion Boucicault's favorite old drama, "The Octoroon," as a brilliant example. Then, not so very long ago, there followed a series of plays in which the Indian and white man figured—"The Squawman," "Strongheart" and a few others being the notable examples. Then came Mr. Tully with the problem of intermarriage of a Caucasian and a Malay, and all the pother was again revived.

"The Bird of Paradise" does not depend on its plot alone for success. It has a more important feature—that of novel and original atmosphere, which gives it distinction and which marks it with a flavor of its own. In the production and casting of the play Oliver Morosco is said to have realized this to its fullest extent and has supplied an irresistible attractiveness to the piece. Consequently it has been a phenomenal success and has continued to maintain its popularity even beyond its first appeal.

What National Cash Registers Do

No. 6---Prevent Costly Mistakes

The new National Cash Registers safeguard your business from the costly mistakes that spell failure for storekeepers.

They force a record of each transaction. They take care of all charge sales assuring you that a proper record will be made of each charge transaction.

They immediately record all money your customers pay on account, giving them a receipt. They prevent all chance of charging customers twice and so save disputes.

They enforce a record, when you pay out money, which safeguards you against having to pay the bill again.

They print a receipt for all cash sales. At the same time they make an unchangeable record, thus they prompt the clerk to be more accurate.

They account for all goods sent C.O.D. or on approval and remove the danger of their being lost sight of.

They do all these things mechanically—more surely and reliably than any human hand or mind.

Now is high time to install machines which, as an incidental part of their service, prevent costly mistakes.

One on His Honor.

A police magistrate in Cleveland was disposing of cases at the rate of about two a minute, with great exactness and dignity, being judge, jury and attorney, all in one.

"Then you are sure you recognize this linen coat as the one stolen from you?" he said to a complainant.

"Yes, your Honor."

"How do you know it is yours?"

"You can see that it is of a peculiar make, your Honor," replied the witness. "That is the way I know it."

"Are you aware, sir," shouted the justice, turning to a closet back of him and producing a similar coat, "that there are others like it?"

"Indeed I am," replied the witness still more placidly. "I had two stolen."

Not Interested.

"There's a great deal to be said on both sides," he asserted.

"Oh, I suppose so," she replied wearily; "but what's to be said on the other side doesn't interest me."

BACON PROBE COMMISSIONERS SAY PROFITS WERE EIGHTY PER CENT.

Report is Handed Down at Ottawa and is Reviewed by Cabinet—Nothing Illegal in Post Cure Methods—Day of Big Profits is Over.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—That the profits made by the William Davies Company Limited, and Matthews-Blackwell, Limited, more particularly the former, were exceptionally high during the war period and yielded "an extraordinary return upon the capital invested" is the most important statement made in the report of the commission appointed to investigate further the businesses of these two companies.

The commission, which consisted of G. F. Henderson, K.C., chairman, and A. B. Brodie and G. F. Clarkson, has made a unanimous report to Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor. This report, after being under review by a sub-committee of the Cabinet, of which Hon. N. W. Rowell, president of the Privy Council, is chairman, has been made public in its entirety. Incidentally it is pointed out that owing to action taken by the Government recently it will be impossible in future for packing companies to make excessive profits. Under the terms of the order-in-council packers in future can make by way of profit a maximum of 11 per cent. only. They can retain 7 per cent. clear and one-half of their earnings on the money invested between 7 and 15 per cent. Above 15 per cent. All profits are confiscated.

Profits made, according to the report of the commission, ran as high as 80 per cent. on the money invested. This profit was made by the William Davies Company during the year 1916. The commissioners, in closing their report, draw attention in concise form to its salient feature. They say:

A. That the profits made during the war period were exceptionally high and yielded an extraordinary return upon the capital invested. In the year 1916 the trading profits of the Davies Company were equal to 80 per cent. on its investment in packing house plants and retail stores. War taxes, however, are repayable out of these profits.

B. That these exceptionally high profits were due to an extraordinary expansion in the volume of business done, as well as to an increase in the percentage of profits earned upon sales.

C. That the increase in the volume of business done was almost entirely attributable to export sales, principally to the British war office. These sales yielded a high percentage of profit.

D. That in respect of its export business with the British war office, the Davies Company, for a considerable period of time, enjoyed the advantage of a fixed minimum selling price, a concession granted, so far as we could learn, to no other packer. It was suggested during the inquiry that this concession might have been obtained by Sir Joseph Flavelle, whose occupancy of a public position would facilitate his so doing. The evidence of Sir Joseph is that he took no part in the negotiations which resulted in the granting of this concession, and the cabled correspondence indicates that it resulted from a business negotiation, influenced only by business considerations.

Result of Competition

E. That the present high price of hog products in Canada is primarily due to the high prices paid by packers for live hogs in Canada. This in turn is the result of aggressive com-

The Board refused exemption, and applicant will appeal.

CAPT. GRANT MOWAT FELL AT HEAD OF HIS PLATOON

How Gallant Young Officer Met His Death at Hill 70

In a letter to the late Captain Grant Mowat's parents, Lieutent-Colonel E. O. Jones, Commanding Officer of the 21st Battalion, says in part:

"Grant was killed while leading his platoon in exceedingly heavy fighting for the capture of Hill 70, and the entrance to Lens.

It is harder to write you than you can know, as not only was Grant a splendid soldier, fearless and brave, but he had become in a very short time a friend of every one.

As above, he was killed leading his men in the very front of the Battalion and at the farthest point of our advance.

He was killed instantly by the bullet of a sniper concealed in the ruins of a building in line with the attack.

His death, leading his men, is, I am sure, the one he would have chosen."

With Him When He Died.

Lieut. Arthur Edmund Roy Jones is visiting his cousin, Mr. F. S. Roy of 308 Rubidge street. He was with Capt. Mowat when he died and has given parents of the deceased an account of his end. Lieut. Jones was wounded in the leg in the same engagement and after spending five weeks in hospital was invalided to Canada. His home is in Brighton and he went overseas with the 21st Battalion.

Some time before he was wounded Lieut. Jones was awarded the Military Cross. With another man he entered a German dugout and captured five officers and 100 men, a feat which brought him fame and honor the world over.

The seriousness of the engagement in which Capt. Mowat lost his life is shown by the fact that there were 69 casualties among the 100 men he led.

There was another long list of Peterborough men, killed or wounded, in the list received in this city today from the Records Office at Ottawa.

GALLERY OF HOUSE CROWDED

TIMES NEWSPAPER REGARDS AS IMPORTANT PRESIDENT WILSON'S STATEMENT

London, Nov. 19.—Notwithstanding that there has been a considerable subsidence as compared with a few days ago of the excitement awakened by the Paris speech of Premier Lloyd George, the keenest interest is shown in today's debate in the House of Commons on the creation of an Allied War Council and the Premier's recent utterances, an interest which has been heightened by the conspicuous publication in all the morning newspapers of President Wilson's statement, through Colonel House, concerning the necessity for unity of plan and control between Allies and the United States.

An unusual big muster of members has been certain ever since the debate was fixed while an extraordinary number of applications for admission to the restricted gallery space available to the general public testifies how intensely popular interest is focussed on the subjects of debate

Immediately after the daily questions are answered today the Government will move the adjournment of the House in order to give free opportunity to discuss the momentous issues raised. Herbert H. Asquith, former premier, will then open the debate and Premier Lloyd George will reply.

The Times editorially describes the statement made by President Wilson through Colonel House as "Incomparably the most important development for the allied council."

Lloyd George looked to him for a critical analysis of the Premier's Paris expressions. Asquith is the big gun of the opposition fire. The smaller guns on his side were also reported to be plentifully supplied with ammunition manufactured out of numerous petty jealousies and enmities incurred by Lloyd George's often ruthless proceedure. Curiously enough the hostile ranks were recruited from antagonistic parties, the Conservatives, Liberals, Radicals, Pacifists and militarists all being represented.

KAISER MAKES RUSSIA OFFER

WILL TREAT WITH RECOGNIZED AUTHORITIES FOR TERMS OF PEACE

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Petrograd, Nov. 19.—Emperor William, according to Petrograd newspapers, has informed the Russian Soldiers' and Workmen's Deputies that he will treat for peace only with the legal successor to the Imperial Government or with the Constitutional Assembly.

Refuses To Treat.

Petrograd, Nov. 19. — Emperor William of Germany has refused to treat for peace with the new soldiers' and workmen's government in response to a recent proposal, according to the newspapers here, which publish this news as coming from a well-authenticated source. It is stated that Emperor William announced in his reply that he would treat only with the legal successor to the imperial government or with the assembly.

In this connection Volia Noroda says it has information that the soldiers' and workmen's government, in the event of its failure to receive replies from the belligerents by Nov. 23rd, reserves the right to make peace on its own account, after which if the war continues Russia will occupy a neutral position.

MR. HALL OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN WITH A PLEA FOR PRODUCTION

Carefully Avoids all Reference to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and His Platform---R. T. Harding of Toronto, However, Sings Praises of Liberal Leader.

The first campaign meeting in the interests of Mr. R. R. Hall, Laurier Candidate for the Dominion Elections was held in Victoria Hall Saturday night.

The attendance was fair and marked by an absence of many prominent local Liberals who have always heretofore lost no opportunity to boast the Reform cause, and stand shoulder-to-shoulder with the candidate nominated to carry their banner to victory or defeat as the case might be.

An Evasive Answer

When Mr. Hall was nominated by Mr. Andrew McFarlane, the latter told the convention that he (Mr. McFarlane) had no use for Sir Wilfrid Laurier. At the Union Mass meeting Saturday Mr. McFarlane declared emphatically that Mr. Hall had told him he (Mr. Hall) was not a Laurier Liberal! but Mr. Hall has yet so to announce himself in public; when faced with the question he resorts to innuendo and subterfuge. Saturday night he was asked point blank. "Is Mr. Hall for Sir Wilfrid Laurier or is he not," and his reply was, "I will support any war measure, no matter from what source it may come, which will give immediate and constant support to the men at the front, with a view to winning the war. I propose to vote for Sir Wilfrid when he is right and against him when he is wrong.

But in this connection the platform situation was somewhat paradoxical, for Mr. R. T. Harding whom Mr. Hall brought from Toronto to speak in his interests, emphatically championed Laurier as the leader bound to be returned to the House of Commons "with the greatest and most virtuous party the country has ever seen, he having got rid of all Liberal politicians who are now lined up on the other side." And advised his hearers to vote for this new, irreproachable government to be ushered into existence, and to "vote for Mr. R. R. Hall.

Committed to Partyism

Mr. J. J. Hartley, who officiated as chairman, was overjoyed to see a Liberal candidate in the field. He thought two parties are needed, the one to watch the other, also to advise with each other. As to Sir Robert's administration, Mr. Hartley contended that the Liberals offered no opposition during three years of war, when it was finally rumored in the Premier's own cabinet that their leader was not strong enough to win the war; all of which resulted in the Union scheme. Mr. Hartley spoke for the working man, who he said, was being throttled by outrageous prices, only to line the pockets of millionaire profiteers.

Mr. R. R. Hall

After referring to the war and its atrocities, and German successes, Mr. Hall declared that the attitude and operations of the Borden Government has fed spies with information which led Germany to believe that Canada is not united in prosecuting the war. This statement was met with hisses. He evaded the conscription question and devoted some time to greater production, claiming that as an army fights on its belly, the great question with Canada now is food, armament

Have You a Vote in Dominion Election?

Such is the heading of a poster which the citizenship committee of the Council of Women in Toronto and other places have on view and is already being circulated through the province. As some women are aware, the enumerators are already going from door to door to obtain the names of soldiers' womenfolk entitled to vote. But there is yet much haziness as to just who can vote. Here is what the poster informs them:

"Soldiers mothers, wives, widows, daughters and sisters over 21 years of age, having lived in Canada one year and in the municipality thirty days, may vote if their men or women are on active service overseas, naval or military, or if their men or women, living or dead, have honorably retired from service. Exception—this does not apply to those men or women who have joined after Sept. 20th, 1917, and have not left Canada."

Voters' lists will be hung up in the post office or some other public place in this district. Look for your name. If not on it, see the officer whose name is on the list, and have your name put on. Ten days before election day he will be in his office for two hours each day and will give full information.

Mrs. Hyslop Coming.

Mrs. Margaret Hyslop, organizer of women on behalf of the Win-the-War League, writes The Review that she had intended to be in Peterborough today to take up the work here of organizing a Women's Union League for campaign purposes. She finds, however, that if she came her time would be very limited as she has an engagement in Whitby tomorrow night. On that account she has decided not to come until Wednesday, when she expects to reach this city by C. P. R. at 11:35 a.m. Mrs. Hyslop will be pleased to meet any ladies in this city who are interested in the campaign, especially those who will have a vote on December 17th.

City Engineers Dine And Inspect Works

TAKEN THROUGH QUAKER OATS BUILDING BY COURTEOUS OFFICIALS

About forty members and friends of the Peterborough Engineers' Association met Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, and were shown through the Quaker Oats plant under construction by the Leonard Construction Company. The visit proved interesting and instructive, and was made possible by the courtesy of the Leonard Construction officials.

After inspecting the various works the company adjourned to the Empress Hotel for dinner. After dinner the designs of the buildings were lucidly explained by Mr. Basler of the Leonard Construction Company.

The Saskatchewan Elevator Company's plant at Shell Brook was completely destroyed by fire with 3,000 bushels of grain.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1917

A CAMPAIGN OF MISREPRESENTATION.

MR. HALL'S CAMPAIGN address bristles with exaggerations and his address Saturday night was marked by the same proneness to wild statements. Adept as he is in this regard, Mr. R. T. Harding, the lawyer whom he brought from Toronto to help in his campaign, had him beaten a block. The pity of it is that there is not a law in the land to take care of so-called educators who pass up and down through the country spreading false doctrine among the people. Mr. Harding is a clever speaker, but he leaves a slimy trail of hate behind him to mark his goings and his comings.

Mr. Harding was not timid about mentioning the name of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, even if Mr. Hall was. In his anxiety to score a point he actually presented the veteran leader in the worst possible light before the audience. He was attempting to explain why the voluntary system had broken down in Quebec. His contention was that the province had never been properly worked. But wait until Sir Wilfrid Laurier is made Premier, and watch him raise by enlistment all the recruits that are needed.

Mr. Harding did not take the trouble to explain why Sir Wilfrid at any time during the past three years has not worked his magic spell in Quebec. The impression he left on his hearers, however, was that Sir Wilfrid did not propose to exert himself while he was in Opposition. The raising of recruits is the price he promises in return for his being placed again at the head of the table where sit the statesmen who mold the destiny of Canada. In other words, he is willing to fight for his country if he is invested with the shoulder straps of an officer. So long as he is kept in the ranks as a private he will sulk in his tent. Was that the stand taken by hundreds of young men who at the first call to arms entered the service?

The young men of Quebec had the same opportunities for enlisting as had the young men of Ontario or any other part of the Dominion. If they were neglected, it was largely by their own leaders, who encouraged them to hold back and to stone the English-speaking recruiting prophets who appeared among them.

MR. HALL AND THE GRAFTERS.

IT IS CHEERING to read and to listen to Mr. Hall's impassioned denunciation of the grafters. This shows a gratifying tendency upon the part of our public men to take their stand on high ground.

But why should Mr. Hall attempt to convey the impression that the grafter has found a hatching place in the eaves of the Borden Administration? Why not be fair and give that Administration credit for breaking up the worst nest of grafters that has ever been torn to pieces in Canada, and this, too, in the immediate district in which Peterborough people have a direct interest?

TRUSTING THE ALIENS.

WITH THE GUILE of the professional campaigner, Mr. Harding at the meeting Saturday night discussed the Alien Voters' Act. He sought to leave on the minds of his audience the impression that these men were not to be allowed to vote or to fight and that the loss of the franchise was an easy price to pay for immunity from military service. Some of them, however, are willing to fight for the Empire, if they are allowed to vote.

"Would you trust these men?" asked a veteran in the gathering.

"I would," was Mr. Harding's answer, "for I live among them and know them."

After all, it really matters very little whether Mr. Harding trusts these men or not, although it is pleasing to hear a man speak well of his neighbors. The point is that the British authorities would not permit one of these men to carry arms or to go to the trenches, and it is the British authorities who in this matter have the last say, not the political campaign breeder of ill-feeling in Canada.

Of course, there are aliens and aliens, but the good must for the time being suffer with the bad. The man who is regarded as capable of turning his rifle, if given one, upon the soldiers he was sworn to assist, would use a ballot for the same purpose, is the way the Canadian Government has reasoned out the matter.

If a man cannot be trusted to fight, why, then, allow him to kill the vote of one who can?

MR. HALL'S CAMOUFLAGE.

THERE IS SOMETHING seriously wrong with the candidature of a man who in a two-column election address fails to mention the name of his leader or to make the slightest reference to the latter's published platform. There is something seriously wrong, too, with the candidature of a man who, in the course of an hour's address to the electors, such as Mr. Hall made in Victoria Hall Saturday night, still fails to make the remotest reference to his leader. Can Mr. Hall wonder if the electors infer that he realizes that his political associations are not calculated to bring him strength in the community and the less said about them the better?

When Mr. Hall did mention the name of his leader, it was under compulsion. At the close of his address one of his hearers asked him if he were a supporter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

"When I go to Parliament," said Mr. Hall, "I intend to represent all of West Peterborough. I will vote with Sir Wilfrid Laurier when he is right and vote against him when he is wrong."

A safe position to take, a specious answer to a straightforward question. Mr. Hall being the judge as to what is right or wrong, is certain to give the benefit of the doubt to Sir Wilfrid Laurier in every case.

It is not how Mr. Hall may or may not vote, so long as his party is in the minority, that really matters. There is the danger that his election to Parliament might mean the one thing needful to make Sir Wilfrid Laurier Premier of the Dominion.

Would Mr. Hall vote with the Quebec contingent to bring that about if the opportunity presented itself? Who is there that doubts it for a moment, and who is there that does not realize what would happen to the war policy of the country if Quebec ever obtained the upper hand again? Mr. Hall is a Laurier follower, much as he may try to face the people under false colors.

"FOR WHOM WOULD THE KAISER VOTE?"

"FOR WHOM would the Kaiser vote in this election?" asked Mr. Harding Saturday night. Answering his own question, he asserted that he would vote for the Government that sent Canadian nickel to Germany to be made into munitions to kill Canadian soldiers.

That campaign cry has been laid to rest long ago, even though men like Mr. Harding are still found willing to drag the skeleton from its grave.

OUR CONTEMPORARY'S CHAGRIN.

OUR GEORGE STREET neighbor is unable to conceal its chagrin over the failure Friday night to nominate a Union candidate in place of Capt. Burnham, thus precipitating a three-cornered fight and making the way easy for Mr. Hall. In a furious editorial Saturday it alleges that mob law carried the day and openly hints that the Captain's supporters, numbered among whom were the returned soldiers, were so many hoodlums.

The Examiner lets its animosity for Capt. Burnham shows itself in and out of season. For instance, it has always given the reports of the veterans' meetings preferred position on the first page, until the occasion on which the veterans endorsed Capt. Burnham as their candidate. That report was buried away in the inside of the journal.

Capt. Burnham did not inspire the action of his supporters Friday night, as we are in a position to know. The demonstration was a spontaneous outburst of approval. His friends were included in the general invitation for everybody intersted in Union Government to attend.

It is just as unfair to say that the meeting was packed in his interests as to allege that the same was done with the convention that nominated him two years ago.

If Capt. Burnham had been an untried and inexperienced public man, who had never been in Parliament, there would have been some justification for his resigning a nomination given him in 1915. He has, however, been a member of Parliament all these years, and his record is an open book. The people know just where he stands on the great issues now before the country.

The Examiner cannot get around the fact that Capt. Burnham sought a conference between the executive of the two parties and offered to resign if there was found some candidate more acceptable to the people than himself. If Capt. Burnham's advice had been followed, West Peterborough could have been spared the humiliating spectacle of a general election in which his opponent is basing his only hope of success on a campaign of misrepresentation and subterfuge, a campaign in which his main effort is to conceal his connection with his real leader and his party associates.

A TALENT FOR ROMANCING.

MR. HARDING at the meeting Saturday night showed a remarkable talent for weaving political romances. Sometimes he started out on premises that were perfectly sound, and then spoiled everything by wandering off into the wilderness of fiction. For instance, no one in the audience, least of all those who had been at the front, would be disposed to take issue with him in his criticism for Sir Sam Hughes' weakness for creating honorary colonels. If Mr. Harding had stopped there his audience would have been with him. But, unfortunately, he went on to intimate that incompetent Canadian officers had been placed in command of battalions at the front and that their inefficiency was responsible for the death of hundreds of our soldiers.

This is a serious charge, if true. The cold fact is, however, that no untried Canadian officer was given a position of responsibility at the front until he had won his spurs in actual service. If there were blunders made—and there are in every war, as in all human endeavor—the Canadian Government was not responsible for them.

The next thing we may expect to hear is some campaigner blaming the Borden Administration for the mistakes in the conduct of the war that the Inter-Allied Council has been appointed to correct.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

MILLIONS for defence, but not one cent for grafters.

• • • •

HERE'S ANOTHER — make the world and Canada safe for Mr. Hall's little policy.

• • • •

MR. HALL'S platform and his speeches will not make him votes among the soldiers at the front or the friends of the soldiers at home.

• • • •

MR. HALL appears unable to realize that with the soldiers in the trenches reinforcements are just now more than either food or raiment.

• • • •

NOW THAT Siberia has proclaimed ex-Czar Nicholas as emperor, we need not be surprised if Mr. Hall is elected chaplain of the Anti-Patronage League.

• • • •

"SAFETY FIRST" is Mr. Hall's motto, as he carefully eliminates Sir Wilfrid Laurier from his creed and urges the production of food rather than the raising of men by draft or otherwise.

• • • •

PUTTING THE NEW women voters on the list may come high, but, whatever the cost, it will be a small price, considering the blessing that is to be conferred on the politics of the country.

• • • •

MR. HALL'S peculiar misfortune in this campaign is that the two thousand or more women who will have the vote in West Peterborough will see no issues but the war, have no care save for the boys in khaki.

FOR "NOTHING ELSE MATTERS"

It would be idle to say that every man who opposes the Union Government is disloyal. It is just as wide of the mark to urge that self-interest has prompted Liberals to become members of the Government. But surely a sane appeal can be made to Canadians of all political persuasions to forget party considerations for the moment and to remember the words of a great statesman that "if Germany wins, nothing else matters."

What will it profit to lick the Tories or to put the Grits in their place, or to elect a labor man here and there, if the iron heel of a crazy despot is to crush out civilization, force humanity to his whim, replace right with might, and destroy the very principles of Christianity? Would Hindenburg respect the patronage list, plead with conscientious objectors, repeal Regulation 17, grant reciprocity with the United States, give women votes, place the union label on public printing, and otherwise accede to the many demands for reform that fill the Canadian political atmosphere?

Would he? Ask the women of Belgium, who have been outraged, whose children have been dismembered before their very eyes, whose husbands have been shot, whose daughters defiled and sent into slavery. Ask Canadians who have seen their comrades crucified. Ask the crippled shoemaker of Zabern, struck down by the sword of a Prussian follower of the Divinely-appointed Kaiser. Ask for the massacred Armenians.

Is it by chance that the whole Western Continent is arrayed against Germany? Surely there is cause for those who wish to breathe the air of freedom to unite together to destroy for all time the last vestiges of enthroned militarism.

TODAY'S STORY

"I see Jim Barbecue is out of a job again," remarked Summerfield. "I wonder what's the matter with him that he can't hold down a job for more than two or three weeks. He seems like an active, industrious fellow and he has a good appearance."

"The trouble with Barbecue," said Foxworthy, "is that he has convictions and isn't afraid to express them. The young man who wants to make his way in the world can't afford to have convictions, or, if he has a few, he should keep them on ice for Sundays and holidays. If he is going to trot them around during business hours he will get into trouble.

"When a man goes into a store to spend his good money he has the right to expect that all the salesmen will agree with anything he says, or, at least, give him respectful attention, as though they recognized in him an oracle. The man who has the price must be treated with deference or our institutions are on the toboggan and our fathers bled in vain.

"Jim Barbecue was clerking in Smugg's clothing store a few weeks ago, when I went in to purchase a suit of clothes. It was a dull day and the salesmen were hanging around without much to do and so I proceeded to explain to them, while trying on coats and vests, just how the British admiralty should proceed against the submarine peril. I had thought the matter out carefully. I took a few shots at the admiralty and named a few high officials who should be beheaded.

"The proprietor of the store and all his salesmen listened attentively and whenever I paused for breath they agreed that I had the whole thing down to a fine point and that it is unfortunate for England I am not their first lord of the admiralty.

"But presently Jim Barbecue lifted up his voice and said he didn't agree with me in any particular. It was absurd to suppose, he argued, that I who had never seen any vessel more majestic than a Trent canal boat, knew more about naval strategy than men who had devoted their lives to its study. He said that if my suggestions were followed Great Britain would be short a navy in about a week and the submarines would be celebrating a Dominion Day.

"He made me look like one who has just escaped from the boob department and I got excited and said I wouldn't buy any rags in a joint where I was to be insulted by a cheap skate who couldn't earn more than $9 a week, and I went away. Jim wasn't many minutes behind me in leaving the store. His hat and other chattels came out after him and the most casual observer could see that he had been fired bodily.

"Then he got a job in a George street drug store and the first evening he was on duty Doc Banner, our leading physician and the store's most valued patron, began explaining to a few friends some up to date ideas in medicine and surgery.

"When a man like Doc Banner talks about such things he is worth listening to, but Jim interrupted and said the doctor was about 2,000 years behind the times and that the ideas he talked of were chestnuts in the time of Galen. Jim broke three panes of glass in the front window when he left the pill emporium.

Wit and Wisdom

No Difference to Jimmy

Jimmy had not come up to his father's expectations in regard to his studies at school, and an explanation was demanded.

"Why is it?" inquired the irate parent, "that you are at the bottom of the class?"

"I can't see that it makes any difference whether I am at the top or the bottom replied Jimmy pacifically. "You know, they teach the same at both ends."

Different Methods

The prison visitor on his usual rounds noticed that a new man occupied a cell that had been empty for some time.

"My friend," he began, "may I ask what brought you here?"

"The same thing that brought you here," replied the convict; "a desire to poke my nose into other people's business, only I generally used to go in by the basement window."

Sat On

Simon Segal sat in a street car in his new overcoat.

A stout woman sat down on either side of him as the car filled up. Then a third woman stood in front of him.

He essayed to get up and give her his seat, but found he couldn't move.

"Each of the women on either side of him," reports a friend, "was sitting on a spread-out tail of his new overcoat."

Too Accurate

A school teacher was endeavoring to make clear to his young pupils the meaning of the word "slowly." He walked across the room in the manner the word indicates.

"Now, children, tell me how I walked."

One little fellow who sat near the front of the room almost paralyzed him by blurting out:

"Bow-legged!"

A Patriot by Proxy

"Glithersby is always talking about 'my soldier'."

"So he is."

"I didn't know he had a son at the front."

"He hasn't, Glithersby sent his chauffeur, and just confidentially, I think he takes too much credit upon himself."

Optimism in Ignorance

"Did you have any luck with that second car you bought?"

"Yes, indeed," replied the optimistic man. "I ran into a switch engine and completely wrecked the car before I had a chance to find out any of its faults and be disillusioned. Now I'll always believe that I got a bargain."

EDITOR'S MAIL

PULL TOGETHER.

Editor Review: It is most gratifying to see the sporting spirit shown by such prominent men as Mr. Peck and Mr. Wearing after the strong expression of public opinion given at last Friday night's meeting in favor of Capt. Burnham.

The threatened split in the win-the-war party would have undoubtedly proved fatal to West Peterborough, and it is very pleasing to notice that it is now unnecessary. Let us all now pull for Capt. Burnham.

A long pull, a strong pull, and all pull together.

Yours truly,
J. W. WORTH.

BOWSER'S PIANO.

Needs Tuning, Says Our Hero. He's Some Tuner Himself.

TEARS FAIL TO MOVE HIM.

Mrs. Bowser Sheds Them, For the Instrument Has Just Been Put In Shape, and Mrs. B. Just Knows Something Terrible Will Happen.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1914, by Associated Literary Press.]

On this certain evening Mr. Bowser didn't sit down to his cigar and newspaper, but he prowled around the house in an aimless way.

Mrs. Bowser noticed his actions, of course, and finally asked:

"Have you lost a collar button?"

"No."

"Expect any one to sell you a burglar alarm?"

"No."

"Waiting for a band of politicians?"

"No."

"Then why do you prowl around like an old mule turned out on the world on a January night?"

"Mrs. Bowser," he answered, "last night while you were playing the piano I noticed that it was sadly out of tune. You must have heard some of the keys make a sort of ur-ur as you struck them?"

"I heard nothing of the sort," promptly replied Mrs. Bowser as a dim idea of what he was up to flashed across her mind. "The piano was tuned only a month ago, and there are no ur-urs about it."

"I WANTED TO SEE THE UNDER SIDE."

Mr. Bowser Has a Quick Ear.

"But I insist that there are," continued Mr. Bowser. "I have a quick ear, and I say that no less than seven different keys had the sound of an egg beater at work. It may have been tuned a month ago, but by whom?"

"A first class tuner."

"That is, he, of course, claimed to be first class and charged you $3 or $4, but how do you know he wasn't a carpenter or a blacksmith? There's a piano which cost me $600. It is going to rack and ruin for the need of a little overhauling. To get a competent man up here will cost $50, whereas"—

"Whereas you can do the work in an hour yourself!" finished Mrs. Bowser. "Well, now, you let that piano alone. You know no more about the works of a piano than I know about the kitchen of the czar of Russia. If there's anything to be done I'll get a man up here."

"Madam," said Mr. Bowser as he stood before her with his hands clasped under his coattails, "there is an ur-ur-ur to that piano. It is out of repair; it is going to ruin. I can overhaul it in an hour and save $50. It will be a pleasure to me to do the work, and I also feel it my duty to save the money which would have to be otherwise paid out. I shall proceed to tune."

"But you'll only destroy it. If you feel that you must tinker away at something, why don't you take the lawn mower, the gas meter or that old shotgun in the garret?"

"I do not ask you to remain in the room during the tuning. You can put on your hat and take a walk, or you can go up to your room and read a novel. When I have restored the tone to its original volume and sweetness I will call you."

"But I beg you to—to"—

He Begins Operations.

Mr. Bowser waved his hand to signify that nothing on the face of the earth could turn him aside, and as Mrs. Bowser went upstairs with tears in her eyes he got his tool box and pulled off his jacket to begin work. He met with adventure at the outset. He wanted room to work on all sides of the piano and therefore got behind it to push it out into the middle of the floor. He was bearing away with his shoulder against the case when his foot slipped on the carpet and he went down and rolled over with the weight of an elephant. He fetched up against a chair and knocked that over, and he was still lying on his back when Mrs. Bowser came halfway downstairs to call out:

"I thought the walls were falling in! What are you doing on the floor?"

"I wanted to see the underside of the piano," he replied as he got up. "Should I find myself in need of your assistance I will call you."

As tools for piano tuning Mr. Bowser had a hammer, a hatchet, a tack puller, a corkscrew, a screwdriver and a monkey wrench. As he folded back the cover he saw the inside of a piano for the first time in his life. He had taken only one glance when he walked to the foot of the stairs and called Mrs. Bowser.

A Strange Discovery.

"No wonder there was an ur ur when you hit some of the keys," he said. "What d'you suppose your first class piano tuner left among the wires?"

"He couldn't have left any of his tools?"

"No tools, but half a dozen strips of red flannel. He even wove them in among the strings. That's probably where my missing flannel shirt went. He was probably some man from a woolen mill."

"Why, those strips are always put in!" protested Mrs. Bowser. "I think the idea is to soften the sound."

"Well, I don't. I think the idea is attract the rats and mice, and out they come!"

When Mr. Bowser had finished pulling out the "rags" he very quickly discovered the method of tightening the strings. With one hand he fitted the monkey wrench to turn the keys, and with the other he started to tum-tum-tum on the keys, as he had once or twice seen a regular tuner do. He couldn't exactly decide whether all the strings ought to be tightened or loosened, and so he took a middle course and tightened half and loosened half. The effect wasn't exactly magical. It was worse. Some of the keys piped and sobbed, and there were others which produced sounds as of a saw trying to eat its way into a crowbar.

"For the land's sakes, but what are you doing now?" called Mrs. Bowser after three or four minutes.

"Saving a piano from wreck and ruin!" replied Mr. Bowser, as two chills tried to gallop up and down his spine at the same time.

Up Against It For Fair.

He hadn't quite hit it. He grudgingly admitted the fact to himself, and then began anew. In a dim, uncertain way he seemed to remember something about a "pitch" connection with tuning. He couldn't possibly recall whether it was high pitch, but he wasn't the man to hesitate. He began humming the air of "The Girl I Left Behind Me" and keeping up the tum-tum on the keys. After awhile he found a sound to agree with his hum, and he took that for a rallying point. It was what he called a so-so pitch, and after half an hour of keying up and keying down he got three keys which appeared to agree that some sort of girl had been left behind somebody. The other strings were obstinate. They wanted to play "Sally Waters," "The Sweet By and By" or "Yankee Doodle," and every five minutes Mrs. Bowser kept calling down to know if a strange cat had got into the house or if Mr. Bowser had got an attack of colic.

He finally refused to answer, but with his teeth shut hard and a glare in his eyes he started out to bring those strings into harmony or bust the box. He tightened ten, one after another, until they set up a humming, and then he mopped his brow and started in to tum-tum the keys. There were ten sounds to bring out the goose-flesh, but scarcely had the first shudder passed over Mr. Bowser when the wires began to snap. The end of the first one tickled his ear, the second one curled his hair, and the third just brushed his chin. He was moving away when four went at once, and one of them had business with his nose.

Mrs. Bowser heard a yell and a sit down and came rushing downstairs to find Mr. Bowser sitting against the wall with his nose in his hand. It was bleeding like a cider barrel with the bung out, and the skin had been peeled from end to base. His eyes were also weeping large tears, and his bald head had a welt across it.

Mr. Bowser's Finish.

"Well, you've tuned the piano!" said Mrs. Bowser as she looked down upon [illegible]

"Who—who threw a cat in my face?" asked Mr. Bowser in a plaintive voice.

"It's a wonder you didn't say I did," answered Mrs. Bowser, "and then go and threaten a divorce and all that. It was one of the wires that struck you, and you'll want court plaster on that nose for a month."

"Wo-man-wo"— he began, but she stopped him with a gesture and said:

"It will cost $25 to $30 to have that piano fixed, but it shall be done tomorrow. You've got to the end of your tune, and now go upstairs and let me see how nearly killed you are."

Mr. Bowser obeyed without a protest. More than that, he never said a word while she was crisscrossing his nose with six strips of plaster. It was only after he was in bed that he growled under his breath:

"It was a put up job to assassinate me, and you bet your life I'll make it cost somebody mighty dear."

PAINS IN SIDE AND BACK

How Mrs. Kelly Suffered and How She was Cured.

Burlington, Wis.—"I was very irregular, and had pains in my side and back, but after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and using two bottles of the Sanative Wash I am fully convinced that I am entirely cured of these troubles, and feel better all over. I know your remedies have done me worlds of good and I hope every suffering woman will give them a trial."—Mrs. ANNA KELLY, 710 Chestnut Street, Burlington, Wis.

The many convincing testimonials constantly published in the newspapers ought to be proof enough to women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine they need.

A FAMOUS ARTIST.

Mrs. Stanhope Forbes Was a Native of Kingston.

It is perhaps not generally known that Elizabeth Adela Stanhope Forbes was a Canadian and was born at Kingston, Ont. After studying at the Art Students' League in New York under William M. Chase, Elizabeth Armstrong, as she was then, went to England for further study and there married Stanhope Forbes, R.A., and settled down at Newlyn, the famous art colony in Cornwall. It was at Newlyn that Mrs. Forbes painted her many pictures of Cornish scenery and types woven into fairy tales or local legends which increased steadily in power until she became recognized as one of the most brilliant artists of the day. It was at Newlyn, too, that she opened, with Mr. Forbes, the famous art school which bears their name, and which has given so many young artists a sound grounding in the essentials of their craft and an outlook upon nature and life all the more joyous and free by reason of the beauty of their surroundings in this garden of the west.

Academy drawbridges are up to the approach of women painters, even in these stirring days, and for some mysterious reason and with some unconscious humor the male mind seems to demand a higher qualification from the opposite sex than from his own for admittance to his order—otherwise it is difficult to account for the exclusion of such painters as Annie Swynnerton and Laura Knight, not to mention others. It was so with Mrs. Forbes, and while for many years her pictures were warmly welcomed to their exhibitions her claims to membership went unrecognized by the Royal Academy. The Royal Water Color Society was not so exclusive and honored her work with a merited associateship. Mrs. Forbes also won honor at the Paris Exhibition in the year of her marriage and later became a member of the Royal British Colonial Society of Artists formed to bring together the art of the islands with the overseas dominions.

Up to the time Mrs. Forbes passed away, in the maturity of her powers, the National Gallery of Canada possessed only one example of her art, a water color entitled "A May Evening," in which a group of village children are picking flowers on the hill above Mounts Bay. The National Gallery naturally felt that a better representation of the work of one of the foremost artists Canada had produced was imperative, and the result was that an important oil painting, "When Daffodils Begin to Peer," was purchased and in accordance with the generous desires of Mr. Forbes and his son to commemorate Mrs. Forbes' connection with Canada, the purchase price of the picture was paid over to the Canadian Red Cross Society and the Young Men's Christian Association war work in France.

But this was not all. Mrs. Forbes was an accomplished etcher and the National Gallery desired to obtain examples of her work in medium, and the desire was satisfied by Mr. Forbes in a most magnificent way by the presentation of no less than two additional water colors, three color studies for illustration, fifteen etchings, and three charcoal drawings. Mrs. Forbes' representation in the national collection of her native country is now a wide and interesting one and it is hoped that as soon as the National Gallery recovers its lost premises a memorial exhibition of the artist's work will be held, with the addition of such pictures as are in the possession of private owners. Mrs. Forbes' art was essentially normal, sane and strong. Dealing, as so much of it did, with her Cornish surroundings, with their clear, bright color, it developed corresponding qualities of paint which aided by forceful draftsmanship, gave her imagination its viable message.

The difference of the machine and feminine qualities in terms of art has been insisted upon with suspicious vehemence, indicative of a corresponding paucity of truth. There can be no essential differences in men's and women's art, and the greater progress either man or women seems to make in any line of human endeavor, the more beautifully less become any characteristics that are sexual. It was so with Mrs. Forbes' work, which has been dubbed masculine, probably because the unconscious egotism of the male critic has seen in it qualities of color and draftsmanship unusual in a woman, and therefore savoring of some higher affinity. May we not expect the day when any special quality of refinement in the work of a man will be dubbed feminine by the woman critic? Be that as it may, Mrs. Forbes' work in painting and in etching possessed a strength and vitality which, coupled with an equally characteristic grace and refinement, placed it in a position where it meets that of all comers on equal terms and is judged as a masterly achievement.

In Fireless Cooker.

Many people who have fireless cookers have perhaps often thought of baking potatoes in them. This can easily be done, and they are just as satisfactory as when baked in the oven. Put the largest heater over the gas flame and arrange the potatoes close together on this; let them stay half an hour turning occasionally; then put in the cooker and cover up, and in another half hour they will be done.

and equipment. Declaring that the food danger today lies not so much in submarine operations as in a world shortage of cereals and fats, he agreed with Lord Northcliff that unless our allies in Europe can import a sufficiency of supplies to meet their shortage, victory may slip from our united grasp. And yet, he asserted, he had not seen one single point of constructive government policy, which would promise Canada doing its duty by Canadians and her allies overseas in the way of increased food production. Great Britain's request for 300,000.000 more bushels of wheat for herself and allies, should impel public men to do some thinking. Throughout the whole country, he said, farm labor is scarce, fall plowing less than in previous years, and a shortage in fall plowing means less crops next year."

In conclusion, Mr. Hall contended that the responsibility for remedying such conditions rests with the people, to vote against incompetent representatives who have not realized the vital needs of the men overseas.

Straight Liberal Talk

Mr. R. T. Harding delivered a straight Liberal stump speech. From his point of view Sir Robert Borden had done nothing which he should have done, done everything which he should not have done, and Sir Wilfrid was going to be elected to sweep Sir Robert and his supporters into the sea.

The gentleman from Toronto declared the two cordinal principles of the Premier's policy to be patronage and graft, while the true patriotic men were those of the overalls who had responded to the call to win-the-war.

Volunteer Service

He contended that nine officers out of every ten had been appointed for political favor and not for fitness. This, he saw, had caused disaster to the Military Volunteer Service scheme and many soldiers had been led to their death by incompetent officers. This statement brought vigorous dissent from the gallery.

And Slackers!

The speaker, referring to the national owned munitions plants in England and France, saw the profits of such go to the people, whereas profits from munitions and Army Supplies in Canada find their way into the pockets of—voice from the gallery—"Slackers!"

Mr. Harding — "Yes Slackers; Knights of the Garter, Baronets, munitions millionaires!"

The Gamblers' Risk

After characterizing the Borden administration as a bunch of incompetents who had bungled the volunteer system to such an extent as to trample patriotism in the mire, he declared that whereas they had spent $18.500 in advertising for recruits in Ontario, but $3,500 had been contributed to English, and $550 to French papers in Quebec for that purpose. Insinuating that Sir Robert's supporters are an aggregation of politicians low enough and base enough to attempt to build up strife and hatred between French and English speaking Canadians, he declared the conscription measure a gamblers' last risk, which could have been avoided by a capable headquarters military staff to handle voluntary recruiting in the first place.

$7 a Day and $1.10

Ridiculing a military system which offered $5 and $7 a day for men to stay at home, and $1.10 a day for the men who give their lives in the trenches, the speaker dispised a man who parades around in the King's uniform and does not go to the front.

Voice from the gallery— "Haven't we some of them here."

Mr. Harding admitted this to be very true.

Conscript by Percentage

Were conscription absolutely imperative Mr. Harding advanced that the fair way would have been to take from each province sufficient men to equalize the actual number responding to the call under both conscription and voluntarily, as between province and province according to population. But he did not admit conscription necessary, and declared that Sir Wilfrid could get the number of men needed, under the volunteer system, and from Quebec too. Sir Wilfrid, he said, is for military service, and had stated in Quebec, "I believe in the volunteer system but I also believe in service, and you'll get it." Had Joffre stayed two months in Montreal with a staff of energetic officers he could have got 50,000 volunteers, was the speaker's opinion.

An Unfair Measure

Mr. Harding had little use for the Military Service Act, which he declared in the main to be unfair in affording privileges which could be taken advantage of. In Quebec, he said, the tribunals have allowed 94 per cent of the full number of applications for exemption registered, (a large percentage is farmer's sons), and if this is maintained, Montreal's contribution to the new army will be only 5,000.

Can You Trust Them?

The speaker here took exception to the act which allowed so many unnaturalized aliens of long residence in Canada exemption. There are in Ontario 10.000 Germans—Voice from the gallery—"Can you trust them men?"

Mr. Harding—"Yes! I have lived among them and know them. And let me tell you, my friend, several of the best men on the Canadian Staff are Canadian born Germans fighting in France, and not in the gallery yelling."

Of course, Mr. Harding was not aware that the voice in the gallery emanated from a British who carries in his person a splinter from a German shell, and in the first Canadian division carried on his arm three stripes.

The Elections Act

This measure the speaer condemned because it disfranchised thousands of women working for the war and gave the women's vote only to the kin of soldiers overseas and who had been there. He forgot to add that a general woman's vote would permit of the kin of slackers, whose unpatriotism has made conscription necessary, voting against "Win-the-war" which he himself professes to believe in. In conclusion, he was optimistic for a new government of new men with Sir Wilfrid at its head, and Mr. R. R. Hall again in the Federal House.

THE INCOME TAX SUMMARIZED

When the public is again asked to renew its subscriptions to the Patriotic Fund, many will be found who will endeavour to make the income tax an excuse for refusing. The following summary will therefore be useful as showing how light the tax really is.

The legislation enacts that incomes exceeding $1,500 per annum in the case of unmarried men and widowers without children and exceeding $3,000 in the case of other persons shall be subject to a tax of 4 per cent.

In addition the following supertax is to be imposed:

Where income exceeds $6.000 and does not exceed $10,000 two per cent.

Where income exceeds $10,000 and does not exceed $20.000, five per cent.

Where income exceeds $20,000 and does not exceed $30,0000, eight per cent.

Where income exceeds $30,000 and does not exceed $50,000, ten per cent.

Where income exceeds $50,000 and does not exceed $100.000, fifteen per cent.

Where income exceeds $100,000, twenty-five per cent.

A tax of four per cent on incomes exceeding $3.000 in the case of corporations or stock companies.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN

Capt. Burnham's committee rooms will be over James Lynch's drug store on Hunter street.

Mr. R. R. Hall has opened committee rooms in the Oriental Hotel Building.

The men from the townships were in the city in force on Saturday and heard "all about" the convention. "And why weren't we notified? The country was ignored." At the last Conservative convention it will be remembered that Mr. Burnham had all the delegates from the townships but one and he got on because he had said he was a Burnham man. But apart from all that why was the country treated as if it had no interest in the matter?

Why is a candidate popular? In the broad, mushy sense he is popular when he will do anything he is asked or told to do but commit murder. In the narrow and proper sense when he does what he thinks is best for the whole people and plays no favorites. A man who plays no favorites is often not a favorite himself except with the public with a big "P". Only a strong man can fight even the public when he believes it wrong.

No political footabll is popular usually because he is a pitiable object and pity is first cousin to contempt. But a weak man is bound to be selfish. It is all he has left. He says "What care I if I get what I want and quit." Such a man will not go far or last long.

Of the minority vote against Mr. Burnham on Friday night ninety per cent. wanted to get him out of the way for political reasons. Then they voted for him.

GLOBE AT ODDS WITH MR. HALL

POINTS OUT WEAK SPOT IN ONE OF HIS CONTENTIONS

(The Globe)

Mr. R. R. Hall, K.C., the Laurier Liberal candidate in Peterborough, in an interview says: "In our district we believe in the Liberalism and patriotism of the Mackenzie, Blake, Brown, Mowat, and Laurier school. I have been a free recruiting agent in our district of four and five counties almost since the war began, and I have long contended that a fusion Government could best be formed after the people had made the selection." Does Mr. Hall really believe that a fusion Government could or would have been chosen immediately after a general election in which the partisan feeling of both Liberals and Conservatives had been aroused to an intense degree? He will get few men to agree with him in that view. A general election on the old party lines would have made fusion impossible.

Charged With Firing Unoccupied House

At the police court this morning Walter Varty pleaded not guilty to a charge of setting fire to an unoccupied house in Havelock, the property of Mr. J. B. Pearce of the same village.

Accused was remanded for one week, bail to the amount of $5000 in two sureties being accepted.

Varty is also suspected of having fired the ware houses of J. L. Squire, president of the Havelock Exemption Tribunal, which on Friday ordered Varty to serve in the Canadian Army. It is alleged that when Varty's plea for exemption was disallowed he made threats to the effect that he would set fire to Squire's building. Two brothers, William and Earl McMullin, described by the police as friends of Varty, are also under arrest, but it is expected that the only charge against them will be of having failed to register under the provisions of the Military Service Act.

When Varty first appeared before the exemption tribunal his plea was allowed. Some time later the tribunal found, it is alleged, that he had made false statements and he was again summoned and judgment on his plea was reserved. It is alleged that he then threatened vengeance on Squires. Friday night three fires broke out in Havelock, one which did $6,000 damage to Squire's warehouse, another in the C. P. R. freight sheds which was extinguished before any real damage had been done, and the third in the garage of A. McIntyre. This last outbreak also did but little damage. The fires and the suspicious circumstances attending them were reported to Judge Huycke of Peterborough, and he authorized the local police to investigate. They went to Havelock on Saturday afternoon and as a result three arrests were made.

Despatches from Kiev say that the Cossacks and military cadets are in control in that city after considerable street fighting. The Bolsheviki made a stand at the Government Palace.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

Forty-five young men attended the mass meeting on Sunday, Nov. 18, and were addressed by Mr. James Pogue, his subject being "Old Hymns and Their Origin." The J. M. Greene Music Co. kindly furnished one of their diamond disc machines and a number of patriotic and religious records, which were greatly enjoyed by the young men.

Mr. J. E. Ellies addressed the High School Club on Friday evening last on the subject of "Civic Finances." This was the third of a series of discussions on "Our City."

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P., president of the Y. M. C. A., will address the boys at their meeting next Friday evening, his subject being "My advice to young men who would enter public life."

The "A" Group of Employed Boys, with Mr Roper as leader, will have a tea at the Y. M. C. A. building this (Monday) evening at 6:30 o'clock. Every member of the club should be present.

The boys' club room is being refitted with pictures and furniture resurrected from the attic, C. Armstrong, Norman Foote and Harold Copp being in charge of the work. Some interesting relics of the early days of the Association may be found in this room. The room is to be used primarily by the Standard Efficiency groups.

A chart has been prepared showing the standing of the various classes in the boys' membership canvass, and may be found on the boys' bulletin board. The boys should keep a close eye on this chart, as the days are swiftly passing and should be improved by each worker who desires to obtain a free membership ticket or a Y.M.C.A. button.

ONE DESERTER IS IN THE TOILS

ARRESTED IN HAVELOCK SATURDAY—HIS BROTHER SURRENDERED

William McMullen of Havelock was arrested Saturday and brought to the city on the charge of desertion, he not having either reported for military service or registered for exemption.

At the police court this morning McMullen was remanded until tomorrow.

Earl McMullen, a brother of the above, surrendered himself under the medical service act and was permitted to report for service at the Armories.

These two men, with Varty, charged with incendiarism, were brought here on Saturday by Chief Thompson and Detectives Newhall and Meagher.

DEFAULTERS TO BE DETAINED

CONSIDERATE TREATMENT FOR MEN WHO FAIL MAY END NOW

Toronto, Nov. 19.—The same considerate treatment which has been accorded men in Class One who have failed to register may not be shown delinquents under the act this week. This week a man who has not registered, and who was placed in category A after medical examination, found himself in uniform the same night, but men who were in other grades, B. C, D and E, merely applied for exemption and got it, the same as a man who conformed with the act. It is understood that this week men coming under this class may find themselves in uniform for special services.

The change will consist in sending all men, regardless of their medical category, to Exhibition Camp instead of to a tribunal. This means that they will be treated the same as deserters. Here the men may be kept for such time as the commanding officer may see fit. If, when called before the officer, a man cannot make a reasonable explanation of his failure to register, he will be detained for duty at the camp if the officer sees fit. As both grades B and C men can be utilized at the camp, the officials have a chance to fill up their ranks.

STOCKINGS

On this subject we could tell you some wonderful stories about Stocking and Underwear. The general public has no idea yet how scarce these goods are going to be.

The Balkan States and other countries involved in the war were once great wool-produc countries. But now the different peoples are valuing mutton much more highly than wool. So y see, they cannot eat the sheep and have the wool, too. Sheep are getting scarce, and wool st scarcer, and what about stockings and underwear? Our best advice is, buy all you think you w need for some considerable time.

Your neighbors will gladly give you more money for them in the coming years, should y wish to dispose of them.

Scotch Fingering Yarn Stockings, in all sizes. Price 7
Here is one of the biggest bargains in the lot. They are made from a fine, heavy Saxony yarn, tightly knitted in a two and one rib. When you reflect that it takes eight skeins of wool to mak these hose, and the yarn even at the bargain price is 15c per skein, making the yarn alone cos $1.25, you will see how great a bargain they are when we quote the big size at only, per pair $1.

BACON PROBE

petition between too packers to fill the insistent demand for hog products created by the war.

F. That upon the sale of hog products to retail stores and distributors in Canada the Davies Company in 1916 made a profit of three-fifths of a cent. per pound and 1917 a profit of two-fifths of a cent. per pound. The actual profits per pound of the Matthews-Blackwell Company are not ascertainable, but having regard to its earnings they could not have exceeded these figures.

G. That out of every dollar paid by the public in the purchase of hog products in the Davies Company's retail stores, 19c to 21c represents the costs of operating such stores and the expense of delivery to the customers.

H. That in considering the present price of bacon in Canada, it must be remembered that the packer has to dispose of the whole animal. During the period of the war it would seem that there has been a larger domestic demand for the choicer cuts, such as bacon. As the demand for bacon has increased, the demand for the other parts of the animal have lessened in proportion, thus throwing on the parts from which bacon is manufactured an unusual proportion of the cost of the whole. A careful study of the statements already given is necessary to a proper appreciation of this fact.

Percentages of Profits

The commissioners in their main report state that profits shown by the Davies Company are arrived at after deduction of the annual bonuses paid to employes, those bonuses being regarded as an increase in salary and wages paid. On this basis the percentages of profits obtained on sales of the four years ending March 31, 1917, were:

For the fiscal year ending March, 1914, sales amounted to $10,774,274, from which profits of $15,521, equal to .14 per cent. were earned.

For the fiscal year ending March, 1915, sales amounted to $16,883,111, upon which profits of $484,631, or 2.87 per cent. were earned.

For the fiscal year ending March, 1916, sales amounted to $25,135,468, upon which profits of $1,335,454, or 5.32 per cent. were earned.

For the fiscal year ending March, 1917, sales amounted to $41,080,632, upon which profits of $1,634,161, or 3.99 per cent. were earned.

"From the above figures," says the report, "it is at once apparent that the large increase in profits for the years 1916 and 1917 resulted in part from increased sales and in part from higher percentage of profits to sales in these years. Upon analysis it appears that the increase in sales is principally in the export business and that the segregation of profits between domestic and export bus-

REAL APPETIZERS

How to Tempt the Family Taste Even When It's Jaded.

CANNY WAYS OF FLAVORING.

You Can Make Old Standby Dishes Appear Like a French Chef's Triumph by Combining Familiar Foods In New Way—Just Try a Few For Fun.

If you have had baked, stuffed, fried, escaloped and raw tomatoes until the family resents their appearance on the table try stewing them with several grated onions. The most delicate way to stew tomatoes is in a double boiler, using no water upon them.

A single clove cooked in the cream of tomato soup will give it that different flavor so frequently desired. And two or three will also improve vegetable soup. Be careful not to overdo the flavoring in any dish. The delicate suggestion is all a good cook favors.

A pinch of nutmeg may be added to spinach with pleasing results, coriander seeds or a clove to beets, and curry powder—a mere trifle—to brussels sprouts. The epicure would doubtless enjoy a sifting of nutmeg on his cantaloupe, especially if he likes also a bit of sugar with it.

Onions baked in their skins is a most uncommon way of preparing this vegetable, but it has its advocates among those persons who dote upon corn roasted in the husk, potatoes cooked in their jackets and bananas baked in the peeling. The true flavor is preserved by such concentration of heat.

Those who condemn summer squash for its insipidity may have a change of heart if an onion be cooked with the vegetable. It takes away that flat taste.

Grated cheese is very useful in covering a multitude of common things. It is good sprinkled over lettuce and is excellent added to salad dressings for most of the vegetable salads. It blends deliciously with potatoes in any form, and some persons cannot conceive an apple pie without such an accompaniment. To grate the cheese over the pie and place in a hot oven long enough to melt is the latest wrinkle.

An omelet is a dainty dish always, but it takes on a more savory air when some minced nasturtiums or mint leaves are mixed with it.

If you make a practice of hiding a surprise in the croquettes no difficulty will be encountered in inducing the family to consume these palpably left over concoctions. A nut or a cherry, a mushroom, a plump raisin, a date, an olive or a bit of fig or candied ginger might serve as the coveted bonne bouche.

Marshmallows sometimes prove to be just the touch that makes the dessert go around—so often! Cover a fruit tapioca pudding with them and brown in the oven or fill the cavities of halved peaches with them and brown. If whipped cream is often used vary it by adding some melted chocolate or cinnamon to it.

Many think that grapefruit cannot be improved, but doubtless they have never eaten it sweetened with honey instead of sugar or had a few spoonfuls of grape juice poured over it. Let the honey stand on it overnight. Other fruits may be treated in the same fashion. Honey is especially good on baked apples.

By the way, did you know that a thin section of grapefruit was the latest thing to serve with afternoon tea in place of lemon?

For the usual bread pudding substitute apples, peaches or cherries for the customary raisins.

Try baking pears just as you would apples, stuffing the cavities with nuts or candied ginger. If the pan of apples to be baked is set on top of the stove and allowed to boil about ten minutes before setting in the oven they will not shrink so much in the baking. Peeling the fruit about halfway down will produce a much neater looking specimen, and slashing the peeling in four places at the top will prevent bursting.

When canning fruit don't forget to inject the unusual if there is a chance for it. Lemon juice, cinnamon and allspice will improve almost any jam, generally so cloying. Apples are fine added to chili sauce, also to many jams and jellies.

PRAISED BY FRENCH.

Fighting Qualities of Our Boys Much Admired.

French correspondents with the British troops have been lavish in their praise of the Canadians and their fighting at Lens. One of the most influential of the French Provincial papers is "Le Telegramme," published at Boulogne, and the following literal translation, without comment, of an article on August 25, speaks for itself. It says:

"The Canadians at the present time completely hold the limelight in the theatre of war. It is these picked troops that have been given the incomparable, the glorious and difficult task of retaking Lens — Lens, where each house is a fortress; Lens and its slag heaps bristling with machine-gun and trenches, which the enemy only manage to hold by continual reinforcement.

"This Canadian army, although only raised during the war, is curious to study for several reasons. Recruited exclusively by voluntary methods, it is composed of various elements curiously representing the world crusade against the abhorred Germans.

"One meets trappers, colonials, hunters, men who have lived full lives of adventure, and peaceful merchants of Quebec or Montreal. There are battalions that speak only the true French of the eighteenth century. Some have names like "Gros Rene," others "Oeil de Faucon," and all these various elements are assimilated in the great British army, respecter of the traditions of others." These trappers, these hunters, these woodsmen, trained to stand the limit of fatigue by their hard life, are the ideal soldiers. They keep themselves in condition, even when they are in rest, by their games and sports, which they practise with fury, but with method. Football and baseball, which they excel in, make them grenade-throwers of the finest class. They can jump in their competitions five feet six inches, and when the time comes they can do the same in combat. They have not abandoned their national game of lacrosse, where these talents are necessary.

"There is one part of the Canadian army which is made up of foresters, who are actually working in Britain and France with their own machinery. They can, it is well known, cut down a forest in the twinkling of an eye (clin d'oeil). You have to admire their marvellous cutting while you sigh for our poor trees, sacrificed in this way for the country's cause. It would take several columns of this paper to relate the splendid deeds of these adventurous and heroic men."

Practical Sewing Kit.

One of the small wicker suit cases, the size that children carry, can be turned into a practical sewing kit. It would be convenient for veranda sewing and vacation days, as it can easily be carried about and so fitted up that all the materials for mending, sewing or embroidery would be at hand.

Soft Blankets.

When washing wool blankets do not rinse in clear water to keep the softness. Rinse in warm water in which has been dissolved just enough soap to make the water soft.

Smart Fads.

Girdles made of beads are a pretty addition to the straight frock.

Fabric Gloves.

Fabric gloves have gained a great vogue since the beginning of the European war. One sees women wearing them for all but evening occasions.

Some of the fabric weaves are so fine and so cleverly made that one cannot tell them from suede at a short distance, and they are shaped to the hand with a care that was never before bestowed on this kind of glove. Gray is most effective, as are some shades of suede and tan.

TORONTO TO BE FOURTH CITY IN HOCKEY LEAGUE

Quebec Has Decided to Drop Out and Other Teams Will Scramble for the Released Players.

Montreal, Nov. 19.— The much-talked-of question whether Toronto or Quebec would be the fourth club in the new professional hockey league has come to a head and the Ontario city is given the call. From Quebec comes the definite announcement that the Ancient City promoters have thrown up the sponge, for this season at least, and this paves the way for Toronto. The circuit will be made up of Wanderers and Canadiens in Montreal and Ottawa and Toronto.

Querrie As Manager.

The owners of the Toronto Arena and not E. J. Livingstone, will be in control of the Toronto Club, and Charlie Querrie, the well known lacrosse expert, will manage the Blue Shirts. The Wanderers and Canadien owners insisted that if the Toronto club came in it must be owned by other persons than Mr. Livingstone. It is not definitely known whether the deal between Mr. Livingstone and the Arena owners has been completed, but if not, it will be shortly.

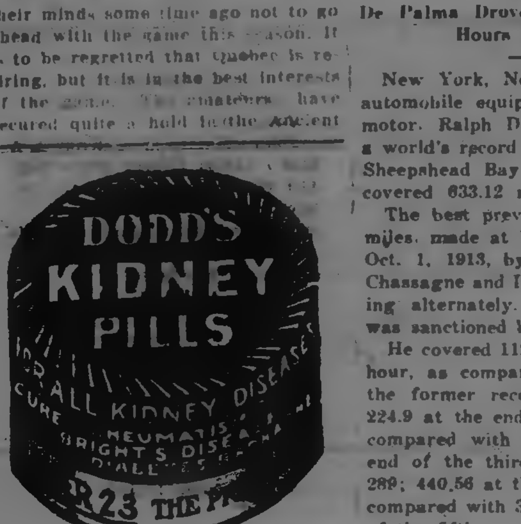
The announcement of Quebec's retirement comes as no surprise. It was felt that the Ancient City owners were only stalling off as long as possible and that they had made up their minds some time ago not to go ahead with the game this season. It is to be regretted that Quebec is retiring, but it is in the best interests of the game. The amateurs have secured quite a hold in the Ancient City. Perhaps a year or two without the pros will make the fans long for them again.

Dispose of Players.

The dropping out of Quebec means that all their players will be on the market, and a wild scramble for the stars of the team is now sure to take place. As the new professional league is meeting here today perhaps the question of disposing of the Quebec players will be discussed. Joe Malone and Jack Macdonald, who are now living here, will likely be secured by Wanderers, who are badly in need of material.

Mummery For Toronto.

It is a well known fact that the Ottawas are hot-foot after Dave Ritchie, the husky young defence man, and they will in all likelihood secure him. Mummery, the beef trust defence man, has been slated for Toronto. The big fellow has never been a favorite in the Queen City while a member of the Quebec team, but playing with the Blue Shirts may be different. Crawford, Hebert, Hall and the others will also be disposed of. Hebert may go to Toronto.



MAKES WORLD'S RECORD

De Palma Drove 633 Miles in Six Hours Yesterday

New York, Nov. 19.—Driving an automobile equipped with a Liberty motor, Ralph De Palma established a world's record for six hours at the Sheepshead Bay Speedway when he covered 633.12 miles.

The best previous mark was 566 miles, made at Brooklands, England, Oct. 1, 1913, by Darce Resta, Jean Chassagne and Lee K. Guinness, driving alternately. De Palma's effort was sanctioned by the A.A.A.

He covered 112.96 miles in the first hour, as compared with 107.9 when the former record was established; 224.9 at the end of the second hour, compared with 195.1; 329.56 at the end of the third, as compared with 289; 440.56 at the end of the fourth, compared with 380; 535.72 at the end of the fifth, as compared with 472.

In the third hour De Palma had some trouble, which brought down his speed, and at the end of the fifth hour, when he was 63 miles ahead of the previous record, he made a brief [illegible] for gasoline and oil.

[illegible] SHOWED 'EM HOW.

Veteran Ten Eyck Rowed 150 Miles On His 70th Birthday.

James A. Ten Eyck, Syracuse rowing coach and known to every one who ever pulled a racing oar, has just celebrated his seventieth birthday by rowing from New York to Albany, a distance of 150 miles. Certainly an exceptional feat for a man three score and ten years, but nothing unusual for the veteran coach, who took the occasion to show "his boys" the old man wasn't going back.

James Ten Eyck—just plain Jim to the thousands who have visited the veteran at the Syracuse boathouse on the Hudson before the Poughkeepsie regatta — may be old in years but not in energy. Strong, wiry and clear-eyed, he has the physical powers of most men half his age, the result of a life that's been Spartanlike for simplicity with every available hour spent outdoors in some form of exercise, chiefly rowing. Could the rising generation take a leaf out of Ten Eyck's health book there'd be considerably less work for the doctors.

MAY BE CHAMPION.

Ray O'Donnell, brother of Les O'Donnell, the well known Australian heavyweight, who was stopped by the late Les Darcy in seven rounds, is a most promising welterweight. He has taken part in the tournament at the Sidney stadium, and so far has gone right through the welterweight division without so much as getting a headache. Ray looks like a real comer, and will be welcome owing to the scarcity of boys of that weight.

WAR TAX WILL HIT GOLFERS

Imposition of 10 Per Cent to Increase Annual Dues

The new United States war tax is going to alight with great emphasis upon the country clubs, and is destined to bite deeply into the golf club professionals. So far as the club members are concerned the imposition of a tax of 10 per cent upon a year's dues will mean in many cases that $15 to $20 a year will have to be tacked on the yearly charges.

In virtually every case it is expected that the club will pass this charge along to the members. As everything else in connection with golf and tennis has climbed up into the sky, it is considered more than likely that many will have to forego sports or practice them in moderation.

So far as the professional of the club is concerned, the law says that all kinds of equipment, the list being enumerated, must be charged 3 per cent of the price for which it was sold. Add to this the fact that 1½ per cene. tax is imposed upon all stock on hand, and the burden begins to press. For instance, many golf professionals, who handle the sale of balls, and the sale and repair of golf clubs, have stock on hand as high as $1,000 or even more.

LAKEFIELD CURLING CLUB

Lakefield, Nov. 19.—Lakefield Curling Club will open the season by a patriotic "at home," after which, weather permitting, the boys will get down to business on the ice. At a meeting of the members the following were appointed a committee to make full arrangements: Messrs. T. Braden, D. H. Morrison, J. H. Sherin, C. A. Tanner, Theo Crawford, J. C. Strickland and J. W. Ridpath. The club is expecting a fine season of sport.

not to lose its men were this capacity to be maintained in the interests of the war. Mr. Aylmer remarked that some employers did not seem willing to put themselves out in regard to replacing "A" Category employees with others who might be trained to fill their places in a short time. The Board instructed Mr Myers to let them know how soon he could replace Pringle.

Lost Medical Sheet.

Walter Irwin, a BI man had lost his medical history sheet, and could not get another one at the armories. He was sent to the armories with an order for a copy of his last paper.

Farmers Only Son.

Eric James Blackwell, R. R. 2, Peterborough, a farmer's son, asked exemption on the ground that he is the only son at home to work with his father a hundred and twenty-five acre farm. He is an AII man. He said it is impossible to get help on the farm. Decision deferred.

To Be Examined.

John Redmond Kelley, farmer's son of Otonabee, was sent up for medical examination. He had previously, he said, lost a day or two in efforts to get examined at both Norwood and Peterborough.

The following cases have been definitely disposed of:

"SEVEN DAYS' LEAVE"

A "Frohman" Production

The thrill and grip of war, relieved by the distance from the conflict that measures from London to the present Allies' lines beyond the Aisne—that's what "Seven Days' Leave" is, the military comedy that comes to The Grand on Saturday next Nov. 24, for an engagement of two performances, matinee and night.

"Seven Days' Leave," which is presented by Daniel Frohman, a name that always stands for the best things of the theatre, is at present a rage in London, where it is in its tenth month of presentation at the Lyceum Theatre to receipts that have never fallen to less than $18,000 per week, a box office record that leaves even the sensational figures of "Ben Hur" behind.

Necessarily it is the fidelity of the comedy to current conditions looming big in the British nation's consciousness that attracts a large part of the sensational interest. Walter Howard, a successful maker of plays, is the author of "Seven Days' Leave" which as its title infers, has for its period the single week that a certain member of the fighting forces "over there" receives as a furlough and for its action what happens to him on furlough and those people and conditions with which his destinies are involved.

In this instance it is a gay young major in from the front for a lull from a long siege of trench and other warfare, who figures foremost in the excitement. Major Fielding is not long home before he is head and heels in love with a lady fair whose lineal tree finds blossoms in peerage pods. And scarce has the gallant soldier begun his wooing when the shadow of the war still going on outside, blackens the love garden. Belgian refugees are not always Belgian refugees, even in London, as the present London war records voluminously show. Two of these interrupt the wooing of the Major and his lady fair and this at the outset of the comedy. And it is with what occurs as a consequence of the intrigues of the particular pair of Belgian refugees, really German spies, that the tense whole fabric of the comedy is composed.

There are many scenes, some of spectacular effect, one representing the blowing up of a submarine in view of the audience.

The tour of the company will include most of the large cities of Canada and the provinces.

The company includes such well-known players as: Grace Hayle, W. F. Meehan, Daniel Hamilton, John Morton, M. J. Harriman, John Winthrop, Alfred Britton and Maud Williams.

iness, is a matter of primary importance."

Dealing with the statements made by a former employe of the Davies Company to the effect that the company adopted a fraudulent system of keeping bacon intended for shipment to the war office, known as the "post cure," the commissioners say that after a thorough investigation into this subject no evidence has been adduced which warrants such a suggestion. The commissioners add:

New Process Invented.

"The Davies Company had, as far back as 1902, adopted a new and secret process whereby their product could be sufficiently cured for shipment in the short space of two weeks, the completion of the cure taking place while the product was in transit. In view of the fact that the process customarily adopted in Chicago and other packing-house centres would seem to require a period of one month, the Davies process obviously gave the company a great advantage over its competitors. The new process, however, had a disadvantage in that it was of such a nature that it required prompt delivery to the smoke-house after arrival in Great Britain. Failing prompt delivery, deterioration would set in, with consequent loss to the company.

Post Cure Process.

"When transportation difficulties became acute, and when the greater demand necessitated a greater spread of time for delivery, the Davies Company met the difficulty by providing additional vat accommodation at both Toronto and Montreal, and, as far as possible treated all export bacon to the 'post cure' process. The main object of this further pickling process was to prevent deterioration, but there was, of course, the further advantage in that it enabled the company to hold the products for a longer period of time, and not only make deliveries as called for but to take advantage of what proved to be a continuously advancing market. Incidentally there was a substantial gain in weight since it is a fact, at least up to a certain point, that the longer the product remains in a state of saturation the more weight it takes on. It is only fair to point out, however, that the Davies Company's usual cure is of much shorter duration than that of other packers, and in point of fact, the evidence shows that the gain in weight of the Davies products, after being treated to the post cure process, is not greater (if as much) as the gain in weight obtained by other packers in the ordinary course of business."

Further Profits.

A similar statement in regard to Matthews-Blackwell, Ltd., shows that on an investment of $2,107,447 in 1914, which had increased to $3,129,882 in 1916, the percentage of profits to investment before deduction of interest was, in 1913, 12.77; in 1914, 3.88; in 1915, 21.06; and in 1916, 31.87. Deduction of interest reduced the profits in 1913 to 6.49, in 1914 to 2.89, in 1915 to 14.06, and in 1916 to 25.16. Profits earned from November 1, 1916, to August 6, 1917, were approximately at the rate of 52 per cent per annum on the investment before deduction of interest, and 45 per cent after.

Inheritance Tax Argument

Inheritance taxes are very heavy. Unlike Fire hazard they are not merely possible, they are absolutely certain.

They deplete your estate at once, and to your heirs represent a specific and definite loss of money.

In New York a $250,000 estate would pay a combined federal and state tax of about $12,000. If left to a friend or distant relative, about $22,000. The John Jacob Astor estate paid $3,150,000. J. P. Morgan has insured his life for $2,500,000 to cover a similar loss.

Thus the estate is provided promptly with the ready cash to pay this tax and other expenses without the need of hurriedly disposing of securities or other assets, perhaps at a loss, to meet such needs. The logic of the situation urges immediate action. Premium rates, however, low, advance with age, and so does the possibility of entering the physically impaired group and losing the opportunity to secure this protection.

Knowing that this loss is actually coming, it is simply a matter of ordinary business prudence to guard against it. The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada offer you a plan to do so at very low cost.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

CROSS—ANDERSON.

An interesting event was celebrated in England when Driver Cross of Bobcaygeon, who left for overseas with Capt. W. W. Boyd, was united in marriage to Dorothy Anderson of Kenninghall. The Kenninghall Daily Press notes the occasion as follows:

At St. Mary's Church, Kenninghall, on Aug. 29 the marriage took place of Driver Reginald Fred Cross, Canadian Field Artillery, eldest son of the late Mr. Fred W. Cross, Kenninghall, and Bobcaygeon, Canada, and Dorothy Anderson, fourth daughter of David Claxton, of Kenningham. The bride wore a dress of white eolienne trimmed with ninon, and a hand embroidered veil with orange blossoms and acrried a sheaf of Madonna lilies. She was given away by her father and was attended by Mrs. F. Claxton and Janet G. Claxton, sisters of the bride. The bridegroom was attended by Mr. H. Scott Palmer. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. W. Mattinson, vicar of London, formerly vicar of Kenninghall. The service was choral, Mr Sword being at the organ. A reception was held at Rose Cottage, the bride's home; and later the newly-married couple left for Yarmount. There were many presents.

SUDDEN DEATH OF ROBT. DIXON

STRICKEN WITH HEART FAILURE WHEN DRIVING HOME FROM WORK.

Robert Dixon, lot 8, Con. 6, Douro, died at his home Saturday after a sudden seizure by heart failure on Friday night. He had been working on a farm in Smith all day Friday, and when driving home at night with his brother Thomas, without any other warning but "I am going," he fell over the dashboard between the horses in an unconscious condition. The unfortunate man's brother drove him home and summoned Dr. McGrath, who gave every possible attention until the stricken man died the following morning from heart failure.

County Constable Archie Moore inquired into the circumstances connected with Mr. Dixon's death Saturday evening, but found no cause to justify an inquest.

The funeral will take place from the family residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. Mr. Price of St. George's Church will officiate.

HERO OF BAGDAD IS DEAD AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

General Maude Was Regarded as One of the Brilliant Leaders in War.

LONG AND HONORABLE CAREER

Fought in South Africa and in France at Beginning of the War.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Nov. 19.—An official announcement issued today says Gen Maude died in Mesopotamia yesterday evening after a brief illness.

Major-General Frederick Stanley Maude, captor of Bagdad, was rated as one of the most brilliant commanders of the war. After a series of British defeats in Mesopotamia, Gen. Maude was placed in command late last year and won an unbroken series of successes.

Advancing from the Babylonian plains, he captured Kut el Amara, where Gen. Townshend's army had been compelled to surrender. He eventually took Bagdad.

Gen. Maude was 53 years old. He had a distinguished military record before the war. He served with distinction in the South African war, where he won the D. S. O. Prior to taking command in Mesopotamia, the General saw service in France, where he was wounded.

From 1901 to 1904 he was military secretary to the Governor-General of Canada, and later private secretary to the Secretary of State for War.

"The limit of human degradation is the beachcomber," said Helen Carew, "unless one sees these human derelicts on the beaches of the islands of the Pacific, it is impossible to realize that a man could sink to the level of the brute and even lower. Heaven only knows what started any of these beachcombers on the down grade. But the pace is swift and the velocity increases with the speed of light.

"I suppose that a bottle of square nose, or the love of its contents, was the beginning, and you know what drink will do to a man. Finally he reaches a stage where he will commit murder to secure enough of the native liquor to appease his thirst. Usually a native woman, proud of her possession of a white man, speeds the poor devil on his way by supporting him. In time, even she turns her back, thrusts her man out of the [illegible] grass hut and he becomes a beachcomber, living on what the waves of the Pacific wash upon the beach."

Miss Carew will be seen here in the role of Diana in Richard Walton Tully's imperishable drama of native Hawaiian life, the girl who redeems "Ten-Thousand Dollar" Dean, the beachcomber. Oliver Morosco is sending his great production and a superb cast to present "The Bird of Paradise" at The Grand next Wednesday, Nov. 21, matinee and evening.

HUNS MOVE TROOPS FROM RUSSIA

GREAT WAR VETERANS DID NOT BREAK UP UNION MASS MEETING

Association not Responsible For Heckling by Men not Members, Nor For Disorderly Conduct — G. W. V. A. Band in the Making.

The Great War Veterans' Association in general session last night emphatically denied that they were, as an association, in any way responsible for breaking up the union meeting last Friday night, or for the heckling which punchired the addresses at Mr. R. R. Hall's Liberal rally Saturday evening. And this association respectfully asks the public not to take it for granted that all returned soldiers are members of the G.W.V.A. There are many returned men of the C.E.F. in town to day who do not belong to the G. W. V. A.

On motion of Comrade MacNab the executive of the G.W.V.A. was instructed to draft a statement in defence of the criticism which appeared in the press in regard to disturbing occurences at the public meetings in Victoria Hall Friday and Saturday evenings.

This whole question was raised by Comrade MacNab, who said it was of paramount importance that the association defends itself against charges of misconduct at public meetings. The G.W.V.A. stands for high ideals and all that is fair and just, and has no reason to cry down another man's name and opinions in public. It was not, he declared members of this association, but members of the C.E.F. not affiliated with the G.W.V.A. who earned the criticism for uproarious disturbance. Comrade McNab here went on to point out the importance of the veterans setting the public right in this matter as were the opinion entertained that the association encourages insult to prominent men of this city; they would find themselves up againat a tough proposition when they asked $40,000 for permanent headquarters.

Secretary Whatley—"I was at Friday night's meeting, and cetainly am not aware of any member of this association insulting any man on the platform."

Comrade MacNab—"I am not referring to any member, but to men from overseas whose conduct has cast a reflection on the G. W. V. A. Hence the need for setting ourselves right with the public.

President Staunton—We all sat in a body, but non-members from overseas sat close by. No man has a right to heckle at a public meeting and reflect discredit on this association, the members of which treated the meeting and all concerned therein with respect.

Secretary Whatley—"You can't stop a man from voicing his opinion, but this association is not going to countenance any disturbing action such as occurred Friday night, and for which this association was not in any way responsible."

Comrade Muir—"I'm no Tory nor Liberal. I'm just a laboring man. But when the issue at stake is the support of the men in the trenches then I am going to endorse the man who supports and is supporting them."

EXPLOSION IN THE GAS WORKS

DEMOLISHES COOLING ANNEX TO MAIN BUILDING AND STARTS A FIRE.

At 7.20 this morning the fire brigade were summoned to the gas works on Simcoe street, where what was left of the roof of the cooling room was found to be in flames. This was the result of no inconsiderable explosion of gas which demolished the walls of the annex north of the main building in which three cooling retorts are installed. Two large windows of the meter room in which a couple of men were working at the time were blown out.

This cooling room is a total wreck but its three retorts are undamaged. The only cause yet imagined for the accident is that the piping in the colling retorts must have become choked. The fire brigade reached the scene in quick order and extinguished the burning wrecked roof in 55 minutes by use of two lines of hose and three gallons of chemicals.

No one was injured, or, it seems, in any danger of injury. The main building is undamaged, excepting for two windows blown out.

Competent Man.

Engineer Pemmet has assumed his duties at the Fire Hall in place of Jamieson, resigned. This morning had a test run made with the steamer, better known as "Puffing Billy," and is satisfied with the new engineer's demonstration of his competency.

GERMANS ARE HURRYING TROOPS FROM RUSSIAN FRONT TO FLANDERS BATTLE LINE

Despatch From Holland Says That all Roads are Filled with Masses of Moving Men and Artillery---Quiet Day on British Front ---French Reports Sinking of Sub.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, Nov. 20. — A telegram from Naestricht, Holland, to Amsterdam as forwarded by the Central News, reports a great movement of troops with artillery on all the roads leading to the Flanders front. These troops evidently are from the Russian front, the despatch says.

Raiders Driven Off.

London, Nov. 20. — Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire troops made a successful raid last night east of Fampoux. In the region of Wytschaeto a raiding party of Germans was driven off by our fire.

No headquarters communique was issued today, says an official wireless message from Petrograd.

Submarine Destroyed.

Paris, Nov. 20.—A German submarine was destroyed at the time the French steamship Medie, with a cargo of munitions, was torpedoed in the western Mediterranean on September 23 with a loss of 250 lives, says a despatch from Algiers to the Journal. The liner Biskra was proceeding with a convoy of French and British steamers among which was the Medie leading the line. The Medie was torpedoed without warning before she was able to bring her guns to bear on the submarine.

Apparently thinking that the ships were not armed the submarine commander brought his boat slowly to the surface. The Biskra immediately opened fire at a distance of two miles. The second shot struck the submarine forward and low. An explosion followed. The submarine's stern shot up. The U-boat plunged to destruction before the Medie disappeared.

Italians in Heavy Fight.

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Monday.—The enemy is concentrating his attack on the north and very heavy fighting is in progress south of Quero where large enemy masses are attacking the Italian positions on Monte Tenera and Monte Tomba.

Kerensky Heard From.

Petrograd, Nov. 20.—Two army corps loyal to the committee for the salvation of the revolution, stationed at Luga, report that Premier Kerensky is with them. There is no confirmation.

After the defeat of his forces at Gatchina Premier Kerensky was faced with the proposed desertion of the bulk of his army. The premier was coerced into promising to surrender to the Bolsheviki government but while a guard was being formed he disappeared disguised as a sailor.

The committee for the salvation of the revolution is opposed to the Bolsheviki regime in Petrograd and has protested against the order of arrest of Premier Kerensky. Luga is on the Petrograd-Pskoff railway about 90 miles south of Petrograd and 60 miles south of Gatchina.

CAN. CASUALTIES DECREASING

THREE LOCAL MEN ON TODAY'S LIST — WILLIAM GERVIN KILLED IN ACTION.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—There seems to be a very appreciable decrease in the volume of Canadian casualty lists following the heavy lists of the last few days, mostly the results of the operations at Passichendaele it is thought here. Today's noon casualty list contained 189 names including 13 killed in action and eight died of wounds.

Local Casualties

PTE. WILLIAM GERVIN, whose home is in North Monaghan (R.R. No. 5), is reported killed in action in Flanders.

PTE. FREDERICK COOPER of Brownton is reported missing. This sad news was conveyed to his wife today. He went overseas with the Mounted Rifles with whom he has seen much active service.

PTE. JOHN SWEENEY is reported today as wounded and missing since October 30th. He went across the seas with the 93rd battalion, and was subsequently drafted to the front. He has a wife and five children.

Ottawa Looked For More Acclamations

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—Nomination results are the general topic of conversation here today and there is much comment on both sides regarding the paucity of acclamations. Most people expected far more Unionist candidates returned wtihout the contest. It is agreed that the election campaign will be vigorous in all provinces.

British Casualties Show Big Increase

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Nov. 20.—British casualties reported in the week ending today reached a total of 32.227. They were divided as follows: Killed or died of wounds, officers, 296; men, 6 160; wounded or missing, officers, 923; men, 24,848.

British casualties lists have been increasing recently probably in consequence of the bitter fighting in Flanders.

Last week there were 25065 and in the preceding week 21891.

POPE BENEDICT TO QUIT ITALY?

Rome, Nov. 20.—The question is being asked in various quarters here, especially in Vatican circles, if Pope Benedict intends to leave Rome and Italy. If the Pontiff should take this step, it would be due to the difficulty of taking the attitude he desires to take with regard to the war as long as he resides in a belligerent country, despite all the efforts made by the Italian Government to guarantee his complete liberty and independence. It is asserted that pourparlers have taken place with regard to the Pope going to Spain as a guest of King Alfonso.

WOMEN WHO CAN VOTE DEC. 17TH

COMPLAINTS THAT ENUMERATORS ARE FAILING TO REGISTER ELIGIBLES.

Complaints are frequently brought to this office to the effect that some of the ennumerators who are now making a canvass of the city do not understand their duties and are leaving the names of eligibles off the list. Enumerators who called at a house on Rubidge street today refused to record the names of two women who claimed the right to vote on the ground that they are sisters of a nurse overseas. The law is plain on this point. For all the purposes of the Act a nurse is in the same position as a soldier and her relatives at home enjoy the same privileges as regards the franchise.

Other enumerators have refused to register women whose relatives are enlisted in the British Army and not with the Canadian fighting force. The law makes no distinction between these two classes. A woman can vote, too, provided a relative is in the British navy or in the navy of any allied country.

The stepmother of a soldier, too, can vote as she is regarded as the legal mother.

TWO MILLIONS FOR K. OF C.

SERVICE TO MEN WHO ARE IN TRAINING CAMPS IN UNITED STATES.

New York, Nov. 20.—The Knights of Columbus are making strenuous efforts to raise the $3,000,000 needed in establishing and maintaining war recreation centres at the various camps both home and overseas. Of the $3,000,000, $1,000,000 has been contributed by their own members.

Both the Knights of Columbus and the Y.M.C.A. furnish recreation centres for all the men of the fighting forces of the United States regardless of creed. The religious needs of the non-Catholics in the camps are supplied by the Y.M.C.A.; those of the Catholics, comprising about forty per cent of the men in service, by the Knights of Columbus.

There are sixteen National Army cantonments, consisting of men who have been drafted under conscription. These will contain from 40,000 to 60,000 men each. There also are sixteen National Guard encampments. There will be a central building in each cantonment and encampment costing about $6,000 and accommodating approximately 1,000 men. The structures will be equipped with stages for entertainments, reading rooms and other rooms for amusements and games.

The Knights of Columbus also will conduct from twenty-five to thirty similar recreation centres at the regular army expansion camps, naval training stations, aviation stations and camps of other units in the service.

Forty-eight of the sixty proposed buildings have been completed and are in use. The club house presented to the Twenty-seventh Division was opened recently for use by the New York troops at Spartanburg. The cost of furnishing them is $107,350, the operating expenses for one year amount to $503,000, with incidental expenses, making a total expenditure by the Knights of Columbus for one year $1,192,350.

WAR COUNCIL IS IN SESSION IN LONDON TODAY

Important Conference Taking Place Between Britain and United States.

IS A HISTORY MAKING EVENT

Will Take Stock of Resources and the Needs of All Allied Countries.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Nov. 20.—None of the numerous Allied War Councils which have occurred in the past three years have occasioned the same interest as today's historic meeting of the British War Cabinet and the American War Mission for tightening the links that chain the Anglo American war efforts. The scene is the old residence in Downing Street which as served the Prime Ministers of many generations as both home and office, and the room is the council chamber where the cabinets meet and where the destinies of the Empire have been shaped since the days of the American revolution.

Lord Reading, Lord Chief Justice, will preside, with Andrew Bonar Law, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Oscar T. Crosby, assistant secretary of the American treasury, at the table beside him. The military and naval heads of both governments, and officials representing other departments of war work, will be grouped together.

Premier Lloyd George planned to be present for the purpose of answering questions. The general work of the meeting constitutes the taking of stock of resources and the needs of both countries and to some extent of the continental allies.

A group of reporters and photographers and curious sightseers were on the scene early in the day.

SERIOUS RIOT BREAKS OUT IN BERLIN SUNDAY

Socialists and Police Clash and Many Shots Are Exchanged.

A HEAVY LIST OF CASUALTIES

Newspapers Have Been Forbidden to Make Any Reference To Trouble.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London Nov. 20.—Serious rioting took place in Berlin last Sunday. A message to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that fighting between the mob and police was very fierce and that there was a heavy casualty list. The police used their fire arms.

The wireless press says the military and police were called upon to oppose the progress of the Independent Socialist demonstrators. In the riotous scenes which followed the police were forced to fire with their rifles and revolvers and the organizers of the meeting responded with fire arms and knives. The German press, the despatches say, have been forbidden to publish the details of the affray. No newspapers have arrived in Amsterdam from Berlin.

RUSSIAN POLE DISCOVERED HE IS A BRITISH SUBJECT

His Claim for Exemption not Allowed—Three G. T. R. Italian Employees Exempted—Farmers Claim Exemption.

At the Exemption Tribunal in the Council Chamber this morning, Cornelius Driscoll, home in town, but who is a farm hand and experienced thresher asked exemption. Mr. Howard Smithson, Otonabee, a farmer with whom Driscoll works, strongly urged exemption for him on the ground of indispensability in the production of food supplies. Applicant is an Aii man. Judgment was left in abeyance.

Exemption Disallowed

John M. Sullivan, 11 Park street classed in Category Aii, a barber, claimed exemption as he is the only support of his mother. Mr. Aylmer pointed out that claimant and his mother would be better off with his pay in the service and his mother's allowance. Claim was disallowed.

Aliens Exempted

An agent of the G.T.R. presented the company's claim for the exemption of three unnaturalized Italians. This was allowed.

Case of a Russian

Ruben Beube, a Russian Pole, was the next applicant. While he had not taken out naturalization papers, his father had done so in 1908, when applicant was 12 years of age, and by this act the law classes Ruben Beube a British subject. He would not care whether he went to war so long as his mother could stand the shock and he was classed as a drafted man.

Patrick C. Crough, farmer of Smith, was allowed exemption as long as he works on a farm.

"C" Exemptions

Robert Murry Miller, 244 Carlisle street.

The following cases have been finally disposed of.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1917

WILL MR. HALL EXPLAIN.

MR. HALL WAS nominated by a Liberal convention as a Laurier candidate, or at least that is how the public understood the proceedings of the nomination. He is now trying, it seems, to pose as an independent. For the satisfaction of the electors, men and women of West Peterborough, will Mr. Hall, at his next meeting, answer two plain questions?

If the issue ever arose in a Parliament of which he was a member as between the prompt enforcement of the military service draft and the taking of a referendum, a step that would mean another year of delay, how would he vote?

If his vote was all that was required to decide as to whether Sir Robert Borden or Sir Wilfrid Laurier was to be Premier of the Dominion, how would he use that vote?

If Mr. Hall were a candidate at a bye-election he might with some show of reason appear as an independent, there being no question as to balance of power between the two leaders. The present issue is apparent and its import is grave.

THE JUSTICE OF THE DRAFT.

IF THERE IS in the mind of any man affected an impression that the Military Service Act is a harsh measure, it may be that this idea is born of the fact that it has not in every case been put in operation in the spirit that designed it. Many a wise and equable law has suffered through injudicious, incompetent or unjust administration.

Of all classes in the community, the farmers have the least to complain of with regard to the draft. It was intended for their protection as much as anything else. There was no intention to further deplete the rural population of its working force. On the contray, the Act contains a provision under which men in other walks of life where their services are not indispensable can be drafted for duty on the farms.

It would seem hardly necessary at this stage to advance any arguments in favor of the draft, a system that has been in effect in every belligerent country—since the beginning of the war with some, and from its earlier stages with the others. England accepted conscription as a military necessity, although opposed to the principle of compulsion for centuries. The United States resorted to the selective draft as the first step in raising an army for overseas.

In Australia, in which country the percentage of enlistments is higher than here, and where the burden is more evenly distributed, a vote on conscription last winter was defeated by a narrow margin. Those who were opposed to it claimed that with a fresh effort the required number of men could be raised by the voluntary system. That effort failed, and once more Australia is compelled to ask the people for a mandate to raise men by the draft.

The exemption tribunals would be other than human if they did not err occasionally. It is hard to interpret and apply the law correctly in every case, but if there are any individual instances of hardship there is a chance for an appeal.

There is, or should be, no more stigma attached to the drafted man than there is to the man who obeys the law by paying his taxes. The old method of recruiting raised a small army of patriots and a large army of slackers, for every man who remained in civilian garb was so regarded. Under the draft law, the man left at home is not subject to this suspicion. The fact that he has been left is a testimony to his usefulness in the community, that he is doing his bit at home just as are the soldiers in Europe.

Under the Act there can be no more than one hundred thousand men called to arms. The fact that a man has been put in the "A" Class and has been denied exemption does not necessarily mean that he will be put in uniform. The exemption tribunals must comply with the law as it stands. Farmers are more likely to be left than any other class in the community. The Act means just what its name implies—that there is to be selection and not indiscriminate compulsion.

UNIONISM THE ISSUE.

IN THE ELECTION that will be held here on December 17th, and in the preliminary campaign, the personal element, so far as the candidates in the various ridings are concerned, is likely to play a part to a lesser extent than was ever before the case in this country. It is principle that is the issue, measures rather than men. The candidates will be known by their associations and the leadership which they confess. The country is divided today along entirely new lines. A vote for a Union candidate means a vote for a Canada one and indivisible until the war is won. A vote for his straight opponent is a vote that will tend to widen the chasm which unfortunately separates the Canadian people into two camps today.

The people of this riding and of many other constituencies in the Dominion are making a commendable effort to get together on the winning of the war. They are attempting to bury the political hatchet, even though the handle may be left sticking through the surface so that the weapon may be easily located again when the new union of forces has achieved its purpose. Any newspaper that attempts to ridicule Union Government is certainly not working for harmony. The people can be trusted to make their own choice in this matter. The majority of them realise what it would mean to Canada end to the men in the trenches if there were a change in leadership now and the prosecution of the war were turned over to the party that has fought from its very inception the vigorous policy that has been designed and which is being so patriotically and unselfishly supported by Canadians who for the present are content to make all personal interests and ambitions second to the welfare of the Empire.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER, 77 YEARS OLD.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER is 77 years old today, still vigorous enough to lead his party in an election campaign, and with the promise of several years of active life yet left him. On every anniversary of his birth, especially since he has passed so lightly the allotted span of human existence, politicians and newspapers have joined in congratulating him on the physical and mental strength that has been given him.

This anniversary finds Sir Wilfrid lacking the support of some of those followers most devoted to him in the past. They have deserted his standard with regret, still convinced, many of them, of his sincerity, and that he believes that the ties of kindred should take precedence over every other affiliation.

It might have been different, and the seventy-seventh anniversary of the venerable leader's nativity might easily have found him occupying a place in the public esteem higher than he had ever attained. Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the Union Cabinet would have meant a country united instead of torn asunder by unseemly and untimely political strife.

DOING THEIR BEST.

"IT WILL NOT BE our fault," says Henri Bourassa, "if Sir Wilfrid Laurier is not the next Premier of Canada." The "we" to whom Mr. Bourassa refers are the Nationalists of Quebec, all of whom the arch leader has lined up behind the Liberal chieftain.

It will not be Mr. Hall's fault if Sir Wilfrid Laurier does not attain the same goal. That is what his election would mean. The Nationalists are doing their best and are working openly, unlike Mr. Hall, who appears to pin his hopes to a campaign in which his real purpose is kept in the background.

MEN, NOT FOOD, THE NEED.

THERE IS NO immediate prospect of a shortage of food in the world at present. This year's supply was up to the average. The only trouble anticipated is in securing a distribution of the food and furnishing the Allied armies with what they require. This, too, can be accomplished, unless the submarine menace grows to greater proportions. In the meantime the people in Canada and in the United States are urged, not to actually stint themselves, but to conserve such foods as can be most easily shipped overseas at this time when shipping facilities are limited.

The urgent need of the day in order to win the war is not food but men. The Canadian soldiers, who are doing double duty in the trenches—and who cannot be granted a furlough on account of a lack of reinforcements—are not in need of food. What they want, what they ask for, is men to help them hold the line.

Mr. Hall says that food is the paramount necessity. This is a claim that will appeal to a certain section of the electors, but it is not one that will satisfy the soldiers when news of Mr. Hall's campaign reaches them. They have food now, but they ask for men.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

ODIOUS LIBEL ON WOMANHOOD

It is plain that the United States is not to escape a hysterical outburst concerning the effect on women's chastity produced by the mobilization of large numbers of soldiers in the army camps, says the New York Sun. The fact that England made a fool of itself with respect of this subject has taught us nothing; the authorities, notably Secretary Baker and Secretary Daniels, by their unnecessary public utterances on the subject of masculine morality have laid a broad and firm foundation for structures of sensationalism which the credulous, the morbid and the malicious are eager to build.

Already one important reformatory society has addressed its zeal to the menace of the man in uniform, and exact statistics on a matter about which nothing definite can possibly be known at this time have now been put in circulation. May we be spared the deluge of poetical and prose appeals to feminine virtue that three years ago rendered even some respectable English periodicals an offence to sense and experience!

England's experience was that her women remained virtuous, despite the excitements of war, in the usual proportion. The threat of thousands of children born out of wedlock, in excess of the normal number, was never fulfilled. Good women and virtuous girls remained good and virtuous; good men and virtuous boys clad in khaki did not abandon their standards of conduct. But these facts, it is to be feared, will be without influence on a population that eagerly gave credit to yarns about poison needles and accepted unquestioningly reports that whole train crews engaged in the abduction of carloads of immigrant girls.

Yet there should be a saving leaven of intelligent discrimination. In New York State particularly citizens have cause to think twice before they put faith in reports of a general breakdown of womanhood. We have just admitted women to the franchise, by an overwhelming vote. Does any sane person, male or female, think for an instant that this privilege would have been conferred, after years of serious study, if the moral nature of its beneficiaries were as infirm as the infamous reports now put in circulation would make us believe? Would woman suffrage have triumphed in England in time of war if English women, who are not unlike the women of this country, had proved incapable of maintaining their honor in a period of national danger?

TODAY'S STORY

"It's a bad business taking things for granted," observed Spoonable. "The other day a stranger came to our front door. He had all the earmarks of a book agent and I undertook to run him off the place. I have been very successful in throwing book agents over the front gate. But this man turned out to be a teacher of physical culture, who came to the door to ask directions.

"It seemed to me that I hit the ground in eight different places at once, and it took me three-quarters of an hour to figure out that it wasn't an earthquake I had been up against."

"I always had a weakness for jumping at conclusions," confessed Quinne, "and I don't know how often it has got me into trouble. The other day I was introduced to a distinguished stranger who was addressed as Dr. Rambo. He had the appearance of a learned and able man and he won my confidence in a second.

"I have been feeling like an automobile accident for a long time, and realized that I ought to consult a physician, but somehow I haven't much confidence in our local doctors. There wasn't one of them to whom I'd care to uncover the hideous secret of my bad health. But this Dr. Rambo was the kind of man you just naturally lean against the minute you see him. I made up my mind to tell him all about my ailments as soon as I could get him alone.

"The next day I glanced out of the window and saw him passing and called him in. I asked him to take a chair and then opened up.

"'Doc,' I said. 'I've been wanting medical advice for a long time, but didn't know a sawbones whom I wanted to take into my confidence. If I had a sick cow I might call in one of our home talent pill venders, but when it comes to turning over my vitals to them I draw the line. Now, you made a hit with me the minute I saw you. I don't know whether its your bulging alabaster brow or your long black whiskers, but something about you convinces me that I can trust you.'

"The doc rose to his feet and raised his hand and tried to say something, but when I have the floor I don't allow any man to interrupt me.

"'I don't know just what's wrong with my works,' I went on, 'but my heart acts as though it had a dirty spark plug, or something of the kind. Sometimes it will run along, every cylinder hitting, and a man couldn't ask for a more satisfactory heart. Then again it will buck and heave and threaten to stop, and I've been scared stiff several times lately, and if you know any dope that will make the blamed organ get down to cases and saw wood I wish you'd hand me a prescription.'

"The doc seemed distressed and made a violent effort to butt in with a few timely remarks, but I hadn't finished explaining my symptoms and I headed him off.

"'My stomach also is out of alignment,' I explained. 'Time was when I could eat excelsior or anything else and never have a minute's distress. But now I have to bar everything I like to eat and fill myself with gruel and other cheap stuff. What is your diagnosis, doc?'

"'I am not a doctor of medicine,' said he; 'I am a doctor of divinity.'

"Then he backed out of the house and I just sat there and hated myself until I felt myself turning green. The boys heard the story somehow and they've made my life a burden ever since."

Wit and Wisdom

TOO RISKY.

Benjamin Birdie, the famous jockey, was taken suddenly ill, and the trainer advised him to visit a doctor in the town.

"He'll put you right in a jiffy," he said.

The same evening he found Benjamin lying curled up in the stables, kicking his legs about in agony.

"Hello, Benny! Haven't you been to the doctor's?"

"Yes."

"Well, didn't he do you any good?"

"I didn't go in. When I got to his office there was a brass plate on the door—'Dr. Kurem. Ten to one.' I wasn't going to monkey with a long shot like that!"

A trained ostrich recently disconcerted its exhibitor at a music hall by continually endeavoring to break away from all restrain and to climb over the footlights into the orchestra.

The widely advertised act came to a sudden end and the professor emerged from behind the curtain and apologized for the actions of his pet in about these words:

"Lydies and gentlemen, Hi am very sorry to disappoint you this hevening. We are compelled to cease our hengagement until the management hengages a new orchestra leader.

"The one at present hemployed 'as no 'air on top of 'is 'ead, and my bird takes hit for a hegg."

A simple young man was invited out to dinner one evening and it fell to his lot to take in a lady of a vivacious temperament.

The lady did her best during the meal to make Mr. Simpleton talk, but elicited nothing more satisfactory from him than monosyllables. As a matter of fact, Mr. Simpleton was feeling very much bored.

Dessert came and, as a last effort at conversation, the lady said:

"Oh, Mr. Simpleton, do you like bananas?"

The young man appeared to be thinking deeply for a few moments and then answered:

"Er—no, no; I think I prefer the old-fashioned nightgown!"

A parson in a little country village sent his man of all work one Sunday morning to the butcher, whose name was David, to inquire as to the nondelivery of some meat which ought to have arrived the previous evening.

When the lad returned his master had gone on to church, so he went to the sacred edifice, too.

Just as he arrived the parson was speaking these words:

"What did David say?"

Great was his surprise and also that of the congregation when the reply came from the lad:

"He said that he won't let you have the meat until you paid for the last lot."

Veterans and Politics

Editor Review:—At the General meeting of the G.W.V.A. held at the Armouries last night it was decided in view of the criticism levelled at the association through the Press in connection with the recent Political meetings held in the city on Friday and Saturday last, that the few "Returned Soldiers" who caused the disturbance were not members of the Great War Veterans' Association and were not authorized to take any part whatever in the proceedings.

The public should understand that should any individual member choose to take up an argument at any public meeting, this association will not hold themselves responsible for his actions.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's manifesto is an application for national exemption from military service. TWO LONG YEARS HE SUFFERED

"Fruit-a-tives" Made Him Feel As If Walking On Air

Omemee, Ont., Nov. 28th. 1914.

"For over two years, I was troubled with Constipation, Drowsiness, Lack of Appetite and Headaches. One day I saw your sign which read "Fruit-a-tives make you feel like walking on air." This appealed to me, so I decided to try a box. In a very short time, I began to feel better, and now I feel fine. I have a good appetite, relish everything I eat, and the Headaches are gone entirely. I recommend this pleasant fruit medicine to all my friends".

NO STOMACH PAIN, GAS, INDIGESTION IN FIVE MINUTES

"PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN" IS THE BEST ANTACID AND STOMACH REGULATOR KNOWN.

"Really does" put upset stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness due to acid fermentation, in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach antacid and regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments and turns sour, you belch gas and eructate undigested food or water; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvellous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin is worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest antacid for the stomach in the world.

Alleged Deserter Remanded 1 Week

FIRST CASE OF THIS KIND UNDER MILITARY SERVICE ACT IN PETERBORO.

At the police court this morning Wm. McMullen of Belmont, a couple of miles outside of Havelock, was charged with not having either registered for exemption or reported for service under the military service act.

County Crown Attorney Hatton asked for an adjournment for one week to secure the Attorney General's consent to prosecution. He would not consent to bail owing to conditions at Havelock.

Mr. G. N. Gordon objected to bail being refused, claiming the act will not permit a man being held in custody by the civic authorities without a fiat for prosecution from the Attorney-General having been first filed with the magistrate.

This is the first prosecution in this district under the military service act.

McMullen was remanded for a week. Justice of Peace Harry Rush consenting to bail for $3,000 in two sureties, one of which is the prisoner's.

Bail Refused

Subsequently Justice of Peace Rush revoked his former acceptance of bail for McMullen and ruled in the negative.

It appears that County Crown Attorney Hatton was not satisfied to accept bail for this man under any conditions and consultation with higher legal authority resulted in advice against bail, which advice was acted on.

Rubber Rings.

The rubber rings used to keep the air from the fruit sometimes become so dry and brittle as to be worthless. They can be restored by using a mixture of one part ammonia and two parts hot water. Let them lie in the mixture for from five to thirty minutes.

BUSINESS GIRLS' CLUB HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Reports of Secretary and Treasurer Received.

At the third annual meeting of the Busines Girls' Club, held on Monday evening, the following reports were presented by the secretary and treasurer:

Secretary's Report.

I beg to submit the following report, being the third annual report of the Business Girls' Club for the year ending November, 1917:

Average attendance, twenty members.

During the months of January, February and March the club met in the room over Mr. Lynch's drug store, kindly given the Otonabee Chapter for Red Cross work, and left heated for the use of the Business Girls' Club. During these three months we made 30 personal property bags, 30 comfort bags, and 25 scrap books. These bags were all filled, and each bag contained, with other things, one pair of socks, and sent to be distributed in the Canadian hospital in France by Nursing Sister B. M. Mowry. Letters have been received from the boys who received these, thanking the club.

A garden tea was held in the recruiting rooms in February, at which we raised $113.75, which was used to defray expenses of the Red Cross work and filling the bags sent to France.

Parcels were sent at Christmas to the four prisoners of war whom the club are keeping, for which a contribution of $60 is sent every year.

The club also took charge of the booth on the Machinists' moonlight excursion and the Bonner-Worth excursion, from which a considerable sum was realized.

During the months of October and November the club have met every Monday night in the Public Library and are doing Red Cross work for the local Red Cross Society. The club has promised $5 a month to the Society, and the girls are all contributing to this cause.

Fourteen meetings were held during the year—eight regular and three business, one outdoor at Inverlea, one at Jackson Park, and a tennis tea on the grounds of the Brinton Carpet Co., for which pleasure the girls wish to thank Mr. Brock, the manager.

The members of the club extend hearty thanks to the Bonner-Worth for the use of the booth on their excursion, to the Machinists at the C. G. E. for the use of the booth on their moonlight, and to all those who assisted them in any way during the year, especially to the press for their uniform courtesy and kindness in inserting notices, etc.

CAPT. BURNHAM'S ADDRESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

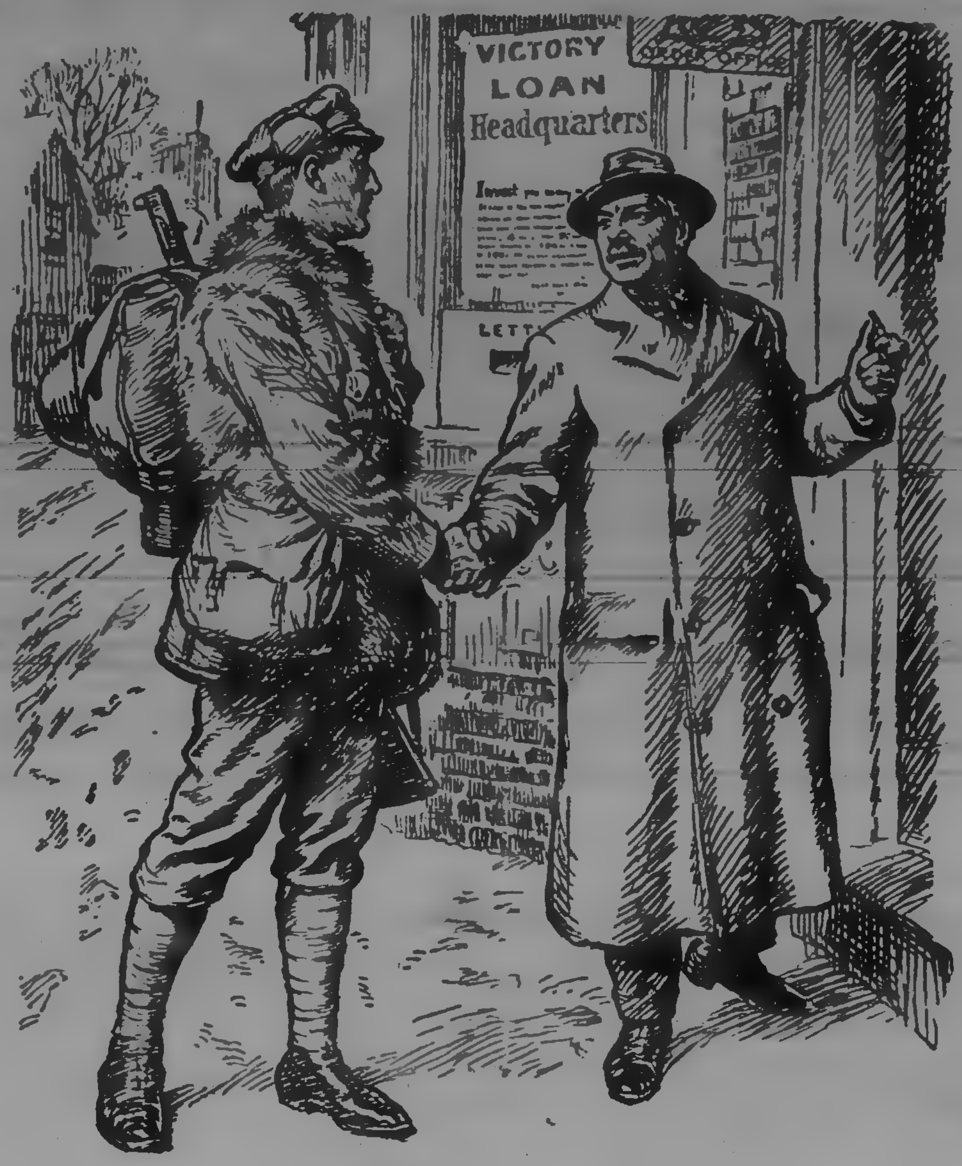
Election-day is December 17th. Its nearness admits of no further delay on the part of candidates in formally addressing you. It was hoped that political parties in West Peterborough might unite, as the members of the Borden Union Administration have done, in its support. But since the Liberal Convention has met and chosen its standard-bearer, who has not declared himself to be a supporter of the Borden Union Administration, it becomes necessary for me, without more, to solicit your suffrages. At the convention of the Conservatives of West Peterborough, duly assembled, I was chosen as their candidate to support Sir Robert Borden and his Administration. The Prime Minister has formed a Union Administration, composed of Conservative, Liberal and Labour representatives, to the end that he may the more fully and surely carry in a spirit of national unity and co-operation Canada's share in the war to a successful conclusion.

I pledge myself, therefore, with that same spirit of unity and co-operation, to support the Borden Union Administration and its policies, and I earnestly and respectfully solicit your votes and support accordingly. This is no ordinary political campaign, and it is hoped that all well-wishers of the Borden Union Administration will make every effort to secure the return of its supporters.

I have the honour to remain.

Yours truly,
J. H. BURNHAM.

Peterborough, Nov. 10, 1917.



A PLAIN DUTY.

SPECTACULAR SCENE IN "SEVEN DAYS LEAVE"

Meehan, Daniel Hamilton, John Morton, M. H. Harriman, John Winthrop, Alfred Britton and Maud Williams.

The production which is described as spectacularly effective in several of its scenes, notably one showing the blowing up of a submarine, is due at the Grand on Saturday next, Nov. 24, for an engagement of two performances, matinee and night.

It's as difficult to convince a stubborn man as it is to fatten a windmill by running corn through it.

NORWOOD LADY DROPS LAMP AND CLOTHING TAKES FIRE

Mrs. William Webster Meets Horrible Death—Entire Community Shocked by the Tragedy

(Special to The Review)

Norwood. Nov. 20.—A most shocking and terrible accident occurred in Norwood on Sunday evening by which Mrs. Wm. Webster lost her life. While preparing to go to church as was her wont, Mrs. Webster, while handling a lamp in her home by some unaccountable means let the lamp fall which ignited her clothes and in less time than it takes to tell it her whole clothing was in a mass of flames. While prompt aid was given the unfortunate lady was so terribly burned that death relieved her of her suffering on Monday forenoon about 11 o'clock.

When the accident occurred, Mrs. Webster was alone in the room, her daughter being up stairs and the victim of the accident rushed out doors and threw herself on the lawn and tried to extinguish the fire by rolling on the grass. The neighbors rushed to her assistance, but her clothing was all on fire and before it could be extinguished she was so terribly burned that no hope was entertained for her recovery. Doctors Ford and Sutton were hastily summoned and did all in human power to help her but without avail.

The whole community is deeply moved by the terrible occurance and the family have the heartfelt sympathy of all. Mrs. Wesbter is survived by her daughter, Miss Fannie, who resided with her, and three sons Herb and Franklin, both of Asphodel and Wm. John of Calgary.

GARBAGE COLLECTION FOR 1918 WILL COST THIS CITY $7,500

Contract Let Last Night to Mitchell and Turner at a Figure $750 Higher than Last Year.

Three tenders were received by the committee of the whale council last night for the collection of garbage next year. George Mitchell and Frank Turner bid $7,500, Fred Raper and Justin Bladgett offered to do the work for $7,777 and A. B. Downey tendered at 7,900. The committee accordingly decided to give the contract to Messrs. Mitchell and Turner. The contract price for next year is $750 higher than that of this year after the $500 was added to induce Contractor Graham to finish his agreement with the city.

There was some suggestion that the city take up the work of collecting the garbage by day labor, but it was finally decided that the present is not the time to make a change which at the outset would be certain to envolve an extra outlay.

In Other Cities

City Engineer Parsons submitted a report as to the methods employed in other cities for collecting garbage. St. Thomas has a population of $17.-700. The work is done by day labor and last year it cost $5,157.43.

Stratford with a population of 17,500 and with the day labor system spent $9.063 in 1916 for the disposal of garbage.

Kingston wtih a population of 23,-023 uses day labor and in 1916 spent 10,877.

St. Catharines, population 20,000, spent $43 a day in 1916 for day labor.

London's population is 58,000, the day labor system is used and the coal last year was $25,156 with $11,874 extra after operating the incinerator.

Windsor has a population of 26,084. The day labor system is used but the yearly aggregate coal was not given in the report submitted last night.

It will be seen from the above that the collection of garbage costs less, even when the cost of the incinerator is taken into amount, than the cost in other cities in the same class.

READY FOR WINTER.

Last Contract for Shovelling Snow Has Been Let.

W. J. Stinson was last night awarded the contract for snow shovelling in the third district, his tender being $265 as against $250 submitted by A. Cooney. It was held by the members of the committee of the whole Council that Stinson had the better equipment. An amendment by Aldermen Stratton and McIntyre that the contract be let to the lowest bidder was voted down. A. Cooney got the contract for District No. 4. his tender being $125.

WHAT YOUR VOTE MEANS DEC. 17

Canada's good name will be brightened or tarnished next month. When the votes of her sons and daughters are counted the attention of the world will again be drawn to the Dominion. When the result of the voting is announced every country in the world will say, either that Canada is still in the circle of countries fighting for liberty, or that Canada is finished and is skulking from further battle shock.

Four hundred thousand of our sons have engraved with bayonet points the word CANADA upon the granite pillar of history. The name cannot be chiselled out, but the voters of the land, if a majority declare against the military service measure can add the words "faltered and failed" to Canada's record on the monument.

The men who volunteered and fought with the Canadian crest on their caps have done their duty. Leaders of the two great political parties who came together to breed strength from union have done their duty. It remains for Canadians, civilian and soldier to do their duty with the ballot as their weapon.

Whatever excuse and explanation Canadians at home could make to themselves for the defeat of Union Government, the world at large uneducated in the niceties of our differences and prejudices, will carelessly declare that Canada is done.

Germany will rejoice; Britain will regret; the United States will be shocked; and Canada, that towers in the world today will lose the golden opinion of friend and foe.

Our warriors have done their part; it remains for our voters to be true. In this election the marking of ballots should be looked upon as a sacred ceremony. By ballots is Canada to be consecrated or condemned.

WILL CONSIDER HIS PROPOSAL

MR. PETERS RENEWS REQUEST FOR PERMISSION TO BUILD BATHING PLACE.

It begins to look as if Peterborough is to have a bathing beach next summer, a beach maintained by private enterprise. George Peters, who has this matter in hand, appeared before the committee of the whole Council last night and again urged his application for a lease of one of the islands in the river north of the C. P. R. bridge. He is anxious to get to work at once clearing up the island and getting the beach ready for the opening of the bathing season.

If Mr. Peters is given the lease he proposes to erect dressing rooms on the west side of the island so that his patrons may bathe in a part of the river that is not affected by the sewage drained into it from Ashburnham. He will build a bridge from the east bank of the river to the island, a bridge high enough so that the structure will not interfere with the passage of yachts.

A special committee consisting of Aldermen Weir and Smith, City Engineer Parsons and City Solicitor Gordon will take up this proposition with Mr Peters.

STOCKINGS

On this subject we could tell you some wonderful stories about Stockings and Underwear. The general public has no idea yet how scarce these goods are going to be.

The Balkan States and other countries involved in the war were once great wool-producing countries. But now the different peoples are valuing mutton much more highly than wool. So you see, they cannot eat the sheep and have the wool, too. Sheep are getting scarce, and wool still scarcer, and what about stockings and underwear? Our best advice is, buy all you think you will need for some considerable time.

Your neighbors will gladly give you more money for them in the coming years, should you wish to dispose of them.

See our heavily knitted stockings, made from warm wool. All sizes. Pair 50c
Scotch Fingering Yarn Stockings, in all sizes Price 75c
Here is one of the biggest bargains in the lot. They are made from a fine, heavy Saxony yarn, tightly knitted in a two and one rib. When you reflect that it takes eight skeins of wool to make these hose, and the yarn even at the bargain price is 15c per skein, making the yarn alone cost $1 25, you will see how great a bargain they are when we quote the big size at only, per pair $1.00

STOP HEADACHES BEFOREHAND

You never had a headache when you were well.

To keep well is to keep clean, inside.

To relieve headache, and to prevent it, keep the liver active and industrious and the bowels as regular as a clock.

Two generations of healthy, vigorous people have done this by taking one pill at bedtime, regularly—a larger dose when nature gives the warning.

LABOR SAVING DEVICES.

For the Woman Who Spends Time in The Kitchen.

Because most of a woman's life may be passed in the kitchen is no reason why she should be a Cinderella. The modern woman in her kitchen is more like the scientist in his laboratory, surrounded as she is by all the new devices for the conservation of time and food.

The dishcloth is disappearing fast in favor of the dish brush. It is made of cactus fiber, which is not harmed by hot water, but really any brush is able to stand the strong soap and heat better than the hands.

There is a brush for cleaning vegetables, and, of course, you have one for jars, bottles and the like.

While you are on the subject of brushes please notice the long handle radiator brush for cleaning between and behind the pipes. It has a perforated wire back through which the water from the faucet may run, making it easy to keep clean.

An adjustable white enameled table top fits over the table, and converts the dingy old kitchen table into a shining joy, as easy to clean as a dish. These tops are priced according to size—smaller ones $2.25, larger $3.

A double omelet pan is worthy of note. It is made up of two pans hinged together in the center. When the omelet is done turn one side over, and all the trepidation usual at the turning of the omelet is over.

Almost every one knows that to boil silverware in an aluminum vessel will clean the silverware, but the question is how to clean the aluminum afterward. A cleaner is at last on the market which will polish dulled and stained aluminum with very little trouble.

NEW ROUTE TO WESTERN CANADA PROVING POPULAR

Runs Through Famous Belt of New Ontario and the Cobalt Mining District.

On your next trip to Western Canada why not travel over a new route, see the wonderful land opened up in Northern Ontario by the Transcontinental Railway and gain a glimpse of Temagami, and the Cobalt silver mining region?

You may use the famous trains on your journey without any added expense for railway fare as compared with any other route. The International Limited will carry you to Toronto, where "The National" starts on its westbound flight. "The National" uses the rails of the Grand Trunk to North Bay, the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario (Provincial Government Line) to Cochrane, and the Canadian Government Railways to Winnipeg, where it links up with the Grand Trunk Pacific for all important points in Western Canada.

A pleasant daylight run to Toronto, an evening in the Queen City, and "The National" is ready to carry you westward. The departure of "The National" from Toronto is at 9.00 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. North Bay is reached next morning and there opens up for your admiration all the lakeland beauties of the territory served by the T. & N. O. line. These are followed by a wonderfully interesting trip through the sparsely populated territory of New Ontario, giving the traveller an opportunity of inspecting this fertile region, including the famed clay belt where tens of thousands of settlers will make their homes in the future. The area of New Ontario is 330,000 square miles, fully four times the size of Old Ontario, and in addition to great expanses of good farming land, it has wonderful resources in timber, minerals, water power, fish and game.

The three railways have combined to make the passenger service over this new road the equal of that offered anywhere on the continent. The smooth, straight and level roadbed embodies all that has been learned in three quarters of a century of railroad building. The dining car service is unexcelled, and the greatest travel comfort is assured. Full particulars from any Grand Trunk Ticket Agent, or C. E. Horning, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

NEWS OF THE SHOPS.

Shopping for the kitchen is a pleasant duty, especially at this time, when hints of Thanksgiving feasts are in the air. Some primordial instincts gladden at rows of graniteware and carving knives. All classes of women confess to that, and there you are, back with an argument for those expostulating against the innate feminism of women.

Bargain hunting in the stores this week has fruitful prospects. Kitchen knife sets are selling at clearance prices in one of the stores. A set of four pieces, composed of kitchen cleaver, paring knife, kitchen carver and pot fork sells at $1.75. The articles are of carefully forged steel and well ground. A larger set of six pieces, including pot fork, paring knife, lunchknife, pastry knife and household knife retails at $2.50.

Damask carving or tray cloths, 18 by 27 inches, of good quality, sold at 85 cents in one of the shops yesterday. A fine stock of table linens is in for the holidays.

USE BARLEY AS A CEREAL IN ORDER TO SAVE WHEAT

Large Quantities of This Grain to be Used For Food Instead of For Making Liquor.

In our search for cereals to replace the valuable wheat which must be sent to our allies and use for our own boys' food let us not forget barley. This excellent grain is too often thought of only as an addition to soup. However, barley and barley flour have many uses in home cooking.

In the first place, it may be used as a breakfast cereal. Why is it that we always choose oatmeal or cornmeal when nothing is more delicious than whole barley thoroughly cooked and eaten with cream? Again, barley may be used as a general all around "filler" in many made dishes. It can be combined with tomatoes, stuffed into peppers and used with meat scraps in the making of many left-overs.

The most common kind of barley is the whole grain or "pearl" barley. There are also other varieties smaller and partly ground or broken. Such grains can be cooked whole and eaten like hominy in place of potato or the boiled barley may be allowed to set in a small mold and be used with various sauces as a simple kind of pudding.

Now that prohibition is working toward the prevention of beer manufacture, there soon will be released quantities of barley formerly used in liquor manufacture. Barley is easily grown and is not as likely to various rust and diseases as wheat. In other countries cakes and breads made of barley flour have long been known.

Barley has almost the same amount of nutriment as wheat and is very gelatinous. It has not much gluten, however and therefore cannot be used in the making of bread without the addition of some white flour. Barley flour may be purchased or a barley meal may be ground at home by the use of one of the small hand machines now so much in use as a means of economy. Practically every recipe where corn meal or whole wheat are used can substitute barley instead.

Many of us have been turning to rice as a good cereal and substitute for potato. Now rice costs more than barley per pound and also is not as nourishing, for while rice contains only starch barley contains also protein. Instead of boiled rice, some evening try boiled barley being sure that it is sufficiently salted. Meat stock of all kinds give flavor to barley and a dish made of any simple inexpensive stew meat, surrounded by mounds of boiled barley is both appetising and nourishing.

Let the housekeeper in search of economical cereals consider barley, try the different varieties and experiment with this new-old food cereal.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

WRESTLERS LAST LONGER THAN OTHER ATHLETES

Wrestling is one of the most strenuous of all sports. It demands the utmost in strength and endurance and agility. The mat game is the severest and most exhaustive form of exercise—yet take a look over the wrestlers.

They last longer than any other athletes.

Ball players, tennis players, boxers, runners and jumpers, and others are usually through as athletes at the age of 35—most of them earlier than this.

Wrestlers are just reaching their best at this age. And most of them are good for at least ten years more.

Gotch retired as world's champion at the age of 43—and then only because he suffered a broken leg. Who thought Gotch an old man? Yet we always speak of Hans Wagner as an antique, and he is only 43.

John Olin, the famous Olympic wrestling champion, and the first man to defeat Stecher, is over 40. So are Madralh and Charley Cutler about that age.

Has Not Lost a Fall

Aberg, the Greco-Roman champion of the world, is nearly 45. Aberg has not lost a single fall in the last thirteen years either!

Dr. Roller, who is known all over the country, is over 40.

Tom Jenkins, the former champion, who now teaches at West Point, wrestled continuously for thirty-seven years.

Stanislaus Zbyszko had been wrestling twenty-seven years before he was taken prisoner by the Russians at the outbreak of the war. He is still one of the omst formidable men in the game, and will no doubt be a factor to contend with after the war.

Anton Pierre, the Greek, died two years ago at the age of 66. He was a good man up to the year of his death.

The most remarkable athlete in the world is probably Patoubney, the Russian giant. Patoubney is 53 years old, and all the wrestlers are afraid of him. However, let us add that Patoubney is also 7 feet tall and weighs over 300 pounds.

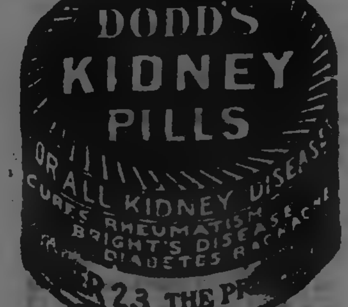
Beel s as Good as Ever

Little Freddy Beel, who threw big Tom Jenkins fifteen years ago, is as good today as ever. So is Tom Cannon, the Englishman.

George Bothner, who held the lightweight championship for such a long time, is a remarkable example of the good athletics can do. Bothner is 51 years old—but doesn't look even 40. He recently wrestled a five hour dray with a husky young rival by the name of Niflock.

Will Bingham, the jiu-jitsus expert, is 47—and never better. Bingham is a small man, and has had to struggle with big, strong fellows in most of his matches, too.

William Muldoon the daddy of them all, has a big health farm, and snow white hair, and a lot of money now, but can still give the best of them a struggle. Muldoon was in his prime over thirty years ago. He was a high class fellow, a gentleman and a great wrestler.



Baseball More Hazardous Than Ever

Baseball always has been more or less of a hazardous profession viewed from a financial standpoint, but now it is almost an impossible one. Last Thursday the minor league chieftains in their overzealousness for retrenchment and their realization whereby any player may be given his immediate release. The five day clause thus was abolished. This new arrangement makes a minor league baseball contract about as equitable as the Kaiser's submarine policy. Except in rare instances men who now go into the minors deserve to be put under the care of alienists.

Internationals May Suspend

With the failure of the attempt of the minor league officials to form a third major league from the Class AA organizations the outlook for the International League taking the field for the season of 1918 is not particularly rosy.

The probability of this result is practically confirmed by a statement made by Edward Barrow, president of the International. Barrow, who was in Chicago recently, said that if the matter was left to his decision he would recommend the suspension of the International for at least a year. He declared that the clubs lost money all along the lines last season and that the outlook was very gloomy. The International will have its annual meeting in this city on December 10.

Sunrise Practice

Believing that he can teach more intricate football to his men when they are fresh from their slumbers than when they have spent eight hours in stuffy classrooms, Dick Harlow, coach of the Penn State football team, has instituted what he terms "sunrise practice." For half an hour before breakfast the Blue and White varsity squad runs through a light signal practice on the freshman field. The crisp mountain air acts as a tonic on the men, and new formations are quickly grasped and, according to Harlow, the players have more zest for their classroom work. The "sunrise practice" will be part of State's daily gridiron program for the balance of the season.

GREAT WAR VETERANS DID

Comrade Muir was here reminded that this was irrelevant to the question under discussion.

Comrade Smith "I heard no member of the G. W. V. A. insulting either one of the speakers. None of us were responsible for the breaking up of Friday's meeting.

Comrade MacNab's resolution was here put to the vote and carried unanimously.

Routine Business

Lieutenant Archibald MacNab recently returned from overseas, was admitted to membership.

The Madam Gardini Concert was reported by Secretary Whatley, declared off. The Opera House was not open for the date Madam Gardini could engage herself for, and the executive had been advised not to proceed with the venture.

The New Quarters

Comrade Coleman reported that the association's sub-committee and that of citizens had decided to drop the Peeerborough Club proposition. In fact, Mr. G. N. Gordon, on learning that the G.W.V.A. must have the premises for their exclusive use, if at all, had abandoned the idea. The joint sub-committees had inspected rooms in the Oriental Hotel, and found them not desirable. Consequently they had mutually agreed on the flat in the Royal Bank Building, the lease of which for two years' extension if needed.

This met with approval, and it was decided to let the Ladies' Auxiliary, if organized, undertake furnishing the premises.

Comrade Birn was voted to officiate at Capt. Burnham's Committee rooms, over Lynch's Drug Store, every evening from seven to ten.

G.W.V.A. Band

Comrade here suggested that an effort be made to organize a band. Bandmaster Hughes and six or seven other musicians are in the association, and with training of others he thought a respectable band might soon be gotten together. A band would go a long way in furnishing entertainments to boast the G. W. V. A.'s funds.

President Staunton here said Mayor Duffus had given him assurance that as soon as such a band is started the 93rd instruments would be handed over to them.

Entertainment Committee

On motion of Comrade Coleman, the entertainment committee appointed last week will make it their business to promote entertainments and give heed to the question of the 93rd band instruments. Comrade MacNab's name was added to this committee, the personel of which reads as follows: Comrades Elliot, Watson, Hughes, Perks, Cook, Fallen, MacNab and Gilbert.

Women's Votes

Secretary Whatley pointed out that while in this election the wives, mothers and sisters of soldiers overseas had votes, a great number of them did not realize the situation, nor know what steps to take to assure themselves that their names are not omitted from the lists. "We and they are all out to win the war and should leave no stone unturned to bring it to a triumphant conclusion. "He thought the veterans should organize to coach the women as to their method of procedure, and in which direction their best interests lie. This matter will be taken up at an early date.

Duties of other people are always duly clear to us.

47 MEMBERS ARE IN SERVICE

SPLENDID RECORD OF A. S. K. BIBLE CLASS OF KNOX CHURCH.

The members of the Young Men's A.S.K. Bible Class of Knox Church met Friday evening and elected the following offices for the coming year: Hon. Pres., Rev. J. A. McKenzie; President, H. E. Henry; Vice-Pres., G. Cunninghan; Teacher, M. A. McKenzie; Secretary, H. Martin; Treasury, F. Goodfellow; Convenor Social Com., R. Williamson; Convenor Visiting Com., W. Smith; Convenor Athletic Com., W. Rehill.

After many compliments and good wishes were passed among the fellow-members they were invited to the basement where a grand spread was laid for them by the ladies of the "Volunteer Bible Class".

While partaking of the good things provided, music was frunished by a Diamond Disk Edison maching kindly loaned by the Green Music Co.

Mr. C. H. Thurber, the retiring president, who for the past two years has filled the position in an exceptionally efficient manner and under whose able management the class has grown and prospered, notwithstanding the fact that so many had volunteered for military service, and in appreciation of his faithfulness he was unanimously chosen as chairman for the evening.

On Active Service

A few appropriate remarks were made by the chairman on the success of the class for the past year. He mentioned the fact that 47 members of the A.S.K. Class were now on active service, but not withstanding this contribution of men to the Empire we have a membership of 25 and our organization is doing work second to none in the city (cheers). He also mentioned that three of the members in the persons of Wm. Toms, J. McGregor and H. Hill had made the supreme sacrifice within the last year fighting for our Empire and on behalf of the Class he expressed their sympathy to their friends present.

The officers in turn were called upon and made their resolutions for the coming year, after which Rev. Mr. McKenzie and the teachers of the Volunteer and A.S.K. Bible Classes made excellent speaches

A very pleasant feature of the evening was an address and presentations by the members of the A.S.K. Class to their teacher. Mr. A. McKenzie of a beautiful pearl tie pin. The Rev. Mr. McKenzie read the address and presentation was made by the chairman. Mr. McKenzie was taken by surprise, but thanked the members for their expression of esteem and would prize that gift as an indication of the good fellowship that existed between the class and himself.

A hearty vote of thanks to the ladies for their valuable help and cooperation in the past year and for the excellent banquet they provided was moved by Ross Williamson, seconded by H. Martin and the boys showed their appreciation of the ladies by singing (For They Are Jolly Good Fellows.)

After three cheers for the chairman and singing of the National Anthem. Rev. Mr. McKenzie dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Windsor Man Has Gained 20 Pounds

"I Now Know What a Wonderful Thing Tanlac Is," Says Pickell

"I have gained twenty pounds by actual weight and now I know myself that Tanlac is something wonderful." William S. Pickell, who made this remarkable statement is a well-known paint contractor and resides at 51 Windsor Ave., Windsor.

"About a year ago," continued Mr. Pickell, "I began suffering from stomach trouble and going down hill. My appetite went square back on me and I always had to be very careful about what I ate. I was very easy to take cold and was annoyed a great deal by a hacking cough caused by the irritated condition of my throat. I fell off to one hundred and thirty-eight pounds and felt run-down and tired all the time. My sleep was broken. I was very nervous and just felt worse than I can describe. Many days I simply felt like giving up entirely and it was by mere force of will that I kept at my work.

"I had read so much about Tanlac that I concluded to see if it was good for me and what it has done in my case proves its value in building up people who are all run-down like I was. I have a fine appetite now and eat just anything I want with no bad after effects. My sleep is sound and restful and I don't have that tired feeling any more. I now weigh one hundred and fifty-eight pounds so I've made an actual gain of twenty pounds already and have just finished my second bottle of Tanlac. I really feel like a different man, and two bottles of the medicine have done my daughter a world of good too. I expect to take a few more bottles and am telling all my friends how fine it is."

EDITOR'S MAIL

THE UNION MEETING.

Editor Review: Judging from several letters appearing in the local press there seems to be a wrong impression abroad as to what took place the meeting at Victoria Hall on Friday night. I think this impression should in fairness to me and others be corrected.

I want to say the audience listened quietly to every speaker including myself. There was no rowdyism, and the spirit of fair play exhibited by the large gathering was characteristic of the true British spirit. The only display of vociferous enthusiasm was at the mention of Mr. Burnham's name, and if the chairman had not, contrary to the British ideals of fair play and free discussion, tried to put the extinguisher upon Mr. Burnham by refusing his nomination, and ruling against free speech there would have been no protest against his action. As it was as soon as he changed his attitude there was a cessation of interruption.

The reason why the meeting broke up as it did, was because of the same chairman's partiality and his refusal to take a ballot—the only way in which it could be possible to arrive at the true result—and as many thought Mr. Burnham had the majority, they were justified in protesting against his ruling.

Mr. Burnham's supporters wanted a ballot, because they as much as anybody else wanted to have an Union candidate in name as well as in fact nominated, and they think after a ballot the nomination would have been made unanimous.

I therefore take exception to the statement in the press that the meeting broke up in confusion. It ended without a decision because the chairman made the mistake of failing to follow precedent by attempting to arrive at a decision by rule of thumb instead of by the ballot. I have no grudge against him, and think he felt it would be difficult to take the vote, but I attribute this more to his want of knowledge than to any sinister motive. The incident is to be regretted but it is no fault of Mr. Burnham's supporters who had no other alternative, and who acted as I maintain quite correctly.

Woman's Influence Subject of Debate

QUESTION DISCUSSED BY MEMBERS OF GEORGE STREET EPWORTH LEAGUE.

The members and friends of the George Street Epworth League spent a very enjoyable evening last night in the school room. The feature of the evening was a debate, Resolved "That women have more influence for good than men." This subject was very cleverly handled by Miss Eva Outram and Mr. Charlie Elliott for the affirmative and Miss S. Bennett and Mr. Nicholls for the negative. Miss Runnings made some very clever criticisms, and the judges, Mrs. (Dr.) Harvey, Miss W. Parker, and Mr. C. Parsons eventually decided in favor of the negative side.

Several vocal selections rendered by Miss Gladys Westaway of Port Hope, were greatly appreciated by all present.

UNION LEADERS AT PORT HOPE

HON. NEWTON ROWELL AND SIR GEORGE FOSTER URGE WAR'S CLAIMS.

Port Hope, Nov. 20.— Seldom if ever in the history of Port Hope has there been such a demonstration as that accorded last night to the Hon. N. W. Rowell, the Unionist candidate for Durham. Sir George E. Foster was also given a great ovation when he stepped on the platform. When Mr. Rowell rose to speak the audience jumped to its feet and gave cheer after cheer. The speaker expressed his appreciation to the electors of Durham for tendering him the nomination, and said that if elected he would seek to know neither party, class nor creed as their representative. He regretted the opposition, as he desired to give his assistance to other sections of the country. Any person wtih the knowledge of conditions at the front must realize that the claims were never greater than at the present time, yet under these conditions we must absent ourselves from Ottawa to take part in contests in various ridings.

"Strong men of both parties desire that I remain as your candidate. I place myself in your hands." said Mr. Rowell. "I have enlisted in the Government during the period of the war the same as our young men have enlisted in the fighting forces, and I shall leave it to you in the county of Durham to keep the home fires burning while I am away."

Sir George Foster in a stirring speech commended Mr. Rowell to the electors of the county.

An Hawaiian love story is told in "The Bird of Paradise," which will be the attraction at The Grand tomorrow (Wednesday) for two performances, by Richard Walton Tully. Mr. Tully, whose first stage success was scored even before he left the University of California, has been a Hawaiian enthusiast, and in his drama has given not only an absorbing entertainment, with one of the cleverest and most heart-loving stories recently written, but has provided a thoroughly saturate solution of factful comment upon every topic pertaining to Hawaii, its people and its invaders, both commercial and religious.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The British have begun a new drive on the Arras front. Many prisoners have been taken. The Hindenburg line has been broken to a depth of four to five miles, the war office announces.

British troops stormed the first system of the Hindenburg line defences on the whole front between St. Quentin and the Scarpe River, a distance of thirty-two miles.

ATTACK BEGUN YESTERDAY.

The attack was begun yesterday by the third army. There was no artillery preparation, and the Germans were taken completely by surprise. The second system of the German defences captured by the British is known as the Hindenburg support line. The British captured Benavis, Lameau Wood, Lavaquerie, the defences known as the Welsh Ridge, and Ribecourt village. Their operations are continuing. The British infantry and tanks pressed on and captured the second system of defences over a mile beyond. The British also fought their way through Couillet Wood. General Sir Julian Byng is in command of the attacking army. Several thousand prisoners have been taken. The whole German line west of the Canal Du Nord to the Bapaume-Cambrai road has been captured.

SURPRISED THE GERMANS.

"Yesterday morning the third army under the command of General Sir Julian Byng delivered a number of attacks between St. Quentin and the River Scarpe. These attacks were carried out without previous artillery preparation, and in each case the enemy was completely surprised. Our troops have broken into the enemy's positions to a depth of between four and five miles on a wide front, and have captured several thousand prisoners with a number of guns. Our operations are continuing.

"At the hour of assault on the principal front of attack a large number of tanks moved forward in advance of the infantry and broke through successive belts of German wire which were of great depth and strength.

"The towns of Havrincourt, Marooing, Graincourt and Anneux, and Neuf wood have been captured by the British.

TANKS CLEARED THE WAY.

"Following through the gaps made by the tanks, English, Scottish and Irish regiments swept over the enemy's outposts and stormed the first defensive system of the Hindenburg line on the whole front. Our infantry and tanks swept on in accordance with the program and captured the German second system of defence more than a mile beyond. This latter is known as the Hindenburg support line.

"In the course of this advanceeast county troops took the hanflet of Benavis and Lateu wood after stiff fighting."

GREATEST EFFORT OF THE WAR.

The British movement in its early phases gives the appearance of being the most ambitious that has been undertaken by them on the Western front since the creation fo their new armies gave them power to strike effective blows. The attack came almost without warning, the only premonitory symptoms being a series of somewhat elaborate trench raids. Even the rather extensive operations in this sector reported last night by the British war office, which the German staff announced it had taken measures to meet, gave hardly a hint that a push in any such force or over such a wide extent of front was in prospect.

There has been little speculation over the possibility of a British attack in force on the Western front this Fall other than of Flanders, where the main British effort was regarded as concentrated.

SIR WILFRID'S CAMPAIGN.

First Ontario Speech Likley Tuesday at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier will make his first Ontario speech of the campaign in Ottawa on Tuesday next. He will probably leave for Winnipeg on the day following. The date of his Winnipeg speech has not yet been definitely arranged, but it is likely to be December 3.

CANADIANS ARE NOT IN BIG DRIVE TODAY.

Ottawa reports seem to indicate that the Canadians were not very actively engaged in the present big British offensive, as the official statement of the war office mentions only English, Irish and Scotch brigades. It is thought here that the Canadians are in reserve camps at present.

UKRAINAN ARMY IS CALLED BACK FROM SERVICE

All Work at Russian Military Headquarters Is At Standstill.

TROTZKY IN FOREIGN OFFICE

Hopes That New Government Will Be Formed in a Few Days.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Petrograd, Nov. 21.—The Foreign office has been taken over by Leon Trotzky, Sub Secy. Neratoff, who has had charge since the arrest of M. Terestchenke, formally surrendering control and departing along with the other employes. Military staff headquarters work is reported to be at a standstill except the business of army supply.

The Volna Narodna says that within a few days Lenine and Trotsky will announce the successful establishment of a workmen's and peasants' goverument after which it is hoped that foreign governments will enter into official negotiations through the new foreign minister.

The military chief of the district of Kiev and the temporary governor with their staffs are reported to have left their posts. Ukrainian commissaries have been appointed to succeed them and they have confirmed the independence of the Ukraine.

Three hundred and sixty thousand Ukrainian troops are said to have been recalled from the front. The town Duma of Moscow has been dissolved by the revolutionary war committee.

PREMIER WILL TAKE ACTION

REFERS COMPLAINTS OF EXEMPTION TRIBUNALS TO MILITARY COUNCIL.

Capt. Burnham has received the following reply from the Prime Minister dated November 19th. Capt. Burnham wishes, however, to have it understood that whilst he conveyed complaints, as in duty bound, he himself offered no criticism of the tribunals. The following is a copy of the letter referred to:

Ottawa, Nov. 19, 1917

Dear Mr. Burnham—I am in receipt of your telegram of even date concerning the tribunals which are dealing with exemption cases in your district, and I am referring same to the Military Council M.S.C. for consideration. Faithfully yours.

FIVE THOUSAND HUN PRISONERS ARE ALREADY REPORTED TAKEN

All Depended Upon Tanks to Clear the Way and They Fulfilled Mission—An Innovation in War.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

British Army Headquarters in France, Nov. 21.—(By Associated Press).—The redoubtable Hindenburg line in the Cambrai sector was broken in many places today by a great force of British tanks and this afternoon the infantry which went through the gaps was still battling its way forward. The surprise attack was launched at dawn over a wide front.

In the first few hours progress was marked with evident success and up to latest reports received at this time, four p.m., had been moving along regularly according to schedule.

Prisoners In Thousands.

The prisoners captured were in thousands. The casualties of attacking forces thus far have been light. A great number of German dead lie before the main Hindenburg trenches where the bewildered enemy, taken unawares, made a half hearted attempt to stem off the on rushing Britons.

The battle was an innovation for the western front for it was begun without any preliminary artillery work. Upon the army tanks rested the responsibility for victory or defeat and they fulfilled all expectations. The iron giants went through the tremendous line of barbed wire entanglements in front of the main Hindenburg positions and on over the trenches as though they were on parade.

The British have taken five thousand prisoners in the presadvance up to this hour.

$619,700 FOR VICTORY LOAN FROM PETERBORO TO DATE

Yesterday's Work Netted $69,700—Workers Luncheoned by County Organizer Warren.

County Organiser Warren lunched the city and county workers for Canada's Victory Loan in Hooper's palm parlors last evening at 6 o'clock.

The viands were all that could be desired, and with their legs beneath the banquet table the company spent a happy hour or two, in the course of which they discussed plans of campaign and interchanged experiences in their canvass. Each and every one had encouraging reports to make, and all left filled with good edibles and optimism as to reaching the million dollar mark by the month's end.

$40,000 For Patriotism

This afternoon a deputation from the Patriotic Fund, headed by its chairman is waiting upon the council with a view to getting a grant the coming year of $40,000. The Country's appropriation last year was $36,000 and increased allowances to soldiers' defendants have constrained the committee to look for an additional grant of $4 000. In this connection the city council has before it a similar request to raise on its grant last year of $60,000.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 21, 1917

WILL HE ANSWER!

WILL MR. HALL answer these questions: Would he, if elected to Parliament, vote for the immediate enforcement of the Military Service Act, or would he favor Sir Wilfrid Laurier's policy and demand a referendum?

How would he vote as between the two leaders, to make Sir Wilfrid Laurier Premier of the Dominion or to keep Sir Robert Borden at the head of affairs?

THE VETERANS.

OF ALL HUMAN TIES that hold mortal men together in fraternity, those forged on the field of battle are without a doubt the strongest. Men who, shoulder to shoulder, face death day after day, conceive a respect for each other that is akin to love. No comradeship among men is so close as that which is born amid death and danger, no brotherhood so unselfish as that which holds together the veterans of a war, veterans who have fought and bled, not for pay, not for any personal gain, but who are actuated by that loftiest of all human sentiments, the love of native land.

It is fitting, then, that the veterans of this, the greatest war the world has ever seen, shall be given an opportunity to perpetuate the friendships that have been made in the trenches. All over Canada this association will exist as the greatest of all fraternal organizations. The world has been saved and made better by their sacrifices. It will grow in every form of grace so long as the men who preserved it from spoliation, continue to work together, as they will, for the common good.

When the veteran has done his duty as strength was given him, then let his service be held in grateful remembrance.

YES, THERE WAS DELAY.

THERE WAS CERTAINLY delay, as The Examiner asserts, in passing the Military Service Act through Parliament. The measure was one of the mosth radical ever introduced in the Dominion Parliament, and it was fough at every turn by a determined Opposition. Four months were consumed in debating the bill in its various stages.

What is that delay compared to the procrastination proposed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who, finding a law on the statute books ready to his hand, would suspend its actual operation for one whole year while he played for time, and while the soldiers, for whose aid it was designed, were left to carry their burden alone?

And The Examiner has the hardihood to chide delay in an Act in support of which it finds it impossible to speak a single word!

THE EXAMINER AND THE C. N. R.

THE EXAMINER these days finds itself in a corner. It cannot speak in praise of its party leader, it is giving but faint-hearted support to its own candidate at home. It dodges the great issue before the people. All it has left to talk about are such matters as the Alien Voters' Bill, the C. N. R., and the like. In its hands the latter question is as a loaded gun to the novice who handles it. Of all the great matters, aside from the war, that the Borden Government has handled, the C. N. R. purchase is one that most certainly can be rated as a masterstroke of statesmanship.

When the Borden Administration took office in 1911 they found two transcontinental railway systems under construction, both of them declared by the Parliament of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to be great systems, both loaded with guarantees and subsidies to the end that their construction might be assured. With unlimited means at their disposal, with the public treasury open to them, the railway companies hesitated at no work of construction.

The Borden Government found that the arrangements made by their predecesors had not been adequate. Over forty million dollars were wasted in building the C.N.R., and the work had to be taken over by the country. Three years ago the Government made another advance to the C. N. R., taking security on one hundred million dollars' worth of stock for forty millions, the road to be taken over by the people if the company defaulted. They did default, and foreclosure proceedings were started under a special statute.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier moved an amendment that thirty millions be paid for the stock of the road which a Royal Commission had decided was worth nothing. This amendment was voted down in the House, as the records of Hansard will show.

Hon. George P. Graham, who now finds himself without a seat, when the C. N. R. Bill was up before the House for its second reading in August last, moved that the contractors who had claims against the company be paid in full. This, too, was defeated. Mackenzie and Mann were really the contractors for their own road, and any money paid to contractors with unsatisfied claims would really have been a grant to the owners of the road that was bankrupt.

Who was it that really tried to take the people's money and give it to the railway corporation—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. George P. Graham, and those who voted with them, or the Government and its followers who prevented what would really have been a steal?

These are the facts, in the face of which The Examiner insinuates that the country has been robbed. No stock has been validated, as it alleges. Mackenzie and Mann were no more anxious to part with their white elephant than is the man to lose his house on which a mortgage has been foreclosed. The matter was not rushed through Parliament, either. The country may not pay another cent for the road, will not, if arbitartors declare that there are no visible assets. No matter what the arbitrators find, no matter if the Supreme Court of Canada found that the stock was really worth, say fifty million dollars, there is an Act of Parliament which sets the maximum price at ten millions. There are no obligations that the Government must assume, either. The transaction has everything to recommend it from a business standpoint.

By the C. N. R. deal the country gets possession of a line of railway, an express and a telegraph company, on a mortgage which the original owners are unable to redeem. The people are getting back their own by a perfectly legitimate business transaction. This is the property for which Sir Wilfrid Laurier would have paid thirty millions in cash, and for which Mr. Graham would have made an extra expense to the public by paying patched-up claims for construction work, every dollar of which payment would have gone into the pockets of the owners.

This, too, is the issue that The Examiner drags by the heels into the present campaign with no other object than to divert attention from the real problems of the day. There is not a statement in the above which it can controvert. Its case must indeed be desperate when it is obliged to play with facts and figures.

BAR THE ANONYMOUS.

IT IS TOO BAD if the present political campaign is to sink to the level of a village election scrap by the free and unrestricted use of the anonymous letter as a means of conveying the sentiments of the public. The cause of no man, be he politician or private citizen, is helped by some virulent letter to which the writer does not attach is name, and which teems with abuse of the men who have the temerity to oppose the man they champion. Let the anonymous writer in The Examiner take a leaf from the book of Mr. Hall himself. He has been through many a campaign in this riding, and he has yet to be heard to utter the first unkind or ungentlemanly word about his various opponents, vigorously as he may and does attack what they stand for. Mr. Hall cannot encourage this free-lance, strike-and-hide policy that is being adopted by some of his misguided supporters. In the heat of an election campaign especially, when men's nerves are on edge, no one should be permitted to attack another under the mask of anonimity. The Review has no place in its columns for such communications, and regrets that any contemporay sees fit to relax a rule which it was induced to make nearly two years ago.

There are graver matters than mere personalities involved in this campagin. The issue cannot be clouded by false testimony either on the platform or through the press. What would be thought of some timid or discreet soul who appeared on the public rostrum wearing a mask, and who through his disguise completely concealing his identity, spat fire and brimstone and hissed venomously at all who dared to differ from him? And yet such a man would be no worse than the anonymous villifier in a newspaper.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

IS IT TO BE Borden and Rowell or Laurier and Bourassa?

• • • •

• • • •

WITH ITS RECORD in the war, it is impossible to believe that West Peterborough is a Laurier stronghold.

• • • •

"LET LAURIER LEAD," says The London Advertiser. And Laurier will lead his compatriotas away from the foe.

• • • •

LIKE LLOYD GEORGE. Premier Borden always proves equal to any problem that rises up in his pathway.

• • • •

SPEAK OUT! It is only the pro-German who finds it necessary to take refuge in silence end cover up his tracks.

• • • •

A VOTE for Mr. Hall might make Sir Wilfrid Laurier Premier, and with the boys still in the trenches can you afford to take the risk?

• • • •

"UNITED WE STAND"—and it is almost impossible to believe the people will be foolish enough to choose the alternative.

• • • •

OF COURSE, everybody is ready to admit that The Examiner could make a better fist of it if it had anything of a case to work on.

• • • •

THE EASE with which he can secure candidates has probably misled Sir Wilfrid Laurier into the belief that the voluntary system is all right.

• • • •

THE CHICAGO dress designers have decreed that women's skirts shall reach the ground. And everyone thought that material was scarce.

• • • •

MORE THAN ONE pair of feminine eyes has seen Mr. Hall in the garden with Sir Wilfrid, so that it is useless for him to attempt to deny his master.

• • • •

SOME OF OUR public men have been exposed to German fire, but, unfortunately, those who most needed the experience were not the ones who defied fate.

• • • •

FOR ONE THING, the Dominion Government is doing its utmost to encourage the greater production of hogs, and to this extent at least Mr. Hall is effectively answered.

• • • •

WHEN THE CARES of life weary unto death the people of Toronto, they can always find relaxation in talking about the advisability of sending R. J. Fleming to jail.

• • • •

OUR CONTEMPORARY is respectfully reminded that journalistic monkey wrenches are designed for purposes of repair, not for wanton throwing into the internal economy of the machine.

THERE NEVER WAS such a war as his in the world before. There never were so many opportunities for the grafter. And, come to think of it, there never were so many grafterst caught with the goods and forced to take what was coming to them.

TODAY'S STORY

"Well, Mrs. Egan, you're looking very well after the scare last night. I was afraid some of the tenants would be laid up with nervous prostrations or something. You may wonder how I stood it myself, but in this business of ours we got to be used to everything what comes." The janitor's wife rested on her mop.

"I didn't mind it at all," replied Mrs. Egan, the picture of complete composure. "I hope, as you do, that the other tenants of the building were not badly frightened."

"Maybe they are, but they don't show it," said the janitor's wife. "But if I was a gossiping woman, with nothing to do but talk about my neighbors, I could tell a few things regarding what happened You know I could.

"Was you in the crowd that tore down the hall when Mrs. Hisben stuck her head out of the door and hollered fire? Wasn't that the most awful thing? That's the second time she did it in fourteen years. She's got fire mania. She's smelling smoke all the time and thinks the place is going up the flue. It's got to be stopped. There wasn't no fire—just some old rags in the basement.

"Especially when she has a husband who is more panicky than watered stock, as Mr. Dibio said to Oswald, my husband. Did you see Hisben? The minute his wife cried 'Fire'! he grabbed the canary and ran. Wasn't that a compliment when she was sitting right under the cage at the time? I don't think he meant it that way, though He could get another canary, but where in the world could he get another wife like her?

"Say, did you ever notice it's in a time like last night when a man's bravery is on exhibition? Did you see my Oswald? Cool as a bottle on the ice. And, let me tell you, Mrs. Egan, your husband was the same. While my Oswald was running down the halls with the hose looking for that woman's imaginary fire your husband was calming down the women and children like as if he was giving them directions for next week's Sunday school lesson. And it was no joke for him to be out there on the back porch with just one slipper on his feet and a pyjama.

"Mr. Winkler showed up nice, didn't he? They say he went down the back fire escape like a pop out from a gun. And when he turned the bend at the third going ninety miles an hour his bathrobe string caught on the grating of the fire escape and he went over the railing and was hanging there for forty-five minutes. Oswald knew it, but he always said let that man go hang. Now Winkler explains to everybody that he was on the top floor with Oswald and saved seven people.

"That was very pathetic like of the young newlyweds on the first. All they had to do was hop out the window on the grass if anything happened. But what do they do? He holds her in his arms as nice as you ever saw in the movies, and says: 'Darling, we shall both die together.'

"You ought to have seen my man Oswald wink at your husband. Well, anyway, you got to give the young feller credit. He didn't beat it with the canary or goldfish first."

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE.

Somewhere in France; 'Tis all that
I may know
Of him, my hero, with the first to go
Where duty to his country's high emprise
Called to the answering manhood
in his eyes,
As calleth deep unto the depths below.

For him there was no waiting for the slow
Uncertain summons. In his ear the blow
Of clarion sounded, ringing to the skies,
Somewhere in France.

His soul aflame with service seemed to glow.
He smiled at death, nor shrank from that grim woe
He knew full well was oft the soldier's prize:
Nor may I grieve if so my hero
dies
To sleep in fields where blood red poppies grow,
Somewhere in France.

Wit and Wisdom

Surprise for Teacher.

It was the first inspection and all the pupils were wearing their best clothes.

"Now, boys," said the inspector, "I want you to tell me what is a blizzard."

Silence reigned. The teacher glared at the top boy, then nodded to encourage him, and at last there came a look of pleading in her eyes. Slowly the boy's hand went up.

"Yes?" snapped the inspector. "What is a blizzard?"

"P-lease, sir," stammered the youthful encyclopaedia, "it's the—the inside of a chicken."

Patriotism in Apartments.

"I trust," said the landlord of the steam-heated apartment, "that you tenants will be patriotic this winter."

"In what way?" asked one of them.

"And not complain of the cold when I am doing my best to save on coal."

That Silenced Him.

The curious and inquiring old gentleman fired out a string of questions at the young flying officer who had the misfortune to be in the same railway carriage with him. The young man answered the first twenty or so questions politely, but after that he got a bit tired.

"That's a terrible poison that's just been discovered, isn't it?" he asked the old gentleman at last. The old gentleman pricked up his ears.

"What's it called?" he asked, interestedly.

"Airplane poison," said the R.F.C. man.

"Is it very deadly?"

"I should say so!"

"How much would kill a person?" went on the tireless questioner.

The R.F.C. man's eyes twinkled. "One drop!" he said. And silence reigned.

Not An Expert.

The bride received her husband with even more than usual affection.

"Charlie, dear, I have done you a great injustice," she cooed.

"How's that?"

"I thought you were deceiving me, and I asked every one of your men friends if you knew how to play poker. They all said you didn't."

Maternal Wisdom.

"So you think it's all right, mamma, for him to spend all that money on me?"

"Why not? If he isn't going to marry you, you are so much in; if he is, you are only establishing a proper precedent."

IRISH DENOUNCE GERMANY.

Lowell Manifesto Gives Pledge of Loyalty to Allies.

Lowell, Mass., Nov. 21.—German intrigue in Ireland was denounced in a manifesto adopted here by the Lowell branch of the United Irish League and mailed to party leaders in Ireland.

"As loyal American citizens we are most deeply interested in the cause for which the United States has entered the war, and we are utterly and irrevocably opposed to any policy that might injure the United States or her allies by giving aid and comfort to the enemy and thereby prolonging the war," says the manifesto.

The manifesto continues:

"As for any promises of independence for Ireland coming from Germany, with all our souls we denounce them as hypocritical and insincere. * * * We would a thousand times rather have Ireland remain under England than to pass under the sway of Germany to suffer later on such barbarous infamies as were practised upon Poland and Belgium."

MAY ADOPT CONSCRIPTION.

Newfoundland Must Find Some Way To Maintain Forces.

St John's, N.F., Nov. 21.—Selective conscription may be adopted in Newfoundland as in Canada to maintain the strength of the colony's overseas forces, in the opinion of Government officials here. It was asserted that the stream of reinforcements which hassent 6,000 men from the island to the firing line in the last three years, virtually has dried up, notwithstanding a vigorous recruiting campaign, and the Colonial Government has been advised that the Newfounland regiment, which has figured conspicuously in official statements, both at Gallipoli and on the western front, must soon be withdrawn unless more men are forthcoming.

Some speakers have set the number of men that should be raised at 1,000. It is pointed out that as there is a Union Government in the colony the solution of the problem should be easy.

"Charlie, dear, I have done you a great injustice," she cooed.

"How's that?"

"I thought you were deceiving me and I asked every one of your men friends if you knew how to play poker. They all said you didn't."

WOMAN AVOIDS OPERATION

Medicine Which Made Surgeon's Work Unnecessary.

Astoria, N. Y. — "For two years I was feeling ill and took all kinds of tonics. I was getting worse every day. I had chills, my head would ache, I was always tired. I could not walk straight because of the pain in my back and I had pains in my stomach. I went to a doctor and he said I must go under an operation, but I did not go. I read in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and told my husband about it. I said 'I know nothing will help me but I will try this.' I found myself improving from the very first bottle, and in two weeks time I was able to sit down and eat a hearty breakfast with my husband, which I had not done for two years. I am now in the best of health and did not have the operation." — Mrs. JOHN A. KOENIG, 502 Flushing Avenue, Astoria, N. Y.

Every one dreads the surgeon's knife and the operating table. Sometimes nothing else will do; but many times doctors say they are necessary when they are not. Letter after letter comes to the Pinkham Laboratory, telling how operations were advised and were not performed; or, if performed, did no good, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was used and good health followed.

If you want advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

The Epworth League of the Methodist Church held a rally service on Monday evening, the president, Miss Carrie Doxsee, presiding. A good program was rendered consisting of vocal and instrumental music recitations, etc., but the most interesting feature was a debate resolved that women are more useful than men in the world. The affirmative was ably supported by the Misses Ona Doxsee, Laura Smith and Jessie Wilcox. While the negative was grandly upheld by Messrs J. Homel W. Tate and Jack Parsons. Each of the speakers showed that a great deal of time and thought must have been expended in the preparation, as the points were well sustained and it was a difficult matter for the judges—Mrs. N. Beavis, Miss Conley and Mr. Wm. Warner to come to a definite conclusion. However, after considerable deliberation they finally decided in favor of the affirmative but only by two points. Judging from the oratorical powers of the several speakers, the outlook for public service is indeed bright.

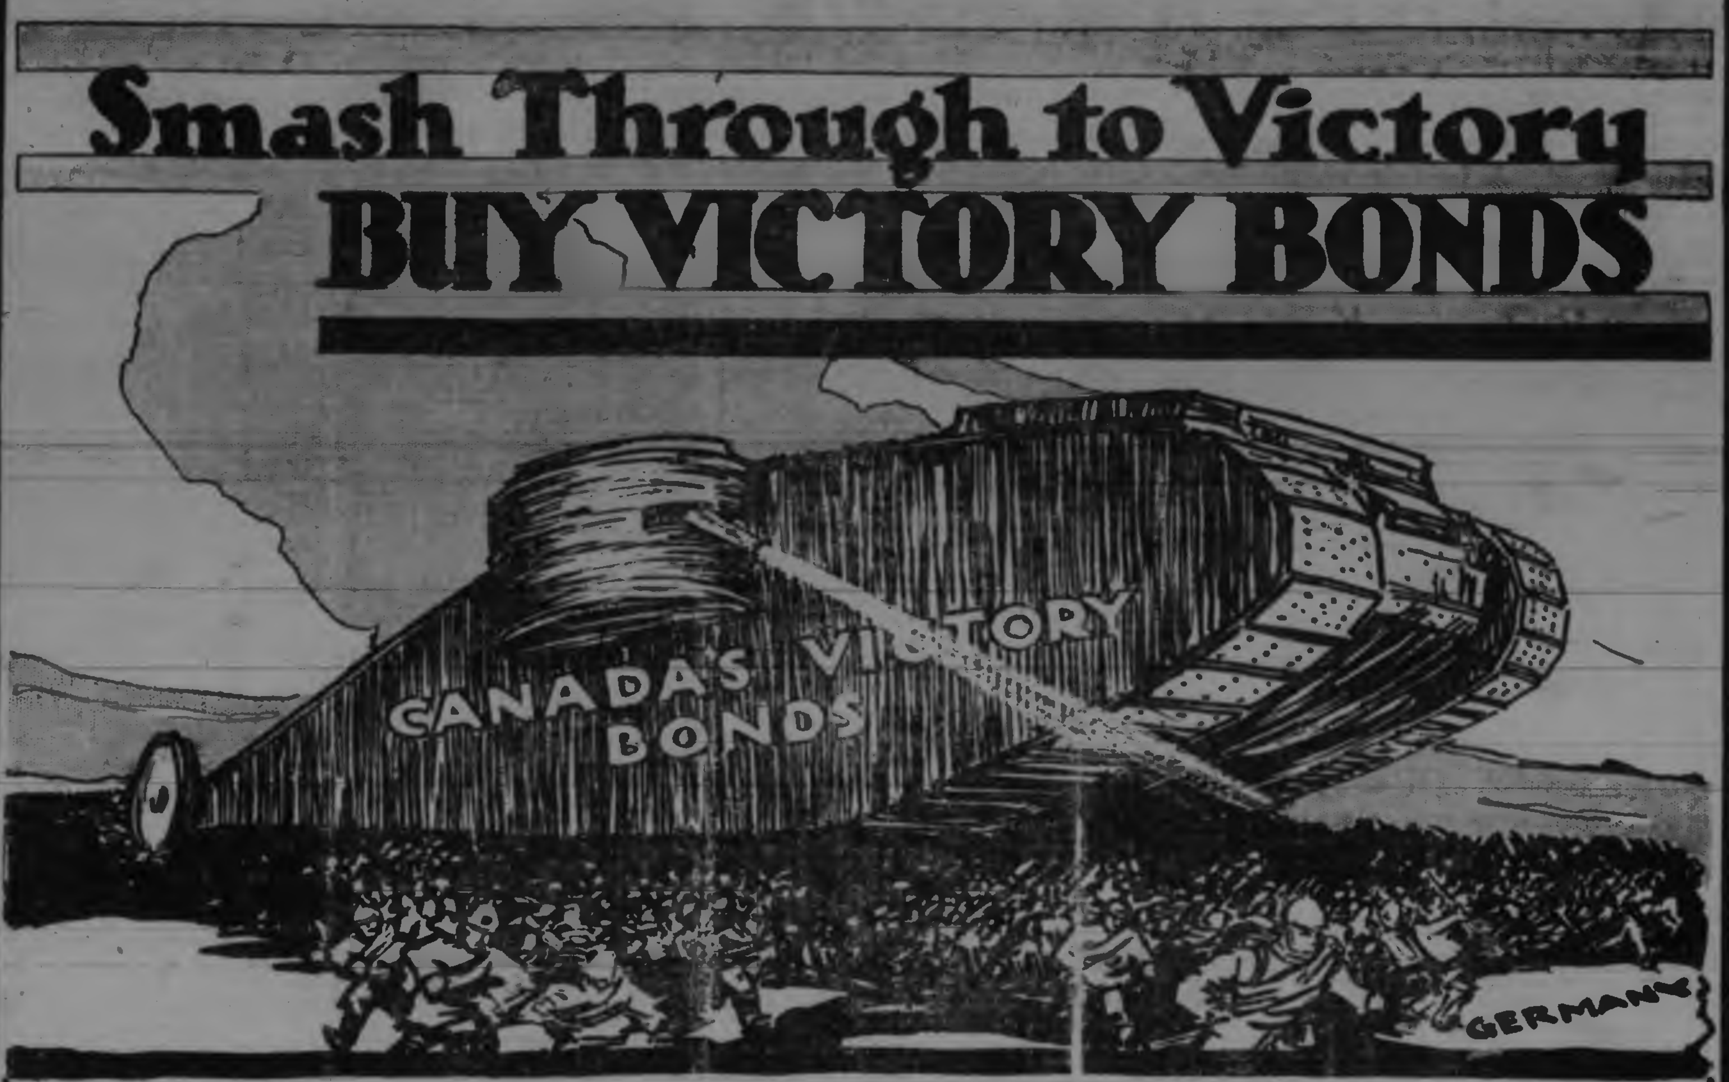
A Good Fellow Falls For Pie

Or Anything Else a Good Cook Prepares. Ask Him Why and He Will Say "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets."

"Hot Mince Pie! Fine, Fine; One of the Healthiest Things to Eat in the Whole List of Foods."

You can digest pie of any kind, eggs fried in pork fat, and lots of other so-called indigestiable foods if you follow meals with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. And it is from such food you get the most food value, the greatest energy, the highest degree of nutrition. But whether you eat these plain dishes or prefer salads, rarebits, fancy pastry and the highly seasoned special food it is all the same if you use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals. They digest food. They do what the weak stomach can no longer accomplish alone.

Get a 50-cent box of these tablets at any drug store, then eat heartily and note how comfortable you feel.



OVER at the battlefront, rolling onward remorselessly, its guns belching forth disaster and death to the enemy, the Tank smashes through all obstacles that bar the way.

And here in Canada the Victory Loan brings to every one of us the privilege of helping to crush the Hun with our money.

We cannot all serve in the trenches; we cannot all fire a gun or help to man a Tank; but we can all buy Victory Bonds.

What of your money? Is it helping to smash through to Victory?

The amount of the Victory Bonds you buy is the measure of your fighting power.

CAPT. BURNHAM'S ADDRESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

Election-day is December 17th. Its nearness admits of no further delay on the part of candidates in formally addressing you. It was hoped that political parties in West Peterborough might unite, as the members of the Borden Union Administration have done, in its support. But since the Liberal Convention has met and chosen its standard-bearer, who has not declared himself to be a supporter of the Borden Union Administration, it becomes necessary for me, without more, to solicit your suffrages. At the convention of the Conservatives of West Peterborough, duly assembled, I was chosen as their candidate to support Sir Robert Borden and his Administration. The Prime Minister has formed a Union Administration, composed of Conservative, Liberal and Labour representatives, to the end that he may the more fully and surely carry in a spirit of national unity and co-operation Canada's share in the war to a successful conclusion.

I pledge myself, therefore, with that same spirit of unity and co-operation, to support the Borden Union Administration and its policies, and I earnestly and respectfully solicit your votes and support accordingly. This is no ordinary political campaign, and it is hoped that all well-wishers of the Borden Union Administration will make every effort to secure the return of its supporters.

I have the honour to remain,

Yours truly,
J. H. BURNHAM.

Even Air Cut Off, Says Alice Paul

SMUGGLED NOTE TELLS HOW SUFFS ARE TREATED IN PRISON.

Washington, Nov. 21. — Woman's party leaders here made public the communication giving details of the treatment of Miss Alice Paul, their chairman, now serving a term of seven months imprisonment for picketing the White House. In the note which was smuggled from the district jail hospital Miss Paul said:

"Miss Winslow and I are at opposite ends of this building, each locked in a room with an iron barred door. I saw her as they brought me on a stretcher from the ward, but have not seen her since. We are each in a ward with three windows. Today they nailed two of my windows shut so they cannot be opened. The third window has been nailed shut at the bottom, so that the only air I have now is from the top of one window. This was done by order of Dr. Gannon (the jail physician). He seems determined to deprive me of air because air was one of the things we demanded in our letter asking for recognition as political offenders. We have of course been deprived of everything else that was included in our original demand letters, books, visitors, decent food, except as they force it upon us through tubes.

"I was locked in my room, so I did not see the other inmates except once or twice when they came and looked through my bars. One could hear them, however. The last morning I was there the cries began at 5.30—I turned on the light to look at the time—the cries had probably wakened me. The morning before they began when it was still dark. When one person started shrieking the others usually joined in and continued for an hour or two. Then all would be silent for several hours and the cries would be resumed."

Mrs. Mary A. Nolan, who was sent to Occoquan workhouse last week, will be released tomorrow. Her term of imprisonment was only six days.

QUEBEC TOLD TO BEWARE

Attitude Will Ostracize Province, Says Archdeacon Cody

"In the interests of Quebec, as well as the interests of the whole Dominion of Canada, I hope that the leaders of Quebec will not do dishonor to the ancient name and fame of those who came of gallant French stock."

Thus did Venerable Archdeacon Cody express himself when addressing the Irish Protestant Benevolent Association at the Normal School, and alluding to the manner in which the tribunals down there are treating the applications for exemption under the Military Service Act. "If the tribunals in the Quebec Province," he added, "continue to exempt men at the rate they have been exempting them, it will be little short of a farce."

The Archdeacon's subject was "The New Era in Canada" and in the course of his address he reviewed Canadian history, in order to show that every big advance in the Dominion's national life immediately followed a period of strife and tribulation. He anticipated another period of prosperity at the conclusion of this great war, and the influence of returned soldiers, the women's franchise, and the lessons taught those at home would have much, if not all, to do with the change for the better. It would be the subject of much regret were one section of the Dominion to hold aloof from its responsibilities and evade its burden of the war, for, if persisted in, it could only have the effect of isolating that section so long as Canada remained a nation.

That Silenced Him.

The curious and inquiring old gentleman fired out a string of questions at the young flying officer who had the misfortune to be in the same railway carriage with him. The young man answered the first twenty or so questions politely, but after that he got a bit tired.

"That's a terrible poison that's just been discovered, isn't it?" he asked the old gentleman at last. The old gentleman pricked up his ears.

"What's it called?" he asked interestedly.

"Airplane poison," said the R.F.C. man.

"Is it very deadly?"

"I should say so!"

"How much would kill a person?" went on the tireless questioner.

The R.F.C. man's eyes twinkled.

"One drop!" he said. And silence reigned.

AT THE ROYAL

In Verona lived two rival families the Montagues and the Capulets, between whom a feud had existed for many years. Romeo, son to Montague, met and fell in love with Juliet, daughter to Capulet, and the two were secretly married.

Immediately after the ceremony, Romeo became embroiled in a duel with a cousin of Juliet, and killed him.

The result was that the young nobleman was banished, and had to leave his wife of a day. Meanwhile old Capulet had arranged for his daughter to marry another man, Count Paris. Rather than do this Juliet took a sleeping potion. Her parents thought her dead, and placed her in the family vault, where Romeo, hearing that his wife was dead, found her. Overcome with grief, the youthful Montague took poison. Juliet, on awakening from unconsciousness, learned what had happened, and ended her life.

STOCKINGS

On this subject we could tell you some wonderful stories about Stockings and Underwear. The general public has no idea yet how scarce these goods are going to be.

The Balkan States and other countries involved in the war were once great wool-producing countries. But now the different peoples are valuing mutton much more highly than wool. So you see, they cannot eat the sheep and have the wool, too. Sheep are getting scarce, and wool still scarcer, and what about stockings and underwear? Our best advice is, buy all you think you will need for some considerable time.

Your neighbors will gladly give you more money for them in the coming years, should you wish to dispose of them.

See our heavily knitted stockings, made from warm wool. All sizes. Pair 50c
Scotch Fingering Yarn Stockings, in all sizes. Price 75c
Here is one of the biggest bargains in the lot. They are made from a fine, heavy Saxony yarn, tightly knitted in a two and one rib. When you reflect that it takes eight skeins of wool to make these hose, and the yarn even at the bargain price is 15c per skein, making the yarn alone cost $1.25, you will see how great a bargain they are when we quote the big size at only, per pair $1.00

HOW SERGT. MOWRY FEEDS 1050 SOLDIERS DAILY

Sends to The Review Some Excellent Suggestions on Dealing With High Cost of Living.

The Review has received the following letter from Sergt. Mowry:

To Whom It May Concern:

Just a few lines to this paper on its campaign for economy in food, not that I wish to make a statement, but only to help those who may need help and to show them the easy way out of their hard tasks.

I was reading in your Daily paper, which Mrs. Mowry, my wife, sends me, your War Time Menu for each day in the week and again I read the list of what it takes to make up all these dishes. Butter at two shillings, or two shillings six-pence, and sugar is something that is to be looked at nowadays. Why I feel I should write a few lines to the mothers and wives who think to themselves how can it be done. Everything so dear and what can be bought at all.

Well, I have cooked in the Army now for about 28 months and I have fed as many as 1050 men daily and have tried every way to serve them with different dishes each meal and now we have what is called a Canadian diet sheet, and if you find that these will be of any service to you, why I will send them to you weekly and it has the seven days, three meals a day on it and what is more it has all the recipes for ecah meal, breakfast, dinner and tea, and it also gives the amount of each article to be used, which is on the back of each diet sheet, and can give you a few ideas of how to prepare different vegetables and other dishes. I will enclose one of these sheets to show you and if they are of any use to you, why I will be only too glad to send them to you each week, so please let me know.

I hope everything in Peterborough is O.K. and I wish that I was there myself, but don't care to return until we return the right way and that is when the Huns are beaten.

With best wishes to all, I remain,

Yours truly,

PROVISIONAL COM. WOMAN'S AUXILIARY G.W.V.A. IS NAMED

Stirring Meeting Last Night—W. E. Turley Delivers Spirited Address to Representative Ladies, Veterans and Citizens.

The nucleus of a Woman's Auxiliary of the Great War Veterans' Association was vested last night in the following Provisional Committee: Mrs. Knox, president; Mrs. E. Bartlett, secretary; Mrs. McLeod, Mrs. McNeely, Mrs. Galvin, Mrs. J. Lillico, Mrs. J. Layfield, Mrs. R. R. Hall, Mrs. J. F. Crowley, Mrs. J. Perry, Mrs. Bugg, Mrs. Wm. Stanley, Mrs. Fred White.

These ladies are fired with enthusiasm in the commendable cause, and will meet the War Veterans' executive and citizens' sub committee in the Council Chamber, Thursday night to plan for the thorough organization of a Womans' Auxiliary, the successful accomplishment of which seems assured.

The First $25

The first task before this new organization of ladies is that of buying furniture for the veterans' new club rooms over the Royal Bank, possession of which it is hoped will be taken within a month. This gentlemen's self-imposed duty as Mr. G. N. Gordon put it, is to raise the cash and the ladies to spend it.

Mr. J. J. Turner, President of the Board of Trade, was heart and soul in the movement and taking Mr. Gordon's hint gave notice that he had put by $25 for club room furniture and had no doubt but that the required amount would be readily subscribed. He congratulated the meeting on its selection of Mrs. Knox as convener of the Provisional Committee. As far back as eight weeks ago he had heard her agitating in the interests of a Woman's Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A. and he felt sure the convener and her associates would find the public behind them.

Saves Their Credit

Mr. Gordon rejoiced in the advent of a Womans' Auxiliary at so opportune a time as to save, in the furnishing of a Veterans' Club rooms, the credit of half a dozen men, including himself, who were absolutely stuck and did not know how to get out of the difficulty.

Mayor Duffus felt the successes of the Women's organization assured in the personnel of its Provisional Committee, and fully expected that the City Council would provide the rent of the new club rooms.

His Worship Presided

Mayor Duffus called the meeting to order sharp at eight o'clock, when an encouraging representative gathering of both ladies and gentlemen was present. He expressed his sympathy with the movement, but thought that the ladies having done so much work already for the war it might not seem fair to impose upon them additional patriotic tasks. However, he was fully convinced that the G.W.V.A.'s interests would be appreciably augmented by the affiliation of a Womans' Auxiliary.

Comrade Toone was here named secretary of the proceedings.

Captain Burnham

Said that he had no hesitancy in using his election opponent's name in saying that both Mr. R. R. Hall and himself were of one opinion that everything possible should be done to promote and consolidate the organization of a Womans' Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A. He hoped for active cooperation in this respect, and declared that the chief consideration by the ladies when organized would be furnishing the veteran's new temporary headquarters.

The ladies, he continued now have equal rights with the men and as soon as they acquire the art of talking (on the platform of course) they will be quite capable of publicly defending and promoting their equal privileges with the sterner sex.

Captain Burnham asked that both Mr. Hall and himself be credited with wishing God speed to the new ladies' organization, for whatever can be done for the soldiers who have fought and are fighting in defence of Canada and the Empire overseas is a matter in which the wish "God speed" might well be expressed. (Applause.)

Spirited Address

Mr. W. E. Turley of Toronto, Provincial organizer for the G. W. V. A. gave a forceful and spirited address in the course of which he said in part:

The Great War Veteran's Association was conceived in Flanders, born in Toronto and christened in Winnipeg, last year, since which some $2,000,000 have been spent for returned soldiers, and the dependants of those overseas, and the dependants of men who would never return. The idea of G.W.V.A. club rooms is to afford opportunity for soldiers associated with each other at the front to renew their comradeship in civilian life. But a club of the desired spirit cannot be assured if it be composed of some men who have been and others who have not been overseas. Hence the restrictions to veterans.

Some people, Mr. Turley went on to say, imagine that these club rooms develop into abodes for loafers and loungers; but such is no more the case than with working men's clubs in England, which engender mutual improvement and produce politicians of the highest order. And nine out of every ten members of the G. W. V. A. are self-respecting men who will see to it that their headquarters never become the abode of loungers and loafers.

$27,000 From Toronto Women

The cooperation of the ladies in this work, continued the speaker, is always a big factor. This was demonstrated in the Massey Hall, Toronto, last fall, when women paid tribute to this organization to the extent of $5,000 thrown into a barrel on the stage. Since that time they have raised another $22,000, making $27,000 in all toward the purchase of a club building which will stand as a memorial to the veterans and the dead who have fought for them against the Huns. That money is invested in war bonds, where it will remain until after the war. The veterans are now occupying rented premises, the furniture of which for the most part was contributed by tradesmen. There has been no need in Toronto to beg for what was after all only a measure of appreciation of the soldiers' pluck and heroism abroad.

No Ornamental Memorials

After declaring that it is not wise during the war to invest large sums in permanent club buildings, Mr. Turley went on to say that 99 out of every 100 veterans are agreed that the best a memorial can take is that of club accommodation, where comradeship cemented on the battle fields of France may be renewed and maintained at home. Not one in a hundred want to see money spent in ornamental memorials of no service to the veterans themselves.

An Unselfish Movement

Then the work of the G.W.V.A. is not entirely centered in its own members, for the 3,000 veterans in Toronto have obtained and directed to the aid of wives and dependants of soldiers now overseas and those who will never return no less a sum than $187,000.

Non-Political

The association declared the speaker is non-political. From coast to coast there is not one man in the election field running as a G.W.V.A. candidate. We are too busy to interest ourselves in politics, although we did frame a strong resolution in favor of conscription, because we conceived our first duty to be in support of our brethren at the front. And the endorsation of men pledged to support and relieve the Canadian divisions overseas does not constitute the G.W.V.A. as political in any sense.

"I firmly believe the day will dawn when the G.W.V.A. and women combined will make for a better country of Canada, especially for those who have fought for Canadian liberty and independence."

In conclusion, he explained that the Womans' Auxiliary in Toronto is composed of four company areas in each of which a branch undertakes all social work in connection with the G.W.V.A. This organization of women has accomplished work in which the men would fall down.

Shoulder To Shoulder

Mrs. Knox on being appointed convener of the Provisional Committee of a Womans' Auxiliary urged that the women organize and stand shoulder-to-shoulder with the men who had fought and bled for them at the front and organize at once.

Vote of Thanks

On motion of President Staunton and Secretary Whatley a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the Mayor, Comrade W. E. Turley and all who had co-operated in the success of the meeting.

The evening closed with singing the National Anthem.

Hamilton police have made their first arrests under the Military Service Act.

R. R. HALL'S ADDRESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

I have the honor to accept the unamious nomination of the Liberal Party to contest the election as a Candidate to represent the people of West Peterborough in the House of Commons.

MASSES REQUIRE JUSTICE

Now is the time in the history of this country when we should be guided by true Liberal principles and stand by the masses as against the classes; stand by the people who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow and against the classes who exact unjust profits and extortionate tolls out of even the very necessities of life.

WAR POLICY

Today we are engaged in a great War with the Germanic powers in defence of Canada and the Empire. In the great struggle is involved the very existence of the freedom and liberty of mankind.

Our duty is plain. Our course is clear. We must prepare for any sacrifice of blood and treasure. We must fight Germany until we secure a just and a lasting peace. In this resolve all Canadians are united from Lake Champlain to the North Pole and from our furthest East to our furthest West.

Such being our Nation's resolution I pledge myself to support any effective war measure no matter from what source it may come. We must give immediate and constant support to our noble Canadian armies who have covered themselves with glory. We must support them with men. We must feed them. The rich and poor alike must serve. Our only difference is in how to serve but serve we will.

FOOD PRODUCTION

Great Britain has appealed to Canada to send her 400,000,000 bushels of wheat to feed her teeming millions and those of Italy and of France.

This enormous quantity of wheat would feed 40,000,000 people for a whole year. This shows our Allies want food.

To this appeal the Borden Rowell Government only answers, eat less, slay and eat the calf and the lamb and prepare for meatless days.

Let the Government encourage the Farmer to produce more. Give him agricultural implements duty free. Supply him with suitable labor on fair terms to till the soil. Use our banks and Loan Companies to lend him money on fair and easy terms of payment to assist in every possible way to plant and produce food stuffs. Supply the farmer with steam or gasoline tractors to enable one man to do the work of five. Shield us from the profiteer who plunders the farmer and robs the consumer, makes a profit of a million a year and supports Sir Robert Borden and his hypnotizer Sir Joseph Flavelle.

A forward policy on these lines would be a double blessing. It would reduce the cost of living at home and would help supply the necessities of our Allies overseas.

Remember one single North West farmer produces 2000 bushels of wheat per year when well directed and equipped. 100,000 men would produce 200,000,000 bushels of wheat. Those already on the ground in the North West properly equipped and manned could produce 200,000,000 bushels more.

I pledge myself, if elected, to support prompt and immediate efforts to reduce the high cost of living.

BORDEN DISCRIMINATES AGAINST ENGLAND

Since the war began the Borden Government imposed an increased duty of 5 per cent. on British made goods entering Canada. This should be removed at once. Our great Mother of Nations has troubles enough without the Borden Government thus increasing them.

PROFITEERS AND SOLDIERS

The profits made by War Profiteers should be investigated. The profiteer should be made to disgorge his excessive profits to be used to increase the pay of our soldiers and to increase the pensions or allowances to our soldiers, their mothers, wives, sisters and dependents. None of them should ever be subjected to the indignity of "cold charity" by this grateful Nation on whose behalf they have suffered or died.

NO CONFIDENCE IN BORDEN

Sir Robert Borden has been for six years and is now the Prime Minister of this Country. Its chief head and front with full power to choose and remove his Ministers. He is appealing to this Country under an assumed name, but the policies and methods of his Government remain.

I cannot stop to repeat the well known charges of grafting proved on sworn testimony from the mouths of unwilling witnesses respecting the purchase of motors, of horses, of binoculars, of bandages, of drugs, of boots, of shells of gauze fuse and of all the implements of war.

These unseemly transactions have taken place under the nose of Sir Robert Borden who now seeks to stifle and conceal further investigation with the hollow pretense of so called Union Government which in no sense whatever represents true believers in the principles of justice, truth and liberalism.

BORDEN CONDEMNED FOR SUPPLYING DEFECTIVE AMMUNITION

I have no confidence whatever in Sir Robert Borden who supplied our troops for many months with the Ross Rifle and defective ammunition which he must have known would jam and become a useless weapon after our Canadian boys had nobly entered the battle. The Ross Rifle was used by our troops at the six battles of St. Julien, of Civenchy, of Festubert, of St. Eloi, of Zillebeke and of Sanctuary Wood. In each battle the rifle jammed and many a Canadian soldier was needlessly killed or wounded and some of them today languish in German prisons justly cursing the Borden Government without a chance of voting against it.

GRAFTERS

We must destroy the parasite, the profiteer, the grafter and camp follower, who are our worst enemies and fight our common foe with all the resources at our command.

TO OUR NOBLE WOMEN

I appeal to the women of this Riding who are casting their vote for the first time to act on the pure impulse of your heart alone and vote according to the dictates of your own conscience. My heart goes out in sympathy for you in these anxious times. I know your "beloved is white and ruddy; the chiefest among ten thousand. His countenance is as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars" and by him and his I pledge myself to stand.

UNITY OF ACTION AND SENTIMENT

Let us unite our people in this Great War as the armies of Great Britain and of France are united, marching and fighting side by side, the parents and guardians of Freedom and Justice.

"With firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right" I appeal to you fellow electors to press on to finish the great war in which we are engaged "to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, his widow and the orphan to do all which we may achieve and cherish a just and a lasting peace with all nations."

For these reasons I appeal to you my fellow electors for your vote and influence in the pending election.

Your Obedient Servant.

R. R. HALL.

JAW SIGN OF LOVELINESS

Eskimo Girl Who Can Chew Most Popular With Men

The Eskimo husband requires that his wife shall possess two essential accomplishments. She must be able to trim a lamp, and she must be able to mend her husband's clothes. This mending is not the kind of thing common in England. The garments are heavy, and they must be manipulated with bone needles and leather thongs. The wife also mends her husband's boots. Before she begins, she is obliged to chew the tough leather into comparative softness. Eskimo girls marry when they are twelve, and the girl with the strongest jaw has the most suitors. the Eskimo being an eminently practical person.

NEW ROUTE TO WESTERN CANADA PROVING POPULAR

Runs Through Famous Belt of New Ontario and the Cobalt Mining District.

On your next trip to Western Canada why not travel over a new route, see the wonderful land opened up in Northern Ontario by the Transcontinental Railway and gain a glimpse of Temagami, and the Cobalt silver mining region?

You may use the famous trains on your journey without any added expense for railway fare as compared with any other route. The International Limited will carry you to Toronto, where "The National" starts on its westbound flight. "The National" uses the rails of the Grand Trunk to North Bay, the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario (Provincial Government Line) to Cochrane, and the Canadian Government Railways to Winnipeg, where it links up with ~~the Grand Trunk Pacific for all-im~~portant points in Western Canada.

A pleasant daylight run to Toronto, an evening in the Queen City, and "The National" is ready to carry you westward. The departure of "The National" from Toronto is at 9.00 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. North Bay is reached next morning and there opens up for your admiration all the lakeland beauties of the territory served by the T. & N. O. line. These are followed by a wonderfully interesting trip through the sparsely populated territory of New Ontario, giving the traveller an opportunity of inspecting this fertile region, including the famed clay belt where tens of thousands of settlers will make their homes in the future. The area of New Ontario is 330,000 square miles, fully four times the size of Old Ontario, and in addition to great expanses of good farming land, it has wonderful resources in timber, minerals, water power, fish and game.

The three railways have combined to make the passenger service over this new road the equal of that offered anywhere on the continent. The smooth, straight and level roadbed embodies all that has been learned in three quarters of a century of railroad building. The dining car service is unexcelled, and the greatest travel comfort is assured. Full particulars from any Grand Trunk Ticket Agent, or C. E. Horning, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

FARMERS WILL MEET TO TALK OVER GREATER HOG PRODUCTION

Two farmers representing each township of the county met in Peterborough on the 15th at the request of the local representative of the Department of Agriculture for the purpose of considering what could be done to increase the production of bacon hogs.

Food Controller Hanna at a recent meeting of farmers from every county in the province emphasized the need of greatly increasing the production of hogs when he said, "that the supply of pigs in Europe is 33,000,000 short of the normal. In Canada we have only three and one-half million hogs. The shortage in Europe is therefore ten times as great as our total hog population. But great as is the present shortage, European hogs will be depleted even more rapidly as the war goes on, and if it lasts long enough the European hog will be exterminated. In the United States the hog population is ten per cent. less than it was one year ago. In Canada we are just about holding our own."

He announced that there will be no fixing of maximum or minimum prices on hogs. The universal shortage, he considers, guarantees a strong demand and a profitable price. He will, however, take measures to regulate the "spread" between the price paid to the producer and the price paid by the consumer for pork produced. This, it is believed, will prevent fluctuations and stabilize the market.

The present embargo on United States corn will be removed as soon as the new crop is ready for market, and Canadian feeders can have all they can pay for. As this year's United States corn crop is the greatest on record, the new crop corn should sell at a reasonable price. Mill feeds such as shorts and middlings are to be given to the farmers at cost; that is, the profits of the millers are limited to 25 cents a barrel of flour, and they have been instructed to take all their profits out of flour and sell mill feeds at cost. Elevator screenings, which are a splendid pig feed, but at present prohibitive in price, are to be made available to the Canadian farmer at a minimum of cost.

"I believe it is sound business to increase hog production as much as possible during 1918," says Food Controller Hoover of the United States. It is more than sound business. If every Canadian farmer will raise one or two more litters of pigs in 1918, and the United States farmers will do the same, it will have an appreciable effect on the duration of the war.

This situation was fully explained and the scheme the Department contemplates putting on was announced. It was as follows:

That one or more farmers from each concession in the townships be invited to attend a meeting, when the situation will be discussed fully. These men will be asked to impress their neighbors with the seriousness and the need for greater production. It is proposed that the census will be taken of the number of brood sows kept in normal times on each farm, the number kept now, and the number which will be kept. In this way the Department hope to secure accurate information as to the per cent. of increase there will likely be. On the provincial farms the Government contemplates the placing of about 600 brood sows where 140 were kept in normal times.

The township meetings will be held next week in the county of Peterborough.

Her Butter Was Short In Weight

Mrs. Whatley of Smith was fined $10 and $2.60 costs at the police court this morning for a breach of the Dairy Act.

She was accused of having sold to a woman on Park street short weight butter, and complainant in the witness box substantiated her claim. Complainant also swore that the butter was not edible for table use, and could be used only for cooking purposes. She had paid 50 cents per pound.

Five pounds of the butter was taken to the police station, and on being weighed tipped the scales half a pound short.

It's a pretty state of things when butter at 50 cents a pound is sold to confiding citizens half a pound short in five-pound lots, and the fine was well merited.

Premier Borden and Quebec Nationalists Wholesale Exemptions In Quebec, Suffering and Sacrifice For Ontario.

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

Borden, Bourassa, Blondin, Sevigny & Co. were partners to defeat Laurier in 1911 and are partners still.

Borden the Chief member of this partnership proclaimed to the electors of Ontario in 1911 that Laurier was not British enough.

The junior members of the partnership, Bourassa, Blondin and Sevigny proclaimed to the electors of the Province of Quebec in 1911 as follows.

"The Laurier cabinet is a cabinet of Imperialists and want to sacrifice Canada's interests and plunge us into wars in which we have nothing to do. The Navy Bill is an attempt by Ontario and the Provinces of the West to coerce Quebec and to enslave our people forever. What has England ever done for us?. She has no need of your help. She is strong enough to defend herself. Laurier's ideal is to make you the vassals of the majority in the West. You must protest against helping England in her wars. Unless you do, conscription will come next."

Such was the unholy alliance between Borden and the Quebec Nationalists in 1911 and such unholy alliance has continued unto this day.

This alliance defeated Laurier in 1911, and ever since then Borden has been bound neck and heels to the Quebec Nationalists. He even now has Blondin and Sevigny in his so called Union Cabinet.

Even in the administration of the Military Service Act, he has had to bow down to and follow the wishes of the Quebec Nationalists.

Early in September last he appointed a Quebec Nationalist, Deputy Speaker Rainville, as a Member of the Board to select the Military Tribunals who were to decide who should be exempt and who should not be exempt from Military service in the Province of Quebec.

Deputy Speaker Rainville's Letter

On the 11th September, 1917, (see Hansard Sept. 19. 1917) Deputy Speaker Rainville, after he had been appointed to select the Military Boards for the Province of Quebec wrote to his electors as follows:

"I have the pleasure to inform you that the regulations of the Military Law exempt bona fide farmers, their families and manufacturers (industriels)—(meaning all factory employees) I have at last succeeded in winning my point and it is only justice."

"You can without any fear whatever, present your unmarried sons to the tribunals. Instructions are given in accordance with what I now tell you."

This Quebec Nationalists Rainville, a supporter of Sir Robert Borden, knew when he wrote that letter that from the Province of Quebec only 2¼ per cent. of her population had voluntarily enlisted. He knew that from the Province of Ontario 6 2-3 per cent. of her population had voluntarily enlisted. He knew that Ontario had enlisted three times as many soldiers per head of her population as the Province of Quebec. He knew that if the Province of Quebec had been justly encouraged to recruit by the Government more men would have voluntarily enlisted. He knew that the Borden Government made no bonafide effort to organize French Canadian Companies manned by French Canadian Officers. And yet before the Military Service Act was put into effect, we find him declaring to the young men of Quebec that the Military regulations of the Military law exempted all bonafide farmers, their families and factory employees. Since then Borden's Lieutenant Rainville, has so far succeeded in making good his words.

The reports from the Province of Quebec as taken from the Montreal Star and other Journals show that 96 per cent. of the young men, living in the cities of the Province of Quebec are promptly exempted from Military Service and that in the Country Districts about 98 men in every hundred are exempted from Military Service.

According to the application of the Military Service law by Borden's Quebec Nationalists in the Province of Quebec it is estimated that there will not be 5000 men taken for Military Service from the whole Province of Quebec and that the balance of the 100,000 men, will have to be made up from the rest of the English speaking Provinces of the Dominion. If Quebec were justly made to do her full share with the rest of the Provinces there would be at least 70,000 men drafted from the Province of Quebec before one single man would be drafted from the Province of Ontario.

Such is the depth to which the so called Union Government, headed by Sir Robert Borden has sunk. This Union of Borden, Blondin and Sevigny in one Cabinet reminds me of Macaulay's description of the Italian Statesmen in the days of Machiavelli "half divinity, half snake, majestic and beautiful above, grovelling and poisnous below."

Is it to be wondered at that throughout the Dominion of Canada, seventeen believers in Liberal principles have been elected by acclamation as against one real supporter of Borden. These seventeen men I know, firmly believe in doing what is just by the masses as against the classes. The policy of Borden in the Province of Quebec is unfair to the people who live in the Province of Quebec and it is equally unfair to the people who live in the Province of Ontario.

Can we excuse the vicious works o. the great firm of Borden, Bourassa, Blondin, Sevigny & Co., wholesale dealers in special privileges with silent partners everywhere?

Are the people of West Peterborough going to suffer and sacrifice for the sins of Borden, Bourassa, Blondin, Sevigny & Co?

Surprise For Teacher

It was the first inspection and every pupil was wearing his best clothes.

"Now, boys," said the inspector, "I want you to tell me what is a blizzard."

Silence reigned. The teacher glared at the top boy, then nodded to encourage him, and at last there came a look of pleading in her eyes. Slowly the boy's hand went up.

"Yes?" snapped the inspector "What is a blizzard?"

"P-lease, sir," stammered the youthful encyclopaedia, "it's the—the inside of a chicken."

The teacher buried her head upon her desk and silently wept.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

SOME WAR MEASURES THAT ARE PLANNED BY O.H.A.

Amendment to Give Certain Rights to Men Who Are in The National Service.

Among the O.H.A. amendments to come before the annual convention of the association on Saturday, December 1st, are some war measures which have been introduced to meet the unusual conditions that have arisen since the beginning of hostilities. Last year and the year before rules were made for the special benefit of soldiers, which were found to work to good advantage, enabling many to play the game who would otherwise be barred.

Civilian Privileges.

This year it is proposed to extend special privileges to the civilian class engaged in national service, and also to enable the smaller towns, which have been pretty well drained of hockey players, the opportunity of having teams this winter by combining with near-by-towns. Amendments covering these points are presented by Mr. J. Ross Robertson, chairman of the sub-committee, are as follows:

"Exceptions to Clause 3 for the balance of the war only:

"A. Players absent from home after August 1st on national service, such as farm work, etc., to be granted certificates to play upon special application being made to the Executive Committee.

"B. Players residing in a town where there is no O.H.A. team may play with the club in the nearest O.H.A. town or village."

It Should Pass

Under the present rule these players would be barred from competition, so that the proposed amendment will likely meet with the approval of the delegates. The soldier rule, which will again be in operation this year, is as follows:

"In case of an enlisted soldier who has not been a continuous resident of the town to which his club belongs since August 1st, he shall have the following options: (1) He may play with the team in his home town, or (2) he may play with a soldier's team in the town or regimental district in which he is located, or (3) he may play with any team in the town in which he is located.

"In the case of a returned soldier from overseas he may play wherever he desires to locate, and in the case of an honorably discharged soldier he may play in his home town. Such applicants must first receive permission of the Executive Committee, who will pass upon their credentials."

Crack Team Rolls A Record Contest

Last night the five-man five-pin team, which will play the Toronto team in this city in the near future played a series of four games with a picked team captained by R. N. Early. In the third game the former team rolled a record score of 1036 pins and for the first three games totalled 2590 pins. The locals feel confident that when the Toronto bowlers journey to this city, the bowling enthusiasts will have an opportunity of witnessing one of the fastest matches ever staged in this city.

The scores were as follows:

JACK McAULIFFE'S LAST BOUT.

On November 19, 1894, twenty-three years ago, Owen Zeigler and Jack McAuliffe fought a three-round draw at Coney Island. This was the last bout in which McAuliffe engaged, except for the friendly four-round exhibition with George Lavigne at Madison Square Garden in 1896, when Jack formally retired from the ring and handed over the lightweight title to the Saginaw Kid. McAuliffe was then going back, as his exhibition with Zeigler proved. He was more interested in the race track than in the ring, but he had sense enough to quit while the quitting was good. Zeigler, McAuliffe's last opponent, was a native of Pennsylvania, and became amateur lightweight champion of America in 1891, after which he became a professional. In 1894 he defeated Stanton Abbott, the British champion, and the next year he again whipped Abbott in twenty rounds at Baltimore, and fought a 25-round draw with Jack Everhardt at New Orleans. He defeated many good men, and fought a draw with Lavigne, but never reached the championship.

BILLY SUNDAY'S BIRTHDAY.

The Rev. Billy Sunday, who can strike out the devil better than anybody else, celebrated his fifty-fourth birthday on Monday with Ma and the boys and Rody, the champion slide trombone player and sweet singer of "Brighten the Corner." Billy was born in Ames, Iowa, and was a professional ball player from 1883 to 1890 with the Chicago, Pittsburg and Philadelphia clubs. He was the champion sprinter of the National League, and this may explain in part his later ability in chasing the devil. "Pop" Anson is credited with the discovery of Billy's basebal talent. According to "Pop," he found Billy driving an undertaker's wagon in Marshalltown, Iowa, and playing amateur ball as a side line. Anson was impressed by Billy's speed and hired him for the Chicago club. Sunday didn't make very much of a hit, either, with the fans or on the ball when he made his appearance for he struck out the first thirteen times he went to bat.

SPORT GOSSIP.

"Rabbit" Maranville of the Boston Braves has enlisted as a yeoman in the United States navy, and has reported for udty at the Charleston yard. He will not be with the Braves next season.

Charles Comiskey, the White Sox owner, suggests that the big league clubs pool their receipts next year. This is the only way he thinks a shorter schedule can be avoided.

"Pro" hockey affairs are still muddled. Quebec and Ottawa are ready to join the proposed league, but the plans of the other clubs are not yet known. Montreal's teams may have trouble getting the use of the ice at the M.A.C.'s arena.

"Kid" Fitzsimmons, a Hamilton chap, wants to meet Young Scott, brother of Peter the Great. He weighs 105 pounds.

Some men frankly admit they can't sing, but the man never lived who didn't think he had a keen sense of humor.

If there is such a thing as untold agony it is the secret a woman is compelled to keep.

DR. SHIELDS IS TO SPEAK HERE

WILL LECTURE IN MURRAY ST. CHURCH NEXT TUESDAY EVENING.

Rev. Thomas T. Shields, D.D., of Toronto, has consented to come next Tuesday evening and deliver his famous lecture on "England in War-time," at the Murray Street Baptist Church, under the auspices of the local Red Cross.

Dr. Shields occupied the historic London pulpit of Spurgeon's Tabernacle during last summer. He also visited the Canadian camps in England and France, and interviewed hundreds of Canadian soldiers at first hand. Dr. Shields gave this lecture in the Jarvis Street Church, Toronto, to an audience that crowded the large auditorium to the doors, many being unable to gain admission. He has since had requests from 15 Toronto churches to give this lecture, as well as applications from churches and Canadian clubs in every part of the Dominion of Canada.

No admission will be charged but an offering will be taken after the lecture, those who have been successful in securing Dr. Shields being of the conviction that the Red Cross will profit more from an offering taken in that way than by charging an admission fee.

Everyone who has a friend at the front or likely to be there should hear Dr. Shields.

OBITUARY

JAMES BAPTIE.

James Baptie, aged 69 years and 7 months, died at his home Lot 23, Con. 10, Springville, yesterday. He was born in Ida and is survived by his wife, one son and two daughters. The funeral will be held tomorrow, Thursday, to St. John's Cemetery, Ida.

MR. JAS. BAPTIE DIES SUDDENLY

ONE OF THE BEST KNOWN RESIDENTS OF SPRINGVILLE LOST TO THE COMMUNITY.

Mr. James Baptie, of Springville, one of the best known and most highly respected residents of this district, died very suddenly at his home at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Although Mr. Baptie has been ill for the past three years, he was able to be around as usual, even up to yesterday afternoon, when he was suddenly stricken and died within an hour from angina pectoris.

The news of his death reached the city last night and caused widespread sorrow. The Peterborough Poultry Association, of which Mr. Baptie was practically the founder, was in session when the word came of his passing away, and the meeting immediately adjourned.

The late James Baptie was a lifelong resident of this district. He was born in Ida in 1848, and was the son of the late Alexander Baptie, who passed away on Nov. 26th, 1850. He married Eliza Jane Goodfellow, who is left to mourn his loss, and to whom three children were born, Mrs. S. T. Milburn of Smith, Miss Mercy at home, and Mr. Harold Baptie, deputy-reeve of Cavan. One sister, Mrs. W. H. Lough, of Ida, and one brother, Dr. Baptie, of Ottawa, are also surviving relatives.

The deceased was widely known throughout the province as a poultry fancier and breeder. He had acted as a judge at exhibitions and poultry shows on many occasions, and his services were always in demand. As has been said, he was the founder of the Peterborough Poultry Association, and at the time of his death was honorary president of that body. Mr. Baptie was a vice-president of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition and was always keenly interested in its affairs. He was the oldest beekeeper in the district, and his apiary was widely known.

In religion Mr. Baptie was a Presbyterian, and in politics a staunch Liberal. He was a member of the Canadian Order of Foresters.

The deceased had a host of friends everywhere in the district, who will regret to learn of his death. His sterling qualities and genial disposition had endeared him to all with whom he came into contact, and his passing leaves a vacancy in many circles that will be hard to fill.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock to St. John's cemetery, Ida.

NO MARRIED MEN TO BE DRAFTED

SIR ROBERT BORDEN CONTRADICTS STATEMENT MADE BY TORONTO JUDGE.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Nov. 21.—In a statement here today Sir Robert Borden declares there is no intention on the part of the Government to call out married men for military service on Feb. 1, as mentioned by a Toronto judge. Sir Robert intimates his disappointment at the nomination results in Quebec. He had expected, he said, that a Unionist candidate would have been nominated to oppose every candidate opposed to conscription.

"The nominations," he said, "indicate a thorough realization of the seriousness of the issues involved in this election."

NO SEPARATE PEACE FOR RUSSIA

FIGHT ON THE ITALIAN FRONT GIANTS' BATTLE

Germans Are Using Reserves and Best Troops in Their Army.

RESISTANCE IS DESPERATE

Invaders Make Slow Progress and the Outcome is Still in Doubt.

Italian Headquarters, Nov. 22. —(By Associated Press)—The battle in the mountainous region in the north between the Piave and Brenta Rivers is nearing its culmination. It centers at Monte Grappa and has become a struggle of giants. It is now clear that notwithstanding the great numbers of troops employed by the enemy and his advantages of terrain he is able to advance only very slowly now that he is not being assisted by the element of surprise, by treason and other circumstances which favored him at the first. Even if the Italians should be obliged to abandon the Piave River line they may be expected to fall back more slowly and offer a still more tenacious opposition.

Best Troops Engaged

Italian Army Headquarters, Nov. 22.—The greatest mass attack which the enemy has made is in progress along the upper Piave River at a point where it bends to the Northeast into the Belluno Alps. As the action proceeds the enemy is bringing up fresh masses of his reserves including picked troops of the Prussian guard. Besides some of the best German troops drawn from the western and Russian front. He also has 10,000 mountaineers from Lower Hungary, troops which are noted for their brutal standalism.

SOLDIERS MAY ATTEND POLITICAL MEETINGS

Montreal, Nov. 22.—By reason of a change in the King's regulations, through an order in Council at Ottawa, officers and soldiers will now be able to attend political meetings.

Reported Killed Is Alive and Well

CHUM OF PTE. JACK McMILLAN WRITES THAT LATTER IS NOT DEAD AS REPORTED.

Private Jack McMillan, of Lindsay was some time ago reported killed in action, this report seems to have been incorrect as a Lindsay young lady has received the following from McMillan's chum:

"As I have learned through my friends in Lindsay that a rumor is current to the effect that Pte. Jack McMillan (formerly employed by D. Cinnamon) was dead, and as he and I have been chums and practically together ever since we enlisted. I wish to state emphatically that at present he is alive and well "Somewhere in France. Pte. TRADES COUNCIL INSISTS GENERAL VOTE SYSTEM

No Chance to Elect a Labor Man Alderman While Ward Representation Prevails--Coal Question Discussed Again.

The members of the Trades and Labor Council have about abandoned all hope of ever electing one of their number to the city council so long as the ward system is retained. In the first place the property qualification limits the number of eligible candidates, and the ward system prevents the concentration of labor's voting strength on their aldermanic nominee. A working man living in the East Ward is unable to help by his vote a candidate who resides in the southern part of the city. It is for these reasons that Labor is in favor of the system of electing aldermen at large instead of by wards, and the abolition of the property qualification for municipal candidates.

At the meeting of the Labor delegates last night it was the generally expressed opinion that there should be a workingman on the Utilities Commission as well as in the City Council.

The Coal Question Again.

The coal question was discussed again in all its aspects and the civic yard came in for more criticism. It seems to be the opinion of the delegates that this institution has failed to attain the end in view. The original idea was to have a storehouse where an emergency supply of coal could be kept to supply those unable to get fuel from the regular dealers. Instead of that, the municipal stock was, some delegates claimed, dealt out in two- or three-ton lots to all comers who had the purchase price; at least this was the plan adopted at the outset of the enterprise.

Delegates reported several cases of hardship due to the lack of fuel. One of the worst of these was that of a woman in the southern part of the city who was obliged to burn her furniture in order to keep herself and her children from perishing of cold. Other delegates told of citizens refused coal by the regular dealers while others were supplied. One woman asked in vain for a load of fuel. While she was talking with the dealer a George Street business man entered the office, placed a cheque for $50 on the desk, and was assured of the prompt delivery of five tons.

One man who was promised a load of coal for $10 if he furnished his own delivery rig, returned to the dealer with the required outfit, only to be turned down at last.

It was asserted at the meeting last night that at least one dealer was selling coal at $10 a ton, but that a charge of $1 extra was made for placing it in the cellar when the wagon reaches the home of the customer.

LABOR INVESTS IN WAR BONDS

AMERICAN FEDERATION TAKES $10,000 WORTH OF VICTORY LOAN.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Nov. 23. — The total amount reported subscribed to the Victory Loan up till 10 a.m. today was $138,315,500, but the officials say that the total amount really subscribed today is about $150,000,000, or half the objective for the Dominion.

An important subscription today was for $10,000 worth of bonds for the American Federation of Labor. Samuel Gompers, president, accompanied the subscription with a letter heartily endorsing the loan and its objects. Other big subscriptions today were from the Supreme Court of Ontario for one million and the T. Eaton Company, one million.

Fined for Employing A Business Runner

LICENSED TAXI DRIVERS MUST NOT EMPLOY AGENTS TO GET PATRONAGE.

At the Police Court this morning a young taxi licensed driver was fined $1 and $2.60 costs for engaging another party to solicit patronage for him at the Grand Trunk Railway Station.

To taxi drivers who are not acquainted with the law in this respect the following clause taken from the Police Commissioners' bylaw governing cabs and other vehicles will be found illuminating: "No person licensed under this bylaw shall employ or allow any runner or other person to assist, act in concert with him in obtaining any passenger of baggage at any of the stands, railway stations, steamboat landings, or elsewhere in the said city."

His mother is getting $40 a month allowance through her other son being at the front. This claim was disallowed, and according to claimants own attitude he is headed for the bastile.

His claim for exemption was disallowed.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1917

WILL HE ANSWER?

WILL MR. HALL answer these questions: Would he, if elected to Parliament, vote for the immediate enforcement of the Military Service Act, or would he favor Sir Wilfrid Laurier's policy and demand a referendum?

How would he vote, as between the two leaders, to make Sir Wilfrid Laurier Premier of the Dominion or to keep Sir Robert Borden at the head of affairs?

THE CONSCRIPTION OF WEALTH.

THE INDEPENDENT Labor Party, with several candidates in the field, have repudiated the conscription policy of both Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Robert Borden. William Stevenson, the organizing secretary, declares in a statement just published that the party are in favor of pushing the war to a successful conclusion. The Labor men are ready to endorse the policy of conscription, provided that wealth, national resources and public utilities are primarily and likewise conscripted.

Just what Mr. Stevenson means by the term primarily is not clear. At all events, the condition "likewise," on which he insists, has been fulfilled. The new Federal income tax to be collected this year is as far as any civilized state has ever gone in making a levy on wealth. Anything further than that would be confiscation.

The only way yet devised by statesmen for the conscription of wealth is to levy a tax on its earning power.

To confiscate capital or any part of it would mean the removal of so much from and the crippling of industry to that extent.

The Government has just decided to take half the profits made by the packing houses over seven per cent. and all of it in excess of that amount. This will hold the companies to a dividend of not more than eleven per cent., an arrangement which Mr. Stevenson must admit is not over-liberal to the stockholders. That is conscription of wealth in its essence and is, after all, only an income tax.

It is, however, a sword that cuts two ways. The farmer who raises the hogs and the workingmen who manufacture the finished product through the various stages will be affected, though certainly not to the same extent as the packers themselves.

Wealth has been conscripted in Canada on similar lines to those in any of the allied countries. The only objection that will hold now has to do with the rate of income tax, and the Government still has the right to increase this as necessity arises, and has given notice that it will not hesitate to exercise this prerogative.

THE EYE-WITNESS.

PREMIER BORDEN made a visit to the trenches and realized the necessity for men to aid those Canadians who are helping hold the line.

General Currie says that the crying need is reinforcements. "Send us more men," he urges. In all this there is not a single reference to the question of food.

Mr. Hall will not have it thus. He makes light of the testimony of Premier Borden and General Currie and insists that more foodstuffs is what is really needed.

As Mr. Hall is a lawyer it is unnecessary to remind him that in any court it is the evidence of the eye-witness, rather than hearsay, that counts.

MR. HALL'S LATEST ADDRESS.

WHY DOES Mr. Hall find it necessary to revert to the election of 1911, an election that proved so disastrous to his party, in order to find material upon which to run his present campaign? In his latest address to the electors, published in The Review of yesterday, he barks vigorously up the spreading Nationalist tree, but the 'coon that he is after escaped long ago and found a resting place in another arborean refuge.

Bourassa, whom Mr. Hall hunts today, is in his own camp, supporting the same leader as Mr. Hall himself, just as intent as Mr. Hall on making that leader the Premier of the Dominion. Why should Mr. Hall assail a man who has the same purpose as himself? "If Sir Wilfrid Laurier fails at the election," says Mr. Bourassa, "it will not be our fault;" and Mr. Hall himself is included in the class covered by the pronoun.

It is a far cry to the Naval Bill either of 1910 or the one of two years later, and the wonder is that Mr. Hall should care to revive either now. Blondin and Sevigny, it is true, have been in the Borden Cabinet. That fact is all that is necessary to prove that they are in accord with the Borden war policy, including the Military Service Act, a law to which Mr. Hall has so far declined to express his allegiance. Sevigny and Blondin supported the Borden Naval Bill in 1913. Mr. Hall's party cannot say as much, for they pursued it into the Senate and crushed it by the majority they had in that body. The reputation of Blondin and Sevigny for devotion to the needs of the British Empire will at least bear comparison with that of the party with which Mr. Hall has been associated for a lifetime and which he now finds it impossible to renounce even though it may be under a cloud.

EXEMPTIONS IN QUEBEC.

AWAY OVER in Forest, in Lambton County, 158 men "called" under the Military Service Act applied for exemption, and the tribunal allowed the claim of every man. Will Mr. Hall ponder these circumstances and then insist, if he can, upon the integrity of the figures which he submitted to the public yesterday?

Some enterprising newspaper in Quebec that is intent on making political capital out of the Military Service Act, will lay hold of the record at Forest and set out to prove that the Act is a farce, in which the joke is on the French race, that in Ontario they are exempting all the men, and that Quebec will be required to raise the entire draft of ten battalions. The best figures that Mr. Hall could cite from Quebec to support his case is an exemption percentage of 98. The percentage at Forest was one hundred, which throws Mr. Hall's computation into the shade—completely.

The figures furnished by Mr. Hall and by the exemption tribunal at Forest really prove nothing except that a large number of men are anxious to escape military service and that their claims for exemption were perfectly valid. Neither Mr. Hall's report nor that from Forest go behind the returns and tell us just how many are still left, men who have not and who do not intend to ask for exemption.

Mr. Hall's figures do not go far enough. He tells us how many are exempted, but not how many will accept fate and get into khaki without a murmur.

Why should Premier Borden, let us ask Mr. Hall as the practical politician which he is, attempt to wheedle the people of Quebec, a people from whom he has no reason to expect consideration?

MR. HALL DECLARES HIMSELF.

MR. HALL has finally declared himself and his policy, not frankly, it must be said, but by something of a circuitous route. There has been some doubt, justified under the circumstances, as to where Mr. Hall stands on the draft law and in relation to Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

In his address in The Review yesterday Mr. Hall makes it plain that he is a Laurier Liberal. The fact that a number of that faith have been elected by acclamation meets with his hearty approval. They are his ideals, even though, like their leader, they are opposed to the enforcement of the Military Service Act, and on the first opportunity will vote, if not for its abrogation, at least for its temporary suspension.

Mr. Hall has identified himself with the Laurier Liberals. He has cast in his lot with the quit-the-war party in Quebec, just as plainly as if he had spoken without an attempt to play on his words.

NOT PARTISAN BOARDS.

IN HIS LATEST address Mr. Hall conveys the impression that the exemption tribunals in Quebec were appointed by Deputy Speaker Rainville, at least that is what the majority of readers will gather from Mr. Hall's published statement.

Mr. Rainville was only one member of a non-partisan body, half of whom were selected by Sir Robert Borden and half by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. This board selected one of the members on each tribunal, the other being appointed by the county judge.

Mr. Rainville's personal opinions were not likely to prevail over those of his colleagues. There could be no fairer arrangement than this, and it is certainly unjust to attempt to hold Mr. Rainville responsible for the conditions in Quebec that Mr. Hal deplores.

Mr. Rainville announced that farmers and mechanics engaged in necessary disputes would not be disturbed by the operation of the Act. He was justified in making this deduction, and the same can be said with equal truth to the young men of Ontario.

THE SO-CALLED NATIONALISTS.

EVERY SO-CALLED Nationalist in the Borden Cabinet in 1913 voted for the Borden Naval Bill except the late F. D. Monk, at that time minister of public works, who resigned his portfolio rather than commit himself to a policy of naval defence without a direct mandate from the people. The Nationalists did what Mr. Hall's party, for political reasons only, could not bring themselves to do. Those in the Cabinet when the war began accepted the situation or would have been forced out of office. When conscription was adopted as a Government policy the Nationalists in the Cabinet, with one exception—Mr. Patenaude—remained true to the Government.

Mr. Hall's ire is aroused against the Nationalists. With a club he sets out to get them, but seems to have overlooked the fact that the men who have made so much trouble in Quebec have changed their feeding grounds.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

BORDEN or Bourassa, reinforcements or referendum?

• • • •

"JERUSALEM the Golden" has a double lure for those British troops in Palestine.

• • • •

IT MUST BE apparent to anyone that Mr. Hall is rather hard on his political associates further east.

• • • •

SO FAR AS HEARD FROM the British troops did not take a referendum on the advisability of starting that last drive.

• • • •

"THEIRS BUT TO DO and die," in the trenches. Theirs but to take referendums, apply for exemption and play politics, back home.

• • • •

"AS GOD GIVES US to see the light," says many a politician, and then puts a bandage over his own eyes and attempts the same process on the voters.

• • • •

HOW THEN does Mr. Hall ever hope to raise those 70,000 men that he says Quebec should send by the voluntary system, if ninety-eight per cent. of them are trying to dodge the draft?

• • • •

THE WOMAN with a son, husband or brother in the trenches is more likely to be concerned with his welfare than with the political fortunes of either Sir Wilfrid Laurier or Mr. Hall.

• • • •

A FIVE-MILE GAIN on a thirty-two mile front, with the Germans fighting to hold their last ditch at some points, certainly is the most cheering news that has come from the Western front in many a day.

• • • •

ALL THINGS COME to those who wait. The Hamilton police have arrested offenders against the Military Service Act, thus demonstrating their ability to catch other than ordinary drunks.

When Johnny Comes Marching Home

One of the recommendations of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor in its annual report issued a few days ago related to the reemployment of the nation's fighters when the war shall have been ended. A government agency to serve that purpose was proposed. Foresighted New Yorkers have already taken measures of that character in the interest of men of that city. The New York Sun of recent date says:

"The mayor's committee on national defense has put in operation a plan suggested by Mayor Mitchel to provide positions for soldiers when the thousands of New Yorkers now in military service return home. The mayor has had in mind not only the immediate problems having to do with the war, but those more remote difficulties which must be faced when victory has come to the arms of the allies. Among these questions is that of the reassimiliation into civic life of the thousand who now wear khaki. The mayor said yesterday:

"'Recognizing that steps to cope with after war conditions must be taken long in advance of their arrival, I conferred with the members of the mayor's defense committee who have made a thorough study of this subject. We are setting on foot the plans for the establishment of a bureau to insure, so far as it is possible to do so, employment for all men from New York city when they come home. The fundamental idea of this plan is to obtain the pledge of employers to give preference in employment to soldiers and sailors when they are mustered out.

"'While certain groups of employers can promise re-employment to their own men who have been in the service, others will be unable to do so because of changed business conditions and the work of such a bureau as projected will have to do largely with this latter problem.'

"It is considered essential to begin at once the tabulation of data for future use regarding the capabilities of men just drafted into the national army and the others soon to be called. The bureau will endeavor to get a record of every man, information as to his trade or occupation and his last employer.

"When the data are in hand they will be kept up to date and afterward some kind of service bureau of employment will be formed or the aid of some agency already established and equipped will be sought. When the men return such an agency will be able to render excellent service to busines concerns requiring men to fill certain positions, because able to lay hands immediately on experienced applicants. In case of great business depression it will assist the city in finding temporary work to give additional means of employment."

Open Letter To The Lost Leader

To Sir Wilfrid Laurier:

For many years, Sir Wilfrid, I have watched your career with deep interest, and until the last three years with sincere admiration. I have seen you skilfully and steadily guiding your country along the road which leads to national unity; I have noted your efforts to make actual among the people of this land that confederation which became a political accomplishment fifty years ago. Twenty years ago you adopted a course necessary for the progress of the nation, but unwelcome to the people of your native province and the heads of your church in Quebec, and this course you made effective by your courage and wisdom. I have respected the dignity with which, more recently, you accepted a political defeat wholly unexpected, and, according to the belief of many persons, entirely undeserved. I have marked the personal esteem with which you are regarded by those whose privilege it has been to know you well, and the extraordinary personal influence which you exercise over them.

With this war there came to you, although in opposition, the chance to prove yourself the greatest son ever born in Canada. You could have made the people of Quebec understand that this was their war; that by self-sacrificing service they could weld themselves into the fibre of the nation to such an extent that no cleavage could any longer exist between them and the other provinces. You could have inspired your warm-hearted compatriots into fervent participation, and stilled for ever the cry that this is England's war.

You could not accomplish this by merely perfunctory acquiescence in the plans of the government. If the old Conservative Government failed, as I and many others believe it did fail, in duly enlightening French-speaking Canada as to the meaning of the war, you could have remedied this fault. You could have shown that with Canada at war, the old party differences counted for nothing; you could have made your parliamentary minority not a brake but a spur to action by the government. You, with your eloquence and your vision, with the love in which you were held and the reverence paid to your judgments, could have moved among your people, a voice inspired and a sword flaming with righteousness. You could long ago have brought about a union government even stronger than the one which today exists in spite of you, because in it Quebec would have assumed her due responsibility; you could have made impossible the saddening spectacle of Canada turning to political strife when the whole world is ablaze. Why have you not done this? Why have you permitted your talents to mould in the ground rather than use them in the service of civilization?

A LIBERAL.

HASTINGS

(Special Correspondance.)

Hastings, Nov. 22.—Some members of the Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. J. Londerville on Tuesday evening and spent a social hour with the family. During the course of the evening Mrs. B. F. Doxsee, secretary of the society read a nicely worded address, and Mrs. Jas. Buck, president, presented Mrs. Londerville with a handsomly bound edition of the New Methodist hymn book.

Mrs. Londerville thanked the ladies for the kind thoughts contained in the address, and also for the gift.

Mr. and Mrs. Londerville and family left on Wednesday evening for their future home in Peterboro, followed by the best wishes of a host of friends who regret very much their removal.

Mrs. Londerville was a valued member of the Ladies Aid. Ever ready to assume any responsibility placed upon her.

Following is the address:—

Dear Mrs. Londerville:—It was with sincere regret we learned of your intention of leaving our church and town. Regret at parting with one whom we have always found to be upright, true, generous and always willing to do your part in all the work of the church.

Our Ladies' Aid will miss you in all our social gatherings. We will miss you from all the means of grace. But we thank God that your life has been consecrated to Him, that you have come to be personally acquainted with Jesus Christ and while we are losing you here, God may be calling you into a larger field of service, and if so we believe you will answer to the call—Here am I—We pray God's blessing may go with you and yours wherever your home may be.

We ask you to accept this gift from our Ladies Aid, and when you use it to sing God's praises we trust you may sometimes remember your friends in Hastings.

Signed on behalf of the Ladies' Aid.

MRS. JAS. BUCK, Pres.
MRS. B. F. DOXSEE, Secy.

Wit and Wisdom

The enthusiastic angler was telling some friends about a proposed fishing trip to a lake in Colorado which he had in contemplation.

"Are there any trout out there?" asked one friend.

"Thousands of 'em," replied the angler.

"Will they bite easily?" asked another friend.

"Will they? Why, they're absolutely vicious. A man has to hide behind a tree to bait a hook.

"What would you say if I turned you down?" she asked shyly, as they sat on the parlor sofa. The young man looked straight ahead, but said nothing. After a few moments of silence she nudged him with her elbow and said: "Didn't you hear my question?" He looked around apprehensively. "I beg your pardon," he replied, "I thought you were addressing the gas."

Music in the Home

DEMAND FOR MUSIC

Economic Situation in Belligerent Countries Increases Interest

One of the results of this war apart from the aims that the belligerents are now fighting to attain will be the increased spread and appreciation of music. Not only are the soldiers finding solace and strength in song on the battlefield, but those members of the family that have been left at home are turning to music in every form in an effort to brighten the days that are rife with news of war and death. Especially is this found true in the sale and output of player-pianos and phonographs, both instruments which can give pleasure and enjoyment to those least acquainted with the art and technique of music. So great is the demand for these both in England and France that the output is now too little to meet it.

The changed economic and industrial situation in the warring countries together with the innate desire of the individual to sing, is in a large measure, the cause of this awakened interest in music. Where before there was only one member of the family contributing toward the family budget, there are now three and four. The going of the men to the front has left the industries to the care of the women and it is now not the exception, but rather the rule, to find the mothers, sisters and children of the nation taking some part in the work of keeping the cogs of the industries in running order. This has naturally led to an appreciable increase in the weekly earnings of a household.

From time immemorial it has been the nature of the human being to let the world know of his rise from a lower strata to a higher one in the layers of society. To the lower and middle classes this, in the large majority of cases, has been best expressed by the possession of a piano as well as by the talking machine. As result of this much of the surplus earnings of England and France have been invested in these.

Apart from the purely psychological reason of human vanities, there is the deeper one, however, of the people really seeking some outlet for their pent-up emotions and finding it in the spell of music.

What this means can beat be expressed by the story of the Tommy coming home on a furlough, and who, fearful with the true British spirit of undemonstrativeness of being met with tears and sobs, came unheralded and unexpectedly upon his family and found them to his great delight listening to the tunes grown dear to him on the battlefield and gaining courage thereby.

MAN'S GREATEST PLEASURE

To hear some musical people in discussion and read some of the articles in the press one would think that foreign nations were the custodians of all that was musical and that as Britishers our own development was just beginning or just begun since the outbreak of war.

Quite true we have a long road to go before music is made a part of the life of the people of every class to the extent that it should be. But it is too often forgotten that our own Welsh people have probably the oldest existing form of musical festival to their credit. The Troubadours of France go back to the eleventh century, and the Minnesingers of Germany to the twelfth century, yet the Welsh Eisteddfod was held in the seventh century. The meaning of the word is given as the "sitting of wise men." The bards who took part were the very most proficient. It is also said that the notice of the holding of the Eisteddfod, to be legal, had to be given in advance a year and a day.

The close hold that music has had on the people of Britain has been intensified as time went on. This spread to Canada and in late years has made such pronounced progress that there are those who hope for the approaching day when as a people we shall agree with Ruskin that "music is the nearest at hand, the most orderly, the most delicate, and the most perfect of bodily pleasures; and also the only one which is equally helpful to all the ages of man"—helpful from the nurse's song to her infant, to the music unheard of others, which often, if not most frequently, haunts the deathbed of pure and innocent spirits—or in other words man's greatest pleasure from the cradle to the grave.

HOW TO ENJOY MUSIC.

With Long Winter Nights Ahead Here Is a Timely Impression.

The New York Evening Mail has been telling its readers how to enjoy listening to music, or by the same principles how to get enjoyment out of the music one makes himself. With the return of the concert season and the long winter nights ahead, this writer makes a timely impression: "Listen to the rise and fall of the music—the sky line as it were—as you might listen to an orator speaking in a foreign tongue. You will sense the introduction or presentation of the subject; its elaboration, like variations of a statement presented in different words; the occasional rise to a climax; and the holding of the listener's attention with a contrasting quiet level stretch.

"Forceful repetition will help drive the argument home, with an imaginary pounding on the desk to increase impressiveness; not forgetting the dramatic pauses to let the thought sink in. Then finally you will have the coda, the peroration, that builds to a huge close full of the oratorical impression of finality; or that drops to an ultimate whisper that leaves one wondering where the music ends and one's soul begins.

"Listen for the rhythm. Music at its very source is based on the rhythmic or periodic principle. It has pulse and is one manifestation of the great rhythmic scheme of things which controls all from the solar system down to man's heart-beat. Or try to catch the spirit of the music, whether grave or gay, dreamy or martial, sweet and vague or purposefully definite, noble or trifling. Amuse yourself letting the music suggest colors as it fleetingly passes as subtly as the rainbow comes and goe. Or let pictures float through your mind in keeping with what you hear.

"Music is effectively descriptive in pieces that represent nature's phenomens, such as the rush of water, the play of wind and wave, shimmering sunlight, storms of the charm of midsummer quietude. I cannot too much emphasize the value of constant repetition of the same piece to familiarize the listener with its character, its meaning and its form For this reason the talking machine and player piano are wonderful helps.

"Play a minuet. Recurrences or repetitions will come in groups of eight or sixteen short bars. Then will come a contrasting or answering section. After a while the mood will change for the middle section or trio which is also constructed of two phrases. Presently you will discern an entire repetition or recapitulation of all the first short part and and its following contrasting section. Sometimes the piece ends quite simply, like the first part, sometimes a little coda or closing part is tacked on much as a woman gives a bowknot a little finishing out after tying."

WHEN DRESS INTERFERES WITH MUSIC

He would be a brave man, a very brave man, who would openly assert that buttons—those decorative buttons of all colors, and all sizes and all shapes that women love to think and dream about when planning their new suits—are open to criticism. And yet those same little adornments sometimes cause trouble. A woman violinist in a western town once owned a valuable old fiddle and she loved to play it. The tones of no other violin contained as much real personally satisfying music for her as her own instrument.

But one evening the violin made a queer rattling noise when she played. Evidently something radically wrong had happened to it, and the owner failed to discover any cause, so she despatched the violin by express to a repairer several hundred miles away. The repairer could find nothing wrong and after reassuring himself that the fiddle was quite in order sent it back with a letter asking if it were possible that the rattling might be caused by the violin touching some ornament on the lady's dress when she played. This proved to be the solution. A row of sweet little metal buttons on her dress were in such a position as to touch the violin lightly when she played.

If as a Japanese proverb says, "Music has the power of making Heaven descend to earth" even the dainty buttons of a woman's costume must not be allowed to interfere.

Beauty of Overtures Destroyed When Piano Is Not in Tune.

A piano gets out of tune for the same reason that the clothes line gets slack after it has been used a few times. Let it be understood that the strings in a piano, though made of high grade steel, are subject to a tremendous tension which is constant. It has been estimated that the pull on the iron plate of a grand is not less than 40,000 pounds. Although the art of piano building has advanced so wonderfully that most instruments "stand in tune" for almost incredible periods, one must remember that the influences of heat and cold on the metal can not be guarded against. Therefore it is advisable to have the piano tuned at regular and frequent intervals.

There is another reason. The chief beauty of the piano tone depends upon the "partials" or "overtones" and these begin to fail us when the instrument is not in good order. It is the "partials" which give a strong tone so much more beauty and charm than a pipe-tone. Students of the physics have learned that a string when struck has a variety of vibrations. Not only does it vibrate throughout its whole length, but at the same time the separate halves of that same string are vibrating twice as fast, thus making a tone an octave higher. We cannot discern that tone, but if we press the right pedal of the piano so that the dampers are lifted from all the strings, the partial vibration of half the string will start sympathetic vibrations in the string an octave higher.

Take Middle C for example. Strike it firmly and immediately afterwards depress (without sound) the key an octave higher. You will hear the tone very clearly. Not only does the main string vibrate in halves, but in thirds, quarters, fifths, sixths, sevenths and eighths. The "partial" tones contained in Middle C as it is struck are the octave, the G above that, the next higher C, then E. G. B. and C. Test each one as in the case of the octave just described and the effect of sympathetic vibration can be discerned. When the right pedal is depressed in the playing of a chord all these partials are sounding although the fundamental tone is the one ringing in your ears.

It follows, therefore, from these facts that an instrument out of tune is killing all this special beauty of tone color, and accustoming your ears to false and improper sounds. The tuner is the friend of the music student and he ought to be called with sufficient frequency to preserve the overtones in all their beauty.

MUSICAL MUSINGS.

The love for music, like charity should begin at home.

Musical parentage is the greatest asset in a child's musical education

Trying to raise musical children in unmusical homes is like attempting to grow sunflowers in the shade.

Without trying to be in the least academic, I have striven from my childhood to grasp the spirit of the wisest and best of all ages.—Beethoven.

Isn't it strange that parents who are very much concerned about the cut of their children's clothes and the style of their shoes may yet be absolutely indifferent as to the kind of songs they sing and music they hear?

The reason so much piano playing is heartless is that people possess fewer hearts than fingers.

Considering the fact that most children are musical, what a sad commentary on parents and music teachers it is that most adults are not!

All my life I have given the greatest honor to Mozart, and will continue to do so until my last breath—Beethoven.

IN FLANDERS FIELDS

An Argument for the War Loan

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the dead; short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

ANOTHER ECONOMY.

How to Make Attractive and Fadeless Kitchen Curtains.

One woman states: "Every week when the laundry was returned it was a fresh reminder that the children's clothing was wearing out and that I needed new towels, tablecloths and curtains.

"I purchased first of all necessary clothing for the children and a few pieces of household linen. My kitchen curtains were threadbare, but every time I planned to purchase new ones a more pressing need swallowed the money.

"Curtains do not last forever, and when mine were positively hopeless I suddenly remembered reading about unbleached muslin curtains. Now, unbleached muslin curtains did not have an attractive sound, and I had never seen curtains of this material, but having such a tiny allowance I decided that I could do what others had done and make muslin curtains for my kitchen.

"So I purchased the material, made the curtains and hemstitched them on the sewing machine. I had just finished making one of the kiddies a gingham dress, and scraps of the material were lying about. As an experiment I picked up a small diamond shaped piece and placed it near the hem of the curtain, and as it was rather effective I tried another piece, and this gave me an idea which I proceeded to work out.

"Just above the hem of the curtain I placed six diamond shaped pieces of gingham about four inches apart. After basting them in place I stitched them around the edge (using the sewing machine), and at the top I made a casing for the curtain rod by sewing a narrow strip of gingham on the muslin."

From the Trenches.

The following verses gain their chief interest from the fact that they were written by a French-Canadian soldier, Signaller O. Lavoie, No. 145163, of the 87th Battalion, Canadian Infantry. They were composed in captured German dugouts in which Signaller Lavoie was on duty. Signaller Lavoie's mother, Mrs. F. Lavoie, lives at 92 Wellington street, Hull. The author's own title is "Why I, a French-Canadian, Enlisted." Having learned through the columns of The Soldiers' Gazette of the keen solicitude felt by its publishers, the Queen Mary's Needlework Guild, in all matters pertaining to the lads at the front, Signaller Lavoie forwarded the verses to the Guild's headquarters in Montreal, with the suggestion that they might be published in pamphlet form and sold for the benefit of the Red Cross or some other patriotic object. The verses follow:

You ask me why I enlisted,
And why did I go to war?
Just listen, I'll tell a story
Perhaps you have heard before.
I ain't no blooming hero—
A corporal or a lance;
I'm just a paltry signaller
Doing my bit in France.

I was just an operator
And had to work at night.
And when this war was started
It made me want to fight.
I heard of Germans in Belgium,
And the horrible deeds they'd done;
My blood ran cold with horror
At what they called "great fun."

The way they treated the mothers,
And the little children, too,
It made me join the colors
Determined to see it through.
For it's up to us Canadians
Who came from over the sea
To stand up shoulder to shoulder
Till little Belgium is free.

What would they do in Canada
If they could cross the sea?
You know, it is Bill's ambition
Lord of the world to be.
They would treat us like Nurse Cavell,
Our homes they'd come and claim.
If I stood and let them do it
I'd feel I were to blame.

There are lads who've crossed the ocean,
And slackers who've stayed at home.
I am a French-Canadian
And fought upon the Somme;
So we can't all be cowards
(No doubt, there are a few),
For I am a French-Canadian
And I've been on Vimy, too.

You can see that the Canadians
Have won a glorious name,
Wherever they may go to fight
They win undying fame.
And many are French-Canadians
Keeping the flag unfurled,
Till the Kaiser learns he's beaten
And cannot rule the world.

Then I will take off the khaki
And return home over the sea;
I'll know my duty accomplished
And feel my conscience free.
But should I fail in battle
And never more cross the foam;
Thank God, I wasn't a slacker,
But helped to save my home.
—O. Lavoie

Leigh, B.A., the Essayist for the occasion, however a very helpful and edifying paper was prepared by Mr. Leigh on "Modes of Revelation" and forwarded to the Association and read by the secretary.

After a brief discussion of the paper the meeting adjourned to meet in the Anglican school room the second Monday in December at 9.30.

A district meeting was held in the Board Room of the Methodist Church on the 13th inst. at 9.30. Routine business was transacted with despatch, after which Rev. A. J. Thomas, M.A., of Peterborough, delivered a very practical and informing address on the subject of "Evangelism."

A very helpful discussion followed, and the meeting adjourned to meet again at 7.30, to consider the advisability of Evangelistic campaigns. It was decided to have two or three on the Peterborough District, viz., at Bethany, the second week in December, at Lakefield the second week in January and at Millbrook (date not fixed).

The meeting was well attended and during the afternoon different phases of Sunday School work were considered. Rev. C. E. Barrett of Lakefield delivering a very helpful address on "How to link the S. S. scholar to the Church." Rev. B.

CAPT. BURNHAM'S ADDRESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

Election-day is December 17th. Its nearness admits of no further delay on the part of candidates in formally addressing you. It was hoped that political parties in West Peterborough might unite, as the members of the Borden Union Administration have done, in its support. But since the Liberal Convention has met and chosen its standard-bearer, who has not declared himself to be a supporter of the Borden Union Administration, it becomes necessary for me, without more, to solicit your suffrages. At the convention of the Conservatives of West Peterborough, duly assembled, I was chosen as their candidate to support Sir Robert Borden and his Administration. The Prime Minister has formed a Union Administration, composed of Conservative, Liberal and Labour representatives, to the end that he may the more fully and surely carry in a spirit of national unity and co-operation Canada's share in the war to a successful conclusion.

I pledge myself, therefore, with that same spirit of unity and co-operation, to support the Borden Union Administration and its policies, and I earnestly and respectfully solicit your votes and support accordingly. This is no ordinary political campaign, and it is hoped that all well-wishers of the Borden Union Administration will make every effort to secure the return of its supporters.

I have the honour to remain,

Yours truly,

J. H. BURNHAM.

Peterborough, Nov. 10, 1917.

HOW THE AMERICAN FLAG FOLLOWS TRAIL OF TRADE

"The Bird of Paradise" Presented at the Grand Last Night, an Interesting Chapter From American History.

When Richard Walton Tully wrote the play "The Bird of Paradise," presented at the Grand Opera House last night, he probably did not mean to satirize the foreign mission schemes of Hawaii were happy in their own of modern times, but that is what his work really amounts to. The natives island, with the beautiful scenery and matchless climate. They toiled little, and spun not at all, but followed the customs and remained faithful to the traditions of their forefathers.

Then came the missionary with his message. Close on the heels of the missionary came the trader to exploit the resources of the island, and who insisted on the natives laboring for his benefit. This bred a spirit of dissatisfaction and fomented revolution. The political intriguer got in his work next. the American flag brought up the rear of the procession of conquest, and the entire social fabric, the very face of the island itself, was changed.

The time of the play has to do with the stirring times of the middle nineties, when Queen Liliuokalaina, who died only th eother day, was deposed, when the American flag was first raised in Hawaii, only to be lowered again and finally restored, and when the American politician and money-grabber exploited the island's resources and used the natives for his own ends. The play deals with one of the most interesting chapters of United States history and is an illustration of the true American method of acquiring new possessions. The republic to the south of us may be opposed to the principle of taking anything by conquest, but there are other methods of adding territory in outlying section.s The work of the missionary is often nullified by the intriguer and the exploiter who invariably follows in his wake.

The play last night was a glimpse of an alien race and into a strange land. It was admirably presented and the scenery was excellent. It must be said the contrast between the civilized Americans and the aborigines of the island is not altogether in favor of the former. There is scheming on one side and native simplicity on the other.

The plot was interesting, and the climax comes when Luana, the heroine, cast off by her American husband, commits suicide before the eyes of her native lover, by throwing herself in the crater of a flaming volcano, a scene which sends a shudder through the audience. This difficult part was taken by Miss Celete Scudder.

The next offering at the Grand will be the famous military drama, "Seven Days' Leave," which will be here Saturday, afternoon and night. This play is regarded as one of the dramatic sensations of the season and is drawing crowded houses wherever presented.

Where Returned Soldiers Will Vote

SOME AT CIVIC POLLS—OTHERS AT MILITARY POLLING PLACES.

Many enquiries have been received as to the right of a returned soldier to vote. Returned soldiers who have been discharged from the service will vote in the ordinary civil polls in the divisions in which they live on polling day. Those who have not been discharged may vote as military electors at any poll wherever convenient. Military polling places are to be established within easy reach of practically every district.

If a returned soldier, whether discharged or otherwise, is in his own civil electoral polling district on polling day, and will claim the right to vote at any civil polling station where, if he had not been absent on military duty, his name would rightfully be on the lists, he may vote at that polling station, although his name is not on the lists.

Owners of autos seem to be in the habit of leaving their cars outside places of amusement during the whole time they are sitting through the program, thus blocking access to adjacent premises. Yesterday afternoon no less than six autos were lined-up outside the opera house during the whole show, and this custom is growing to such an extent that Chief of Police Thompson gives warning that hereafter he will prosecute all offenders.

The traffic bylaw prohibits such action as above referred to, and in that respect reads as follows:

How The Law Reads

"Vehicles shall not be permitted to stand or remain on any street longer than is necessary for the person using the same to transact his business with the person opposite whose premises the same shall stand, and unless such vehicle is parallel with and not more than eight inches from the curb."

Fat Man's Club For Toronto Suggested

MANY REPORT BIG GAINS IN WEIGHT—PROSPECTS FINE FOR LARGE MEMBERSHIP.

So many people have reported extraordinary gains in weight during the past few weeks as a result of taking Tanlac, that someone jokingly suggested a few days ago that a Fat Man's Club be organized in Toronto.

Only a short time ago Edward Earle, a well-known carpenter employed by the Canadian Pacific, residing at 17 McGregor avenue, Toronto, said: "When I tell you I have gotten complete relief from five years of suffering and have actually gained fourteen pounds in weight besides, you can readily see why I think so highly of Tanlac." Mr. Earle described his sufferings as resulting from a serious case of indigestion and stomach trouble, and stated that his recovery has been complete.

Just a few days previous Peter Bosthwick, employed by the Gunn Packing Co., residing at 156 Lappin avenue, Toronto, said: "I have just finished my second bottle of Tanlac and have gained twelve pounds. I suffered for over two years with stomach trouble, and was so weak I could hardly keep going. I am gaining in weight and strength every day now and my stomach is in splendid condition. I don't believe there's another medicine that equals Tanlac."

Reporting a gain of fifteen pounds, Mrs. Emma Baker, 39 Mariposa avenue, Toronto, said: "Honestly, I have gained fifteen pounds, and my neighbors as well as myself are surprised at the great change Tanlac has made in me." Mrs. Baker further stated that she had suffered for more than a year with stomach disorders and nervousness and had been unable to get any relief until she took Tanlac. "Mr. Baker and I both think Tanlac the grandest medicine in the world," she concluded.

William R. Chitty, employed by the Russell Motor Car Co., and residing at 22 Grosvenor street, Toronto, in a recent statement, said: "Yes, sir, I gained ten pounds on two bottles of Tanlac, and feel better in every way than I have in three years. It's just wonderful how Tanlac took hold of my troubles and built me up." Mr. Chitty further says that he had suffered from stomach trouble and nervousness until he was about all in, when he took Tanlac. He declares that Tanlac made him feel like a new man.

A gain of six pounds in weight was reported by Harvey Hamilton, fuse maker employed by Copeland-Chatterson Co., who resides at 1303 Queen street, Toronto. Mr. Hamilton stated that he had been in a general rundown condition for five years and that Tanlac had put him on his feet and increased his strength and energy in a remarkable manner.

Dozens of other well-known people have made remarkable statements in this connection recently, and their testimonials have appeared and are appearing daily as still others prove the merits of this medicine and tell of the results they have obtained from its use.

"I have gained twenty pounds in actual weight and now I know for myself what a wonderful thing Tanlac is," stated William S. Pickell, a well-known paint contractor living at 51 Windsor avenue, Windsor, Ont. He went on to say that he had been entirely relieved from a severe case of stomach trouble, which had kept him in misery for a year.

Another remarkable gain in weight is told of by Mrs. William Green, 141 Hunter street, Hamilton, in her statement: "I have actually gained twenty pounds in weight by taking Tanlac, and my friends and neighbors seem amazed at the wonderful change in my condition." Mrs. Green further stated that she had experienced a wonderful relief from stomach trouble and nervousness through the use of Tanlac.

James Raib, machinist for the Canadian Bridge Co., 103 Ontario St., Walkerville, says: "I have taken only three bottles of Tanlac so far, but have already gained ten pounds in weight. I had suffered for over a year with a miserable case of catarrh and nothing ever did me any good. Tanlac has given me more relief than any other medicine I ever took."

There is nothing really remarkable in the foregoing statements, as thousands of people all over the country have taken Tanlac with the same results, and in many cases far greater. Ttake, for instance, the case of Mrs. Viola Ives, 315 Cross street, Little Rock, Ark., U.S.A., who gained forty pounds; that of Mrs. G. W. Williams of Gadsden, Ala., U.S.A., who gained forty-eight pounds, or that of O. H. Mahaffey, Nashville, Tenn., U.S.A., who gained forty pounds; Mrs. O. C. Cason, Acworth, Ga., U.S.A., who gained thirty-five pounds, and hundreds of others too numerous to mention.

May Disfranchise British Objectors

London, Nov. 22.— The House of Commons by a vote of 209 to 171 adopted an amendment to the electoral bill, disfranchising conscientious objectors to war. In the course of the debate, which lasted throughout the entire afternoon, Andrew Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer announced that the Government did not intend to interfere but would leave the members free to vote as their consciences dictated.

THREE BRAVE WARRIORS RETURN TO MILLBROOK

Lieut. A.C.F. Winslow, Sergt.-Major T. Miller and Sergt. Norman Hanna, D. C. M. Presented with Civic Addresses.

Saturday was truly a red letter day in Millbrook, when citizens of Millbrook and Cavan turned out to welcome three of their returned soldiers. The citizens' band, under the leadership of Mr. J. A. Duncan, accompanied the crowd to the station. As the heroes stepped off the train three rousing cheers were given, and the band played a welcoming tune. An automobile procession headed by the band proceeded to the town hall, which already held a large crowd of people.

Reeve A. J. Henderson was chairman and in a brief address stated that he was pleased to have some part in welcoming the heroes. He called for three cheers for the returned men, which were heartily given, and the band struck up "Rule, Britannia, after which the following addresses were read by Mr. Given. Suitable replies were given, the most striking points in them being that the boys were glad to be back home again, as Lieut. Winslow said: "I have seen many countries, but the only country is Canada, and the best place in it is Millbrook."

To Sergt. Norman Hanna, D.C.M.

Dear Sir,—Your friends of Cavan and Millbrook bid you a hearty welcome on this your first visit to our community since returning from the scene of the great war to your native country. We have followed your career with much interest since you left some three years ago. To your lot have fallen some of the severest trials of a soldier's life. You have fought in many memorable battles, have been seriously wounded several times, and for distinguished conduct on the field, where all our Canadians won imperishable honor, you have received a much coveted medal from the hand of His Majesty the King. We most heartily congratulate you on receiving such a high and worthy mark of distinction, and, as it was honorably won, so may you proudly wear it for many happy and prosperous years.

We are glad to see you return from fields of honor, where many of our gallant countrymen have fallen. A kind and merciful Providence has spared you. To you will come, we hope, for years the proud privilege of telling the thrilling tales of Canadian valor in this great struggle for human freedom and Christian civilization. We honor you today for what you are and for what you have done. Your brave deeds and gallant service have honored us.

Signed on behalf of the citizens of Cavan,
A. J. Henderson, Reeve.
Harold Baptie, Dep. Reeve.
G. F. Clarke, Councillor.
J. L. McCamus, Councillor.
W. E. Ball, Councillor.

Millbrook, Nov. 17, 1917.

To Lieut. A. C. F. Winslow, R.F.C.

Dear Sir,—Your friends and fellow-citizens cannot allow the occasion of your return home from trench and hospital to pass without some recognition of your high qualities as a soldier, and the sacrifices you have made in the great cause in which the allied powers are engaged. Millbrook is proud of her boys, who have not counted their lives dear, but have freely offered them on the altar of human freedom and civilization. We desire to honor you on this occasion and to wish you God speed in your future life. May this reunion be to you, as it will be to us, a happy memory, and may the words addressed to you recall with pride and satisfaction the part you have played in the great world struggle for God and humanity.

Signed on behalf of the citizens of Millbrook,
R. J. Doak, Reeve,
G. E. Burnham,
J. H. Bingham,
J. N. Eastcott,
G. W. Sayles,
Councillors.

Millbrook, Ont., Nov. 17, 1917.

To Battalion Sergt.-Major T. Miller,
93rd Battalion, C.E.F.

Dear Sir,—It is a great pleasure to our many warm friends in Millbrook to welcome your return from the great conflict after having faithfully and actively engaged in the arduous duties that belonged to your office in the old lands. Your long military training in previous conflicts made your services all the more valuable, and we are proud to have had a citizen who could take the part you so honorably discharged. We also beg to thank you on behalf of the friends here for your fatherly advice and kindly offices to our own boys who were often in need of a word of cheer in their far-away camps, which friendship shall not soon be forgotten. That you may long be spared to your family and country is the wish of all.

Signed on behalf of the citizens of Millbrook.

The Speeches

Then the chairman called upon Canon Allen, Rev. W. H. Higgs and Dr. Lee to deliver addresses, brief synopsis of which follow:

Canon Allen

I feel somewhat warmed up. The first thing I should say is to make my apology for not being at the station, but if I could have been there I certainly would have. We are all glad to be here. We have come here for the purpose of honoring these men. We thank God they are not lying with their comrades in France and Flanders. Millbrook is very much honored. This is the second occasion of this kind. Our men have been in actual warfare. They are not men who merely appear in our papers and journals they are true soldiers. They all have military titles. We are proud to think of them as men and as soldiers. With regard to Lieut. Winslow, he will forgive me for not being at the station. Although he has changed we trust that his wounds will soon be healed and that he will soon be restored to health and strength. I cannot help but say how glad his father, Colonel Winslow would have been to have been here today. We honor these good men. I can also say this of Sergt. Hannah, also of Sergt. Major Miller. They have been fighting for our homes, to defend you and me. My own boy died for us. As you raise your potatoes in your back yard, as you pluck a rose in the front lawn and when Christmas time comes and you gather around your fireside in peace, remember that is what they are fighting for. The McBride boys and others are fighting for all that and our sons have died for it.

These men are the same and yet they are not the same. They are men and they are Canadian heroes. They bear honorable scars.

"There is no gain except through loss
There is no life except through death"

Rev. W. H. Higgs

Mr. Chairman, Lieut. Winslow, Sgt. Hanna, Sgt. Major Miller, Ladies and Gentlemen. I am sure we all feel that this is a proud and memorable occasion in the history of our village. There have been other occasions of this kind in our village but not one when three men have come back, two bearing seven gold stripes and Sgt. Miller bears his in his knee. We are glad to see these men. They have each crossed the Atlantic in dangerous times. It required courage for them to say "I will go." We hope that the wounds these two gentlemen have received will soon be healed and that they will soon be able to do civil duty as honorably as they have done Military service. We are glad today that they have been able to pass through these ordeals and maintain their lives. I am sure it is an impossibility for any of us to realize what they have come through. Only by being in the trenches does one know what warfare is. We welcome them today because they have honored us as they have honored themselves. We enter into their joy as they return to their home. As we think of what they have done and what others are doing, as we thing of the awful price that has been paid, surely we realize what the liberty of living under the British flag means. Surely as Canadians it is time that we cease being for Party and all be for the State. As a representative from one of the Christian Churches of this community I bid you welcome, gentlemen, back to your own village again.

Dr. Lee

Mr. Chairman and fellow citizens so much has been said, and so excellently said, that it is not necessary for me to speak at any length. First I am going to tell Sgt. Miller a secret. I was walking down our main street the other day and met his wife, and she had a smile on her face like I never saw there before then a little fellow came up to me and said "Do you know the news?" Of course I didn't know and he said, "Why Sgt. Miller is home." I suspect Sgt. Miller knew this but I thought I would tell it anyway. I presume that Lieut. Winslow will come to this happy state, and that Sergt. Hanna has come to it. Let me bring your attention to the addresses that have just been read to these men. Did you notice how splendidly they were written? I was just thinking that when I run short of a sermon I will know where to go, because the man that could write these would be able to write a good sermon in an emergency. I was greatly impressed with the anxiety that people showed to get into this Hall today. I hope that that is an illustration of what is going to be tomorrow a rush to the churches.

Now, I want to add my little tribute of welcome to those who have gone to the front and who have by God's mercy been permitted to come back. I would like to say, I am glad to see them come back and I am glad to see them with wounds, because the soldier glories in his wounds. They are to be gloried in because they were won in honorable discharge of duty to home, to country and to Empire. Is it not wonderful the attractive power of home. I have no doubt that these men have seen prettier places than Millbrook in the Old Land, but the strange thing is that none of their charms can keep them. There is no place like home. And so I venture to add my little bit of appreciation and say that I am glad to see these men back and know they will be an honor to our village and community and an inspiration to the men who are yet to go to the front."

The band gave other selections throughout the program and accompanied the hearty singing of "God Save the King."

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

IF FEVERISH, BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED, GIVE FRUIT LAXATIVE

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

The Passing of Mrs. Reid Ball.

Passing. Yes, surely that is the fitting word to use, for near midnight, on Sunday, Nov. 11, she simply glided, as it were, over the edge of time, into the great unknown, to us, eternity. The voice of God called her and she went, the finger of God touched her and lo, she was at rest. Her weariness, her weakness, her sufferings were over for ever—and absent from the body she was present with the Lord. And the manner of her going was reflected in her face as she lay in her coffin—how calm and peaceful she looked and one could fancy there was a trace of a smile, the smile of seeing her Saviour face to face, at the end of a long journey of seventy-two years. The funeral took place on Wednesday, Nov. 14, and was very largely attended. Simplicity, dignity and beauty characterized the service, and although sadness was in every heart there was also a note of joy, for those present "sorrow not as others who have no hope." Dr. Lee conducted the services, and gave an appropriate address. Rev. Mr. Higgs also spoke suitable words of comfort and assurance. Then the remains were tenderly taken to God's acre on the hill top by her four sons and gently committed to the grave in the sure and certain hope of a glorious resurrection through our Lord Jesus Christ. The sympathy of the whole community goes out to her husband, her children, her grandchildren, and relatives. The funeral arrangements were most efficiently carried out by Mr. Raper, and as one came away from the cemetery, the words of her favorite hymn sung at the funeral service, came to us with a new and more beautiful meaning than before:

This robe of flesh I'll drop and rise
To seize the everlasting prize;
And shout while passing through the air,
Farewell, farewell! sweet hour of prayer.

Besides her husband, four sons and two daughters survive, the sons are: Ormus, Edward, Herbert and Henry, all of Cavan, and the daughters: Mrs. W. Fred Fallis and Mrs. Reginald Armstrong, also of Cavan. Two brothers, Mr. John Walsh of Bartlesville, Okla., and Mr. J. W. Walsh, town, and one sister, Mrs. George Campbell, also survive, to all of whom we extend sympathy.

Born, in Cavan, on Monday, Nov. 5, 1917, to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tinney, a daughter.

Popular Approval.

"Of course popular approval is essential to success," said the statesman.

"I don't know," replied the plain person; "a number of baseball umpires have managed to get on pretty well without it."—Washington Star.

She Surely Was.

"You must have thought the world of your first wife," sneered Mrs. Lot the second during one of the family squabbles.

"I certainly did," replied Lot. "She was the salt of the earth."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

NEW ROUTE TO WESTERN CANADA PROVING POPULAR

Runs Through Famous Belt of New Ontario and the Cobalt Mining District.

On your next trip to Western Canada why not travel over a new route, see the wonderful land opened up in Northern Ontario by the Transcontinental Railway and gain a glimpse of Temagami, and the Cobalt silver mining region?

You may use the famous trains on your journey without any added expense for railway fare as compared with any other route. The International Limited will carry you to Toronto, where "The National" starts on its westbound flight. "The National" uses the rails of the Grand Trunk to North Bay, the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario (Provincial Government Line) to Cochrane, and the Canadian Government Railways to Winnipeg, where it links up with the Grand Trunk Pacific for all important points in Western Canada.

A pleasant daylight run to Toronto, an evening in the Queen City, and "The National" is ready to carry you westward. The departure of "The National" from Toronto is at 9.00 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. North Bay is reached next morning and there opens up for your admiration all the lakeland beauties of the territory served by the T. & N. O. line. These are followed by a wonderfully interesting trip through the sparsely populated territory of New Ontario, giving the traveller an opportunity of inspecting this fertile region, including the famed clay belt where tens of thousands of settlers will make their homes in the future. The area of New Ontario is 330,000 square miles, fully four times the size of Old Ontario, and in addition to great expanses of good farming land, it has wonderful resources in timber, minerals, water power, fish and game.

The three railways have combined to make the passenger service over this new road the equal of that offered anywhere on the continent. The smooth, straight and level roadbed embodies all that has been learned in three quarters of a century of railroad building. The dining car service is unexcelled, and the greatest travel comfort is assured. Full particulars from any Grand Trunk Ticket Agent, or C. E. Horning, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

Farmer Quietlife had demanded a heart-to-heart talk with his son, who, despising agriculture, was a bank clerk in the city.

"I am told that you are given to gambling!" said the farmer sternly.

"I admit it," the son acknowledged, "But only for small stakes."

"Oh," said Farmer Quietlife, highly relieved, "so long as it is for something to eat I don't mind."

She was one of those little women who are always looking for something that will take up their husband's idle time.

"John," she said, "I wish you would mend the front door lock."

"C-can't!" replied John, quaking like an aspen leaf. "I've g-got the s-shaking ague."

"Oh, well then, I know the very thing; you can sift the ashes."

Railroad President—Another farmer is suing us on account of his cows.

Lawyer—Killed by our trains?

Railroad President—No; he complains that our passengers are leaning out of the windows and milking them as the train goes by.

Let's not be overanxious to grasp an opportunity that is too hot.

PRESIDENT RAPS IDEA OF A POOL IN BASEBALL

Tener Says it is Opposed to Spirit of the Pastime—No Such Action Attended

New York, Nov. 22.—"It is not in harmony with the spirit of baseball." Such was the comment of John K. Tener, President of the National League, when asked for his views on the report from Chicago that the American League might consider pooling both its players and its receipts next season.

"And I do not think the American League intends taking any such action," continued Mr Tener. "I am quite sure the club owners in the National League would not be willing to even consider such a move.

"In the first place, the satisfactory placing of the star players would be a difficult problem to decide; in fact, it seems that it would be impossible to accomplish this to the satisfaction of all."

Something that Mr. Tener did not say, probably because it goes without saying, is that pooling both players and receipts would savor strongly of syndicate baseball, and syndicate baseball would be destined to a sudden and disastrous death.

Would Lose Fans' Confidence.

All far-seeing baseball men realize that the secret of baseball's popularity is the confidence which the fans have in the sport. They realize that hippodroming or syndicate baseball would sound the death knell of the sport, and once killed, it would be harder to rebuild the same professionally and bigger losses would be sustained than to pass through the present crisis with baseball maintained on the same high plane that has made the sport the national pastime in this country.

Further than this, it is to be supposed that men like Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox and Dunn of Cleveland, who have spent thousands of dollars purchasing such star players as Eddie Collins and Tris Speaker, would consider pooling their players and losing them to some other teams? Hardly! Or would Washington and Detroit take the chance of losing Walter Johnson and Ty Cobb?

And why should cities like New York and Chicago, where the running expenses are so much heavier than in some of the other cities, agree to pool their receipts and divide the total among eight club owners? It wouldn't be fair, nor would it tend to save baseball from financial ruin.

General Retrenchment the Answer.

The pooling of players and receipts is not the answer to the problem baseball is called upon to meet at this time. The suggestion was made in Chicago as a possible way in which to avoid the necessity of cutting the schedule from 154 games to 140, and thus shortening the season to five months, and paying the players accordingly. It is not the first time that pooling the players has been indirectly suggested. But in every other instance it has been derried by the wiser element of baseball men, and it is destined to be so this time.

There is but one answer to baseball's problem. That is general retrenchment. A curtailment in the schedule is advisable because it will avoid the bad weather at both ends of the season which has proven a big drawback and an unnecessary expense.

WILL BUY VICTORY BONDS

The Ontario Hockey association the biggest and best-known governing body of the national winter sport, has contributed battalions to the winning of the war, and is now about to back them up by the funds.

From the surplus of the association it is proposed to invest $5000 in the bonds of the Victory loan, and notice to that effect has been given by J. Ross Robertson, so that action may be taken by the annual convention, which alone has authority to dispose of the association's funds.

DAVE FULTZ CHIRPING AGAIN

New York, Nov. 22.—The National association of Minor Baseball leagues in empowering minors to release players without the customary five day notice, has repudiated the agreement which organized baseball made with the Baseball Players' fraternity a few seasons ago at Cincinnati, according to David D. Fultz, president of the fraternity. Mr. Fultz, in a statement made public today, says that apparently organized baseball regards that agreement as a "mere scrap of paper."

"It wouldn't surprise me," the statement says, "if organized baseball will now repudiate many of the other promises which they made to the players in the Cincinnati compact."

COUNTY COUNCILLORS DISCUSS GOVERNMENT GOOD ROADS SCHEME

Will not Likely be Endorsed, if at all, Until After War—Deputation From Belmont.

The County Council yesterday afternoon discussed the Government scheme for organizing counties in a movement for mutual co-operation toward creating and maintaining good highways, the Government to bear a fair proportion of the expense.

At the time of going to press the Council seemed pretty generally agreed that during the war it would not be wise to countenance any further expenditure than is positively imperative.

Councillor Anderson thought Canada had so many questions to attend to that it does not matter what organization looks after road work. He thought all pressure should be brought to bear on producing crops and winning the war, with as little road work as possible.

Councillor Rye thought it essential that the roads should be kept in good condition. As to the county good roads movement, he thought it was the Government's intention at the present time simply to organize the counties with a view to co-operation in the good roads movement after the war.

Councillor McKee was in favor of county roads being maintained in the highest state of efficiency. Still just now, with so much war expenditure, he thought that feeling generally was against the ratepayers being loaded up with additional expense for a system of roads under the Government's scheme.

$798.57 A Mile.

Township Clerk Leason was one of a deputation from Belmont urging the adoption of this scheme. He said that since the inception of the good roads movement in Hastings county highways had been constructed at an average cost of $798.57 a mile, including bridges.

In Committee.

The councillors spent all morning in Roads and Bridges Committee session.

CANDIDATE FOR SOLDIERS VOTES

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—The Government has accorded endorsation to forty-one candidates in the Province of Quebec. Of the remainder twelve seats are without official Unionist endorsation, and there are twelve seats which have gone by acclamation.

In Nova Scotia endorsation has been granted to three Liberals: Hon. A. K. Maclean, Hon. W. S. Fielding (acclamation), and E. K. Spinney, Yarmouth.

In New Brunswick a Government candidate has been endorsed in every constituency but Westmoreland, where ther are two Unionist candidates running. Among the Liberals in that Province endorsed by the Premier are S. E. Elkin, St. John; General H. H. McLean, Royal; W. S. Loggie, Northumberland; Hon. F. B. Carvell, Carleton and Victoria.

In Saskatchewan eight Liberals and four Conservative Unionists are endorsed in the twelve constituencies in which there are contests.

as "dastardly legislation," was called upon to retract or leave the floor of the convention.

The committee's report endorsing the resolution was adopted by a vote of 244 to 20 amid a storm of cheers, but not until a large number of the delegates and President Gompers had replied to Black, and Delegate David Carey, from Toronto, had declared that Black's statement did not represent the sentiment of Canadian trades unionism.

"I would advise the delegate from Canada to look up the definition of dastardly," said President Gompers. "He might then reconsider what he has said.

"We are at war," continued Gompers, "and if the delegate does not realize it yet he should wake up. It is no longer a question for academic discussion. We are at war for the safety of the world's democracy, and every honorable thing that can be done must be done to win it."

President Gompers than recognized Delegate Carey of Toronto, who said: "Delegate Black does not express the feeling of the Canadian trade unionists or the Canadian people. If he is of military age it is his duty to be serving his country. Labor men, high and low, in our ranks are out to win the war by service at the front and at home and we are with the American Federation of Labor in everything it does toward that end."

The demand for a retraction from Black was not put in the form of a motion and the matter was dropped.

Canon Davidson Sails December 1

EXPECTED HOME A WEEK OR TEN DAYS BEFORE CHRISTMAS.

Rev. Canon Davidson, rector of St. John's Church, who went overseas with the 93rd Battalion as chaplain, and has been serving in that capacity with the forces ever since, has written that he will sail for home on or about December first. He will consequently reach Peterborough before Christmas.

The reverend gentleman had intended to stay abroad until the end of the war, and has advised his wardens that he is not returning at this time of his own free will. As he has not been enjoying the best of health the past year, the inference taken from his reference to his coming home is that he is physically unable to continue in service as military chaplain.

REHEARSING FOR THE FESTIVAL

ST. JOHN'S CHOIR IS GETTING READY FOR ENTERTAINMENT.

In the school room last Tuesday night St. John's Choir rehearsed the program for the forthcoming Choral Festival on St. Andrew's Day, Friday, Nov. 30th. "Olivet to Calvary" was rehearsed, the bass solo work by Mr. W. T. Ward, the tenor by Mr. Walter H. Hutchinson.

Several numbers from Haydn's "Creation" have also been prepared, and the following were rehearsed on Tuesday: "Rolling in Foaming Billows", Mr. Ward; "The Marvellous Work," soprano obligate by Mrs. W. G. Perks, which contains a wonderful range, reaching C in alt; Trio, "Most Beautiful Appear". Mrs. Perks, Mr. Hutchinson, and Mr. Ward and the wonderful trio and chorus, "The Lord is Great," the twentieth number of the "Creation", one of the most beautiful choruses ever written, but seldom used without professional assistance owing to its high range.

St. John's Choir, an entirely unpaid body of singers, formed from members of the congregation, have shown splendid spirit and perseverance in the practice and rehearsal of these standard works in addition to their regular duties in the church services. At the conclusion of the rehearsal, Mr. R. J. Devey heartily congratulated the choristers for their splendid work in all its branches.

Medical Treatment For Discharged Men

MILITARY AUTHORITIES MAKE IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT TO DISCHARGED MEN.

The military authorities announce that arrangements have recently been completed with the Ministry of Pensions, England, whereby it is now possible to give necessary training and medical treatment to discharged men of the Imperial Army, at Imperial Government expense, in a similar manner to that followed in the case of men of the Canadian Expenditionary Force, provided that the disability is due to the man's service during the present war, and treatment or training recommended will improve the man's condition.

Attention is called to the principal points to be borne in mind, and which are as follows:

1. All cases, in the first instance, be brought to the notice of the officer Paying Imperial Pensions, Ottawa, Ont.

2. The man's case will be then taken up with the Military Hospital's Commission, Ottawa, which will at once take steps to have the man examined, and the training, or treatment, will then, if found necessary, be given at once.

3. As soon as the man is given treatment or training, the appropriate allowance will be issued, weekly, by the officer paying Imperial Pensions, Ottawa, and will continue so long as the man is receiving either treatment or training as the case may be.

It is asked that this information be made as public as possible, and that the attention of all men of the Imperial Service, be drawn to the facts as soon as possible.

SEVEN DAYS LEAVE.

The leveling of casts among the spiritual effects of the present war in many of the countries involved is touched upon incidentally in "Seven Days' Leave," the big London military comedy from the Lyceum Theatre, London, to be seen here at the Grand opera house on November 24th, for an engagement of one night and matinee. About war, though not precisely of it, "Seven Days' Leave's" dramatis personae, include a young lord and a young lieutenant, son of a cook, each in the same regiment, with the cook's offspring the superior in military rank, and with the young noble cheerfully accepting conditions and seeming to enjoy his change of base.

CAMPAIGN NOTES

A friend of the Union Candidate in West Peterborough received a letter this morning in which appears a paragraph "Mr. Burnham cleaned up the riding and made it, politically speaking, honest and respectable for the first time. He smashed up the ring that tried to gobble Burleigh Falls and introduced Hydro into Eastern Ontario, bringing people from as far east as Kingston, to a great public meeting in Peterborough for which I am told he had to pay the rent of the city hall out of his own pocket and all the expense and the City Council except Mayor Duffus refused to help him.

Those are a few of the big things he has done, and yet you will find people like some of those at a meeting reported as being held in the Opera House who would vote for somebody else, any weakling so long as it wasn't Burnham. But why go on. Humanity must have its poor and it always will."

Friday night's meeting has evidently excited comment far and wide. Capt. Burnham found in his correspondence this morning a long letter from an old Peterborough man in which was the following gem: "I wanted to express my admiration of the manner in which you have acted towards winning the war and also to compliment you upon your handling of the present campaign. You certainly have out-generaled the SORE HEADS, the SLACKERS and the TALKERS OF BOTH PARTIES."

How to Send Xmas Mail to Soldiers

WRITE YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS ON BACK OF PARCELS FOR RETURN.

The Christmas mail from Peterborough, as elsewhere, is of tremendous proportions, and increasing daily. Seven pound parcels seem to dominate all other weights.

All persons wishing their parcels returned should it be not possible to deliver them to whom they are sent, should write their name and address on the reverse side with instructions to return same, in case of non-delivery. Should this not be done, and the man is not found the military authorities will dispose of the parcel to the best advantage.

The postal authorities advise the use of corrugated pasteboard parcels in sending comforts to the soldiers overseas.

HOW TO VOTE

(Editorial in The Globe)

Votes for the Military Service Act should be given to the Union Government. Votes for the Union Government should be given to the candidates approved by it.

WILL SEND MEN BY JANUARY 1ST

GEN. MEWBURN WILL DISPATCH 10,000 REINFORCEMENTS TO FLANDERS.

Hamilton, Nov. 23.—"I feel it my duty to get twenty thousand men overseas by the first of January." This was the important statement of Major-General S. C. Mewburn, Minister of Militia and Defence, to a mass meeting of women supporters of the Union Government in the Oddfellows' Temple. General Mewburn explained that the 5th Division had been broken up in order to reinforce the other four divisions at the front, the number of casualties in the Canadian Corps since the 28th October up to last night totalling 13,058. The 5th Division now numbers less than ten thousand men, "and will probably have to be wiped off the slate" in order to reinforce the men on the fighting line, he said. For that reason he felt it his duty not to spend much time electioneering, but to get 10,000 men overseas by the 1st of January. He made an earnest appeal to the women of Canada to get behind the Union Government in order that the much needed reserves may be sent forward to the war zone. He estimated that "one million or more" women with relatives in the fighting line will have the vote in the coming election, including no less than 30,000 women in Hamilton alone, because Hamilton has given no fewer than ten thousand men to the cause. "If the women of Hamilton will league together they will be able to swing this election any way they like," declared General Mewburn.

At the nomination for North Ontario, held at Beaverton, Col. Sam Sharpe of the 116th Battalion, Unionist candidate, was absent at the front, but his candidature was doughtily supported by a man who had served under him in France and who had been wounded at Vimy Ridge, Sergt. Matt Wayman of Toronto.

Sir Allen Aylesworth spoke on behalf of F. L. Hogg, anti-conscriptionist and Laurierite, and received much applause from young men from Rama and Mara. Sir Allen explained that he came to them not as a lawyer, but as a farmer's son. Conscription, he continued, was a dead issue as far as the election was concerned, as the men would be overseas before the next Parliament could meet. Yet in spite of that, and the fact that he had a son in the trenches, in whose place he would have gone if he could, he declared himself against conscription. The 100,000 men required under the Act would be a mere drop in the bucket.

What Will Quebec Do?

"I've come to you with a special message from the front, where my commanding officer is still carrying on," declared Sergt. Wayman. "I've come directly from the men who left this Ontario village, men who became part of the 9th Brigade, because Quebec couldn't send reinforcements to keep its 60th Battalion going. What will Quebec do with us, the soldiers, when we come back What will it do for the widows and orphans? Will they help us after the war, if they failed to help us now?

"I was in Quebec city the other ay. There were slackers by the hunred. I saw them edge a crippled soldier off the sidewalk, with a sneer! And it is the followers of these fellows that are trying to beat the gallant colonel of my battalion."

My Country Needs Me.

After paying tribute to the 116th Battalion, Sergt. Wayman continued: "You have heard an expert lawyer, a clever politician, explain things. Only a mean, small, contemptible person could resort to platform tricks when the country was in such a crisis. Today Canada stands in a crucial position. At such a time a man must cast aside all else and say: 'My country is going under, my country needs me! I'll fight to uphold my

FIGHTING IN CAMBRIA REGION BROKE OUT ANEW THIS MORNING

That is The Report That Comes From Berlin Via London—British Safe in New Positions

(Canadian Press Despatch)

(By Associated Press)

British Army Headquarters in in France, Nov. 23.—The British early today drove back the enemy at the elevation called Tadpole Copse, which dominates a large section of the Canal Du Nord and a large part of Moeuvres in the Cambrai area.

Berlin (via London), Nov. 23.—A new battle is in progress in the cambrai area, the army headquarters announced today. The fighting broke out anew this mornig in the direction of Moeuvres.

London, Nov. 23. — The British have advanced their lines slightly in Flanders southeast of Ypres, the war office announces. The situation on the Somme front southwest of Cambrai is unchanged.

The official announcement follows: "Hostile raids attempted last night south of Neuve Chapelle and northwest of St. Quentin were repulsed, leaving prisoners in our hands.

"There is no change on our front southwest of St. Quentin."

IS GENERAL BYNG NOW.

London, Nov. 23.—The King has promoted Lieut.-Gen. Byng to the rank of General in recognition of his distinguished services in the field in the recent operations.

FRENCH CHECK GERMANS.

Paris, Nov. 23.—Another German attempt to recapture the ground taken by the French in their recent attack on the Aisne front was checked by French fire, the war office reports. The statement follows:

"Active artillery fighting continues in the sectors of Cerny and Juvincourt. In this section our fire checked an enemy attack against positions on our left which we captured on November 21st. Our patrols in operation near Ailette brought back prisoners and inflicted losses on the enemy. Northwest of Rheims and in Champagne raids on our small posts were without results.

"On the right bank of the Meuse the artillery fighting continued in a spirited manner during the night.

"There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front."

ENEMY FAIL AGAIN.

Rome, Nov. 23.—A great encircling attack was attempted yesterday by the Austro-German forces against Monte Moletta, but the Italians held all positions, it was announced today by the war office.

RECORD OPERATION OF THE WAR

German Lines Have Been Penetrated to a Depth of Seven Miles.

By Associted Press)

British Army Headyuarters in France, Nov. 23.—British cavalry, tanks and infantry were operating along a line running from west of Cambrai to the south of that town.

Meanwhile the offensive had been successfully prosecuted on the left and in the region of Bullecourt the German line had been pushed back considerably, thereby widening the salient which the British have driven into the enemy territory to the south and southwest of Cambrai. The attack around Bullecourt was a complete succes and something like 700 prisoners were captured here.

Sanguinary hand-to-hand fighting has taken place at many points. During the night three German counterattacks in Noyelles and Rumilly were beaten off and another thrust by the enemy near Bullecourt was smashed.

The number of prisoners is increasing steadily. More than 800 were in the hands of the British last night, and large contingents have been coming back during the early morning hours. This morning the cavalry, tanks and infantry at many points west and south of Cambrai were less than three miles from the outskirts of the town.

SUCCESS GROWS HOURLY ON THE CAMBRAI LINE

Limit of the Great Victory Has Not Yet Been Reached.

DRIVING WEDGE STILL DEEPER

Airmen, in Spite of the Heavy Weather, Fly Over the Battlefield.

British Headquarters in France, Nov. 23.—We have not yet reached the limit of our victory. The success grows hourly. The total of prisoners is approaching nine thousand.

Great stretches of new country and fresh villages are being captured; besides increasing in depth the wedge is spreading at the base. The weather continues most unfavorable, a heavy mist preventing all airplane observation. Nevertheless the airmen continue to fly over the battle ground, penetrating far into the enemy territory at the level of the tree tops.

The latest village captured is Cantoing, and the troops are now in the neighborhood of Bourbon and Moeucare, while fighting is promising in the region of Rumilly.

The enemy attempted only a few small counter-attacks between Rumilly and Noyelles with troops hurried up for the purpose, but all were easily repulsed.

At Cantoing and beyond Mesnieres we have broken into sections of the last lines of defence and now hold the Hindenburg line with the famous tunnel, where the counter-attacks have been heavy and pressed with great determination. But we hold everything taken.

Our casualties are almost incredibly small. The troops are most cheerful and are roaming over new and unspoiled country where villages have not been destroyed, and tilled fields abound.

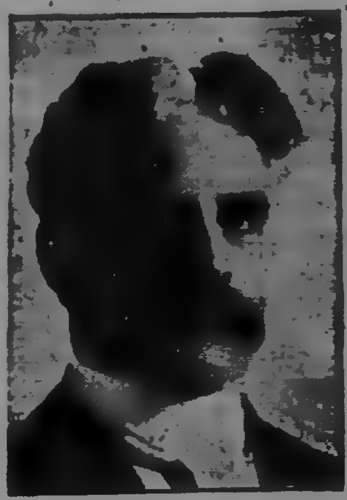
TO SPEAK HERE NOVEMBER 30



SIR ROBERT BORDEN

Sir Robert Borden, head of the Union Government, has notified Capt. Burnham that he will speak in this city on Friday evening, November 30th, at 8 o'clock. Capt. Burnham has arranged for a meeting in the Armories and has issued an invitation to all voters to attend.

Premier Borden is being warmly received by the Canadian public wherever he appears and the indications are that he will be accorded an enthusiastic reception when he comes to Peterborough.

Arrangements have been completed for Sir Robert to speak at Uxbridge on Monday afternoon and at Oshawa Monday evening, November 26. He will spend Sunday in Toronto, and all of next week will be devoted to meetings in Ontario constituencies.

WILL MR. HALL PLEASE TAKE NOTICE?

"The Government has also a remedy," continued Sir Robert "and proposes to exercise it in the case of a community, district or Province where exemptions have been granted indiscriminately, and by wholesale. (Cheers.) It is the intention of the Unionist Government to see to it that the Military Service Act is administered justly, considerately, impartially and firmly."—Premier Borden at London.

Stockholm, Nov. 22.—According to the Tidnin the General Russian diplomat left Stockholm yesterday for Petrograd with orders to hand to the Russian revolutionary government proposals for peace by the Central Powers.

$12,000 MORE FOR THE BRITISH RED CROSS ASSN.

Finance Committee of County Council Will Recommend a Grant of a Mill and a Quarter, Representing About $12,000.

The County Council spent this morning in committees.

This afternoon, Mrs. Knox, president, Mrs. E. Bartlett, secretary, and Mrs. McNeally, of the Provincial Women's Auxiliary of the G. W. V. A., addressed the Council and asked financial aid in furnishing the G. W. V. A.'s new headquarters over the Royal Bank.

Mrs. Knox appreciated the county's generosity in regard to patriotic demands, and referred touchingly to the soldiers returned shattered after strenuous fighting at the front. She explained lucidly the aims and objects of the Great War Veterans, and asked a grant toward fitting up a club house in which returned heroes may renew friendships cemented at the front, and conduct their business. She had no hesitancy in expecting earnest consideration of the need for financial assistance.

Mrs. Bartlett addressed Council on similar lines and explained that the ladies in the townships might send representatives to the W. A. of the G. W. V. A. Some county returned soldiers are members of the association, which provides positions for men unable to follow their usual avocations.

Warden Brown assured the deputation that the request would be dealt with generously, and the matter was referred to the finance committee for action.

Sheep Worried.

Councillor McKee submitted a request from Smith township that the county pay for six sheep and one ram worried by a ferocious dog.

Councillor McKee was informed that such losses should be covered by dog licenses, and that it is unusual for the county to recognize such claims.

This question was treated more or less as a joke, but it went to the finance committee nevertheless.

1¼ Mills for Red Cross.

In finance committee this afternoon Councillors Anderson and Fitzgerald moved that about $12,000—a mill and a quarter—be donated to the British Red Cross, this amount to be raised from next year's taxes, less any amount which may have been paid by any municipality. This motion carried.

Reeve Fitzgerald of Lakefield said his village was anxious that a good grant be made to the Red Cross. Last year this municipality gave $1000, and was willing that he same sum be granted this year.

An amendment for 1 1-10 mills and one for one mill were lost.

This will be recommended to Council in open session, and that payment of the same be made on Jan. 1 next.

TRIBUNAL WILL NOT ARGUE QUESTION WITH APPLICANTS

Will Simply Render Decision on Statements of Applicants as to Plain Facts.

At the tribunal in the Council Chamber this morning B. Alexander Loucks, chief examiner of fuse forging with the Imperial Munitions' Board, applied for exemption on domestic grounds, having a widowed mother to support. He is an only son, and his home is at 666 George street. His uncle pays the rent of his mother's home. Louck's mother supports herself, and when Mr. Aylmer suggested that it would not make much difference then were he drafted, Loucks replied it would were he to return a cripple, and seemed anxious to enter into an argument.

Mr. Aylmer—"We are not here to argue the question. All you have to do is to state your facts, after which it is our duty to render a decision."

Keeps Father and Sister.

Fred J. Lajoie, Romaine street, who is installing electric elevators at the Quaker Oats building, claimed exemption on the ground that he is the only support of his father and one sister. Decision was deferred.

A Farm Laborer.

Joseph L. Shaughnessy, a farm laborer of Otonabee, working with David F. Crowley and others, claimed exemption on the importance of his work to the country. He has three brothers, two of whom are married, and has no dependents. Decision deferred.

Owns Ten Acres.

Samuel Henry Abbott, R. R. No. 3, Peterborough, a carpenter, claimed exemption on domestic and financial grounds. He owns a house and ten acres, which he works himself. He is the sole support of aged father, mother and sister. Decision reserved.

Is Learning a Trade.

Robert Wilson, 891 Water street, an employee at the Lock Works, asked to be exempted as he is learning a trade—polishing locks—and wants to finish it.

Mr. Aylmer said the tribunal could hardly consider polishing locks as necessary to the war. However the Board would notify claimant of their decision.

Claim Disallowed.

Frank H. Emmerson, draftsman with the C.G.E., asked exemption on the grounds of his occupation in national defence.

"B" Exemptions.

Lorne Dennis Scully, 419 Downie street.

"E" Exemptions.

Joseph Orville McColl, 470 Aylmer street.
Gordon Frederick Holland, 354½ Water street.
John Morrison, R. R. 3, Peterborough.
Daniel Holmes, Peterborough.

NO PARTISANSHIP.

Some people are making inquiries for directions as to what they should do in the way of organizing. They are reminded that no political organization has control of this Unionist campaign. The Unionist campaign is not political, and all bodies, whether of men or women, are expected to do their own organization for the common cause.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1917

WILL HE ANSWER?

WILL MR. HALL answer these questions:

Would he, if elected to Parliament, vote for the immediate enforcement of the Military Service Act, or would he favor Sir Wilfrid Laurier's policy and demand a referendum?

How would he vote, as between the two leaders, to make Sir Wilfrid Laurier Premier of the Dominion or to keep Sir Robert Borden at the head of affairs?

MR. SEXSMITH'S ADDRESS.

MR. J. A. SEXSMITH, who has represented East Peterborough in the Dominion Parliament for the past nine years, and who is the Unionist candidate in the present campaign, has his address to the electors in another part of this issue. There is nothing of party politics in what he says to his constituents. He takes high ground, and with him the winning of the war is the only issue.

Mr. Sexsmith is certainly right when he says that no greater disaster could befall Canada than the defeat of the Borden Union Administration. Let the voters of East Peterborough consider what that defeat would mean.

The Canadian soldiers at the front, doing double duty now, are in need of reinforcements. Surely the people of this country are in favor of helping the men who have already done so much for them. The return of the Borden Union Administration to power will be a mandate to send this help with all speed.

If Quebec gets the upper hand again in the government of the country, if Sir Wilfrid Laurier is made Premier, there will be nothing done toward the winning of the war for at least another year. The Liberal leader has left no doubt as to where he stands. His policy has been clearly and definitely announced.

Every vote cast for Mr. Sexsmith in East Peterborough will be a vote for the soldiers in the trenches. Every vote for his opponent will be interpreted as an expression of disapproval of what they have already done, a notice to them that all further support from this country is to be denied them. The issue is clear, the duty of the electors is plain as day.

The soldiers in Europe have shed their blood for the people at home. Thousands of them have laid down their lives as a sacrifice. For a voter at home to go back on the political affiliation of years, and sever party bonds, is after all a small service to perform in return.

Mr. Sexsmith's record as a public man is above suspicion. In the issue now before the people he is on the side of the fighting men, and is justified in appealing to the electors for their support.

MR. HALL AND QUEBEC.

MR. HALL frankly admits that the people of Quebec have been remiss in their duty since the war broke out. Of the 100,000 men required for reinforcements now, Mr. Hall says that Quebec should raise at least 70,000 in order to be on an equal footing with the other provinces of the Dominion.

Politically, Mr. Hall is identified with the majority in Quebec. He is working day and night, tooth and nail, to wrest the management of the war from the people in the provinces that have done their duty and hand it over to the province that has failed and which will persevere and fortify itself in this failure, if Mr. Hall and his party triumph at the polls.

THE EXEMPTION TRIBUNALS.

IN A PUBLIC STATEMENT the other day Premier Borden explained clearly the purpose of the Military Service Act and the scope of the exemption tribunals that were appointed to prepare that Act for operation.

It seems that at various points justifiable dissatisfaction has arisen over the work of these tribunals and that some men, who under the law are entitled to exemption, have been denied it.

The method employed in the appointment of the members of these tribunals is one of the fairest that could be devised, as both political parties had a say in the selections. The fact that a man has been denied exemption does not necessarily mean that he will be sent to the front. All the tribunals have to do is to interpret the law as they find it, according to their best judgment. The members can easily make mistakes, but provisions exist for appeals that can be made by those with a grievance. These appeals can be registered with little or no personal inconvenience or expense.

The tribunals are supposed to ascertain who are and who are not eligible for military service. Peterborough County will not be expected to raise more than about two hundred of the hundred thousand men required, and there will be over one thousand eligibles from which to select this quota. Just how the recruits will be chosen has not yet been announced. It will be seen, however, that every eligible runs only one chance in five of being ordered to the front. There will be another sifting of the drafted men after the exemption tribunals are through with them.

It has been stated in this city that men denied exemption by the tribunals have been ordered to set their houses in order, to dispose of their businesses, in order to get ready for active service. No tribunal has authority under the Act to issue such an order. The right to order men to the front rests with a higher power.

A man charged with some offence is tried in the police court. The magistrate, with the law before him, has no alternative but to find him guilty. He may, however, let him go on suspended sentence. That is a different matter from adjudging him guiltless.

A man in Class A may be denied exemption, but it does not necessarily follow that he is to be sent into service against his will. When the Act is fully understood, when it is set in final operation, it will be found that, just as in England and in the United States, its impartiality will be one of its best claims for public support. The man whose services are valuable at home will be left. Those who can be spared will be taken.

THE EXAMINER'S CONCERN.

THE EXAMINER should endeavor to preserve its equanimity these eventful days. Things may not really be as bad as it imagines. For instance, it seems to be worried over the prospect that Quebec will send only 2,000 of those 100,000 to the front.

Leave it to The Examiner's party, including Mr. Hall, and it will be worse than that. Give them and their leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the reins of power, and Quebec will not raise one man, let alone 2,000.

The Nationalists, who are causing our contemporary so much anxiety, are not to be trusted. Unfortunately for The Examiner's cause, these same Nationalists are fighting on the same side as Mr. Hall and its own befuddled self.

THE WOMAN VOTER.

THE IMPORTANCE in this election of the woman voter must not be underestimated. It is no disparagement to other voters to say that she at least has a real stake in the country's welfare. That stake is nothing less than the life of a husband, son, brother or father whose life has either been sacrificed for the Empire, or whose life has been, or will be in jeopardy. Few of these voters have been intimately associated with either of the old political parties. All of them will be wishful of polling their first vote for a candidate in whose election they, or their representatives, have had some voice. In an almost overwhelming majority of instances they will naturally array themselves behind the pledged supporter of the Union Government, which in turn is behind the enforcement of the Military Service Act. They will bless Borden for having staked his political life on introducing this bill when he had seen in the trenches with his own eyes the need which these voters had long known from the personal letters of their sons and husbands and brothers at the front. Just as the loyal Liberals behind the Union Government are willing to postpone tariff and other minor matters till after the end of the war, so these loyal women voters will be ready to postpone many cherished ideals, which they may have expected to enforce by their votes, until peace is won. Their answer to Laurier's manifesto with referendum as its main plank will inevitably be the cry of the anguished heart, "How long, oh Lord, how long?" How long before the prisoner in Germany is freed; how long till the fighter of three long years can have furlough; how long till the reinforcements for our fighting units make them so strong that the heroic deeds of Vimy Ridge and of Passchendaele can be repeated, and till resistance on the Western front is broken down and victory is won?

KEEPING THE HOME FIRES BURNING.

GOVERNOR WHITMAN of New York, according to The Sun of that city, has made public some suggestions about coal fires which are designed to promote economy and aid Dr. Garfield's fuel administration. The same rules apply to Peterborough.

Open grate fires are wasteful of coal. Heating the whole house is often extravagant. Spare rooms should be shut up and have the heat turned off.

In tending a furnace fire it is important to see that there are no cracks at the floor line of the furnace, admitting air to the ash pit.

A thin fire is wasteful. Keep the firebox filled to the level recommended by the maker.

A fire benefits by regular and methodical care. It should be coaled and shaken down at set times. The ordinary furnace needs shaking once a day and twice in bitter weather. Shake the fire until you can see light underneath; not a bit longer. Put on coal after shaking, never before.

Keep the draughts shut off as much as possible. Don't leave the feed door open. Keep the ash pit empty, and sift the ashes!

So much for householders. But how about the man who lives in a flat?

Be gentle with the janitor, but investigate his doings. It may be his wasteful and careless operation of the fire which leaves your family to shiver all morning. The landlord doesn't want to pay for unnecessary coal. He should be your best ally in finding and remedying the fault.

LETTER FROM WESTERN MOTHER SENT TO SIR WILFRID LAURIER

(Published in the Free Press, Winnipeg, the leading Liberal paper of Western Canada, on August 14.)

To SIR WILFRID LAURIER,
Ex-Prime Minister of Canada, Ottawa.

My Dear Sir Wilfrid:

You are an old man, you have passed the allotted span of life by several years, and during a long lifetime you have enjoyed the confidence, respect and devotion of a very large number of your fellow-citizens of Canada—and in Great Britain, and in the other Dominions beyond the seas, your name has been honored by King and Commoner.

You have done much for Canada, you have left upon the statutes of our country legislation that is wise and good, and your errors and faults have been, in general, forgiven and condoned by friend and foe alike.

You have tasted of the sweets and joys of office; but there is one sweet and one joy you have not experienced in the course of your long life—the sweets and joys of fatherhood. God has withheld this blessing from you. In this you have missed the greatest pleasure of life, and my heart sympathizes with you in your great loss. Not to know the joy of witnessing your own flesh and blood grow up to man's estate, not to know the love and affection of one of your own, is, indeed, a loss beyond expression of words.

I, a mother, know the joys of having children—they are the breath of life to me, the essence of all that is good and pure in this earthly life. And two of my children were sons who grew from perfect boyhood to perfect manhood—boys and men I was proud of, boys and men I would have given my life for.

At the call of duty they enlisted to fight for their King and Country, and they left Canada with their mother's blessing. Today they lie in their graves on the battle-scarred field of Flanders, honored in their lives, and in their deaths, by those who knew them as civilians, and by those who fought side by side with them as soldiers. And I, their mother, am left alone; but I do not mourn my gallant sons, my consolation being in the certain assurance that we shall meet again in that Land where there shall be no more strife.

I write you from a mother's heart—a mother of the dead—on behalf of the mothers of those other brave lads who are fighting the dreadful Hun for the protection of all we hold dear in this life. They cry for help, and Canada must lend a responsive ear. The mothers, the sisters, the sweethearts of those dear lads at the front must be listened to—and help, and speedy help, must be sent by Canada, if Canada is to remain honored in the eyes of herself and in the eyes of the world.

The letters and diaries of my sons reveal much to me—the hardships beyond the dreadful wounds, the physical ills, but outstanding beyond all these ills, the splendid fortitude of our splendid men. And you, Sir Wilfrid, an old man, ripe in years, but not ripe in fatherhood, propose to allow these brave men to fight on until exhausted, without help from you. You say Canada has done well enough—I say Canada has done splendidly under the voluntary system of enlistment—better than even you or any other member of Parliament anticipated—but the time has come NOW when others must be sent—must be compelled to go—to defend the very existence of our heroes at the front, and the existence and happiness of those at home, and of those yet to be. Canada must not shirk her duty, and the splendid women of Canada will see to it, when the polls are opened, that no man, no matter what his past record may be, shall be sent to Ottawa with power to annul the righteous cry from our men at the front.

You have from your place in Parliament decried the raising of racial and other questions throughout Canada, and yet you are the One Man in Canada who, by taking a firm and imperial stand in this time of our national peril, has the power to quell. Will you take this stand? It is not yet to late. The women of Canada desire not to see an election in which the passions of an angry country will be let loose. Are you big enough, are you sufficiently British, are you sufficiently French, to lift your hand and cry "Peace"?

If you fail your "white plume" will be stained with the blood of your fellow-man, and your name will go down to posterity in deserved shame!

The blood of the dead heroes in Flanders calls to you—the blood of the living heroes boils in indignation over your lack of practical sympathy! Your words are empty of hope to the men at the front.

If you fail to listen to the cry from the wounded hearts of Canada, and from the battle-fields of France—that glorious France, your motherland—the day of reckoning is near, and swift and just punishment will be meted out to you. The women of Canada are strong and determined in this matter, so pay heed while it is yet time.

"God save our splendid men," you sing, but what are YOU going to do to help God?

I am, my dear Sir Wilfrid,
A WINNIPEG MOTHER.

TODAY'S STORY

"Can you tell me what to do with a husband who has an inborn penchant for games of chance?" was the plaint of the woman in the coney fur coat.

"Has it got to the annoying stage?" inquired the woman with the khaki knitting bag.

"It has," replied the woman in the coney fur coat sadly. "And it has come on him so suddenly. The first sign I noticed was when he wagered $2 on the world's series ball games some weeks ago. He won and ever since has been taking one risk after another. He never played cards in his life until recently. Now he had friends at the house nightly playing penny ante until nearly 10 o'clock. I've found that he has lost as much as 60 cents in one evening and not a qualm of regret does he show. In fact, he puts on an air of braggadocio and talks about big stakes."

"It might be worse!" sympathized the woman with the khaki knitting bag. "My husband's hobby is far more expensive than your husband's. He can drop several hard earned dollars with no more seeming regret than if they were burned matches.

"Day before yesterday the stenographer at the office was selling chances on an alarm clock for the benefit of her knitting club. The tickets ran from one to seventy-five. Right away he wanted to test his luck. He drew a ticket—74 cents. Then he wanted to see if he couldn't draw the 1 cent ticket and tried. He pulled the 75 cent one. The mania was on and he never stopped until he drew 67, 73, 55, 60 and 64. I found the tickets in his pocket and extracted the sad story from him.

"Recently he passed a warehouse where an auction of uncalled for freight packages was being held. in its original package with the seal in its original paskage with the seal unbroken and would be sold for any reasonable offer. My husband bid in on a large trunk that looked mysterious and might, he thought, have been the property of some mining prospector and loaded with gold dust.

"He paid a very high price for the relic and added further to the cost by having it sent out to the house by fast motor truck. Then he closed his office early to come home and examine the thing. He had it taken to a dark corner of the basement and went out to a neighboring fire engine house to borrow an ax.

"While he was away my keen eye detected a tag pasted on the side of the trunk. It was a shipment of worn out rubber heels consigned to a tire factory and refused by them. My husband still has his old confidence. He says rubber will be as valuable as platinum some day and he'll cash in on his white elephant never fear!"

THE FOOD VALUE OF GOOD MILK

That is—Pure, Clarified and Pasteurized Milk

This is a matter that every person should understand, for reasons of Economy, as well as for its relation to Health.

Milk is one of the most wonderful foods. It is one of the cheapest foods, is easily digested, is very nourishing, and contains the chief parts of the different foods commonly used on the table.

Milk is equal to a meal consisting of meat and eggs, sugar and cereals, oils and fats, with salt and water. A milk diet, therefore, is like a mixed diet. Milk contains all the elements necessary to sustain life.

To get the nourishment contained in a quart of milk—according to Prof. Rosenau of Harvard—you would have to buy and prepare ¾ pound of beef, or 8 eggs, or 2 pounds of chicken, or 2 pounds of codfish. Each of these costs you more, to say nothing of the time, labor and fuel required in preparation.

JELLIED CHICKEN FOR OVERSEAS

A reader sends the following rules for preparing home jellied chicken for the men at the front:

The following recipe may appear to be a lot of trouble. It is anything but that after reading how to go about it. Being an experiment of my own which has proved satisfactory, and gone in perfect condition to my three brothers in the trenches for the past two years, I pass it on to others.

Select a nice tender chicken between three and four pounds. After drawing and washing thoroughly carefully cut up in portions (using sharp knife), keeping legs, wings, and breast perfectly whole, and first severing back from breast, being careful not to break wishbone.

Do not skin yet, as it adds to flavor and jellying. Put all in a pot and nearly cover with cold water, adding sufficient salt to help preserve same. Cover and allow to boil gently (not hard) until tender and the meat loosens from bones. Lift out gently on platter (leaving liquid in pot).

Now remove all the skin. Cut all meat from the body portions, taking special care to lift out the wishbone with its supply of meat, which put to one side for top of tin. Cut the breast off in thick strips. If the legs happen to be short ones leave meat on.

Now comes the artistic part, "The canning." Have all ready a clean, sterilized Crisco tin, or a tin the same style with inverted cover. Leave outside wrapper on or paste other paper on tight. Cut a round of waxed paper the size of bottom of tin and slip in, then line rest of tin with waxed paper, bringing it well up past top. Now proceed to pack in the chicken. If the wings and legs are short enough, they can be laid across the bottom of the tin first. Fill in with small pieces, curve breast pieces around in tin. Place the treasured wishbone on top with heart in centre, giving a finishing touch as well as a pleasing one.

Now pour the liquid in until covered. Put in a cold place to jelly. If you find you have not enough liquid, dissolve some gelatine. Pepper can be sprinkled in liquid if desired. If your chicken does not quite fill the tin, put in three or four of your home-made mustard pickles, but leaving plenty of room for cover to go down tightly. Before putting cover on, cut a couple of rings of waxed paper the size of the bottom of tin and place in all around over top bringing the waxed side down, and cement together with melted paraffine wax.

Dip inner side of cover (especially edges), in melted paraffine, place quickly and push down tight. The hollow of the lid can be utilized by filling in with salt and pepper mixed for extra seasoning. Over this cover with stouter white paper and wax or paste down to side paper around tin. Wrap up and tie tightly, as much as you wish. It is certainly worth the time spent when you know your brave soldier is to enjoy a jellied chicken prepared with your own hands.

BUCKWHEAT CAKES.

Someone suggested lately that a few recipes requiring buckwheat flour would be valuable. This really delicious flour is used all too little. The following cakes all call for it:

Buckwheat Pancakes.

One quart of water.
One-half yeast cake.
One heaping teaspoonful of salt.
One tablespoonful of brown sugar.
Buckwheat flour to make a stiff batter.

Let rise over night. In the morning, dissolve 1 level teaspoonful of soda in a little water and add to the batter.

Another recipe for buckwheat pancakes for breakfast is:

Dissolve half a yeast cake in about half a pint of water, thicken with wheat flour, and add a little salt; set in a warm place to rise, and let it stand for a couple of days afterwards before using. Then add one quart of warm water, one cup of cornmeal, one cup of Graham flour, and enough buckwheat flour to thicken, and finally two large tablespoonfuls of syrup; let rise over night, and bake for breakfast. When ready to bake add a small teaspoonful of soda.

NEW USE FOR SALT.

Scatter a little salt from the salt-shaker along the whole length of the window-sills right under the sash when cold weather comes. A fine, even coating of salt at this line will prevent snow or moisture getting between the bottom of the sash and the sill, and freezing, thus making it impossible to open the window.

OATMEAL DUMPLINGS.

Chop up a quarter of a pound of suet finely, add two teacupfuls of oatmeal, a large salt spoonful each of salt and white pepper, and an onion very finely chopped. Rub all well together till thoroughly mixed, then add slowly enough cold water to make a firm dough. Turn into a greased pudding-dish. Steam for two hours, and serve with potatoes, not meat.

Port Hope is practically without potatoes.

If you are suffering from constipation or sick headache, try Dr. Norvall's stomach and tonic tablets.

Be sure you get the genuine, as they are guaranteed and should they fail to give you relief, return the bottle to your dealer and he will refund your money

Should Meet to Discuss Issues

DIFFERENCES BETWEEN VETERANS AND PATRIOTIC FUND OFFICERS.

The Earlscourt branch of the Great War Veterans' Association has decided that a radical change in the administration of their affairs is needed, and have appointed a committee to interview the Patriotic Fund Executive and discuss points of difference.

Similar conditions obtain in Peterborough, and complaints are not infrequently heard of the working of the local Patriotic Fund Committee or of some members on its executive. There are always two sides to every story, and were an interview between the two bodies arranged differences might be cleared up and a mutual understanding reached satisfactory to all concerned.

NEW ROUTE TO WESTERN CANADA PROVING POPULAR

Runs Through Famous Belt of New Ontario and the Cobalt Mining District.

On your next trip to Western Canada why not travel over a new route, see the wonderful land opened up in Northern Ontario by the Transcontinental Railway and gain a glimpse of Temagami, and the Cobalt silver mining region?

You may use the famous trains on your journey without any added expense for railway fare as compared with any other route. The International Limited will carry you to Toronto, where "The National" starts on its westbound flight. "The National" uses the rails of the Grand Trunk to North Bay, the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario (Provincial Government Line) to Cochrane, and the Canadian Government Railways to Winnipeg, where it links up with the Grand Trunk Pacific for all important points in Western Canada.

A pleasant daylight run to Toronto, an evening in the Queen City, and "The National" is ready to carry you westward. The departure of "The National" from Toronto is at 9.00 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. North Bay is reached next morning and there opens up for your admiration all the lakeland beauties of the territory served by the T. & N. O. line. These are followed by a wonderfully interesting trip through the sparsely populated territory of New Ontario, giving the traveller an opportunity of inspecting this fertile region, including the famed clay belt where tens of thousands of settlers will make their homes in the future. The area of New Ontario is 330,000 square miles, fully four times the size of Old Ontario, and in addition to great expanses of good farming land, it has wonderful resources in timber, minerals, water power, fish and game.

The three railways have combined to make the passenger service over this new road the equal of that offered anywhere on the continent. The smooth, straight and level roadbed embodies all that has been learned in three quarters of a century of railroad building. The dining car service is unexcelled, and the greatest travel comfort is assured. Full particulars from any Grand Trunk Ticket Agent, or C. E. Horning, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

MOTHER OF FOUR CHILDREN

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Kept Her Well and Strong.

Lincoln, Illinois.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for ten years with good results and I have four healthy children. This summer I was in a very run down condition and the very hot weather seemed more than I could stand, but I commenced taking your Compound in June and from then until September 25th, when my last baby was born, I got along much better than I had before. My baby was a girl and weighed 14 pounds at birth, and I recovered very rapidly which I am sure was due to your medicine. I am well and strong now, nurse my baby and do all my work. I had the same good results with your medicine when needed before my other children came and they are all healthy. My mother has taken your medicine with equal satisfaction. She had her last child when nearly 44 years old and feels confident she never would have carried him through without your help, as her health was very poor."—Mrs. T. F. Cloyd, 1355 North Gulick Ave, Decatur, Ill.

Word is to hand that Lieut. Percy Job, a nephew of Sir Sam Hughes, has been wounded in recent engagements in France. Lieut. His brother, Rae, is also serving with the Canadian forces.

Some Enumerators Are Inefficient

MANY VOTERS WILL HAVE TO BE SWORN ON ELECTION DAY.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—That both party organizations have been responsible for the recommendation of inefficient enumerators to the Returning Officer for Ottawa city, is an assertion made by The Ottawa Evening Journal. It is anticipated that as a result of the poor work of the enumerators a large number of voters will have to be sworn in on election day. "Evidence accumulates," says The Journal, "that the work of some of the enumerators is very unsatisfactory, and that many women who are entitled to vote at the coming election are going to be deprived of their vote. It is apparent that the business of making up the voters' lists in Ottawa is in a bad mess, and it is anticipated that the number of appeals will be very large."

Inheritance Tax Argument

Inheritance taxes are very heavy. Unlike Fire hazard, they are not merely possible, they are absolutely certain.

They deplete your estate at once, and to your heirs represent a specific and definite loss of money.

In New York a $250,000 estate would pay a combined federal and state tax of about $12,000. If left to a friend or distant relative, about $22,000. The John Jacob Astor estate paid $3,150,000. J. P. Morgan has insured his life for $2,500,000 to cover a similar loss.

Thus the estate is provided promptly with the ready cash to pay this tax and other expenses without the need of hurriedly disposing of securities or other assets, perhaps at a loss, to meet such needs. The logic of the situation urges immediate action. Premium rates, however low, advance with age, and so does the possibility of entering the physically impaired group and losing the opportunity to secure this protection.

Knowing that this loss is actually coming, it is simply a matter of ordinary business prudence to guard against it. The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada offer you a plan to do so at very low cost.

GIRLS! TRY IT! HAVE THICK, WAVY BEAUTIFUL HAIR

EVERY PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS AND HAIR STOPS COMING OUT.

DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR AND DOUBLE ITS BEAUTY AT ONCE.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this— moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely invest a few cents in a bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter, and just try it.

Save your hair! Beautify it! You will say this was the best money you ever spent.

ENGLAND TAKES IT CALMLY.

No Signs of Hysterics Over Success of Byng's Push.

London, Nov. 23.—Thus far England has taken quietly the big victory in France. Despite the big headlines and eulogistic articles in the newspapers the public went about its business as usual. Not an extra flag was flying.

It is generally known that all has not been told of the extent of the victory in France, which is being extended hour by hour. The people were thrilled when they learned that the cavalry had been in action.

PUBLIC MEETING TO ORGANIZE WOMANS' AUXILIARY VETERANS

Sergt. Knight, Dominion Secretary G.W.V.A. Invited to Deliver Address, Ladies Selecting Furniture For New Soldiers' Quarters.

The Provisional Committee of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Great War Veterans' Association met last night in the Council Chamber to discuss the question of furnishing the Veterans new quarters over the Royal Bank building. Mayor Duffus was present, as also were the executive of the G.W.V.A.

President Mrs. Knox presided.

Mrs. (Dr.) Boucher joined the gathering and expressed her deep interest in the G.W.V.A.; in fact she could not see how any person could lack sympathy with the association and its aims. She had not consented to let her name stand on the committee for the sole reason that she was not practically informed as to its operations.

Mrs. W. R. Morris was in attendance and joined in discussion of the business in hand.

The New Premises.

Mayor Duffus reported that an agreement had been reached with Mr. Vincent Eastwood, manager of the Royal Bank, as to terms governing the proposed lease of the rooms over the bank. The terms are as follows:

Rental $350 a year, including heat. Occupants to pay for taxes, light and caretaking. Electric fixtures are in place but light bulbs will have to be purchased.

Any fixtures installed must not mutilitate the walls.

The use of band instruments will be prohibited as there are other tenants in the building to whom band practicing would not be acceptable.

The Bank's inspector must have access to the rooms any time desired.

The entrance door will be replaced by a new one in keeping with the appearance of the premises.

His worship explained that Mr. Eastwood agrees to a two year lease with option of a year or two's exten- the option of a year or two's extension if desired. And should the proposition for a G.W.V.A. band materialize he thought there was a room in the city building which could be used for practice.

The foregoing is acceptable to the Vets.

Present Needs.

150 folding chairs.
12 easy chairs.
12 card tables.
1 couch.
12 spittoons.
1 desk.
1 typewriter.
1 executive board table.
1 telephone.
1 billiard or pool table.
1 gas range.
Rugs.
Blinds and drapings for 13 ordinary windows, 2 small and one triple window.

Next Meeting.

Roughly speaking it was estimated that from $1600 to $2000 will be required for the above. But the President and Secretary will interview merchants tomorrow and secure correct estimates for submittal to the next meeting of this Provisional Committee in the Council Chamber Saturday night at eight o'clock.

The G.W.V.A. Executive will report as to billiard or pool table, typewriter.

The County Is Interested.

Mrs. Knox said that as the generosity of the County Council is proverbial where patriotism is concerned, she and Mrs. E. Bartlett would wait on that body tomorrow (Friday) afternoon and ask for a grant toward furnishing the new rooms. They would also suggest that representative ladies from the different districts in the county affiliate with the Ladies Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A.

President Staunton said several returned soldiers living in the county are members of the association.

Organization Meeting.

It was decided to call a general meeting of citizens on Wednesday week to receive a report from this Provisional Committee and to organize the Ladies Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A. This meeting will probably be held in the Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall if possible. Sergt. Knight, Dominion Secretary of the G.W.V.A., Ottawa, will be invited to attend and deliver an address.

Must Hear Borden.

Friday week had been proposed for the general meeting, but on learning that the Premier, Sir Robert Borden, is to speak on that night, there was united protest. They all simply had to hear Borden, the soldiers' friend.

To Be Congratulated.

This Provisional Committee of ladies are to be congratulated upon the energetic enthusiasm they are displaying in a worthy cause—that of making some slight return to the men who have fought for mothers, wives, and sisters of the Empire and Christendom.

CAPT. BURNHAM'S ADDRESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

Election-day is December 17th. Its nearness admits of no further delay on the part of candidates in formally addressing you. It was hoped that political parties in West Peterborough might unite, as the members of the Borden Union Administration have done, in its support. But since the Liberal Convention has met and chosen its standard-bearer, who has not declared himself to be a supporter of the Borden Union Administration, it becomes necessary for me, without more, to solicit your suffrages. At the convention of the Conservatives of West Peterborough, duly assembled, I was chosen as their candidate to support Sir Robert Borden and his Administration. The Prime Minister has formed a Union Administration, composed of Conservative, Liberal and Labour representatives, to the end that he may the more fully and surely carry in a spirit of national unity and co-operation Canada's share in the war to a successful conclusion.

I pledge myself, therefore, with that same spirit of unity and co-operation, to support the Borden Union Administration and its policies, and I earnestly and respectfully solicit your votes and support accordingly. This is no ordinary political campaign, and it is hoped that all well-wishers of the Borden Union Administration will make every effort to secure the return of its supporters.

I have the honour to remain,

Yours truly,
J. H. BURNHAM.

Peterborough, Nov. 10, 1917.

"The next solacing fact is this: That most of this debt will be a debt we owe to ourselves. Great Britain is borrowing in the main from her own children. The debt is in the family . . . and the more we lend the less will Great Britain owe to others. And that is the most important fact in our national security and national wealth."

— Premier Lloyd George in Albert Hall, London, October 22nd last.

Happy will be the Nation which Owes its War Debts to its Own People

THE interest on Canada's war debt is now about $25,000,000 a year.

If that interest is paid in Canada to the Canadian people it will go back into circulation in Canada, instead of being sent out to foreign creditors.

Likewise when the principal comes due it will be kept in Canada for re-investment and thus will aid in the development of the nation and its resources.

And that is a most important fact in Canada's national security following the war, just as it is important to Great Britain's National security that her war debt shall be owed to her own children, when the war is over.

So when you buy Victory Bonds you not only directly help Canada to fight the war but you contribute to the national security after the war.

Took Liquor to East City Dance, $200

ANOTHER CITIZEN FACES THE CHARGE OF HAVING SOLD LIQUOR.

At the police court this morning a citizen was assessed $200 for having liquor in a place other than his private dwelling. He took a bottle of whiskey with him to a dance on Sophia street, Ashburnham, and this morning paid the piper.

A drunk contributed $10 to the police treasury.

Information is laid against a well-known citizen that he has not only sold liquor but has peddled it around town. The minimum penalty for this offence is $200.

Justices of Peace Rush and Adams were on the bench.

DO NOT DESPAIR.

Several Weeks of Open Weather Are Yet Likely.

Four or five inches of snow on the ground and the jingle of sleigh bells give things a wintry aspect, but these conditions are hardly likely to remain. This morning, however, the thermometer was down to 16 degrees, the lowest to date. More severe weather was experienced last year previous to this time, and we should have several weeks yet of fairly open weather.—W. P.

COMPLAINTS OF THE TRIBUNALS

CAPT. BURNHAM SAYS APPEALS SHOULD BE SENT TO OTTAWA.

Peterborough, Nov. 23, 1917

Editor Review:—The importance of the matter involved and the great number of complaints that cannot, however, be considered as coming within the scope of "appeals" makes it necessary for me, in the public interest, to make known to the public in this way what the Government has to say regarding such complaints.

As I am not at liberty, of course to interfere in any way with the tribunals and do not wish to do so, I hereby notify all those who have complaints to make, to make them to "The Deputy Minister of Justice, Ottawa," as indicated by the following letter. No stamps needed.

J. H. BURNHAM.

WANTS DEFINITE COMPLAINTS

Military Service Branch,
Ottawa, Nov. 22, 1917.

Captain J. H. Burnham, M.P.
Peterboro, Ont.

Your telegram of the 19th inst. to Sir Robert Borden has been forwarded to the Military Service Council for attention. As you are no doubt aware, there are some 1350 tribunals distributed throughout the length and breadth of Canada, and it is inevitable that some of these should make mistakes, and that some should fail to conduct themselves with entire propriety. General complaints as to the conduct of tribunals are of little assistance.

If you can furnish us with the particulars of any complaints in respect of named tribunals, I would be glad to see what can be done in the way of setting them in the right path.

path. Yours truly.

(Signed) E. L. NEWCOMBE,
Deputy Minister of Justice.

Bell sold applications for $20,000 bearing the "divine Sarah's" autograph.

TO THE ELECTORS OF EAST PETERBORO

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

I believe no greater disaster could at the present time befall our country than the defeat of the Borden Union Administration at the polls on December 17th.

The policy of this Administration is the speedy and continuous reinforcements of our Canadian troops on the battle-front; and the putting forth of all our national strength for the cause of civilization and freedom.

To carry out this policy, a number of Canada's ablest public men of vision—sinking for the present all political differences—now stand together—strong to battle for the right—united to WIN THE WAR.

For over three years thousands of loyal Canadians of many creeds and of different nationalities have stood shoulder to shoulder on the battle-fields of Europe, gallantly fighting our common foe, and sometimes, sometimes falling, have won for the name of Canada undying fame. Shall we, with all possible speed, send help to these, our heroic defenders, now holding the battle-line, or shall we, breaking faith with them as well as "with those who die"—delay—vote—while the enemy advances?

A Vote For Sexsmith
Means a Vote For
Our
Gallant Soldiers

As the Union Candidate in this Riding, I am putting forth every effort to win East Peterborough to the support of the Borden Union Administration, and, if elected, shall to the utmost of my ability support the same.

To this end I now earnestly solicit the co-operation and influence of every loyal and patriotic man and woman in East Peterborough.

I have the honor to be, faithfully yours,

JOHN A. SEXSMITH.

Village of Fontaine Notre Dame, which has been recaptured by the Germans in a counter-attack.

The text of the communication follows:

"On the southern battlefront the day has been spent in consolidating the large area over which our troops advanced during the last two days. This has been successfully carried out except at Fontaine Notre Dame, which the enemy has retaken by a counter-attack.
portation service for the rapidity

"Much credit is due to the trans-with which the concentration for the operations of the last few days was effected. Roads and railways, both broad gauge and light, have been developed and, since the advance, extended in a manner which has contributed largely to the success of our preparations and subsecuent operations.

"On the northern battlefront the artillery activity was intense in the neighborhood of Passchendaele, but no infantry action was developed by either side."

LOOPHOLES IN THE DRAFT ACT

TRIBUNAL JUDGES EXPLAIN REASON FOR SO MANY EXEMPTIONS.

Montreal, Nov. 23.—Judges of the Laurier Avenue Military Service Tribunal, discussing despatches from Toronto complaining of the large number of exemptions granted in this district, stated that, in their opinion, the reason why so many exemptions are being granted can be laid to the fact that the law is very wide and contains many loopholes. For example although on the face of it, a student in the faculty of arts or law is not studying for the national interest exactly, still the Tribunal Judges figure that it is these students who, when they complete their education, will form the ruling class of our country. In this event, they think that students of all faculties should be granted exemptions, as it is in the national interest that they be kept in the country. They thought that practically everybody, with the exception of those who spend their days in poolrooms and places of a like character, could be exempted.

At the Westmount Tribunal a Judge pointed out that all the exemptions, except in cases of physical disability, were only temporary.

PREMIER BORDEN PROMISES TO GIVE LABOR VOICE IN CABINET

Enthusiastic Union Meeting Held in Toronto Last Night—Sir Robert Pledges Fair Operation of Military Act in all Communities.

Toronto, Nov. 23.—Loyal Toronto gave magnificent ovation Wednesday to Sir Robert Borden, Hon. N. W. Rowell and the cause of union government. The meeting was advertised for 8 o'clock, but by a few minutes after 7 Massey Hall was taxed to capacity and thousands of people after standing in line for an hour in the rain, were turned away. A feature of the meeting was the large attendance of the mon in khaki, a number of whom acted as a guard of honor and escort for the prime minister. The entire audience rose and cheered wildly when a number of wounded veterans entered the hall, some of them bearing crippled comrades upon their backs.

Scene of Enthusiasm.

The meeting was called to order by J. R. L. Starr, who immediately introduced the prime minister. This was the signal for a scene of great enthusiasm, and it was some minutes before Sir Robert could proceed. He opened by reference to the Union Government, declaring that it was his firm intention to complete the organization of his government in such a way as to include an equal number of Liberals and Conservatives. He also promised that agriculture and labor should be fully recognized and adequately represented. He then reviewed the circumstances leading up to the enactment of the compulsory military service law, and announced amid tumultuous cheering that in every district and province of the Dominion it would be fairly, impartially and firmly administered. The government would see that appeals were prosecuted from those local tribunals which had granted exemption in a wholesale way. On the other hand, he assured the people that the government had no desire to send to the front men who were more needed on the farm, in the factory and at other productive employments. Only men in class one, category A, would be sent out of Canada in any event.

High Cost of Living

Coming to the high cost of living problem, the prime minister pointed out that regulation of prices was not in all cases feasible, but he said that the government had taken effective measures to prevent the hoarding of food; to stop all combination in restraint of trade or for enhancing prices, and were prepared to curb the profiteers by severe taxation of excess profits. He had been told that the Davies Company made a profit of 80 per cent., but under the recent order-in-council that company would not hereafter be allowed to retain a profit of more than 11 per cent. If they cleared 80 per cent. next year, 69 per cent. would go into the public treasury.

Rockefeller has again refused to pay taxes on his $5,000,000 home in Cleveland, on the grounds that he is a resident of New York city.

McBRIDE, VETERAN AT 36

When a man has spent sixteen years in professional baseball he is entitled to be called a veteran of the game, even if he is only thirty-six years old. Such is the case with George F. McBride, who was born in Milwaukee on November 21, 1881. It was in the City league of Milwaukee that he made his first reputation. In 1902 he played third base for Milwaukee and Kansas City, in the American association, after which he spent a couple of seasons with the Western league, playing with the Peoria and St. Joseph clubs. The Pirates drafted him from St. Joe in 1905, but Fred Clarke soon snapped him to the Cardinals for Dave Brain. After that he was sent back to Kansas City, but in 1907 he was bought by Washington, with which outfit he has been playing shortstop ever since.

NO REASON TO GET WORKED UP

Just why anyone should get excited over whether or not Jess Willard is to retire, as reported in the press despatches, is a mystery. He has been out of the boxing game, to all intents and purposes, ever since he won the title, having had but one mill, the one with Moran. And seemingly he has no thought of taking part in any other, so long as the circus business is good in the summer time and so long as the government will hire his horses in the winter. Willard apparently is a second Jeffries—a man who can win on his size and strength, but who does not wish to fight in defence of his title.

Should Willard retire he merely would follow Jeffries' example. The last named boxer left it up to Hart and Root to decide which should succeed him, in a bout in which Jeffries himself was referee. Hart won, and Tommy Burns became champion later through winning a decision over the Louisville man. Willard would look better should he take on Fulton and a couple of other heavies who are challenging him, and prove decisively that he is the class. The boxers, especially the champions, are not making a very good showing this winter. Thus far not one of the first raters has volunteered for the army or navy. A number of them are boxing instructors in cantonments. As the Germans have not yet invented a gun that will toss a shell across the Atlantic, they are taking no desperate chances.

Senator H. F. Ashurst of Arizona is urging the heavier fortification of the Hawaiian Islands.

AS CHARLIE SAYS:

I don't say rival cigars are not good, because some are; but I maintain that ARABELA is far in advance of the next on the market.

COURTESY FOR DRAFTERS ASKED BY GENERAL LOGIE

[illegible]

May Have Been Prevented Coming Forward by Unusual Conditions.

In many instances draftees under conscription meet with uncivil treatment, and General Logie is asking that all courtesy be extended them, as many have undoubtedly been prevented from coming forward before by reasons beyond their control.

Unusual Conditions.

General Logie has issued the following order, which should be observed here as elsewhere:

"Military representatives at military tribunals and officers, non-commissioned officers and men at medical board and mobilization centres must bear in mind that the conditions created by the Military Service Act are most unusual, and that men presenting themselves for examination are to be treated as possible comrades who are about to take their part in the great struggle. Many such men have been prevented by due and sufficient reason from coming forward before.

"The method of treatment should be such as to insure the smooth working of the Military Service Act and at the same time foster self-respect in the men presenting themselves. The use of intemperate language or an offensive manner is to be carefully avoided and a patient and just demeanor cultivated. Any officer, non-commissioned officer, or man who fails to observe these instructions will be severely dealt with.

"THE BRAT."

Booked For The Grand Next Wednesday.

On Wednesday evening next at Grand Opera House that appealing comedy, "The Brat" will be played by a specially talented company, which has been engaged by The United Producing Co., Ltd., to present this successful comedy in all the important play houses in Canada.

"The Brat," which is by Maude Fulton, was one of the most successful plays in New York last season, playing at the Harris and Morosco Theatres, giving over 200 performances. It proved to be another "Peg O' My Heart" for its charm and sweetness. Great care has been exercised by the management to engage a company of players fitted in every way to enact the characters they represent.

Miss Rea Martin, who plays "The Brat" is one of the cleverest young actresses on the stage today. The company supporting her consists of many brilliant players, well-known in New York. Among them, Burt L. Robinson, Arthur La Rue, Arthur Fanie-Ripple, Edwin Burke, Leonora Gilbey, Edna M. Holland, Dorothy Belgain and Vivian Suckling. The latter being well known here as the [illegible] girl who won the motion picture press beauty competition last Christmas from 12,000 competitors.

Italy's Situation Greatly Improved

CHANCES OF GERMANS BREAKING THROUGH DIMINISHING HOURLY.

London, Nov. 23.— Major-General Maurice, commenting on the Italian situation, said:

"On the Italian front the chances of the Germans breaking through are diminishing hourly. The situation there is more satisfactory than it was a week ago. although it would be premature for me to say that Venice is safe.

"We have, however, reached the stage where there is every reason to have complete confidence in the situation. The Italians have been enabled to bring up guns, ammunition and supplies in ever-increasing quantity. and every hour's time gained by them means a more favorable outlook. The time is drawing near when the Franco-British reinforcements will be brought into play."

Declaring that there were but two choices in the coming election. to quit before the Germans or to back the men at the front, Sergt. Wayman went on: "Picture Sir Allen's son over there in the midst of it all. See him in the ternches holding a field telephone to his ear asking why the reinforcements have not come up to him there, where he needs them so sorely!

"Then comes the answer, 'Aylesworth, your old man has gone back on you!'

Prepare Public For Loss of Jerusalem

GERMAN PAPER SAYS IT WOULD BE USELESS TO DEFEND IT.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Amsterdam, Nov. 23.—The German newspapers are preparing the public for the loss of Jerusalem. The Norddeutsce Allgemeine Zeitung says that to cling to places which would bring us no military advantage would be tantamount to the useless sacrifice of numerous Turkish forces and our own troops.

After discussing the difficulty of reinforcing the defenders the paper admits the abandonment of Jerusalem certainly would be an extremely painful loss.

100 GUNS CAPTURED AT CAMBRA

Sir Robert Borden to Speak at the Armouries, Friday Evening, Nov. 30th, at 8 O'cloc

DESPERATE FIGHTING HAS TAKEN PLACE WEST OF CAMBRAI, BRITISH MAKING GAINS

Usefulness of that Town as Supply Centre for the Enemy Has Been Destroyed—Germans Put up Valiant but Vain Resistance.

London, Nov. 24. — "Operations were successfully carried out by us yesterday west of Cambrai. After severe fighting, in which the Germans offered a stubborn resistance, our troops stormed the important and dominating high ground about Bourlon Wood to the east of Berlon Wood. Some progress was made in the neighborhood of Fontaine Notre Dame.

"West of the wood our troops made further progress along the Hindenburg line astride the Canal Du Nord, in the vicinity of Moeuvres. In the vicinity of Bullecourt our troops gained further ground during the night, capturing a hostile strong point with a number of prisoners.

"The number of prisoners captured in yesterday's attack has not yet been ascertained. Since the beginning of operations on November 20th it is known that more than one hundred guns have been taken by us, including several heavy guns of calibres up to 8 inches."

GERMANS RESIST DESPERATELY.

New York, Nov. 24.—Reinforced by divisions from other sectors of the western front, the Germans are resisting desperately the British advance on Cambrai. At Fontaine Notre Dame, less than three miles west of Cambrai, and at Bourlon Wood, most strenuous fighting has occurred without making progress. General Byng is combining attacks with artillery work, and the British are firmly established in their new positions, which give opportunities to destroy the usefulness of Cambrai as a supply centre as well as a starting place for a drive higher north behind the Drocourt-Queant line, or west against Cambrai.

Heavy fighting is taking place at Moeuvres, three miles west, southwest of Fontaine Notre Dame, and at Creve Coeur, about three miles to the south of Cambrai at the other end of the wedge driven across the Hindenburg line Tuesday and Wednesday. The Bourlon Wood is dominating the hill to the west of Cambrai, and the Germans have put up a strong resistance here as well as at Fontaine Notre Dame, which flanks the wood to the west.

MAY HOLD RUSS AS ALLIES' FOES

ENTENTE NATIONS REGARD ARMISTICE MOVE AS AN UNFRIENDLY ACT.

Washington Nov. 24.—Officials of this government regard the Bolsheviki move for an armistice between Russia and her enemies and the opening of immediately peace negotiations as an act that would place Russia almost in the list of unfriendly nations.

Press despatches telling of the peace movement were confirmed by a cablegram from Ambassador Francis Reid today at the state department. It said that Trotzky, national commissioner for foreign affairs in the Bolsheviki Government, had sent formal notification to diplomats at Petrograd that his government had proposed an armistice with a view to immediate peace negotiations.

It was pointed out that should these negotiations be successful it would be most difficult to deal with Russia as a neutral country in view of the position she has held as an ally of the nations fighting Germany and the marked advantage in the war that such a course might give the latter country.

Ambassador Francis has been given no instructions to deal with the Bolsheviki government. In reporting to the state department on the peace move, he made it clear that he had not formally acknowledged receipt of the Trotzky note. He said he had been advised that the Soviet congress had adopted a resolution instructing generals at the front to enter into negotiations at once with the German commanders relative to a three-months' armistice, with instructions to report to the congress.

MR. HALL TALKS FOOD PROBLEM TO FARMERS

Holds Several Meetings in the Outlying Portions of the Riding.

SEND FOOD NOT MEN HIS PLEA

Policy That Appeals To Cupidity Rather Than To Patriotism.

Mr. R. R. Hall returned to town this morning after having held meetings at Lakehurst, Rockcroft and Ventress' School House in the Township of Harvey on Thursday and at Union Creek and Swamp Lake School House on Friday.

The meetings were unusually well attended in spite of the fact that the weather and roads were anything but pleasant.

Mr. Hall said he found the electors in these Townships particularly anxious to ascertain information which they felt was not being furnished to them by the leading Toronto papers.

In the course of Mr. Hall's speech he pointed out that Lord Rhondda the British Food Controller had recently declared.

"That during the forthcoming twelve months our "minimum requirements in food stuffs from the United States and Canada would amount to over ten million tons and will represent an expenditure, without freight charges, exceeding $1,250,000,000, or roughly speaking between three and four million dollars a day. Most of this will be for the purchase of cereals, hog products, sugar and meat.

"The danger of the food situation" continued the British Food Controller, "lies not so much in the "submarine peril as the world's shortage of cereals, meats and fats."

Then again Lord Northcliffe, head of the British War Commission to the United States and Canada on the 23rd of October last in the City of Chicago stated as follows:

"I do not see the signs of that bridge across the Atlantic without which all this recruiting, all this enthusiasm, all this manufacturing will be null and void. Therefore I urge you, entreat you to believe that your army, without transports will be valueless." In this matter of shipping you strike at a vital point in the waging of the war. If you cannot get supplies to the men it seems to me almost idle to add to your already vast army."

Mr. Hall stated, it was beyond belief to think that Sir Robert Borden had turned a deaf ear to these appeals that had been made to him by the British Government. It is beyond belief to think that neither Sir Robert Borden nor a single member of his administration has placed before the people any constructive policy that would enable Canada to meet the demand that had been made upon her by Great Britain. During these many months the leading Statesmen of Great Britain have pointed out that they will require over ten million tons of cereals, hog products, sugar and meat during the coming year and that unless they have a constant and continuous supply of such food stuffs "Victory may slip from our "united grasp."

The food situation in Great Britain, France and Italy is of so serious a nature and the criminal neglect of Sir Robert Borden and his government is so complete that the people of Canada should rise up against him and have him immediately dismissed from office and put men in his place who will know and appreciate the danger that awaits Great Britain if Canada fails to do her share in producing and sending food supplies to Great Britain.

Italians, Officers and Men Fight While Li Lasts, Preferring Death to Being Take Prisoners—Steady Stream of Reserves.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Rome, Nov. 24.—Powerful thrusts which were carried out yesterday by the Austro-Germans after heavy artillery preparation on the Italian mountain front from the Asiago plateau to the Trenta river, all failed, the Italian war office announced today.

Both Sides Lose Heavily

Italian Headquarters in northern Italy, Nov. 24.—The battle of the mountains is raging with unexampled violence. The Italians again hold Monte Tomba and Monte Persica positions which they lost last night. The losses have been very great, but the enemy's far exceed those of the Italians.

A succession of attacks and counter attacks followed rapidly throughout yesterday on the hills between the Piave and Brenta Valleys where the Italians and Austro-Germans are engaged in a furious combat. Brigades and regiments, their numbers diminished in the struggle, were reformed and returned to the fight. In one section where there were thirty officers, twenty-seven were killed or wounded, but the remaining three fought a battle of thirty.

The final charge of the day came at two o'clock in the afternoon. The enemy had struck his greatest blow earlier in the day and a fierce attack lasted three quarters of an hour. The whole field was swept by artillery fire and the ground was strewn with dead. It was amid this welter of bodies and debris that the Italians lines were reformed and from it they moved forward steadily and irresistibly until the disputed ground was retaken except at one point where the struggle still goes on.

Prefer Death to Prison

In this last desperate charge o cers and men were eager to adva preferring death to being made pr oners. Enemy losses must be ve heavy, but he is bringing forward steady stream of reserves. The I army also is sustaining a heavy f west of the Brenta River, where t enemy rushes have been repulsed b the splendid resistance of the Ita ians.

HAD AN ELECTRIC SHOCK BUT MUST GO TO THE WAR

Applicant at Tribunal Thought he Could Claim American Citizenship and Seemed Surprised to Find Himself a British Subject

At the Council Chamber Tribunal this morning John A. Smith, barber, asked exemption on domestic grounds. Decision was deferred.

Had a Shock.

Alexander Black, 496 McDonnel street, had had a shock in the controller department of the G.G.E. and still felt the effects of the same, and claimed exemption on this ground. His claim was disallowed.

Works 400 Acres.

Percy Cameron Moncrief, R. R. No. 5, Monaghan, claimed exemption as a farmer's son. His father does not work, and he and three brothers work four hundred acres. Mr. Harold Baptie of Springville spoke in support of claimant, and felt confident that a farmers' board would grant exemption.

Mr. Aylmer—"We get credit for being more lenient with farmers than farmers' boards."

Mr. Moore—"And so we should be, as farming is of vital importance to cities and towns.

Exemption was allowed in this case.

Didn't Know He Is British.

Wm. S. Wilson, 593 Sherbrooke street, draughtsman with the C. G. E., asked exemption on the grounds that he was not a British subject, being born in the United States. However his parents were British, did not take out American naturalization papers and returned to England, whence after 13 years, he came to Canada. The tribunal, of course, ruled that claimant is a British subject, and could not be exempted. Wilson also claimed unfitness for the trenches owing to bad nerves and was informed he could appeal to the Registrar at Kingston if he wished.

Eugene Gadona, 314 Townsend street, a plumber, asked consideration on the ground that he supported his uncle and aunt. Exemption disallowed.

How would he vote, as between the two leaders, to make Sir Wilfrid Laurier Premier of the Dominion or to keep Sir Robert Borden at the head of affairs?

WHEN A MAN IS SIXTY-FIVE.

MAGISTRATE DUMBLE, while sitting as a member one of the local exemption tribunals, delivered himf of a sentiment that at once puts him at odds with utterance that made Dr. Osler famous. An only of a farmer asked for exemption as he was his her's sole assistant. The parent is 65 years old, and boy felt justified in asking for exemption under the cumstances. Magistrate Dumble ventured the asseron that a man at 65 is in the prime of life, quite equal the task of working a hundred-acre farm without lp from his son, who was accordingly denied exmption.

The man who has spent his life on the shaded side of law office, his existence being varied by hearing cases the police court may be sound in wind, limb and tellect at 65, but it is different with a farmer. Anye who puts in on an average twelve to fourteen ours a day at the hardest kind of physical labor, exosed to all kinds of weather, hot and cold, rain, sleet nd snow, while he pursues his vocation, has passed his rime many years before he reaches the age of 65.

The Military Service Act was designed to adjust the roblem of labor. It was especially meant to save the rmers and others in essential pursuits from the imortunity of recruiting officers and from the imputation f shirking their duty. The Act itself is all right. The nly possible manner in which it can be brought into eneral disfavor is through faulty administration. When he men who have been denied exemption by the various ribunals are sifted out again the real purpose of the Act will be revealed.

ON TO JERUSALEM.

THE BRITISH ARMY in Palestine is now within few miles of Jerusalem, the cradle of the Christian faith, and is preparing to march upon and take possession of the Holy City. May victory perch on their standards, and may strength be given to them in their undertaking. May the Christian world be spared from the reproach of a Jerusalem, with all the place stands for in the history of civilization, in the hands of a barbarous race, whose cruelty to the followers of the Nazarene is a dark stain on the records.

Christmas will soon be here. May the next anniversary behold a Christian army in possession of the city of the Great King, as well as the humble town in which Divinity was cradled, and the tomb where His remains rested for three historic days.

THE NATIONALISTS.

IF THE TORONTO STAR did not have Mr. R. R. Hall in mind when it produced the following, it fits his case exactly after the address to the electors which he published the other day: It is clear that the two leading Liberal papers in Toronto, The Glove and The Star, are at variance with Mr. Hall and his platform. Can it be possible that these and all other leading Liberal papers, including the Kingston Whig, the Brantford Expositor, the Woodstock Sentinel-Review and dozens of others that could be named, are wrong and Mr. Hall right? In the meantime The Examiner continues to assail the Union Government up to last night, when it abandoned the editorial task as hopeless, and, instead of a discussion of the issues before the people, published a series of letters, more or less anonymous.

The Star says:

> "One of the Laurier candidates in Ontario is covering his constituency with published statements to the effect that in the present election, as in 1911, there is a combination under Sir Robert Borden of the Conservatives of Ontario and the Nationalists of Quebe against Sir Wilfrid Laurier.
> "The statement is entirely untrue. In 1911 Sir Wilfrid Laurier was opposed by the Conservative party throughout Canada and by the Nationalists in Quebec. It is not so in 1917."

The Star goes on to say that the Nationalists are as wrong in 1917 as they were in 1911, but with this difference—they support Sir Wilfrid Laurier now, and he asks his followers throughout Canada to accept a policy which these anti-British Nationalists accept.

By what process of reasoning Mr. Hall arrived at the conclusion that the Nationalists are on the side of the Unionists, in league with them against Sir Wilfrid Laurier, will never be made clear. His published declaration to this effect will always be regarded as one of the blunders in his campaign.

SAFE FOR THE PRESENT.

"CANADA IS IN NO immediate danger of invasion," says Hon. R. Lemieux, who was Postmaster-General in the Laurier cabinet and who is now, like Mr. R. R. Hall, working tooth and nail to accomplish the overthrow of Sir Robert Borden and put Sir Wilfrid in his place.

Like Mr. Hall, the ex-Postmaster-General is opposed to conscription. He says, among other things, that it is a breach of the Canadian constitution and that the devoted patriots who in this campaign are opposing Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his quit-the-war policy are so many pygmies.

Mr. Lemieux may be right, to a degree at least, when he says that Canada is in no direct danger of invasion

Canada is in no direct danger of invasion, so long as that line holds on the Western front. Five miles of that line is held by four Canadian divisions, the members of which are, owing to the lack of reinforcements, compelled to do double duty. Mr. Lemieux and his compatriots are safe so long as the "pygmies" continue to make all the sacrifices.

Canada is in no danger of invasion so long as the war policy of the Borden Union Government is carried out. One would almost think that Mr. Lemieux would be willing to say nothing, or at least to refrain from disrespectful reference to the men who are doing the fighting while he and his crew skulk in security at home.

But Canada is in danger of invasion, just as Belgium was ravished, if the "pygmies" at home weaken and the line in Flanders gives way.

"BUY A VICTORY BOND."

MR. HALL HAS the above patriotic advice emblazoned on his banners.

So far so good. But do not buy a Victory Bond and then vote it of no effect by supporting Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The Victory Bond is an agency to help win the war. The Unionists, not the Laurierites, are the party to set that agency in operation.

IS RUSSIA OUR MODEL?

THE RUSSIANS have broken faith with their allies by retiring from active participation in the war. Modern history records no such execrable breach of faith on the part of a civilized nation.

But the Russians are not deserting their own soldiers to an implacable and powerful foe. Let that much be said to their credit. The Russian army is to be demobilized and the men given a chance to return to private life.

There is a faction in Canada today who would exceed the infamy even of the Russians. They would abandon active participation in the war and would not even provide for the safety of Canadian soldiers at the front, but would leave them to their fate.

Is the spirit of Russia or the spirit of the British to be the guiding factor in the task to which Canada has set her hand?

A FALL FROM GRACE?

LAST WEEK Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared at a public meeting in this city posing as a supporter of Union Government and as a friend of the cause of Labor. His appearance on the bench reserved for political penitents was hailed by his friends as an evidence that new light had been given him.

But Mr. Gordon fell from grace. Three days later we find him with his same old associates, speaking at a meeting in Havelock on behalf of the Laurier candidate who is opposing Mr. Sexsmith, a Unionist endorsed by Premier Borden.

The wolf still on occasion adopts the disguise of the sheep, and the politician who is a Dr. Jekyll at home often strays into the byways to play the role of a Mr. Hyde.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

THINK OF BEING as busy as the politicians these days.

• • • •

BUT WHAT DOES one murder mystery more or less matter to Hamilton?

• • • •

PREMIER BORDEN has an answer ready for all critics and fault-finders.

• • • •

THERE IS NO such thing as a win-the-war man who is a follower of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

• • • •

MR. GORDON will find it just as hard to remain a Laborite as to retain the faith of the Unionists.

• • • •

THE RUSSIAN ARMY recalled from the front fares better than the Canadian army, left to do double duty.

• • • •

THERE ARE Lenines and Trotzkys in Canada who would do to Canada what their namesakes are doing to Russia.

• • • •

MR. LEMIEUX should worry. Canada is in no direct danger so long as the navy, he and his refused to help, holds the line.

• • • •

THE ST. THOMAS Journal says the Laurier candidates are backing the boys in the trenches. What they don't do, however, is to face in the same direction.

• • • •

HENRY FORD has invested half a million in Canada's Victory Loan. He has changed his strategy, not his purpose, to get the boys out of the trenches as soon as possible.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

Caught on the Fly.
(London Free Press.)

A Canadian who caught enemy bombs in his hands and threw them back has been awarded the Victoria Cross. Probably learned the trick on a corner lot in his native town.

Hard To Convince.
(Buffalo Courier.)

The Germans are reported crying in chorus, "When shall we have England beaten?" They should be able to suspect by this time that the answer is "Never."

Essen's Turn Is Coming.
(Philadelphia Record.)

Essen is not a summer resort or a watering place. It is one huge arsenal, and its destruction or serious injury would have high military value. That is the sort of a place that the English and French aviators aim for. If Essen has not been seriously injured, its time is coming. America is building 22,500 aeroplanes, and when they go over German cities in fleets of 100 or 500 they will drop enough bombs to wipe out a town. In the course of a few months Essen's activities will be interrupted.

NOTES ON PASSING EVENTS

(By Paterfamilias)

A man who christens his sin Klondyke Gold must have had the gold fever when doing so, and the father in question seems to have the lure of the Klondyke still, metaphorically speaking. The incident is this: A farmer's son, Klondyke Gold, pleaded for exemption on the ground that he was needed at home. Well, this family has 215 acres of land adjoining the city, which Klondyke G. and a brother works. Then his father and two other brothers run a gravel pit, sometimes having 30 teams, according to Klondyke's admission, hauling gravel. There are two younger brothers at home. And this young man with the golden name had the temerity to expect exemption on the ground that his poor poverty-stricken father needed him at home. Well perhaps the father does—to pile up more Klondyke (or gravel) gold. At any rate Klondyke Gold was informed that as Canadian Armies do not eat gravel, his father could well take his place on the farm while Klondyke G. dazzles the rapacious Huns with his glittering golden-named personality.

The avariciousness displayed in the foregoing is only equalled by a farmer near London, who after getting his son exempted asked for his transportation to and from the tribunal, and that of the farmer's wife near Peterborough who short-weighted her 50c per pound butter by half a pound in five pounds sold.

The Shame of Fear

In many cases of exemption claims on trivial grounds by well-set-up young men of enviable physique, one is constrained to suspect the domination of fear. Well there are really few instances in which fear cannot be overcome and in this connection the following story may bear repeating: A certain little mousey, afraid to venture far in search of food like other mouseys do, one day discovered a saucer beneath a cask, and in the saucer a mysterious fluid of tempting odor and inviting appearance. This timid little mouse took a sip of the inviting fluid, then another and still one more, and finding it good filled himself to repletion. And then with tail and crest erect and blazing eyes cried in tones of defiance, "Bring on the cat!" Well, there are many young men these days who after sipping of the glorious spirit of heroism emanating from their valiant brother Canadians in France or Flanders, would lose all sense of fear, and exclaim in voice, triumphant, "Bring on the Hun!" The man who fears to fight for home, country and Empire will in sorrow and shame eat of the fruits of brave men's and noble women's sacrifice all the days of his life. One of the most timid boys in history, filled with fear of his rougher school companions, was the immortal Nelson, whose first fight was against his own fear, and whose last battle won for the British Empire that freedom of the seas which eliminates from Canadians' minds today all fear of German invasion.

The Lesser Profiteers

We hear much these days of millionaire profiteers, but little of the smaller crew of profiteering pirates. It's all very well to howl at the packers, but why not dig down to the sauce of supply itself, like the government of Great Britain is doing. A farmer in Peterborough County the other day sold three cattle for $150 and not later than ten years ago he would have been glad to get $10 a head for them. A few days later he bought a roast and boiling cut of beef and received no more than 50c change from a $5 bill. But then he fixed this price himself, so to speak in his $150 for three cattle as against $30 ten years ago. But how about the working man. His wages have not jumped in any such proportions. It is the same with all food, and one hates to buy any for fear the price has jumped, and it will jump and jump, and never leave off jumping until a food controller who is a Food Controller, like the gentleman in England, takes a hand in the game. Overseas, prices of commodities are fixed by the controller and profiteers, large and small, get short shrift. Just sit up and give heed to this from an Old Country paper: Arthur Heading, a potato salesman, was fined £320 ($1600) and six weeks imprisonment for selling potatoes above the price allowed. Again, Joseph Hall, market gardener, for selling potatoes above the maximum price, on 37 counts, was fined £3,700 (18,500) and two months in the pen. Once more, a milk dealer was fined £20 ($100) for selling milk above price, and the magistrate said in future he would advance such fines considerably. Great Scott! the sooner we are blessed with the English way of doing things the better. Let our Government fix the prices of food, and see that they remain fixed. To the average man there's not much satisfaction in fixing the profits of packers while Get-Rich-Quick producers run the whole blessed food market show to suit themselves.

An Unpleasant Subject

Sometimes it looks as though publicity will have to be given to very unpleasant subjects. Officials sometimes have to bear all kinds of abuse simply because of a desire to cover up incidents which might cause pain to principals concerned. One incident will convey what is intended. A soldier's wife could not understand why no allowance was coming to her. She could not be made to believe that her husband was no longer in the service, and entertained the idea that the official whom she was consulting was either incapable or unjust. But what were the real facts? The official could by displaying a formidable document to hand have shown the poor woman her husband's name qualified with the unpleasant term Deserter. But rather than give pain, he withheld the facts, and suffers in repute accordingly.

Convenient Affection

A young man claiming exemption the other day on the ground of domestic calls, admitted that he was earning $125 a month, that his mother maintained herself and that his uncle paid his mother's rent. He had no other ties than his moth, and it would be really too bad were the tribunal to send him to fight the Huns, and leave his mother all alone to earn her livelihood, and his uncle to pay the rent. But some how the stupid Borden Government has so arranged things that this mother would get a pretty fair separation allowance and patriotic fund consideration, and tho writer is terribly afraid an equally stupid tribunal might govern themselves accordingly. A proverb has it that love quickly grows cold, but it jolly well warms up under some circumstances.

TODAY'S STORY

"I have wasted some time in my life," confessed the learned physician, "but I never wasted any of it on trashy books. Our esteemed bookseller tells me that where he disposes of one worth-while volume he sells a hundred sensational novels. The fact is deplorable, even alarming."

"There's no use getting excited," observed the librarian. "Things are not as threatening as they seem. Reading novels is a relaxation, not a vice, and I feel sorry for any man who hasn't fooled away a little time that way. If you read nothing but instructive literature all your days you are likely to dry up and blow away; and in any event you are pretty sure to be a bore, for anyone who acquires a lot of heavy information goes around suffering to unload it on others.

"Many of our greatest statesmen and thinkers are confirmed detective story fans. They have standing orders at their booksellers' for all the sleuth stuff that appears, and so there is a perenial market for this class of junk. All publishers are lying awake at night hoping the morning mail will bring them a few corking detective stories, for they are sure sellers, while it is necessary to throw in a chromo or corkscrew if one would get rid of a truly herpful book.

"Even the proud and haughty Roscoe Conkling, who looked and acted like a Roman senator, would walk nineteen miles through a pouring rain to get hold of a good mystery story, and it is related that when he tackled "The Leavenworth Case" he locked the doors of his office and refused to see anybody until he was done with it. John G. Carlisle and James G. Blaine were also fond of frivolous stories in their hours of ease, and nobody is going to accuse them of being inclined to fool away their opportunities.

"W. E. Gladstone, the greatest English statesman of his time, was so lost to all the higher instincts that he read Marie Corelli with enthusiasm, and always took pride in the fact that he discovered Mrs. Humphrey Ward and made her 'Robert Elsmere' a best seller. But why continue? Nearly all our great men are fond of light literature.

"The man who doesn't read the cheap stuff, and who loads himself with useful information all the time, never will know anything about books. He has no standard of comparison. He has mental indigestion. He is like one who eats roast beef all the time and thinks it undignified to sample the strawberries."

"Wen I was a kid," related the real estate man, "we had a dandy teacher in our school. He boarded at a farmhouse in the neighborhood, and one day the farmer's wife squinted into his trunk, and found a whole stack of the old fashioned dime novels, stories of avengers who roamed the woods potting Indians.

"She couldn't keep this frightful discovery to herself. She told it around, and the grave and reverend school directors fired him. They didn't consider it safe to have such an unmoral man in charge of the youth of the neighborhood. They were convinced that he would end on the gallows.

"A few years later they were the sickest bunch! That school teacher was in the Canadian Senate, and was one of the most honorably distinguished men in this country. And now I am going to blow myself for that new book of Sherlock Holmes stories."

In the interval between the two battles McGovern easily whipped a number of good men, but Young Corbett certainly had his number.

MORE HUMOR ON JESS' PART.

Jess Willard contributes something to the gayety of nations by his reported statement from New York that he has not retired, in which he is quoted as saying: "I am in excellent condition for fighting and ready to defend my title. I prefer Georges Carpentier as the most worthy of my rivals for the championship." For genuine, and probably unconscious humor, we commend this as one of the all-time gems. Also, we venture a query as to why Willard didn't include Les Darcy in the list of men he would like to meet. Carpentier has just as much chance of coming over here to battle as the deceased Australian has to rise from his grave to fight.

There are several big fellows around the country who would like a chance at Willard and whom fight promoters are willing to book. The champion's defence of his title, in the more than two and one-half years tha, he has held it, has consisted of one 10-round bout, without decision, with Frank Moran. Most of the time he has been with his circus. Right now, when he isn't even doing anything in the way of giving boxing lessons at some cantonment, though he would be a welcome addition to the staff at any of these. As a champion, Willard is a person who likes to rest on his laurels. As a patriot, his chief service to his country seems to be letting it have his horses at a very good rental price.

Dave Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' fraternity, seems finally to have heard his alarm clock. In a statement made in New York, discussing the action of the minor leagues, at Louisville, where the five days' notice of release was repudiated. Mr. Fultz said: "It wouldn't surprsie me if organized baseball should repudiate many of the other promises made in the Cincinati compact." Adding to his statement the fraternity president remarked that organized baseball apparently regarded the aforesaid Cincinnati agreement as a "mere crap of paper"

It has taken Mr. Fultz some time to awaken. The minute the Federal league was disbanded, the fraternity was a dead organization. Everybody expecting Fultz and a few players realized this . None of the demands made by the fraternity leader ever would have been agreed to but for the desire of organized ball to hold its players, and to prevent the Federal from gaining strength. So far as can be learned, few of the players are paying any dues now. Many of them stopped before the fraternity had lost its possible usefulness. The fancy sliding scale salary voted to the president by the directors was the first check on contributions. The players desired to see something for their coin before kicking in with the money to pay $5000 or more to their salaried employee. To them it made much difference whether they were hiring or were being hired.

COUNTY COUNCIL WINDS UP THE YEAR'S BUSINESS

Asked to Assure Creditable Law Library—Reports of Committees Adopted.

The County Councillors concluded their November session in the Court House this morning, Warden Maxwell Brown presiding.

Conflicting Reports

Coun. Rye complained that while Coun. Welsh, chairman of Roads and Bridges in 1916 reported certain bridges in North Monaghan as needing repair, which work was not done, the committee this year reported the same bridges as being in fair condition. These reports were not doing justice to North Monaghan and Coun. Rye contended that the bridges in question need attention badly. Payne's bridge may collapse any day.

Coun. Welsh supported Coun. Rye and was not satisfied that this work should have been neglected, while similar repairs in Chandos had been done.

Coun. Bullied, chairman of this year's Roads and Bridges Committee, from Chandos, replied that North Monaghan had had the same opportunity with other municipalities to order necessary work reported proceeded with. There had been no ruling in favor of his township over and above the interests of other municipalities.

Coun. replied that he had not been authorized to order the work.

The debate ended without action, but Council regretted that the conflicting nature of the reports cast reflection in the judgment of the committees.

Law Library

Messrs F. D. Kerr and Joseph Wearing of the Peterborough Law Association, asked council to see to it that in completing the court building, the new County Law Library be finished and fitted up in a creditable manner in keeping with the new building and the dignity of Peterborough County and City.

Avoid Whispers And Common Cups

DR. HELEN MACMURCHY ADDRESSES WOMEN'S INST. IN TORONTO.

"I suppose the greater majority of the women present have votes," said Dr. Helen MacMurchy in her reply to Major J. G. Fitzgerald's address at the University of Toronto at the morning session of the Ontario Women's Institute. Mrs. A. W. Walker, of Bartonville, presided. "It is a great day for the women when they can truly claim: 'Our Government is my government!'" Dr. MacMurchy declared that women should also be glad they had the opportunity to vote and buy Victory Bonds, thus helping the boys overseas.

The most important lesson to be learned from the talented doctor's speech, however, was the fact that parents should instil into the minds of their children the danger contracted by the common roller towel and drinking cup.

"If we wish to keep free from a plague which, to my mind, is far more loathesome than smallpox we must teach ourselves and our children the dangers of communicable diseases. Some short period ago the Goverament granted $2,000 for the betterment of the feeble-minded. It has at last dawned upon the average woman of intelligence that she and her children must avoid and take every precaution against certain diseases. The feeble-minded unfortunately cannot be improved and they must be kept apart from the community at large."

Dr. MacMurchy expressed a hope that mothers would no longer talk in whispers before the children, but would instil into the little ones' minds the sacredness of life and all that wholesome living meant. It was also urged upon the women present not to be merciless in their criticism of the fallen, but to have patience, and more good would be accomplished by a helping hand than a scornful eye and tongue.

In reply to Dr. MacMurchy's address, Dr. Margaret Patterson hoped that women and girls would avail themselves of the literature, and particularly a pamphlet published by Dr. W. S. Hall of Chicago, dealing with social health and happiness.

On being asked whether or not Dr. Patterson thought it advisable for young couples about to be married to hold a medical certificate stating that they were free from diseases, the doctor stated emphatically: "Yes, because it would avoid great unhappiness in after life."

The ladies present were thanked by the Ontario convener of the Red Cross Sock Fund for their help and co-operation in providing the boys overseas with socks.

HOW TO APPEAL FOR EXEMPTION

WRITE LETTER TO ONTARIO REGISTRAR SETTING FORTH GROUNDS.

Men in Class 1 who intend to appeal are reminded that the manner in which the appeal should be made is by writing a letter to the Ontario Registrar, Mr. Glyn Osler, setting out the grounds on which the new hearing of the case is asked. Any kind of informal letter will answer the purpose, as the main thing is to intimate to the Registrar that the applicant wishes to appeal against the ruling of the Local Tribunal. This information is given so that men who want to appeal will direct their requests to the proper recipient, and not keep inquiring at Military Headquarters, which has nothing whatever to do with the machinery of the Military Service Act.

It must be borne in mind that the appeals are to be mailed so that the postmark on the letter carries a date within three days of the time that the appellant received the official notification of the decision of the Local Tribunal.

Men Who Are in Default.

Since November 10 there have been 123 defaulters who have presented themselves at the Armories at Toronto and with their own consent were placed under arrest. Of this number, 54 were Category A men, and they are now in uniform at Exhibition Camp. The remaining number, not being in Category A, were exempted until their categories are called out. It is pointed out that if any man is in default still, he should report to the Armories without delay, as there is yet a possibility that any claim for exemption he has may be considered, which privilege is liable to be cancelled any day.

VOTED $25 TO NAVY LEAGUE

The regular meeting of the 57th Regt. Chapter I.O.D.E. was held in the Y.W.C.A. Thursday afternoon, Nov. 22, with Mrs. Walker, the regent, in the chair.

It was decided to have no meeting in December.

The sum of $25 was voted the Navy League of Canada end to the Canadian War Contingent Association to help defray the great expense caused by the shipment of 32 ton of maple sugar for the men in the trenches.

Mrs. Sharpe convenor of the visiting committee reported that 51 visits had been made.

The members are reminded of the sale of useful and fancy articles and homemade cooking in the Masonic Dining Hall on the afternoon of Dec. 6th.

After the meeting Mrs. Walker invited those present to adjourn to the Masonic Dining Hall for tea.

Biggest Surprise Of His Life He Says

WILLIAMSON OVERCOMES TROUBLES OF FIVE YEARS STANDING BY TAKING TANLAC.

"I have never been so surprised over anything as I have over the results of Tanlac in my case," said William Williamson, a well-known brick mason living at 1115 St. Clarens avenue, Toronto, recently.

"My kidneys have been bothering me for four or five years," he continued, "but during the past year other ailments set in and kept me feeling miserable nearly all the time. I had terrible pains across my back, especially when I stooped over or tried to lift anything; then rheumatism settled in my right leg, and at times I simply suffered torture from it. The pain was so sharp and cutting at times I would almost drop in my tracks. My appetite went square back on me and nothing I would eat tasted right. I was very nervous—could hardly sleep—and I would just roll from one side of the bed to the other, and many a night I have not closed my eyes for sleep at all. I just had that dejected, worn-out feeling, had no energy and didn't care for anything.

"One day a friend of mine said, 'Why don't you try Tanlac? I have taken it, and it surely did me good.' So with that I began taking Tanlac and improving every day. I have now taken four bottles, the rheumatism never troubles me at all, and my kidneys are in fine shape. My appetite is fine, and everything I eat tastes good and agrees with me. My nerves are strong and steady now, I sleep like a log, and all my tired, depressed feelings are gone. I now have my old-time strength and energy and feel like myself again. Tanlac has certainly been a great thing for me, and I can't praise it too highly."

Bobcaygeon Soldier Killed at the Front

Private Albert Hill, wounded some time ago, subsequently returned to the firing line in Flanders, and is now reported killed in action. He is the husband of Mrs. Albert Hill, Bobcaygeon, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hill, who survive him, together with three sisters, Mrs. M. Nicholls, Bobcaygeon; Mrs. Hutchinson and Mrs. Burton, of Toronto, and one younger brother, Howard, of Toronto.

The Local Market

The vegetable market his morning was very small. Potatoes were selling at $2.25 a bag with but few offerings.

Plenty of fowl were offered upstairs, while butter and eggs were fairly plentiful, the following prices prevailing:

Butter, 48c to 50.

Eggs, 55c to 60c dozen.

Chickens, 80c per 4-pound bird and in proportion.

Geese, $2.25 per 10-lb. bird.

A Fighting Family

D. S. O. and M. C. Among Honors Won—Some Among Wounded.

The members of Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co., Ltd., Toronto, with a branch house here, are not sparing themselves in their contributions from their various families to the cause of the Allies on the battlefields of Flanders. Prominent at the front is Major Vandenburg, one of the four officers left of the original Princess Pats and a D.S.O., who is a son-in-law of Mr. Herman Heintzman, vice-president of the firm. Another is Lieut. Loughery, now back wounded. His mother was formerly Minnie Heintzman, a sister of Mr. George Heintzman, president of the company. He expects to return to the front so soon as an operation on his arm is brought to a successful conclusion. He has also earned the Military Cross. Bradford Heintzman, oldest son of Mr. Geo. Heintzman, is in the Flying Corps, and Howard, another son, has been in France with his battery for over a year. A third son of Herman has enlisted for overseas. Mr. Carl Heintzman, a nephew, is wounded, and is in a hospital in England at the present time. Mr. Geo. MR. GILLESPIE IS AGAIN SELECTED AS DELEGATE

Will Represent Local Dairymen at Eastern Association — Instructor Ward Submits Annual Report.

The district dairy meeting was held at Westwood on Wednesday, November 21st.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, M.L.A., occupied the chair.

Mr. Gillespie was again the unanimous choice for representative from this district to act on the Board of Directors of the Eastern Dairyman's Association.

There were two very able and instructive addresses from Mr. G. G. Publow, Chief Dairy Instructor for Eastern Ontario and Mr. Bothwell of the Dom. Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Mr. Publow spoke on general dairying and the general situation of the business and its requirements, and Mr. Bothwell on breeding and feeding for the dairy business.

The Report of R. W. Ward

Re dairying conditions and the work done in Peterborough and Lindsay Sections for the season of 1917, was then submitted as follows:

Gentlemen:—With your pleasure I will now give a report of conditions, requirements, and work done this season:

On my first visit I found the conditions in and about the factories mostly in very good shape. There were a few exceptions, but they were improved, and conditions generally were maintained in very good shape throughout the season.

The condition of the milk supply I am pleased to be able to state shows a gradual improvement from year to year.

"There are a few milk cans that require to be replaced by new ones."

Patrons mostly seem to be taking more interest in the business and better care of the milk, and this is as it should be when we consider the amount of educational work that has been done for years along these lines, and the time has no doubt arrived when every factory has the right to say by resolution, that all milk shall be delivered in prime condition, and not above a certain temperature. This is the only thing that can be done to protect our best patrons, as this business, dairying is a cooperative one.

In co-operation we have strength, but it must be co-operation in the fullest sense of the word, to be just to all.

Milk mostly is delivered to the factories at too late an hour. This is one of the serious drawbacks in your sections, and militates against you getting the best results from your milk, both in quantity and quality. I strongly advise that this be given the consideration that it deserves, and that improvement be made in this respect.

Makers mostly are making an honest effort to give right service, but are seriously handicapped on account of labor being scarce, and high in price, also the high and uncertain prices of all the supplies for cheese making. There seems to be a disposition on the part of makers to furnish only their own labor, and time, and let the producers provide everything else, and under existing conditions I am inclined to the opinion that it would be the better way as the temptation is very strong, and almost compulsory in some cases, to stint on the quantity and quality of the supplies used, to the great loss of quantity and quality of cheese produced.

Take for instance coagulants. There should be enough used to get a firm perfect coagulation in 25 to 30 minutes, with a normal or right amount of acidity developed in the milk. In a great many cases this is not being done, but on the contrary too much acidity is being used, or too little coagulant being used, or a little of both being done, which causes serious loss to the producers both in quantity and quality of their cheese. This season has been very favorable to the prducers from a monitary point of wiew. We thought last year a high record in prices, but this year's average price will exceed last by fully .02¼ cents per lb. of cheese, and there seems no doubt in the minds of the best informed, that we will have good prices for all the dairy products that can be produced in this country for years to come. The past season has certainly been a good one in your sections, and I believe has been general all over this country, good crops of all kinds, and good prices. The weather also has mostly been very favorable for production and care of milk, and having it reach the factories in very good condition with the exception of some two or three weeks in the last of July and for part of August, and very dry in the latter part, and through the month of September. Just enough change to keep us in remembrance of the importance and need of having cool curing rooms at the factories, a store of ice and ensilage or soiling crops on the farms.

The worst sanitary conditions I had to contend with was about the whey tanks, caused by tanks [illegible] but mostly by them overflowing [illegible] should not be, as whey is a v [illegible] biproduct for feed, when hogs selling from 15 to 20 dollars per live weight. I had to make [illegible] plaint at 18 factories re bad conditions produced from this [illegible] You will please see that the w [illegible] removed, and not let go on ground under or about the factor [illegible]

There are about six factories require a good deal of repairs improvements, but all require ful cleaning and a liberal use of [illegible] or paint. See that this is all [illegible] before opening date next spring.

I had under my charge this season 37 cheese factories, 13 paid for the milk by butter fat test, and 24 [illegible] the pooling system. Two have burned, Trewern in the [illegible] the season by a boiler explosion [illegible] fire, and Lakefield burned near the close of the season, and the very [illegible] part of these accidents was the [illegible] that Mr. Chittick the owner [illegible] maker of Trewern lost his life. I visited Mr. Chittick for 18 years [illegible] instructor, and my relations [illegible] him were very satisfactory, a [illegible] cheesemaker and I always found [illegible] honest and fair.

In closing I will with all my power of persuasion urge upon every [illegible] to begin now to prepare for [illegible] season's work, and let us all by every means in our power try to make [illegible] the best and greatest year of dairying in the history of the business in this country. Let us feel that it [illegible]

"THE PRINCE OF PATTERS"

The Peter Robinson Chapter I. O. D. E., junior department, has pledged itself to raise $1080 a year for the Prisoners of War Fund. As a means to the accomplishing of this object, a dramatic performance, "The Prince o' Patters," will be given in the Grand Opera House on Monday and Tuesday nights, some of the best known amateurs in the city taking part. The play will be put on by Mr. Louis George NeVille, Canada's best known actor, who is no stranger in Peterborough. Last season for the same object he staged the play "The Turning Point," which met with such a hearty reception from the local public. With only two exceptions, the cast in "The Prince o' Patters" will be the same as that which appeared in "The Turnig Point." The chorus, however, will be larger, including as it will over fifty members. "The Prince o' Patters" is a sparkling comedy surrounded by an atmosphere of loyalty, and the plot is interesting. A king reigns for twenty-five years, but outlives his usefulness at last, and in the interests of public harmony is forced to give up his throne. Before he is allowed to abdicate and retire to private life in safety he is required to find a happy woman. The assistance given him by members of his court to find such a person, the failures and disappointments that attend the search, form the comedy of the play.

Some people are objecting to the price of admission, $1, as being too high. All such are asked to bear in mind the object of the entertainment. People who raise this point do not hesitate to pay $1.50 for a ticket to a high-class performance when a large percentage of the receipts are carried out of town.

"The Turning Point," staged with the same end in view, filled the theatre on both nights, and the same generous patronage will no doubt be extended to "The Prince o' Patters."

CONCERT AT THE COLLEGIATE

There will be a Victrola in the Canadian Convalescent Hospital in England as a result of the admirable entertainment that was given by local talent last night in the Collegiate assembly hall and was generously patronized. Mr. G. N. Gordon was chairman, and it must be conceded that the affair was one of the best boosts for the prosecution of the war that has been staged in this city.

One of the features of the entertainment was the address given by Lieut. J. A. McNabb, who reviewed the part Canada has played in the war, including the sacrifices that have been made by her gallant sons. Lt. McNabb told of how Sir Robert Borden went to England to gather information at first hand, how he went to the trenches and learned what the soldiers required in the way of reinforcements, and then, returning to Canada, arranged for the Military Service Act without loss of time.

Lt. McNabb ventured the opinion that if Sir Wilfrid Laurier would visit the trenches he would experience a change of views and fall in with the efforts of the Government to provide help for the men overseas.

Lt. McNabb's address was heartily applauded by the audience, and there was no doubt as to the sentiments of the meeting being in favor of all that the war party in Canada stands for.

Another address was that given by Pte. P. Parrington, formerly with the Strathcona Horse, who has just returned from a tour of the military training camps in the United States. He gave an interesting account of the preparations being made by Uncle Sam to help win the war.

The following was the program:

STOP!

DO not use Edison records on any but a NEW EDISON phonograph. Played with any other than the Edison reproducer, which floats evenly over the surface, delicately balanced and finely adjusted, the record is distinctly injured with each playing and rapidly deteriorates in tone quality.

You cannot get even approximately the full glory of an Edison "Re-Creation" with any other phonograph than

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

The record is only one of three factors inseparable for Edison's perfect Re-Creation of music. Edison earned his triumph by five years' exhaustive experiments, perfecting these three factors together.

THE RECORDING: By his new recording methods, Edison is able to record every delicate tone wave, or shading of expression, even to the most minute overtone, in any artist's voice or instrument.

THE RECORD: Played on a NEW EDISON, the records will preserve this music indefinitely — without wear.

THE REPRODUCER: The New Edison Reproducer is absolutely essential to Edison perfection. Edison tried out 2500 different materials and compositions before he was satisfied with his reproducer diaphragm. This acoustic research work involved an expenditure of over a million dollars, and it alone can bring out the real music in an Edison record in all its original beauty.

In justice to the public and to the high standard of Edison tone quality, we earnestly warn against the use of Edison records on any "talking machine."

Those who seek the privilege of enjoying in their homes the perfect Re-Creation of music should select the NEW EDISON.

We gladly welcome your request for a thorough demonstration of the New Edison.

NEW ROUTE TO WESTERN CANADA PROVING POPULAR

Runs Through Famous Belt of New Ontario and the Cobalt Mining District.

On your next trip to Western Canada why not travel over a new route, see the wonderful land opened up in Northern Ontario by the Transcontinental Railway and gain a glimpse of Temagami, and the Cobalt silver mining region?

You may use the famous trains on your journey without any added expense for railway fare as compared with any other route. The International Limited will carry you to Toronto, where "The National" starts on its westbound flight. "The National" uses the rails of the Grand Trunk to North Bay, the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario (Provincial Government Line) to Cochrane, and the Canadian Government Railways to Winnipeg, where it links up with the Grand Trunk Pacific for all important points in Western Canada.

A pleasant daylight run to Toronto, an evening in the Queen City, and "The National" is ready to carry you westward. The departure of "The National" from Toronto is at 9.00 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. North Bay is reached next morning and there opens up for your admiration all the lakeland beauties of the territory served by the T. & N. O. line. These are followed by a wonderfully interesting trip through the sparsely populated territory of New Ontario, giving the traveller an opportunity of inspecting this fertile region, including the famed clay belt where tens of thousands of settlers will make their homes in the future. The area of New Ontario is 330,000 square miles, fully four times the size of Old Ontario, and in addition to great expanses of good farming land, it has wonderful resources in timber, minerals, water power, fish and game.

The three railways have combined to make the passenger service over this new road the equal of that offered anywhere on the continent. The smooth, straight and level roadbed embodies all that has been learned in three quarters of a century of railroad building. The dining car service is unexcelled, and the greatest travel comfort is assured. Full particulars from any Grand Trunk Ticket Agent, or C. E. Horning, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

Suffragettes in New York State have vowed to defeat all legislators who have "anti" leanings.

CONDITIONS ON THE FARMS

Following is a summary of weekly crop reports made by District Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The rapid progress made in fall ploughing has been the leading feature of the week. The weather, though cool at nights, has been on the whole ideal for the work, and tractors and horse ploughs have been used as never before to attain the objective planned earlier in the season, and which had been delayed by many causes, including untimely October weather.

Fall wheat in many quarters lacks the size and generally appearance of braird that is desirable for entering the winter in the most promising condition, as much of the crop was planted late, and the raw weather of the mid-fall season checked growth considerably. It is claimed by some, however, that the vigor of the roots may carry the crop nicely through, should winter conditions be at all favorable.

In various parts of the Province some threshing remains to be done. An encouraging feature of threshing this year is the large quantity of straw reported, and most of it is of excellent quality both for feeding and bedding. Marketing is comparatively slow. However, much of the grain is now fed on the farm, many preferring to dispose of it, "on foot."

Harvesting of all kinds is practically completed, here and there only an odd patch of turnips or other roots remaining to be taken up. Roots generally are not large in size, but they are very uniform in appearance. Potatoes also are more presentable than for the last two or three years, although a few complaints are made of scab and dry rot. Clover is likely to enter the winter in excellent condition, reports to this effect being practically unanimous.

The advent of American buyers into some of the Lake Erie countries is putting up the price of hay, a good supply of which is in farmers' hands all over the Province.

Live Stock

Cattle are being stabled in good condition. There are probably more "feeders" on hand than at this time last year, as carloads of such animals have been brought into several countries for winter hauling. Many cheese factories are now running only every other day. The demand for milch cows, however, was never stronger, prices being quoted at $125, and even $150.

At present there is but very little enquiry for horses.

Hogs are being marketed steadily around $16 a cwt. Notwithstanding large sales during the fall it is thought that about the usual number are on hand.

More interest is being taken in sheep. One representative states that "old flocks are being increased and new flocks are being started." Another claims that more breeding ewes than usual will be wintered.

Labor

Farmers still complain of the scarcity of help, and are plainly worried as to next year's prospects. The operations of The Military Service Act continue to be a disturbing factor.

A German reservist has been arrested by the New York bomb squad with full photos of forts and bridges in the vicinity in his possession.

The Y.M.C.A. military fund across the line may reach a total of $50,000,000.

Short term 4 per cent. certificates, to a value of four millions, maturing June 25, 1918, are to be issued by the U. S. Government.

HID IN CELLAR THREE YEARS

STRANGE EXPERIENCE OF FRENCH CIVILIANS SINCE WAR BEGAN.

British Army Headquarters in France, Nov. 24.—Civilians who were released from Masnieres told something of their experiences in the last three years. They rejoiced at their new found freedom and many of them still wept with joy. Among them was the Mayor, M. Leslain.

They first learned of the approach of the British from machine gun fire in the distance. They were immediately thrown into a state of excitement, and viewed the coming of friends from every vantage point available. They had first sight of the advancing forces at the bridgehead, and saw coming with the attacking troops strange monsters which they never knew existed. They were the great tanks and the people stared in amazement as these mighty engines ploughed their way forward.

Only 380 Germans were holding the town, and all, except a few left in the cellars, withdrew five minutes before the British entered. With the civilians who greeted the British were two German soldiers, one from Alsace Lorraine, who had deserted and were waiting to give themselves up to the British, with whom they sympathised.

Hid in Cellar Three Years.

During the three years of their captivity the civilians were fed by the American relief committee. All other food was requisitioned by the Germans, who placed very heavy penalties on those who concealed any. The Germans stripped all the houses of the town of their furniture as soon as they entered. Among the houses thus pillaged were five magnificent chateaus. All men of military age were arrested and sent to Germany. Women were compelled to do all manner of work, such as sweeping streets, washing clothes of German officers, and waiting on officers. The mayor declared that Germany was actually starving.

Among the most interesting of the refugees was a man of military age who had hidden in a cellar for three years to escape the Germans and had been fed by his wife with an extra ration of food allowed her because she had a baby. German officers came to live in his house, but they never discovered his hiding place.

Wept at His Release.

When the British entered the town his wife, after making sure that they were indeed British, went home and brought out her husband, who had his first glimpse of the outside world since August, 1914. He seemed to be in fair health, but his nerves were badly shattered and he wept continually.

DEMOBILIZATION IN RUSSIA.

Citizen-Soldiers Conscripted in 1899, To Be Released.

Petrograd, Nov. 24.—The official announcement, as to the reduction of the Russian armies, says: "The Workmen's and Peasants' Government of the People's Commissaries has decided to undertake without delay reduction of the armies and orders to begin with release from their military duties of all citizen soldiers of the class conscripted in 1899. Instructions concerning the liberation of other classes from military service will be issued at a later date.

"Upon demobilization all arms must be handed over to regimental committees which will be responsible for their safety. The highest commander-in-chief is obliged to bring this decree directly to the knowledge of the rank and file.

The Only Medicine For Little Ones

Mrs. H. Blanche, St. Pamphile, Que., writes:—"I have obtained great results from the use of Baby's Own Tablets. They are the only medicine I know of that one can depend upon to promptly cure bowel and stomach troubles." The Tablets never fail to relieve the little one and besides the mother has the guarantee of a government analyst that they are absolutely safe. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NO ALCOHOL IN GIN PILLS

Many have wondered how the famous old household remedy, Gin Pills, derived its name, since obviously there could be no spirits contained in pill form.

The origin of Gin Pills can be traced to Gin, which has for a great many years been recognized for its medicinal qualities, particularly its beneficial effects on Kidney complaints.

But in the first place there are many who have conscientious objections to taking alcohol, even as a medicine. Secondly, the curative agent of Gin operates in spite of the alcohol, not because the alcohol is a help to the cure.

Investigations were made to determine just what it was in Gin that tended to relieve Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Backache, Swollen Joints, Constant Headaches and all disorders arising from the kidneys, bladder and urinary system.

This active agent, separated from the alcohol, was then combined with other diuretics and given the name of Gin Pills, for which a demand has grown greater than for any other medicine in Canada. Gin Pills have a wonderful record of success and anyone applying to the manufacturers can obtain copies of many of the testimonials received.

Gin Pills are sold by all dealers everywhere on a strict guarantee of satisfaction or your money back. They are 50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50. A free sample can be obtained by writing to the National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto, or to the U. S. address, Na-Dru-Co. Inc., 202 Main St., Buffalo, N.Y. 129

MINERS PAY $600,000.

U. S. Coal Company Win Action for Damages Done in Strike.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 24.—It was announced to the American Federation of Labor that a verdict had been given against the mine workers for $200,000 damages in the action brought by the Bache Coal Company for damage to their property near Fort Smith, Ark.

As the amount of damages granted by the court is trebled under the provisions of the Sherman Act, the total assessment against the mine workers will be $600,000, Mr. Green said.

A resolution was adopted that the Executive Committee investigate and give such assistance as in their power to continue the fight and to carry an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court, if necessary. "This is another instance of organized labor being sued under a law that was supposed to catch the big fellow," commented Secretary William Green.

MILITIA DEPT. DON'T KNOW.

Whether or Not Gen. Currie Contemplates Taking a Rest.

Ottawa, Nov. 24.—The Militia Department is not in a position to confirm or deny the report that Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, commanding the Canadian Army Corps in France, has expressed a desire to be temporarily relieved of command so that he may return to Canada on furlough. A high official of the department stated this morning that the matter was not one over which the military authorities here had any jurisdiction. In all probability he would be on the ocean for some days before a definite report of his coming was given out.

CAPT. BURNHAM'S ADDRESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

Election-day is December 17th. Its nearness admits of no farther delay on the part of candidates in formally addressing you. It was hoped that political parties in West Peterborough might unite, as the members of the Borden Union Administration have done, in its support. But since the Liberal Convention has met and chosen its standard-bearer, who has not declared himself to be a supporter of the Borden Union Administration, it becomes necessary for me, without more, to solicit your suffrages. At the convention of the Conservatives of West Peterborough, duly assembled, I was chosen as their candidate to support Sir Robert Borden and his Administration. The Prime Minister has formed a Union Administration, composed of Conservative, Liberal and Labour representatives, to the end that he may the more fully and surely carry in a spirit of national unity and co-operation Canada's share in the war to a successful conclusion.

I pledge myself, therefore, with that same spirit of unity and co-operation, to support the Borden Union Administration and its policies, and I earnestly and respectfully solicit your votes and support accordingly. This is no ordinary political campaign, and it is hoped that all well-wishers of the Borden Union Administration will make every effort to secure the return of its supporters.

I have the honour to remain,

Yours truly,
J. H. BURNHAM.

REINDEER FOR MEAT.

New Article of Food Popular on the Pacific Coast.

Reindeer meat is finding its way into the market on the Pacific Coast, and is certain to become an important part of the meat supply of this country when means of shipping to distributing centers are arranged.

There were 70,243 reindeer in Alaska, according to the Government report on the subject in 1915, nearly all descendants of herds totalling 1,300 which were imported from Russia to stock the country between 1902 and 1906, and the herds to-day are increasing at a remarkable rate. Until 1914, the raising of reindeer was confined to natives and Eskimos, but since then the Government has permitted others to enter the business. Beginning in the fall of 1914, shipments of reindeer meat to Seattle and other United States cities have been allowed. Mr. Mamer says that reindeer steak is as palatable as beefsteak, and that it has been selling at many of the best hotels in California, Washington, and Oregon for from one-quarter to one-half the price of beefsteak. He continues:

"There are many things to be said in favor of using reindeer meat on our tables, aside from a desire to cut the high cost of living. The reindeer is not only easy and cheap to raise, but its flesh is pleasing to the taste and it is fully as nutritious as beef or mutton. Moreover, practically every part of the animal can be utilized for human consumption, and it is one of the easiest meats to keep from spoiling.

"Last winter marked the entrance of the reindeer upon the scene as a possible economic factor in the great world war. The Swedish government sold to German agents 43,500 carcasses of reindeers, which, it was estimated, provided 3,000 metric tons of venison for the German soldiers. This meat was purchased at a price which would make it equivalent to 26 cents a pound in our money.

"When the United States Government took over its newly purchased land from Russia and enacted laws for the protection of the seal, the Indians and the Eskimos were reduced to a state of starvation. With the coming of the white man the wild game and the whale upon which the natives had relied for their food supply had been driven into the inaccessible north lands, and now the seal, the one animal which remained for them to live upon, was taken from them. Scores of these people were wiped out of existence by disease and hunger before the Government awoke to the fact that it was its duty to preserve the lives of these unfortunate wretches. It was Captain M. A. Healey of the United States revenue cutter Bear who was responsible for the suggestion which finally led to the introduction of the reindeer from Alaska."

Twelve hundred reindeer were brought over from Russia between 1902 and 1906, but in the latter year Russia forbade further exportations of the animal. The herds already imported were placed under the care of Laplanders brought over for the express purpose of teaching how to breed and care for the animals. Eskimo and Indian boys are now taught how to raise reindeer at experimental stations in Alaska. They are trained in this industry and taught reading, writing, arithmetic, and sanitation for five years at Government expense, after which they receive from six to ten reindeer with which to start a herd of their own. Many of these boys have become wealthy.

"Nearly every portion of reindeer's flesh can be used, and one cut is practically as good as another," says Mr. Mamer. "It would seem as if this industry ought to appeal strongly to those of the young agricultural students who are particularly interested in stock raising, for it undoubtedly has an element of adventure about it which they, more than any other class of farmers, would appreciate. Reindeer can be raised for the market much more cheaply than cattle, for they find their own food both in winter and summer, and they can live in barren wastes which would support no other kind of animal. It has been estimated that there is in Alaska close to 300,000 square miles of this land which would afford pasturage for millions of deer. These domesticated descendants of the caribou which still roam wild in certain parts of Alaska and British Columbia, besides being easy to feed, are not difficult to raise, as they are exceptionally healthy and suffer from no disease."

And He Had Doubted Her!

"Of course, Jack, I'm very fond of you. Why, haven't I just danced six times with you?"

"I don't see any proof in that."

"You would if you only realized how you dance."—Boston Transcript.

What, Again?

"Pa, you'd better hurry on home."

"What's the matter?"

"Some of ma's relatives are at the house, and they're giving you an' me the worst of it again."—Detroit Free Press.

He Was Qualified.

"I believe," said the beautiful heiress, "that the happiest marriages are made by opposites."

"Just think how poor I am," said the young man.—Judge.

THRIFT SLOGANS

How to Save Foods, Labor and Gas by Planning.

DOUBLE PORTIONS THE IDEA

An Expert Tells Us How to Conserve Odd Ends Instead of Enriching the Garbage Pail with Leftovers—A Role For the "Tail End" of Steaks.

In these days when "thrift" is the housewives' national slogan it is well to consider methods which will enable the last fragments to be utilized.

In many homes a leftover is an accident, but the better way is to make a "planned over" which shall be put to really wider use. For instance, when buying a steak with a tail end have this end chopped by the butcher. But do not stop there. Buy at the same time enough chuck or lower round steak to make enough of the meat so that when all chopped together there will be enough for a second meal two days later, whereas the small tail alone would not have been enough.

In cooking rice for luncheon cook enough more so that there will be sufficient for rice cakes for breakfast, not merely a small saucerful with which hardly anything can be done. Similarly with many other foods, which by cooking about one-third more the first time will prove sufficient for a second meal, rather than have left such a small portion that it will likely be thrown out and considered not worth saving.

In cooking vegetables it is easy to cook at one time a double portion, to be divided into two days' use. For instance, carrots or spinach or asparagus can be cooked with one using of fuel, then used one day hot, one day cold. The water must be saved in which it was cooked. This, when combined with cream, will make a delicious cream soup for luncheon of the third day. It is in the water of the vegetables that the most valuable mineral salts are to be found, so that by saving them we are also saving food values.

In making pie crust make sufficient extra to have for tarts or small cheese crackers by adding old grated cheese to the paste before it is cooked. In preparing any kind of cornstarch or tapioca pudding make it in small molds instead of in a large one. The small molds will serve just one person, and there is likely to be little waste, where if a large mold is used the portions will not come out even, and there is likely to be waste.

Everywhere that the "double cooking" can be given and fuel thus saved there is economy. Very many families cook separate meat, potatoes and vegetables over separate burners every day, when by the double cooking they could not only save time, but fuel and material, if more were cooked at once and the remainder of the dish made a "planned over" instead of a "left over."

In cooking cereal there is always a little left over, which in many homes is thrown out or put on a saucer, expecting to be warmed, but which never is. Why not, instead, cook more and then pour the excess into muffin rings, where it can be made into cakes to fry for lunch or next day's breakfast? Or enough can be saved to form the basis of griddlecakes, muffins and similar dishes.

If fish is used buy enough so that the second amount can be made into cakes or scalloped forms, etc. The bones and waste can be used in a soup, which, if well seasoned and strained and combined with rice, will conserve the most nourishing values of the fish.

The Canadian herring catch for the six months this year was far below that of last.

I wonder what's wrong with my Tea?

My! This certainly IS good Tea

The woman on the left bought some "cheap" tea. You can see she's not pleased. She's sorry now she tried to save a few cents by buying the "cheap" tea.

How different with the woman on the right. The fragrance of her tea tells her how good it is. She paid a few cents more for Red Rose Tea than the other woman paid for her "cheap" tea—and besides Red Rose will prove more economical in the end!

Because of the rich flavor and vigorous strength of the Assam teas of which Red Rose chiefly consists, it will make 250 cups to the pound, or about a fifth of a cent a cup. So cheap that the very poorest can afford it, so good that the rich can find nothing better.

HATS OFF FOR HAIR

Keep your hat off as much as possible. Hair cannot lie too easily or loosely for its own health and that of the nerves and head. Anything like pressure, heat or strain about the head will injure the brain and the finest parts of the nervous system. Pulling the hair up too tightly from the back of the head and ears will cause the glands of the neck to swell. Notice what a relief it is to take all your hairpins out of the hair and let it hang loose for a few hours. If you adopt an easy, artistic and natural hair dressing, nervousness will disappear and headaches will be unknown. It is not only beneficial to the growth of the hair, but to the nerves of the head to wear it tied with a ribbon at the nape of the neck, free of hair pins, whenever possible.

BEAUTY AND THE BATH

The woman who is accustomed to a cold shower will find it a great precaution against the cold of winter. It should be taken the first thing in the morning in a well warmed bathroom. Some enjoy the tepid shower, which is afterward allowed to run cold.

The cold plunge is more taxing to the delicate woman and if a shower is impossible the could sponge bath is its best substitute. All of these cold baths should be followed by a brisk rubbing with several coarse towels, so as to insure the healthy glow which imparts a glorious tingling to the surface of the body.

If your flesh is flabby after washing the face with warm water and soap dash the skin with cold water to which has been added a teaspoon of benzoin. A cold compress around the neck at night will harden the flesh and remove the flabby appearance.

There are many women who, when cold weather approaches, put on armorlike clothing and shut themselves in almost air tight houses. This is wrong, of course, both for beauty and health. Some skins are sensitive to cold and direct contact with wintry winds is hard on them; but though your cuticle may be delicate it need not prevent you from going out.

Gunner Robt. Campbell of Kingston, who was reported dead in the second battle of Ypres, Sept. 13, 1915, walked into the office of a newspaper in Kingston yesterday to deny the report.

MADAM LAPLANTE

85 St. Rose St., Montreal. April 4th.

"For over two years I was sick and miserable. I suffered from constant Headaches, and had Palpitation of the Heart so badly that I feared I would die. There seemed to be a lump in my stomach and the Constipation was dreadful. I suffered from Pain in the Back and Kidney Disease.

I was treated by a physician for a year and a half and he did me no good at all. I tried "Fruit-a-tives" as a last resort. After using three boxes, I was greatly improved and twelve boxes made me well. Now I can work all day and there are no Headaches, no Palpitation, no Heart Trouble, no Constipation, no Pain or Kidney Trouble and I feel like a new being—and it was "Fruit-a-tives" that gave me back my health".

BENEFIT CONCERT IN VICTORIA WAS HUGE SUCCESS, EVERY WAY

Splendid Programme of Song and Instrument Worth While—Credit to all Concerned.

In the Victoria Hall, last night, a concert was given for the benefit of an employee of the G.T.R. stricken with paralysis. The event was thoughtfully engineered by the following fellow workmen of the stricken man: J. J. Hanrahan, A. McLaren, J. Bell, H. Turner, T. Pacey, W. Wheeler and J. O'Brien. A large attendance was present, a substantial sum realized and from every point of view the entertainment was one huge success, reflecting the fullest measure of credit on its originators and also on those who generously contributed to one of the most enjoyable programs of the season.

The splendid and acceptably varied program was arranged by Gazley, leader of a talented orchestra of that name. The Salvation Army Band was much enjoyed in several well rendered selections, while Gazley's Orchestra was quite popular.

A. Parkins, J. Parkins and Bula in banjo trio selections brought down the house, as also did Charley Coleman in an irresistible character number, "P.C. 49." Mr. Treneer, blind musician, was simply wonderful at the piano and was enthusiastically received. Banjo duets by A. Parkins and Gazley were of considerable merit, and step dancing by M. Murty and D. Quinlan were prime favorite offerings.

Mrs. Scholey was heard to good advantage in [illegible] solo numbers, while Master H. Murduff carried the audience with him in two solos rendered in a charming flexible voice between soprano and treble—just such voices as one hears from chorister boys in famous English Cathedrals, where ladies are not allowed in the chancel.

Billy Forde entices appreciable clear notes out of his cornet, and his audience generously responded last night.

H. Carte kept all wondering at his slight-of-hand work and he seems capable of producing anything wanted out of his little brown jug—from water and lemonade and two and a half percent, "as you like it."

J. Smith won the hearts of his hearers with his good old English song, "A Sailor's wife, a Sailor's Star Shall Be," and Master Johnstone sustained his reputation as promising great things in elocution. A banjo solo by F. Clark showed considerable skill.

Programme.

The whole programme was one well worth while, admirably balanced, and exceedingly well rendered by all participants. The numbers were as follows:

God Save the King—Band and Orchestra.
March—S. A. Temple Band.
Vocal Solo—Mr. E. Bartley.
Instrumental Duet — Messrs. A. Parkins and Gazley.
Vocal Trio—Messrs. Lee, Turner and Hartshorn.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

NEWS OF THE SHOPS

Everything seems to be borrowing military names. A serviceable, heavy leather gauntlet, called the military glove, admirable for outdoor street wear and driving, is being sold at $2.75. It fastens with a piece of belting above the wrist and incloses the hand snugly. Its military name is not a masquerade. Young lieutenants wear them regularly and men of lesser rank sometimes affect them on furlough.

By every tradition of winter sports from the fjord countries, where winter sport is most native, the proper wrap for winter is the macinaw. Made up in angora or brushed wool, as they come this winter, the most fastidious women should not hesitate to adopt them. One strikingly smart model in plaid angora is $28.50. The collar is an attached scarf which winds about the throat.

The saleswoman insisted that the utilitarian value of marabou was undervalued. It is as warm as fur and as serviceable. Then she showed a muff of marabou at $8.95, a handsome, downy thing in deep gray. It was lined with duvetyne. The hand sunk in a luxurious vault. Sets of marabou made up stoutly for winter wear are having increasing popularity.

Vanity edges in odd directions. It has taken a lunge toward garters. The long outcast flowered and beribboned garter is coming back to vogue. The French saleslady in the smart store screwed her eyebrows and smiled obliquely. "Women want to be more feminine, the men are so trim and elegant." Be that as it many, flimsy accessories are back and highly advertised.

Jumping from sports to beautifiers—There is a relationship between the two, isn't there?—one is natural care and the others are civilized aids—fine French rice powders can be had very reasonably. A box of fine grade poudre de riz in three ounce box can be purchased for 50 cents.

Square veils nad circular veils thrown over the crown of the hat and looping down bonnet fashion are proclaimed as the mode. They are ornamented with silk braidings and chenille dots and sell at $1.50 to $4. A new scroll work veiling sells at $1.25 a yard.

Skating shoes in black and white kid are here for the winter. They are fleece lined and wool padded. A combination outfit of skating shoes and hockey can be purchased for $10. The sole of these show shoes are padded in felt and the tongue of the boot padded.

Winter opens the gymnasiums. The shops are ready with a fine stock of bloomers in silk and wool. A commodious pair of silk bloomers in black satin, box plaited and girded with a wide belt, are $8.75. Those in wool range from $6 to $10.

The new collars and fichus and vests are sprightly, dainty things. To the usual variety has been added sets in brocaded satins. They make a fresh change. The newer collars are largely in shawl and bib cuts.

Jockey caps are in favor for the exhilarating ride on the driveways. They are in plush—red and black—and are priced at $3.75. Worn with a scarf veil they have a special charm.

Riding and auto gloves of white lamb and suede, luxuriantly warm, are $5. They are a pleasing indulgence to the individual and make appreciated gifts.

BLOND HAIR SHAMPOO

Use a small sponge in applying this dry shampoo and rub it well into the scalp: Two ounces of lavender water, half an ounce of borax, one and one-half ounces of orange flower water and one-quarter of an ounce of tincture of cochineal. The last and the borax are put into cologne, the sweet water being added when the mingling is complete.

What Nationa Cash Registers Do---

No. 7---Make You KNOW Your Store---
Make Guesswork Needless

The new National Cash Registers make all guess-work about your store needless. They enable you to know with absolute certainty every detail regarding your money transactions.

They enable you to KNOW exactly what amount of money should be in your cash drawer at any moment.

They enable you to KNOW just how many sales have been made in the day, the exact amount of cash you have received, the full amount of credit you have allowed, the precise amount of money you have paid out.

You do not have to guess at these things—the new National Cash Registers tell you.

They tell you all about each sale—whether cash or credit, what clerk made it, the price of goods sold. They make you sure that no charge sale has been forgotten.

They record the date and consecutive number of each transaction.

They do all these things mechanically, instantly, accurately, permanently. No human being could compete with these machines; no man should do what a machine can do better.

Now is the time to install machines which, as an incidental part of their service, make guess-work needless about your store.

R. R. HALL'S ADDRESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

I have the honor to accept the unamious nomination of the Liberal ty to contest the election as a Candidate to represent the people West Peterborough in the House of Commons.

MASSES REQUIRE JUSTICE

Now is the time in the history of this country when we should be ided by true Liberal principles and stand by the masses as against e classes; stand by the people who earn their bread by the sweat their brow and against the classes who exert unjust profits and rtortionate tolls out of even the very necessities of life.

WAR POLICY

Today we are engaged in a great War with the Germanic powers defence of Canada and the Empire. In the great struggle is in-lved the very existance of the freedom and liberty of mankind.

Our duty is plain. Our course is clear. We must prepare for ny sacrifice of blood and treasure. We must fight Germany until we cure a just and a lasting peace. In this resolve all Canadians are nited from Lake Champlain to the North Pole and from our furthest ast to our furthest West.

Such being our Nation's resolution I pledge myself to support ny effective war measure no matter from what source it may come. Ve must give immediate and constant support to our noble Cana-lian armies who have covered themselves with glory. We must sup-port them with men. We must feed them. The rich and poor alike ust serve. Our only difference is in how to serve but serve we will

Great Britain has appealed to Canada to send her 300,000,000 bushels of wheat to feed her teeming millions and those of Italy and f France.

This enormous quantity of wheat would feed 40,000,000 people for whole year. This shows our Allies want food.

To this appeal the Borden Rowell Government only answers, eat-less, slay and eat the calf and the lamb and prepare for meatless days.

Let the Government encourage the Farmer to produce more. Give him agricultural implements duty free. Supply him with suitable labor on fair terms to till the soil. Use our banks and Loan Companies to lend him money on fair and easy terms of payment to assist in every possible way to plant and produce food stuffs. Supply the farmer with steam or gasoline tractors to enable one man to do the work of five. Shield us from the profiteer who plunders the farmer and robs the consumer, makes a profit of a million a year and supports Sir Robert Borden and his hypnotizer Sir Joseph Flavelle.

A forward policy on these lines would be a double blessing. It would reduce the cost of living at home and would help supply the necessities of our Allies overseas.

Remember one single North West farmer produces 2000 bushels of wheat per year when well directed and equipped. 100,000 men would produce 200,000,000 bushels of wheat. Those already on the ground in the North West properly equipped and manned could produce 200,000,000 bushels more.

I pledge myself, if elected, to support prompt and immediate efforts to reduce the high cost of living.

BORDEN DISCRIMINATES AGAINST ENGLAND

Since the war began the Borden Government imposed an increased duty of 5 per cent. on British made goods entering Canada. This should be removed at once. Our great Mother of Nations has troubles enough without the Borden Government thus increasing them.

PROFITEERS AND SOLDIERS

The profits made by War Profiteers should be investigated. The profiteer should be made to disgorge his excessive profits to be used to increase the pay of our soldiers and to increase the pensions or allowances to our soldiers, their mothers, wives, sisters and dependents. None of them should ever be subjected to the indignity of "cold charity" by this grateful Nation on whose behalf they have suffered or died.

NO CONFIDENCE IN BORDEN

Sir Robert Borden has been for six years and is now the Prime Minister of this Country. Its chief head and front with full power to choose and remove his Ministers. He is appealing to this Country under an assumed name, but the policies and methods of his Government remain.

I cannot stop to repeat the well known charges of grafting proved on sworn testimony from the mouths of unwilling witnesses respecting the purchase of motors, of horses, of binoculars, of bandages, of drugs, of boots, of shells of gauze fuse and of all the implements of war

These unseemly transactions have taken place under the nose of Sir Robert Borden who now seeks to stifle and conceal further investigation with the hollow pretense of so called Union Government which in no sense whatever represents true believers in the principles of justice, truth and liberalism.

BORDEN CONDEMNED FOR SUPPLYING DEFECTIVE AMMUNITION

I have no confidence whatever in Sir Robert Borden who supplied our troops for many months with the Ross Rifle and defective ammunition which he must have known would jam and become a useless weapon after our Canadian boys had nobly entered the battle. The Ross Rifle was used by our troops at the six battles of St. Julien, of Civenchy, of Festubert, of St. Floi, of Zillebeke and of Sanctuary Wood. In each battle the rifle jammed and many a Canadian soldier was needlessly killed or wounded and some of them today languish in German prisons justly cursing the Borden Government without a chance of voting against it.

GRAFTERS

We must destroy the parasite, the profiteer, the grafter and camp follower, who are our worst enemies and fight our common foe with all the resources at our command.

TO OUR NOBLE WOMEN

I appeal to the women of this Riding who are casting their vote for the first time to act on the pure impulse of your heart alone and vote according to the dictates of your own conscience. My heart goes out in sympathy for you in these anxious times. I know your "beloved is white and ruddy; the chiefest among ten thousand. His countenance is as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars" and by him and his I pledge myself to stand.

UNITY OF ACTION AND SENTIMENT

Let us unite our people in this Great War as the armies of Great Britain and of France are united, marching and fighting side by side, the parents and guardians of Freedom and Justice

"With firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right" I appeal to you fellow electors to press on to finish the great war in which we are engaged "to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, his widow and the orphan to do all which we may achieve and cherish a just and a lasting peace with all nations."

For these reasons I appeal to you my fellow electors for your vote and influence in the pending election.

Your Obedient Servant,

R. R. HALL.

ENUMERATORS MISTAKEN.

Female Relatives of Soldiers in British Regiments Vote.

Complaints that some of the enumerators are refusing to register the names of female relatives of soldiers serving in the British regiments have reached R. L. Defries, returning officer for Toronto East. Such complaints are well founded, states Mr Defries in a letter to a Toronto paper. "It is important that all such persons should know that they are entitled to a vote and that the enumerators should not overlook any of them. They seem to imagine that only female relatives of Canadian soldiers are entitled to a vote."

PROCESSION OF THE RELEASED CIVILIANS STRANGE SPECIACLE

British Army Headquarters in France, Nov. 24.—This has been a battle of strange sights, but no more striking spectacle has been witnessed than that of the French [illegible] from the captured villages marching toward homes and comfort back of the British front. Through the very gaps which the tanks had torn in the famous Hindenburg line, mothers yesterday and today were pushing baby carriages containing infants or tramping happily along with their babies clutched to their breasts. Beside them toddled other youngsters; many of them carrying their treasured dolls and not a few clinging determinedly to squirming puppies which they dared not trust to run on the ground. Old men and women were bringing away all the household effects they could pack on push-carts or carry on their backs.

Twenty-seven automobile loads of German and Austrian diplomats, the bulk from the Orient, were placed aboard the liner Bergensfjord in New York yesterday. They will be submitted to further examination in Halifax before being allowed to cross the Atlantic.

Edith's uncle had come to pay a visit. After the first greetings were over, and he was comfortably seated with the child on his knee, he asked, as uncles always do, whether she was "a good little girl."

"Yes," said Edith; "but nobody knows it."

TO THE ELECTORS OF EAST PETERBORO

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

I believe no greater disaster could at the present time befall our country than the defeat of the Borden Union Administration at the polls on December 17th.

The policy of this Administration is the speedy and continuous reinforcements of our Canadian troops on the battle-front; and the putting forth of all our national strength for the cause of civilization and freedom.

To carry out this policy, a number of Canada's ablest public men of vision—sinking for the present all political differences—now stand together—strong to battle for the right—united to WIN THE WAR.

For over three years thousands of loyal Canadians of many creeds and of different nationalities have stood shoulder to shoulder on the battle-fields of Europe, gallantly fighting our common foe, and sometimes, sometimes falling, have won for the name of Canada undying fame. Shall we, with all possible speed, send help to these, our heroic defenders, now holding the battle-line, or shall we, breaking faith with them as well as "with those who die"—delay—vote—while the enemy advances?

A Vote For Sexsmith
Means a Vote For
Our
Gallant Soldiers

As the Union Candidate in this Riding, I am putting forth every effort to win East Peterborough to the support of the Borden Union Administration, and, if elected, shall to the utmost of my ability support the same.

To this end I now earnestly solicit the co-operation and influence of every loyal and patriotic man and woman in East Peterborough.

I have the honor to be, faithfully yours,

JOHN A. SEXSMITH.

PLUNGED IN THE BATTERY SMOKE RIGHT THROUGH THE LINE THEY BROKE

Brilliant Work of the Fort Garry Horses Equals any Cavalry Exploits Recorded in British War Annals---Dash to Victory Reads Like Romance.

(By Walter A. Willison, Can. Press Correspondent.)

Canadian Army Headquarters in France, Nov. 26.—Canada was splendidly represented in the great British advance of November 20, which broke the Hindenburg line and drove the enemy back on Cambrai. For the first time since the German retreat from Bapaume last spring the Canadian cavalry went really into action with their horses.

Operating from the right centre, opposite the village of Masnieres, the cavalry behind the line waited at dawn for the signal which would send them forward after the tanks and infantry had opened the way. The anxiosuly awaited signal came, and, hell for leather, the Fort Garry Horse galloped to the attack. But Masnieres was not clear. It was 3:30 p.m. when they penetrated the enemy's country through the wire cut by British troops who were south of the town, and galloped on into the blue.

What follows equals anything in cavalry exploits in the history of the Empire. A single squadron found itself all alone. Racing forward, with the enemy to the right and left of them, the Fort Garrys galloped in a section over the crest of the hill concealing the enemy's guns.

Charging down the slope they found themselves facing a hostile battery of four .77 light German field guns. Charging straight for the battery, sabring everything as they went, officers and men raced to the guns. With the sword the cavalry wiped out that battery.

The majority of the enemy gunners attempted to fly, and others lay flat on the ground. Only a very few brave men stood to attention beside their cannon. On swept the little squadron. The retreating enemy's infantry were engaged. Unchecked, our horses went on, until dusk found them two miles inside the enemy's territory, commanded by a lieutenant.

A defensive position was essential. With the sword the horsemen fought their way through the sunken road. There they dismounted. The messengers sent back to report their position had their horses shot under them, but struggled back to our lines. Darkness was falling. The gallant band was isolated. They prepared to return.

As they charged forward, sabring everything, so now they fought their way back on foot with their Lee-Enfields, bayonetting their path. The retirement started about five. It was a succession of hand-to-hand struggles. Four times the little party met with enemy working parties and dispersed them with the bayonet.

Midnight had passed when they reached Masnieres again and fought their way through the enemy country into town to a wrecked bridge, where they crossed to safety, wading in water waist deep. Forty-three of the men came through unwounded, but they brought their wounded back and over a dozen prisoners. One of the lieutenants, wounded in the throat, had led his section back hundreds of yards to safety and then refused to give up his prisoners until he had a proper receipt for them.

In addition to putting out of action the battery, killing a large number of Germans in the fighting between Masnieres and the sunken road, three main lines of the enemy's telephone communications had been cut and information had been secured of the enemy's dispositions.

"IT'S OVERSEAS FOR ME" SAID ONE VERY CHEERFUL DRAFTEE

And He Left the Tribunal With a Laugh ---Many Class A Men are Suddenly Indisposed.

At the tribunal in the Council Chamber this morning, Thos. Murray, 425 Charlotte street, a steam engineer but laboring at present, asked exemption on the ground of physical infirmity. He is classed in A Category, but claims to be a sufferer from rheumatism and a bad leg sustained in a railway accident. He was medically examined in Quebec but did not tell the doctors about his bad leg or rheumatism. This tribunal sent him up for another examination at the armories here.

Will Probably Be Exempted.

Geo. A. Corkery of Otonabee, is a farmer's son. His father owns 100 acres in Otonabee and 90 acres in South Monaghan. He and his younger brother, 17 years of age, work on the farms, and this year took crops off 140 acres, with no hired help. Another brother, aged 21, hires out with a farmer in Otonabee, and has been refused exemption. Judgment reserved.

Overseas For Me!

David Clarence Green, 354 Stewart street, is an inspector of munitions for the Henry Hope Company, which fact he offered in his claim for exemption, supported by the superintendent of the company.

Mr. Aylmer—"They have put in no claim for you."

Mr. Green good naturedly replied, "That means overseas for me," and left with a laugh.

Claim Disallowed.

Charles Gordon Emery, 332 Water street, of no trade, claimed exemption on the ground of having had his hip put out of joint and being a sufferer from rheumatism. He told the doctors about the rheumatism, but said nothing of his lame hip. The Tribunal thought it remarkable that so many claimants had concealed their professed ailments from the Medical Board and expected sympathy from the Tribunal. Claim was disallowed.

HOW THE WOMEN WILL VOTE

Fears that the possession of the vote might be an "unsexing" influence have been dispelled by the reports coming in from enumerators who have been on their rounds in Toronto.

"Sure, I have a vote," said one woman. "Me and my old man'll go together and vote for the lads overseas."

Her "old man" is back from the conflict with a gold stripe on his arm, and "the lads" are the two sons still fighting, and the mother, with a loving woman's wit, knows that her vote for Union Government will be something she can do to help the boys in the struggle.

"I'll take mother to vote," volunteered a young painter, "and I tell her she ought to have four votes, for there are four of them overseas I'm the only one of her five boys at home"

To Take Husband's Advice.

Several wives assured the enumerators that of course they were going to vote, and that their husbands would tell them just what to do.

"He knows who to vote for," was the wifely conviction, proudly expressed, and many sisters echoed the same sentiments in regard to their brothers.

"It'll be Union Government for mine on voting day," volunteered one girl. "My brother's been writing home this ever so long asking why the parties couldn't get together, and now they've done it and I've got the vote I'll use it the way he wants."

Still another, this time a wife, explaining that her vote would go for the Union Government, because her husband had told her to vote for the "fiercest conscriptionist she could find."

"'Never you mind as to whether he's Grit or Tory,' he wrote me, 'You just find who's hottest for reinforcing the boys out here without any more waiting game and plant your vote for him, little woman.' So that's what I'm going to do."

MOSCOW IS PUT ON SHORT DIET BY BOLSHEVIKI

Banks Are Forbidden to Pay Over 150 Roubles to a Family a Week.

PRIVATE SOLDIER HEADS ARMY

Relation Between the Classes and the Masses Is More Strained Than Ever.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

London, November 26.—Moscow is under complete control of the Bolsheviki military committee according to the Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Mail who visited Moscow last week. M. Moralofu, a private soldier, has been appointed commander-in-chief of the Moscow military district.

The streets are filled with crowds of sightseers, the correspondent says, and the shops are open but business generally is at a standstill as everybody is discussing politics. All administrative offices are in confusion, the relations between classes and the masses are more strained than ever before and the masses are being told that the classes will have to pay their wages. The Bolsheviki have ordered the banks not to pay out more than 150 roubles weekly on each account but according to the correspondent the average family in Moscow cannot exist on this sum.

Proclamations have been posted alleging that the Bourgeoise is blocking the efforts to provision the army and to provide funds for the support of the Government. They are signed by Lenine and Tretsy, the committee on the salvation of the revolution in a proclamation to the army declares that the last step of the Bolsheviki is final ruin for Russia.

Bolsheviki have taken over state bank in Moscow whose vaults are estimated to contain seven hundred million roubles.

TORONTO TAKES A HOLIDAY TO GREET "TEDDY"

Thousands Line the Streets and Make the Sky Ring With Shouts of Welcome.

HAS COME TO LEARN NOT TEACH

Has Nothing but Praise for the Part Canada Has Taken in the War.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Toronto, Nov. 26. — Tremendous enthusiasm greeted Col. Rosevelt and his party on his arrival here at 12.35 p.m. to assist in the great Victory Loan meeting this evenig. The Premier of Canada, Sir Robert Borden, who was leaving for a political meeting at Uxbridge, had his train held especially in order to shake hands with "Teddy." When the ex-President stepped off his car he was greeted with three rousing cheers, and when he reached the street, which was jammed with people, the ovation was immense.

The headquarters band played The Star Spangled Banner, and a guard of honor from the Canadian officers' training corps presented arms. Cheering crowds lined the streets all along the route to Government House, whither the party proceeded in motors, accompanied by an escort from the Royal Flying Corps on motor cycles.

Comes To Learn.

At Hamilton, where the distinguished visitor stopped off and spoke to thousands at the Lyric Theatre, Colonel Roosevelt declared he had come, not to educate Canada, but to learn from her. Canada had taught a lesson of vital importance to democracy, and he had a profound respect for what the Canadians had done in this war.

The Colonel gave conscientious objectors a thorough scorching and said they ought to be put on mine sweepers where they couldn't kill anyone but were in grave danger of going skyward themselves.

BOYS ON FARMS TO BE EXEMPTED MINISTER SAYS

General Mewburn Makes an Important Announcement at Dundas.

DISCHARED IF NOT EXEMPTED

Men Are Wanted on the Land Just As Much As in the Trenches.

Dundas, Nov. 26.—"Farmers' sons who are honestly engaged in the production of food will be exempt from military service, and if I continue to be Minister of Militia I will give you my word that if any farmers' sons who are honestly engaged in farm work and in the production of foodstuffs—if they are not exempted by the tribunals and are called up for military service—I will have them honorably discharged from the Canadian Expeditionary Force provided they go back to the farm, because it is very important that we should increase our production of foodstuffs."

General Mewburn, Minister of Militia in the new Union Government, made this important and reassuring statement in the course of his address to the big crowd of Union Government supporters which thronged the Music Hall, Dundas, on Saturday.

It was one of the most inspiring gatherings under the auspices of the Union Government ever held. Upon the platform with Sir Robert Borden, the Prime Minister, were the Minister of Militia, Major-General S. C. Mewburn; Mr. Gordon Wilson, M.P. for Wentworth in the last Parliament and Unionist candidate for the same constituency in this election; several returned, disabled soldiers, a number of Girl Guides and a score of prominent Liberals and Conservatives.

FAMOUS LEADER DIES IN LONDON

SIR LEANDER JAMESON, HERO OF RAID WHICH BEARS HIS NAME.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

London, Nov. 26.—Sir Leander Starr Jameson, aged 64, died today in London. He was the leader of the Jameson Raid on the Transvaal in 1895. He fought at the battle of Krugersdorp and surrendered to the Boers. He and his officers were taken to Pretoria and sentenced to be shot, but subsequently were turned over to the British and sentenced to fifteen months in prison. After his release from prison he returned to South Africa and was premier of Cape Colony from 1905 to 1908. He was knighted in 1911.

WOULD REPEAL CONSCRIPTION.

Promise of Col. Blondin's Liberal Opponent.

Montreal, Nov. 26.—P. R. Du Tremblay, Liberal candidate in Laurier-Outremont in opposition to Colonel the Hon. P. E. Blondin, at a meeting in the old St. Louis Town Hall, promised, if elected, to do all in his power to put the conscription question before the people, and he would also help to put the conscription law off the statutes, he said.

MR. HALL REPLIES TO QUESTIONS PROPOSED TO HIM BY THE REVIEW

Would Support Sir Wilfrid Laurier for Premier as Against Sir Robert Borden—Does not Insist on Referendum—Dan O'Connell Speaks for Soldiers.

At his meeting in Victoria Hall Saturday night, which was presided over by Mr. J. J. Hartley, President of the Liberal Association, Mr. R. R. Hall in the course of his address repeated his arguments in favor of greater production of food. He also answered the questions that have been asked him in The Review for several days past, but which were really first brought to his attention when he returned to the city from his tour of the townships last Saturday.

"The Review Newspaper asked me," said Mr. Hall, "the question, would I, if elected to Parliament, vote for the immediate enforcement of the Military Service Act or would I favor Sir Wilfrid Laurier's policy and demand a referendum?"

Mr. Hall answered, that "the Military Service Act is now the law of the land and must be obeyed but that the act requires revision. It would be a disgrace to Canada to comply with this act in its present form and take only 5,000 men from the Province of Quebec and the remaining 95,000 from English speaking Canada when as a matter of fact Quebec should send 70,000 men to the front before Ontario could justly be called upon to contribute a single man.

"I see no necessity," said Mr. Hall, "for a referendum. Canada is in this war and must supply our allies with men and food.

Favors Laurier For Premier

The Review further asked "How would he vote as between the two leaders, to make Sir Wilfrid Laurier premier of the Dominion or keep Sir Robert Borden at the head of affairs?

"I would vote against Sir Robert Borden as leader and Premier," said Mr. Hall, "because I know from his past record he will simply blunder on from one folly to another.

"But I pledge myself to support any effective war measure that may be brought forward by Sir Robert Borden or Sir Wilfrid Laurier or any other member of Parliament which will effectively prosecute the war. We must give immediate and constant support to our Canadian army. We must support them with men. We must feed them.

"I will support Sir Wilfrid Laurier if he acts upon the advice of the British Government in supplying Great Britain with whatever she most immediately requires and which will be within the resources of the Canadian people to furnish.

MR. DAN O'CONNELL

Mr. Daniel O'Connell made one of his eloquent speeches. He pointed out that the soldiers overseas and the returned soldiers were receiving at the hands of Sir Robert Borden shabby treatment. It was most unfair, declared Mr. O'Connell, that our soldiers should be paid only $1.10 a day to fight for the existence of Canadian Freedom while if they remained at home they would receive from $3.75 to $11 a day in wages. Why should not the soldier be paid as much as the men who remained at home? In the battlefield he risks his life and limbs, endures every hardship and faces every danger. The Canadian Government should increase his pay and should contribute to the support of his family on a just basis instead of humiliating the soldier's wife and family by placing them in the position to accept charity at the hands of public subscribers.

The average cost of living has increased over 67 per cent. and still the Government has kept the soldiers pay and the allowance to his family at the same old rate that it was when the war began. The soldiers have not the ear of Sir Robert Borden or else he would listen to their requests for increased pay, but men like Sir Joseph Flavelle who is allowed to make a profit of a million dollars a year out of the food that keeps the soldiers family alive, is covered with honors and kept as chairman of the Imperial Munitions Board.

PTE. HAROLD LE BARR NOW REPORTED DEAD OF WOUNDS

Bright Young Member of Old 93rd Succumbe to Injuries—Pte. Mulligan Dead—Nephew of R. R. Hall Gassed.

PTE. HAROLD LEBARR.

Mrs. Lewis LeBarr, 160 Charlotte street, received the following despatch this morning from the Record Office at Ottawa:

Deeply regret to inform you cable received today states 195,135, Pte. Harold LeBarr, Mounted Rifles, previously reported dangerously wounded, now officially reported died of wounds in Sixth British Red Cross Hospital, Nov. 19, 1917."

The late Pte. LeBarr, was a graduate of the Collegiate Institute and was a bright and handsome and promising youth when he enlisted in the 93rd Battalion being at that time not yet eighteen years old. Previous to enlistment he owned the news stand which his mother now runs. When the 93rd went overseas he was transferred to the mounted rifles and went through some of the hottest engagements of the war, including the battle of Vimy Ridge, escaping without a scratch until a few weeks ago when he was reported wounded in the leg. Recently word came that he was seriously ill in a Red Cross Hospital in France.

Harold's father, Lewis LeBarr enlisted in the 93rd Battalion as a tailor. When the unit was broken up in England, the father, who was past military age, was transferred to a construction corps and is now engaged in building railways at the front.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1917

THE CASE OF ALLAN B. MANN.

ALLAN B. MANN of Bridgenorth applied for exemption to one of the tribunals here, and his request was granted after due consideration. Mr. Mann's case can be regarded as a typical illustration of just how the Military Service Act was designed to operate.

In the first place, Mr. Mann is easily one of the most prominent and progressive young farmers not only in Peterborough County, but in Eastern Ontario, and is known all over the province as a successful stockbreeder. He was for years secretary of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute and holds the same position in the successor to that organization, the Board of Agriculture.

Mr Mann is living on a two-hundred-acre farm, "The Hawthornes," near Bridgenorth, a farm which has been in possession of his family ever since title to it was granted by the Crown to one of his ancestors in 1820. He is at present he only son on the farm, and his father is just one year short of the allotted span of human existence.

The younger man is not a slacker. Twice since the war broke out he has offered to enlist, and twice he was advised against the step as it would entail the practical abandonment of the cultivation of the farm. He has now finally and officially been relieved of all responsibility to perform military service. His intimate friends and acquaintances knew he was no shirker, but that knowledge was not general. It is now that the Exemption Tribunal has passed upon his case. No ne should be better pleased that there is such a law as the Draft Act in existence than Mr. Mann and others in his class.

Even if the tribunal had refused to exempt Mr. Mann, as they appear to have done in almost parallel cases, that would not necessarily mean that he would be taken for military duty. The cases of the non-exempted men are yet to be passed on. No one knows yet just how the final selection is to be made.

Premier Borden has made it clear, however, that the law is to be impartially administered. Men who have been denied exemption may yet have their requests granted Others excused by the tribunals are not safe until their cases have been heard on appeal.

The parents who have one or more sons in the trenches, in the hospitals or in the military cemeteries are naturally averse to having other of their sons conscripted while whole families escape any sacrifice at all. Such parents should, above all others, hail the Military Act Act as a blessing. Regardless of what the tribunals may or may not do, it has been clearly and authoritatively stated that in the first draft those families who have already responded o the call will be passed over and those that have so far failed will be compelled to take up their share of the burden. Is not that a perfectly fair arrangement?

Under the voluntary system a young man like Allan B. Mann might have been taken, and the production campaign of the country would suffer as a result, while some other of little use to himself or the community would be left at home. When the Act is fully understood, when it is put into final operation, many imaginary objections to it will disappear.

SERVING GOD AND MAMMON.

NO MAN CAN SERVE God and Mammon. That is as true today as it was when the expression was born of Divine wisdom twenty centuries ago.

Mr. Hall cannot withhold his allegiance from Sir Wilfrid Laurier unless he offers it to the Union Government. That he clearly and emphatically refuses to do. Because he, for a purpose, escapes the trademark of the Liberal leader, does not remove him from the category with which at the start he identified himself.

THE LOGIC OF BABES.

SURELY THE ISSUES of this campaign are sufficiently grave to warrant the use of rational language in discussing them. A local contemporay that seems lost in the wilderness of indecision prattles in the language of the nursery when it gives as an outstanding reason why the electors should vote against Capt. Burnham that the Metal Products Company with its large working staff has been removed to Montreal. What influence could Capt. Burnham, or the Federal Government for that matter, bring to bear to prevent the company from changing their location? What new form of conscription has The Examiner in mind?

Two years ago the Metal Products Company, as an inducement to establish a branch here, were granted a tax exemption for three years. They go to Montreal now because labor conditions are more favorable there than here. These conditions The Examiner and newspapers of its calibre are at present doing their best to perpetuate.

That paper, the City Council and the Board of Trade did nothing to induce the company to remain here, probaly realising the hopelessness of the task.

In heaven's name, is the war issue to be sidetracked, are the soldiers in the trenches to be abandoned, because the Metal Products Company elect to remove to a province where the people's indifference to the war and its responsibilities have made the labor question less of a problem than in Peterborough? If Montreal had sent the same percentage of men to the front as Peterborough has, all would have been different.

IT CANNOT BE DONE.

MR. HALL IS attempting in this campaign to ride two horses. This feat is not impossible with a skilled equestrian, provided the horses are headed in the same direction and keep reasonably close together.

However, when the horses are headed for opposite points of the compass, the rider who endeavors to maintain relations with both is certain to bite the sawdust.

MR. HALL'S FOOD PROPAGANDA.

MR. HALL APPEARS to assume that General Currie and the Canadian soldiers do not really know what they want when they ask for reinforcements. He continues to preach throughout the riding that more food is what is needed.

"Keep up the fight," he says in effect to General Currie and his men. "Eat more. We will send over wheat at $2.21 a bushel, bacon and beef at the ruling price. Fire more munitions at the Germans; we will keep you supplied."

Suppose a family in Peterborough were isolated by reason of a contagious disease. Would the grocer who sent in supplies at the regular market price be justified in claiming that he was making any sacrifice in behalf of suffering humanity?

Mr. Hall's propaganda does not lack desirable features." At least it grates on the conscious of no one and calls for no effort except such as will meet with a golden reward.

FINDING THE LIFE THAT WAS LOST.

NOT ALWAYS WAS IT the most promising member of the family who enlisted in the early months of the war. Sometimes it was the black sheep in the flock who first offered his services. Men enlisted in Peterborough who were regarded as human derelicts and failures. The police court knew them frequently by raeson of their transgressions.

But the life that was apparently lost in those days has been found and redeemed on the battlefield. Week after week the cable tells us that one or other of these vlounteers has given his life for those who made mock of him when he was among them. The great debt to humanity ahs been paid. The record is as clear as mortal deed can make it. Who that has stayed in safety at home can assume to hold up his head when the names of these are spoken? The soil of Flanders covers their war-shattered remains. Then let a mantle of charity be spread over the memory of their early waywardness. War may not make great men, but it often discovers them in the most unlikely subjects.

The young man who has shirked his responsibilities without reasonable excuse knows what he may expect when the war is over. It is hurled at him from every side, from the picture on the screen and by the actor in the military play in the theatre. The man who loses his life may find it, and he who saves his may yet realize that he has lost it beyond al hope of redemption. Great opportunity comes only once in any earthly career.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

Formidable Fighters.

(Toronto Star.)

George Pattullo in the Saturday Evening Post explicitly declares that while there are British regiments unsurpassed by any troops in the world, yet "the Canadian army as a whole is the most formidable fighting force on any front. This, he says, is not merely his own opinion, but that of military experts.

A Mystery Explained.

(Christian Herald.)

Andrew Carnegie tells of an old Scotch woman who had no great liking for modern church music. One day she was expressing her dislike of the singing of an anthem in her own church, when a friend said: "Why, that anthem is a very ancient one. David sang it to Saul." "Weel, weel!" said the old woman, "I noo for the first time understan' why Saul threw his javelin at David when the lad sang for him."

More Profitable.

(Guelph Herald.)

Young men should help with the Victory Loan. They will find it a much more profitable investment than playing pool or poker.

AN OPEN LETTER TO SIR WILFRID

My Dear Sir Wilfrid:

Have you duly considered the nature of the elements of the people to whom you must look for support in this election? If it were not for those who are influenced by selfish rather than patriotic considerations, there could be no chance of success for you. It may be true that you are not appealing by name to the slackers and the cowardly and the selfish and the pro-Germans and the Nationalists, but it is on their votes that you will largely have to depend. No amount of verbal camouflage can hide the fact that the blind ones who think that Canada ought not to have done anything, the timid ones who think that Canada has done enough, and the sordid ones who think that Canada should devote all her energies from now on to making money, constitute the backbone of your following. How can you reconcile this with your pride, you who in the past have rightly held your head so high?

You have said that your life has been devoted to the creation of a national unity in Canada. Can you not see that your present course is undoing all that you have accomplished? It is the noble-minded, not the base, who must be the leaders of the land if this country is to progress in things more vital than mere material prosperity. Your proposed course, if returned to power, inevitably means that Canada shall lag in the war, and her ultimate performance be unworthy of the splendid record of effectiveness which our sons have hitherto inscribed with their life-blood upon the pages of history. Your proposed course, if you are returned to power, will depend for its attainment upon the support of a solid, united French-speaking Quebec, with scattered members from the rest of Canada representative of the unworthy elements to which I have already alluded. If the finer spirits, those who ultimately must become our leaders, find that their conception of national honor and national duty is being degraded by the action of a Quebec politically coagulated into a parliamentary bloc, will Quebec ever be forgiven? If the race-consciousness of the French-Canadian's succeeds in becoming dominant over the race-consciousness of English-speaking Canada, temporarily, perhaps, but for a long enough time to accomplish the degeneration of our ideals of national obligation, will the French-Canadians ever be forgiven? Quebec will have to live with the other provinces for long generations after this war is ended; for the sake of Quebec and of the French-Canadians who inhabit it, and of the church of which they are such devoted children, there must be no such isolation as would result from the success of your campaign. I have the deepest sympathy for the Province of Quebec, I like its people, and admire their simplicity and earnestness; I am in no wise prejudiced by the creed to which any person adheres, and for these reasons I say to you, Sir Wilfrid, that you are a false friend to your native province, to your blood and to your church, in seeking to return to power on the issues you have raised. The isolation of your province and your people can only be prevented by a mutual respect based upon a common service in this time of need We who know them have no fear of the valor of French-Canadian units; even if raised by conscription, your compatriots will emulate the deeds of the glorious Twenty-second Battalion at Courcelette. But I say to you that it is only by such service that Quebec can assume her proper place as an equal partner in our country. Can you not see that your present action is directed towards destroying this partnership, towards making impossible that national unity to which you have devoted your life?

A LIBERAL.

TODAY'S STORY

"It's surprising how little the average man knows about the car he drives," observed the boss mechanic. "If a guy drives a horse for several years he'll gradually learn that its tail is at one end and its head at the other, and may pick up a few helpful facts concerning the animal's insides.

"But the country is full of men who go careering over the landscape in motor cars and if the least thing goes wrong they are as helpless as a hen in a horse pond.

"One of the best customers of this shop is Balk, the insurance man. He drives a car everywhere and about three times a week he brings it in for repairs. I don't believe he ever lifted the hood to see what makes the works go. If anything gets wrong he simply stops his boat, goes to the nearest telephone and sends in a riot call and we go out with the trouble car. The other day we found him eight or nine miles in the country patiently waiting to be rescued. He said his car would go, but it seemed to have spasmodic colic and bucked like a wild west broncho.

"I lifted up the hood and found that one of the wires had become disconnected from a spark plug. It took me about ten seconds to fix it. You'd think that any man who had run a car for three days would be able to diagnose such a trouble as that."

"Whenever a patron of an auto repair shop gets his bill," mournfully remarked the proprietor, "he rears up as high as a giraffe and puts up an awful howl.

"About an hour ago Mr. Grizly, the bank cashier, was charging around here reading the unexpurgated edition of the riot act. He has a back number car that ought to have been scrapped two or three years ago These old back number tumbrils aren't worth tinkering with and the man who can afford a modern car is a malefactor for running one of them.

"Grizly brought in his car and said there must be something wrong with the oil pump, as the indicator on the dash didn't work. When he came around for his car he asked me what the trouble was, and I told him some old hair and wool had got into the pump and clogged it up. I didn't consider it necessary to relate all the harrowing details. Something should be left to the imagination.

"He came in to pay his bill this morning, and when I handed it to him he threw his hat on the floor and danced on it, and called for sackcloth and ashes. 'This bill is simply outrageous!' he cried; 'you said yourself that all you did was to take some old hair and wool out of the oil pump!'

"But in order to get at that blamed antiquated oil pump the whole car had to be taken down. An intellectual workman sweated away for fourteen hours on that little job. When he finally arrived where he could get action on the pump there wasn't much to do, but then the car had to be put together again. I explained all this to Grizly, and he paid his bill, but he'll always think I'm worse than a robber baron of the Rhine."

A Queer Misprint.

Turning over the pages the other day of Allan Fea's last published book, "Quiet Roads and Sleepy Villages," I came across an amusing story of a notice he saw posted on a church door in a remote country hamlet.

The notice read that a collection would be taken up in the church on the following Sunday "in aid of the Arch Fiend."

Inquiry revealed that the astounding announcement was due to a printer's error. It should have read "in aid of the Arch Fund."

But the extraordinary part of it is that nobody appears to have noticed the misprint.

HUNS TO ATTACK COAST CITIES

ADMIRAL PEARY ISSUES A NOTE OF WARNING TO THE UNITED STATES.

New York, Nov. 26.—German attacks in the near future on American coast cities were predicted by Rear Amiral Robt. E. Peary in an address here before a large gathering of newly enfranchised women on the topic of aerial defence.

"I speak of no secret," he said, "and I am giving no information that has not already been known or discussed when I say that a blow will be struck on some one or more of our Atlantic coast cities by Germany within a probably near future, and when it comes it will come with the same startling effect as when the U-53 put into Newport—out of a blue sky."

Discussing the development of the carrying capacity of airplanes, Admiral Peary said:

"Perhaps before this war is over but certainly in the next war, if we have another, the seaplanes will carry as heavy artillery as the famous French 75 millimetre guns, and when that time comes the airplanes will be invulnerable. It will be able to soar over any field, water or mountainous country, carry enormous numbers of troops far behind the enemy lines and do the work of cavalry, if not of artillery."

HOW GERMANS USE DOGS IN MILITARY SERVICE

Can Reach Lines in Spite of Shot and Shell—Owners Called on to Part with Canine Pets.

An urgent appeal by the German army asking owners of dogs to turn them over to the military authorities has just been published throughout Germany. Dogs that can be trained to perform military duties are required, and in the following article, translated for The Daily News from Uber Land und Meer, a German writer describes, for his German readers, the uses to which they are put.

(By Maj. Von Schreibershofen.)

Let us picture to ourselves the following situation at the front: Through the terrible bombardment of the enemy every communication with the men in the first line trenches has been cut off. Telegraph and telephone lines are destroyed and cannot be replaced because of the heavy shelling. Messengers even in the night cannot pass the fire zone. To leave the protection of shell holes and dugouts means death. Communication by ground lines or by signal rockets is impossible. And yet it is highly important that what has been observed of the disposition of hostile troops and batteries be communicated to our artillery, to our commanding officers and to the reserves. Only by getting this news through can the attack be repulsed. It is also highly important that the troops get news, food and ammunition.

Dogs Do the Work.

How is this brought about Through the use of the dog, the true friend of mankind. In spite of heavy shelling the dog reaches his destination, brings information to the rear in the ribbon tied to his neck and takes commands back to the front He clears pits and obstacles at a bound; he swims over large bodies of water and is not frightened by mine or grenade explosions. He turns aside for the moment, but immediately finds his old path again. With infallible intuition he picks his path and reaches his destination.

Dogs as Munition Carriers.

This was the first use made of the dog, but more tasks have been given him and today he is absolutely indispensable to the troops and no command can do without him. He carries cartridges in packages tied to his back and reaches the front lines. He carries food in containers to the troops under fire. Recently baskets containing carrier pigeons have been tied to his back, thus making the sending of information doubly easy, for in the front line information is tied to one of the tail feathers of the pigeon, which flies back to headquarters.

Dogs also carry telephone wire. It is impossible for men to penetrate a heavy artillery fire and lay a telephone wire. Therefore the drum with the cable is brought to a place nearest the lines and one end of the wire is attached to the dog, who is then sent forward. This is no easy task. Not alone must the dog drag the heavy wire, but he must also overcome friction with the earth, which retards his speed. Two kilometers (1.2 miles) is about the extent of the distance across which a dog can pull a cable of this kind.

Dogs Used on the March.

Not alone in the war of position, but also in the war of movement is the dog useful. During the march he helps as a means of communication between different elements, between the advance guard and the pickets or patrols. He is able to take communications from the farthest advanced posts to the rear. In all cases he has been found to be the most reliable and infallible method of communication.

Mention of the dog as a servitor of the sanitary corps must not be omitted. Before the war the Belgian army already had trained dogs to draw machine guns. In some instances batteries are drawn entirley by dogs. In narrow mountain passes the dog as a means of taking munitions and medicaments is a particularly important factor.

Germans Asked to Give Up Dogs.

On account of the great use that has been found for dogs the demand has risen enormously. The needs of the troops are not yet fully taken care of. In the rear of the troops schools for the training of dogs have been organized. To secure dogs has been a problem. Therefore, owners who have dogs which can be used by the army are asked to turn them over to the chief command. Headquarters for registering dogs have been opened in Greiss, Berlin, Dortmund, Essen, Rastatt, Stralsund and Wiesbaden.

THE NEED FOR CONSCRIPTION

There could be no greater incentive to voluntary enlistment than the certainty of the enforcement of conscription. The compulsory service law is in effect, and those liable for service are registering. When 150,000 had registered less than 10,000 of these waived the right to apply for exemption. It is not fair to conclude that at least there would not be more than 10,000 volunteers out of 150,000 eligibles for service Would it not be an even more logical conclusion that only a percentage of the 10,000 would enlist voluntarily as they had to be faced with compulsory service before making a decision?

Admitting that those who waive the right to apply for exemption would volunteer, would such numbers provide adequate reinforcements? There are approximately 400,000 eligbiles for service under the Military Service Act in Canada. Of these, not more than 20,000 will waive the right to apply for exemption.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier would suspend the Military Service Act in order to give voluntary enlistment another trial, and, failing to secure the requisite number of volunteers would submit a referendum on compulsory service to the electors. Under his plan at least eight months would elapse before compulsory service would be enforced, if at all. By that time Canada's army would have ceased to be a factor. In Sir Wilfrid's own city of Quebec on one day 1,990 men registered under the Military Service Act, and 1,980 claimed exemption not a single man willing to enter the service. Does he hope to maintain an army at the front by voluntary enlistment under such conditions?

The volunteers have practically all enlisted. Another appeal would be useless. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's policy means Canada's withdrawal from the war and desertion of her sons overseas and her allies in the fight for liberty.

A Misleading Comparison.

To point to Australia for a reason why compulsory service should not be adopted in Canada is misleading and unfair. Australia has five million people, but 97½ per cent. of these are Anglo-Saxons, while of Canada's eight millions, only 57 per cent. are Anglo-Saxons. Australia has more Anglo-Saxons than Canada.

Australia has made a wonderful record in voluntary enlistment, but even in this almost solid Anglo-Saxon community compulsory service is necessary. A referendum on conscription was defeated by a comparatively small majority last winter, but it will be again submitted. All efforts to stimulate voluntary recruiting in Australia have failed. Some time ago an appeal was made for five thousand infantry recruits to permit of the remnant of the first Anzac division having a furlough. Even with such an appeal the men were not forthcoming, and now Australia must adopt compulsory service or its divisions at the front by consolidated and finally absorbed into the British army and lose their individuality. It is evident, therefore, if compulsory service is necessary in Anglo-Saxon Australia, how much more must it be in Canada with its cosmopolitan population?

ENLIST OR GO HOME

U. S. Ambulance Drivers in France Given Chance

Paris, Nov. 26.—The Paris Herald reports that more than 200 young Americans wearing the uniforms of ambulance drivers were rounded up recently by the American military authorities. The numbers of their passports were taken and they were told to call at headquarters, where all but five appeared.

There they were informed again that they must enlist in some branch of the active service overseas or they would be sent back to America, where they would be dealt with as the circumstances warrant.

As for the five who did not appear at headquarters, the Herald says, it is reported that when they are found harsh measures against them will be taken.

The American provost marshal here, explaining the roundup of ambulance men, said that about 300 *young men whose enlistment as ambulance drivers in the French army had expired had refused to enlist in the American army and were loitering about Paris. They have been informed that within a fortnight they must enlist or return to America. The French authorities will be asked to cancel their residence permits and the American army authorities will take up their passports unless they enlist or return voluntarily to the United States.

ELECTION WARMING UP.

Everything Points to Old-time Campaign in North York.

Mrs. Hyslop, field secretary of the W. C. T. U., of Toronto, addressed a large gathering of the women of Newmarket yesterday afternoon under the caption "Union Government Win the War," in J. A. M. Armstrong's committee room. The speaker dealt trenchantly with the emperative need of unity at the present time, the need for soldiers to fill the ranks of those overseas, and expressed the hope that the Union candidate in North York would receive the endorsation of the electorate.

Feeling run high around Stouffville through the alleged effort of Inspector Hoag of the Department of Education to carry politics into the schoolrooms.

TO THE ELECTORS OF EAST PETERBORO

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

I believe no greater disaster could at the present time befall our country than the defeat of the Borden Union Administration at the polls on December 17th.

The policy of this Administration is the speedy and continuous reinforcements of our Canadian troops on the battlefront; and the putting forth of all our national strength for the cause of civilization and freedom.

To carry out this policy, a number of Canada's ablest public men of vision—sinking for the present all political differences—now stand together—strong to battle for the right—united to WIN THE WAR.

For over three years thousands of loyal Canadians of many creeds and of different nationalities have stood shoulder to shoulder on the battle-fields of Europe, gallantly fighting our common foe, and sometimes, sometimes falling, have won for the name of Canada undying fame. Shall we, with all possible speed, send help to these, our heroic defenders, now holding the battle-line, or shall we, breaking faith with them as well as "with those who die"—delay vote while the enemy advances?

A Vote For Sexsmith
Means a Vote For
Our
Gallant Soldiers

As the Union Candidate in this Riding, I am putting forth every effort to win East Peterborough to the support of the Borden Union Administration, and, if elected, shall to the utmost of my ability support the same.

To this end I now earnestly solicit the co-operation and influence of every loyal and patriotic man and woman in East Peterborough.

I have the honor to be, faithfully yours,

JOHN A. SEXSMITH.

NEW ROUTE TO WESTERN CANADA PROVING POPULAR

Runs Through Famous Belt of New Ontario and the Cobalt Mining District.

On your next trip to Western Canada why not travel over a new route, see the wonderful land opened up in Northern Ontario by the Transcontinental Railway and gain a glimpse of Temagami, and the Cobalt silver mining region?

You may use the famous trains on your journey without any added expense for railway fare as compared with any other route. The International Limited will carry you to Toronto, where "The National" starts on its westbound flight. "The National" uses the rails of the Grand Trunk to North Bay, the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario (Provincial Government Line) to Cochrane, and the Canadian Government Railways to Winnipeg, where it links up with the Grand Trunk Pacific for all important points in Western Canada.

A pleasant daylight run to Toronto, an evening in the Queen City, and "The National" is ready to carry you westward. The departure of "The National" from Toronto is at 9.00 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. North Bay is reached next morning and there opens up for your admiration all the lakeland beauties of the territory served by the T. & N. O. line. These are followed by a wonderfully interesting trip through the sparsely populated territory of New Ontario, giving the traveller an opportunity of inspecting this fertile region, including the famed clay belt where tens of thousands of settlers will make their homes in the future. The area of New Ontario is 330,000 square miles, fully four times the size of Old Ontario, and in addition to great expanses of good farming land, it has wonderful resources in timber, minerals, water power, fish and game.

The three railways have combined to make the passenger service over this new road the equal of that offered anywhere on the continent. The smooth, straight and level roadbed embodies all that has been learned in three quarters of a century of railroad building. The dining car service is unexcelled, and the greatest travel comfort is assured. Full particulars from any Grand Trunk Ticket Agent, or C. E. Horning, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

During the current year 21 new centres of treatment and vocational training were erected and equipped by the military hospitals commission. Forty-five other buildings were erected and equipped for the same purpose.

Inheritance Tax Argument

Inheritance taxes are very heavy. Unlike Fire hazard, they are not merely possible, they are absolutely certain.

They deplete your estate at once, and to your heirs represent a specific and definite loss of money.

In New York a $250,000 estate would pay a combined federal and state tax of about $12,000. If left to a friend or distant relative, about $22,000. The John Jacob Astor estate paid $3,150,000. J. P. Morgan has insured his life for $2,500,000 to cover a similar loss

Thus the estate is provided promptly with the ready cash to pay this tax and other expenses without the need of hurriedly disposing of securities or other assets, perhaps at a loss, to meet such needs. The logic of the situation urges immediate action. Premium rates, however, low, advance with age, and so does the possibility of entering the physically impaired group and losing the opportunity to secure this protection.

Knowing that this loss is actually coming, it is simply a matter of ordinary business prudence to guard against it. The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada offer you a plan to do so at very low cost.

MOTLEY CREW IS TRADE MARKED

SIR WILFRID EVEN ENDORSES THE NOTORIOUS LUCIEN CANNON.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—Chief political interest in the capital centres in the officially endorsed candidates of Laurier.

The anti-Unionist leader pays patriotism the homage of avoiding open endorsation of Armand Lavergne, who declares himself a Laurier supporter, but he more than makes up for this studied failure to notice Lavergne by placing the seal of his approval upon Lucien Cannon, the man who asked the notorious question in Dorchester: "Are we going to ruin ourselves for England?" and also gives his sanction and blessing to J. C. Ethier, of Two Mountains, who only last week declared that "Canada had done enough in the war."

A Motley Crew.

Laurier has endorsed a motley crew in the one hundred and sixty-nine men who claim to be straight Laurierites, six who profess to be Liberal supporters of Union, eight who have announced themselves as independents, eight who are running as Laborites and one who is fighting under the red flag of Socialism.

In nine constituencies Laurier endorsed nobody; in ten constituencies he withholds decision; while in twenty-two constituencies acclamations make endorsations unnecessary. He approves opposition to every Liberal in the Government except Hon. S. C. Mewburn, who is opposed by a Laborite.

CONSCRIPT ALIEN LABOR.

Western Newspapers Urge the Government to Take it Up.

Winnipeg, Nov. 26. — Western papers are almost a unit in demanding that alien labor be conscripted in Canada, especially in the western provinces, where there are so many instances of aliens refusing to perform necessary labor at anything but extortionate pay. The three local papers had editorials suggesting that the Government look into this.

Spreading the Net To Catch Slackers

WILL DEPORT TO THE UNITED STATES MEN OF MILITARY CLASS CALLED OUT.

Both Canada and the United ates have agreed to recognize a proclamation issued by either government calling for military service under its own colors any class of subjects residing in the other country. Men who do not respond will be deported, and the country in which such men are residing will help in the apprehending and deportation of the same.

Even a cursory review of the situation in Peterborough leads to the conclusion that an American military service net cast within the city's limits would result in quite an appreciable catch. Both countries being at war with the same enemies in the same cause it is not consistent hat either country should maintain a refuge for the other's slackers.

Travel between Eastern and Western Canada is always heavy in the winter months, particularly during December with its holiday season. To meet the requirements of the public, therefore, a special daily service between Toronto and Winnipeg is announced by the Canadian Northern Railway; Westbound, December 3rd to January 2nd, 1918, only; Eastbound, December 1st to January 5th, 1918, only. Thereafter, regular tri-weekly service will be resumed. A through tourist sleeping car will be operated between Toronto and Calgary as part of the above special service, and connection will be made with regular daily trains between Winnipeg and Edmonton. Service between Toronto and Vancouver remains tri-weekly, leaving Toronto Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, at present.

Comforts for Men Overseas Asked For

WELFARE OF TROOPS DEPENDS GREATLY ON CHEER FROM CANADA.

The present cold snap should bring forcefully to mind the need of Canadian soldiers overseas, whether in England or elsewhere. Those who have kin under arms need no reminder; but there are many in Peterborough with no connections in khaki; and who can well afford to send comforts through the several city organizations which make it their business to transmit same.

In this connection a cable from England says the Ministry of Overseas Forces states that in this time of the year the supply of comforts for Canadians has much to do with the well-being of the troops. There is no institution for this which has the official status of a Government organization. There are, however, two voluntary organizations, the Canadian War Contingent Association and the Canadian Field Comfort Commission. The Government by these, and while they are purely voluntary, yet the Government co-operates with and helps them in all ways possible. It is, therefore, hoped that they may receive a large measure of assistance from the Canadian public.

POPE TO MAKE NEW OFFER.

Forthcoming Peace Note Will Enter More Fully the Conditions.

London, Nov. 26.—The Cologne Zeitung states that the Pope will shortly send a new peace note to all the belligerents, says a Rotterdam despatch to the Daily News.

This note will enter more fully than the former one into suggestions and conditions which, as far as France is concerned, will be influenced by information which the Pope received from the French cardinals who recently visited Rome.

Otonabee River Frozen to C. P. R.

It is many years since such a cold snap as that of Saturday and yesterday was experienced in November. The Otonabee river is frozen to quite a respectable depth as far up even as the C.P.R. bridge, and one has to look backward considerable to find precedent winter conditions on Nov. 25.

CAPT. BURNHAM'S ADDRESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

Election-day is December 17th. Its nearness admits of no further delay on the part of candidates in formally addressing you. It was hoped that political parties in West Peterborough might unite, as the members of the Borden Union Administration have done, in its support. But since the Liberal Convention has met and chosen its standard-bearer, who has not declared himself to be a supporter of the Borden Union Administration, it becomes necessary for me, without more, to solicit your suffrages. At the convention of the Conservatives of West Peterborough, duly assembled, I was chosen as their candidate to support Sir Robert Borden and his Administration. The Prime Minister has formed a Union Administration, composed of Conservative, Liberal and Labour representatives, to the end that he may the more fully and safely carry in a spirit of national unity and co-operation Canada's share in the war to a successful conclusion.

I pledge myself, therefore, with that same spirit of unity and co-operation, to support the Borden Union Administration and its policies, and I earnestly and respectfully solicit your votes and support accordingly. This is no ordinary political campaign, and it is hoped that all well-wishers of the Borden Union Administration will make every effort to secure the return of its supporters.

I have the honour to remain,

Yours truly.
J. H. BURNHAM.

PREMIER BORDEN REFUSED A HEARING AT KITCHENER

Organized Opposition to Union Government Broke up Gathering Saturday Night—Indignation Meeting Held Yesterday.

Kitchener, Nov. 26.—Pandemonium let loose, not inaptly describes the scene in the big auditorium here Saturday evening, when the premier of Canada, Sir Robert Borden, who came here to support the candidature of W. G. Weichel for re-election to the house of commons as a Unionist, was howled down and prevented from obtaining a hearing.

The attempt was an organized one. Half an hour before the time of the meeting a big procession of young men paraded the streets bearing banners inscribed "We Want Laurier and Justice" and "Vote for Euler, the People's Friend." They were set upon by a number of returned soldiers, who succeeded in capturing the Laurier banner, but the processionists managed to secrete the other one bearing the name of Euler, the Laurier candidate, and took it with them to the meeting, where they hung it over the railing of the top gallery facing the platform.

The audience was an immense one, probably numbering 8000 people. The disturbing element was for the most part confined to the two galleries, and might fairly be put down as forming 30 per cent. of those present.

At one time it seemed as though a riot would be precipitated. This was immediately after the premier had resumed his seat and given up the attempt to speak, when Dan Helsey, who, strangely enough, happens to be the brother-in-law of the Laurierite candidate, sprang upon a bench and called for a hundred volunteers to "clear out the gallery." Several voices called, "Clear the gallery," and for a moment things looked serious, but others of the premier's following dissuaded the more militant ones, and the danger was averted.

Not only was the premier prevented from speaking, but the same treatment was meted out to the chairman, Dr. G. F. Honsberger, and H. M. Mowat, the Unionist candidate in Parkdale. The only man who succeeded in being heard at all was W. G. Weichel, the candidate, and he was interrupted continuously.

Several times Sir Robert was heard to say, "I desire this evening to discuss- " when his voice was lost in a storm of cat-calls and cheers for Euler.

"Whenever you get through, I am ready to begin," he said, but every time the crowds in the galleries kept up their din.

Then the premier was heard by those in the vicinity of the platform to say: "I distinctly see that there is an organized effort to prevent free speech here tonight, and under the circumstances I do not propose to waste my efforts in attempting to address you."

It was then that the call for volunteers to clear the galleries was made.

Indignation Meeting.

Sunday afternoon an indignation meeting was held with regard to the organized interruption and insults to Premier Borden. Mayor Gross was present and stated he was calling the city council together at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon to endorse a resolution addressed to Sir Robert, deploring the outrage. As a number of the aldermen are strong Euler followers there is a prospect of a stormy meeting.

Several of the local ministers in church Sunday morning strongly condemned the attitude adopted by the hooligans, and appealed to their congregations to use their influence in keeping the peace during the campaign.

Rev. Mr. Sykes of Trinity Methodist Church was so emphatic in condemnation of the outrage that Mrs. Euler, wife of W. D. Euler, the Laurier-Liberal candidate, who has sung in the choir for a number of years, arose and left the church.

ALL WOMEN MAY JOIN WOMAN'S AUXILIARY VETERANS' ASSN.

No Need to Have Father, Brother or Husband Overseas to Become a Member—Enroll Next Meeting.

The Provisional Committee of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Great War Veterans' Association met in the Council Chamber Saturday night, and reported on the result of their campaign among merchants to secure a concrete basis upon which work in furnishing the new G.W.V.A. headquarters over the Royal Bank.

President Mrs. Knox presided and Secretary Mrs. E. Bartlett reported prices and qualities of suitable furnishings.

The G.W.V.A. executive were present and also Mayor Duffus, Alderman Dobbin and Mr. G. N. Gordon

A Review of the Case

This Provisional Committee of ladies have entered into their work with commendable enthusiasm, but can now do little more until the whole proposition is endorsed by a public meeting of citizens. And just now, an explanation of the situation might be opportune. When the local branch of the Great War Veterans' Association was first organized, club rooms in the Barrie Building were rented; but the association, quickly outgrowing the accommodation there offered, was subsequently assured of permanent quarters to be subscribed for by the community in general, as has been the experience in other towns and cities. This fall, however, the veterans could no longer await action by citizens, and secured somewhat more commodious quarters in the armories. Shortly after which Mayor Duffus called a public meeting to discuss the situation and take action. The gathering was large and enthusiastic resulting in a committee being named to act with the G.W.V. A's executive in discussing propositions for club rooms, either permanent or temporary.

An agreement not being reached by the parties concerned, prominent citizens and veterans met in the Armories, when the latter abandoned for the present their idea of permanent quarters, and another citizens' committee was named to act with the veterans' executive in enquiring into what premises were available for temporary use. This committee reported to a second public meeting, which endorsed either one of two propositions in sight—the Peterborough Club premises or a flat over the Royal Bank.

The Woman's Auxiliary

Then followed a call to women to organize in affiliation with the G. W. V. A. resulting in a Provisional Committee being named, that committee cheerfully undertaking the task of furnishing new club rooms, while the gentlemen of the committee named at the meeting in the armories, equally as cheerful undertook the question of ways and means of securing the necessary funds. And now, up to Saturday night, the Provisional Woman's Auxiliary Committee have practically decided on what club room furnishings are needed, and cost of same, the gentlemen know how much cash they have to raise, premises in the Royal Bank building have been agreed upon for temporary G.W.V.A. club rooms until after the war, when permanent quarters are promised, and mutual satisfaction prevails.

Another Public Meeting

It is necessary now to call a third public meeting to ratify what has been accomplished and what is proposed by the committees, after which the financial committee of men will get busy, the rooms in the Royal Bank building fitted up, and veterans move in as quickly as possible.

This third public meeting is to be on Wednesday week, when Sergt. Knight Dominion Secretary G.W.V.A. will deliver one of his inspiring and stirring addresses, and some music provided. And according to present intention, this meeting will wind up with the women thoroughly organizing in auxiliary of the association.

All Women Eligible

It was learned Saturday night that an impression has gone abroad that only the kin of soldiers at the front or returned from thence are eligible for membership in the Woman's Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A. This is not so, and the Provisional Committee wish it distinctly understood that all women are invited to sign the membership roll Wednesday night week. Every woman, old and young, rich and poor, with or without kin under arms, must be interested in those brave Canadian boys who have stood and are standing between them and the horrors inflicted by Huns on the outraged womanhood of France, Belgium, Roumania, Serbia, and Poland. Hence the only qualifications for membership in this organization are sex and character. At the coming public meeting, according to present understanding, after the gentlemen have retired, the Provisional Committee of the Woman's Auxiliary will invite membership and then resign, after which a new executive will be appointed by the ladies enrolled as members.

To Pay The Rent

Mayor Duffus thinks the Veterans can safely assume that the City Council will provide for the rent of their club rooms. But Mr. Gordon, as City Solicitor, advised, Saturday night, that Council had no authority under the Municipal Act to make grants for fixed charges for the G. W. V. A. This, however, he says may be overcome by incorporating such action in the city's private bill for ratification by the legislature.

IT'S OVERSEAS

Cannot Spare Him.

Joseph Fred Shaughnessy, Haggart street, weaver with the Brinton Carpet Company, asked exemption. Mr. Turner, manager of the company, supported the claim on the ground that 25 men have gone to the front, and Shaughnessy is too expert a weaver to lose. He operates a special loom which there are but 13 men in Canada and 24 in the States capable of handling. He could not replace this man in five years.

Mr. Aylmer pointed out that as carpet weaving is not of national importance this claim could not be allowed. Mr. Turner was advised he could appeal this decision if he liked.

Exemption Refused.

John James Lindsay, 496 Charlotte street, claimed exemption on the grounds that he is a toolmaker on munitions and has but indifferent health. He works for the Metal Products Co., and is going with them to Montreal. This is another man who did not tell the doctors of his ailments.

The following cases have been disposed of:

"E" Exemptions.

George Dundas, 272 George street.

Robert Nathaniel Harper, R. R. 5.

Fred Maxwell Archer, R. R. No. 2.

Frederick Joseph Overend, 163 Hunter street.

Cyril Edmond Sullivan, 11 Park street.

Roland Gordon, 120 Lock street.

"B" Exemptions.

Clare Joseph Scully, 419 Downie street.

"C" Exemptions.

Chas. Henry Rose, 200 Antrim street.

Claim Allowed.

The claim for exemption by Alland Braden Mann of Smith was allowed, there being but he and his father to work the farm.

Blake Chadwick, brakeman on the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway, died from injuries received in a fall from a car.

Motives.

Recruiting Orator—And what motives are taking these brave young men to the front?

Voice from the Rear. — Locomotives!

He—Have you read "Freckles"?

She (quickly)—Oh, no! That's my new veil.

Sunday School Teacher — Who killed Abel?

Bobby—I don't know, ma'am. I just moved here last week.

"Do you believe in heredity?"

"Of course I do," replied the gentle egotist. "Why, I've got one of the brightest boys you ever saw."

"Can I mail an infernal machine here?" sternly demanded Mr. J. Fuller Gloom of the pale clerk in the post office. "I want to send my nephew's accordion to him."

"What is the word that is not in the bright lexicon of youth?" asked the forgetful man.

"Work," answered the wealthy father of a dance expert.

Mr. Fusser — Are'nt you nearly ready?

Mrs. Fusser — I wish you'd stop asking me that question. Haven't I told you for the last hour that I'd be ready in a minute?

Bank Cashier—You will have to be identified, madam.

Lady — My friend her will identify me.

Cashier—But I don't know her.

Lady—Oh, well, I'll introduce you.

How She Does It.

"Ma never has any trouble keeping her accounts straight as treasurer of the club."

"Does she always balance to a penny?"

"Oh, no, but whenever she's short she makes pa put up the difference."—Detroit Free Press.

Nasty Brute!

"You don't have to talk to me if you don't want to," snapped Mrs. Gabb. "Furthermore, I want you to understand that I am never interested in anything you have to say."

"Not if I am awake when I am saying it," responded Mr. Gabb.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Paternal Consideration.

"Do you want your son to follow in your footsteps?"

"Well, I can't say that I do. At least I hope he will never be compelled to crawl upstairs on his hands and knees when he happens to be a little late in getting home."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Horrid Creature!

"Doctor, is your patient sure you can cure him by your new method?"

"How did you know my patient was not a woman?"

"I heard that you were going to try the silence cure."—Baltimore American.

Soldiers Like Fish.

"The Canadian, Newfoundland, and Labrador fisheries will feed the world in the next few years," said Major Hughes N. Green, Fishmonger-General to the Canadians, at a luncheon in Piccadilly Hotel, London. "The fish ration has become so popular with the Canadian troops, who two mornings weekly have a smoked fish or fresh herring breakfast, and every Friday a fish dinner." Major Green last year interested the Imperial authorities in this ration, and orders for millions of pounds of fresh and frozen fish were placed in Canada by the Board of Trade for use by the armies in England. This fish is being issued to the various camps in England, providing a great success in varying the men's dish. Success in feeding the ration to the armies suggests that corresponding steps be taken in feeding the civil population in England with fish at cheap prices, including fish from the Pacific and Atlantic coasts of Canada.

ONTARIO WOMEN ON FOOD PRICES

PETITION GOVERNMENT TO SEE THAT CHILDREN DO NOT SUFFER.

The following resolutions passed at the concluding session summarize the results of the three days' work of the Women's Institute of Ontario held last week in Toronto.

That the Women's Institutes of Ontario would like to put on record their confidence in Hon. Mr. Hann, and that they will use all their influence to co-operate with him and stand behind him, and further would respectfully request that all appeals and advice to be submitted to the Women's Institutes be passed upon by a committee of the Women's Institutes as to the form in which the appeal is to be made.

This meeting places itself on record as in favor of the institution of careful methods of education in the dangers of venereal diseases, and is strongly in favor of the passing of such legislation as will make it compulsory for infected persons to undergo treatment till cured, and that the Government add venereal diseases to the list of communicable diseases under the Public Health Act.

That this meeting petition the Government to prohibit the use of cane sugar for the manufacture of candy, and the sale of ice cream as a luxury.

That women interest themselves in playgrounds and where there is no recreation centre under proper supervision, petition the authorities for the use of fair grounds.

The Ontario Women's Institutes are entirely in favor of the extension of Women's labor, and that equal pay be given for equal work.

Respecting the high price of staple food they petition the Government to take action in order that none of our children be unfed, under-fed, or ill-fed.

Aldermen at Niagara Falls, Ont., have been warned that they will be personally responsible for the expenditure of $2000 on a bunkhouse for soldiers, as it is called an illegal expenditure.

NATIONAL LEAGUE WILL NOT ASK FAVORS FOR PLAYERS

President Tener Says That to Seek Exemption from Military Service would e Unpatriotic.

The National league will not ask special exemption for any of its ball players and is not in sympathy with any "selfish plan" of discrimination in favor of its business or players, declared John K. Tener, president of the league.

The National league will continue to help the government in any way possible.

Calls Move Unpatriotic

"I would not go an inch toward Washington to ask President Wilson or the secretary of war for special favors for baseball," said the executive of the National league in discussing the proposal to exempt eighteen baseball players on each club of the two major leagues, as suggested by President Johnson of the American league.

"I think it unpatriotic," continued Mr. Tener, to suggest that baseball should even appear to shirk a duty at this time when so many parents are giving their sons and when other business interests are giving their best men to the service of our armed forces and are making other sacrifices for the benefit of our country.

Nationals Won't Ask Favors

"It seems to me nothing could be further from the purposes of baseball. We cannot ask the government to grant us the slightest favor. Any amusement or single business is a trifling thing compared to the obtaining of liberty for all the nations of the world.

"I cannot state too strongly that the National league is not in sympathy with any selfish plan of discrimination in favor of its business or players."

"Organized baseball has done a great deal for the cause and if continued will do a great deal more," said August Herrmann, chairman of the national baseball commission. "As I understand it, the president of the United States has stated that sports of all kinds should be continued and encouraged, but we realize that baseball and all lines of sport in this great crisis must be placed on an equal plane.

"The suggestion that the player limitation of major league clubs be reduced to eighteen meets with my positive favor. If the two leagues take action along these lines, that in itself will remove, to a great extent, the doubt about the proper equipment of major league clubs next year, for the reason that if some of the players are lost by the government requirements, as they will be, there will be a sufficient number left, in my judgment, to equip and equalize the sixteen major league clubs, if the player limitation is reduced as suggested."

Baker's View of Situation

Next year's contracts of the Philadelphia National league baseball club probably will contain a clause providing for revision or cancellation should the war interfere with the playing out of the season or cause a lack of attendance, according to W. H. Baker, president of the club.

Although Mr. Baker said he does not believe the war will affect baseball as much as is predicted, he declared "all precautions should be taken to protect the club owners."

SPORTING NOTES

The first six day bicycle race was held in 1875 in Birmingham, England, since when, it is estimated, 729,386 overcoats have been stolen.

Jess Willard is still game. Although the 300 pound champion has been out of training for a year or two, he says he is willing to fight Georges Carpentier, 168 pounds, who is at present employed as an aviator somewhere in France and can't get away.

Maybe Mr. Willard, like Ban Johnson, intends to go over there soon.

Ban got back to Chicago yesterday after a two weeks' hunting trip in Georgia. Well, a man ought to practice up on his marksmanship if he is going into the army.

HELP REACHES ITALIAN FRONT

FRENCH AND BRITISH TROOPS HAVE ARRIVED IN THE BATTLE ZONE.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

New York, Nov. 26.—French and British troops have now arrived in force near the Italian northern fighting front, heavy columns having marched more than 120 miles in eight days evidently from the railwayn terminal in Northwester Italy to the battle zone. They are reported in fine fettle and apparently are about ready to reinforce the Italians on the important line. From the Cambrai area Field Marshall Haig reports the Germans letting down in the violence of their reaction. They failed to repeat last night their futile attacks on the British positions in the Bourlon sector.

TEDDY ROOSEVELT HALF SCOTCH AND HALF DUTCH

Ancestry of Ex-President Who is Guest of Toronto Today.

Having in mind his unmistakably Dutch name, few people are aware that ex-President Roosevelt, who is in Toronto today to speak on behalf of the Victory Loan, has also strong ties in the land "ayont the Tweed." But it is so. On the paternal side Col. Roosevelt is directly descended from Claes (Nicolas) van Roosevelt, who settled in America in 1649, with no admixture of other nationalities save in his grandmother, Margaret Burrhill, of Anglo-American origin; on the maternal side he can claim kinship with the purely Scottish families of Stobo, Bulloch of Baldernock, Irvine of Cults, Douglass of Tilquhillie, and Stewart. His mother, Martha Bulloch, was the direct descendant of the Rev. Archibald Stobo, who accompanied the Darien expedition from Scotland in 1699, was wrecked at Charleston, remained there, and became one of the pioneers of Presbyterianism in America.

Arrived at Darien, the Scottish settlers were attacked and beleaguered by a Spanish fleet, and after defending their position for six weeks the devoted party was forced by lack of ammunition and food to capitulate and leave the isthmus. In the seven ships which remained the Scots sailed for home. Only two of these vessels reached Scotland.

Archibald Stobo was mercifully spared from the pestilence and death which had overtaken his colleagues on the return journey to Scotland. When the final disaster overtook the little colony, Stobo, his wife, and their daughter, Jean, went on board the Rising Sun, the largest of the four vessels which had sailed from Bute for Darien. When off Charleston, Florida, a terrific storm arose, and the laboring craft made its way into Charleston Harbor with temporary spars and rigging. While the Rising Sun was lying at Charleston for repairs, a hurricane tore the vessel from her moorings, washed her to sea, and wrecked her. Stobo's wife, left aboard the ship, was drowned. Archibald Stobo died in 1740. It is through Jean Stobo that ex-President Roosevelt claims his Scotch ancestry.

Bullochs of Baldernock

The Bullochs of Baldernock, Stirlingshire, are supposed to derive their descent from the same stock as the famous William Bulloch, born in Glasgow in 1701. When 27 years of age he emigrated to Charleston, met the Rev. Archibald Stobo, and later married his daughter, Jean. They had one son, Archibald Bulloch who had a most distinguished career.

He was delegate from Georgia to the Continental Congress of 1775, was elected to the Congress of 1776, became President and Commander-in-Chief of Georgia in that year, and as president, signed the first Constitution of the State of Georgia. He died in 1777. He had married Mary De Veaux, daughter of James De Veaux, of Huguenot descent, who was senior judge of the King's Court in the Province of Georgia, and of this marriage there was one son, James Bulloch, born in 1765. This James Bulloch was married to Anne Irvine, daughter of Dr. John Irvine, and she represented the Deeside families of Irvine of Cults, Douglass of Tilquhillie and Inchmarlo, and Horn of West Hall.

EX-PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, who speaks in Toronto today on behalf of the Victory Loan.

Mother Was a Bulloch

James Bulloch died in 1806, leaving a son, James Stephens Bulloch, who rose to the rank of major in the U.S. Army. Major Bulloch married Martha Stewart, daughter of General Daniel Stewart, a distinguished officer in the Revolution, whose grandfather, John Stewart, was one of the early Scottish colonists of America. Martha Bulloch, daughter of Major Stephens Bulloch was married to Theodore Roosevelt on December 22, 1853, and was the mother of the ex-President of the United States. The strain in Mr. Roosevelt may thus be equally claimed by Scotland and Holland.

Such is the story of ex-President Roosevelt's Scotch ancestry. That he is a loyal American, was a fearless executive head of the American nation and capable administrator, and is an ardent advocate of anything and everything that will tend to remove and eradicate the German menace from the soil of the universe needs no emphasis. His courage, his loyalty and his capacity are unquestioned, and he possesses the versatile attributes of his double and noble ancestry.

No Service, No Vote.

Colonel Roosevelt declared that universal suffraget should be on the basis of universal service and no man had a right to live in a free country unless he was prepared to fight for it.

Charged with Arson Again Remanded

CROWN NOT READY TO PROCEED IN THE CASE OF G. W. VARTY.

G. Walter Varty appeared at the police court this morning, following a week's adjournment, in answer to a charge of having wilfully set fire in the village of Havelock to a home belonging to J. B. Pierce of Norwood.

Prisoner declined either to plead or elect how to be tried.

County Crown Attorney Hatton asked for another adjournment, the Crown not being ready to proceed with the case.

Mr. G. N. Gordon, for defendant, took exception to further adjournment, he having his witnesses to hand. He thought the crown had had plenty of time in which to prepare its case.

Mr. Hatton replied that the charge being one of arson in a village twenty miles away, it takes time to gather evidence upon which to convict. It was not until Wednesday or Thursday last that the authorities were able to get in touch with evidence and the circumstances call for the strictest enquiry.

Mr. Gordon asked that next time he be notified when the Crown is not ready to proceed with a case, and not have witnesses put to the expense of coming a distance to no purpose.

The Chief of Police explained that the Crown did not know until ten o'clock Saturday night that another adjournment would be necessary.

His Worship granted another week's adjournment.

County Magistrate Langley was on the bench.

WHAT A BRITISH OFFICER DID IN SEVEN DAYS' LEAVE

A Holiday Turned into a Tour of Strenuous Duty to Break up a German Plot—Thrilling War Drama at the Grand.

"Seven Days' Leave," presented at the Grand Opera House Saturday, is another of those thrilling military dramas that are an inspiration to carry on to victory and which reveals the true inwardness of the present conflict that is turning the social fabric of the world upside down. It shows how the son of a cook may win a commission in the army while members of the titled classes remain as privates. It demonstrates, too, the aristocrat of long standing may be a democrat at heart. Woman's active interest in the war and the substantial aid she is willing to render at all times are featured. The invariable German spy is an interesting character who meets the fate that overtakes all such gentry in the drama. The clever work of the members of the British Secret Service is one of the parts of the plot that hold the attention of the audience to the end.

Every part in the play was well rendered from the easy-going and devout clergyman who interested himself in the worldly as well as the spiritual affairs of his flock, to the private in the ranks. W. L. Meehan as Major Terrence Fielding was a dashing Irish officer, an honor to the service and who again vindicated the peculiar ability of the Hibernian to make "stage" lore without growing either maudlin or mushy. Grace Hoyle as Lady Mary Heather worked for the soldiers in and out of season and saves a critical situation to the Allies by a daring swim out to a submarine. Frank Holland, as Col. Sharrow, the British Secret Service agent, gives a thrilling description of a British platoon going "over the top," when one by one, the officers leading, meet the fate of the soldier and with his last breath calls upon the next in command to carry on.

The great lesson to be drawn from the play is that all classes in England are in the war to the end, all enduring the burden, all making the sacrifices.

Before the curtain rose on the first act, Mr. Joseph Wearing, who has charge of the publicity branch of the Victory Loan, stepped behind the footlights and gave several [illegible] and sufficient reasons why all loyal Canadians should invest. Am those he cited was the fact that tim are good in this country despite the war, and that it is necessary to extend credit to England to keep up the high tide of prosperity he Without this credit England cannot continue her purchases of foodstuff and munitions in Canada.

Mr. Wearing explained in detail o what terms the Victory bonds can b bought.

WOULD DECLARE WAR AGAINST HUN ALLIES.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Nov. 26.—Declarations of war against Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria, Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee declared today, seem exceedingly advisable to simplify the situation now anomalous. "We are, in fact," he said, "at war with Germany's allies."

THE ONLY GIRL

HERE NEXT SATURDAY FOR TWO PERFORMANCES.

Victor Herbert, who composed the music of "The Only Girl," which will be revealed to audiences in this city on Saturday next at The Grand, is out with the statement that America is on the verge of coming into a light opera medium of its own, a music while fresh and full of vitality, yet with a style of refinement that will make it as artistically alluring as European music.

"Of course," observes Mr. Herbert, "I am full of this subject owing to the success of 'The Only Girl.' A dozen years ago a musical comedy of this type would not have been nearly as popular; the audiences then did not seem to appreciate style. And style in music is merely what tact is in conversation. Theatregoers have become sensitive and demand it. They have the same feeling precisely when a bit of ragtime is introduced right after a love melody that they have when they hear a man who has been telling of the beauties of life suddenly repeat a coarse story.

"Within several years there will be quite as much appreciation of style among American audiences as among French and Viennese. In fact, they are now beginning to register their taste, as they usually do, in the box office returns of 'The Only Girl.'

"Even in our lighter music we are coming to demand something that conforms to a general idea. We don't like to be lulled one moment and then rushed to a Coney Island dance the next. Still, whatever may have been its faults, musical comedy has paved the way for this newer and finer appreciation on the part of our larger public."

HAVE CABLED NAMES

Of All Candidates Overseas and To Bermuda

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—The names of all candidates nominated have been cabled overseas and to Bermuda for the information of soldiers. Some difficulty has arisen in connection with the recognition of Labor candidates. Various communications have beeen received from different points claiming to be from leaders of the Labor party. The difficulty lies in the fact that there is no recognized Labor party for Canada with a recognized head, but a number of organizations, each claiming to be a Labor party.

A military voter, it is pointed out, is under no necessity to vote for a party. He can indicate on his ballot paper any particular candidate for whom he wishes his vote to be allocated.

A HAPPY WOMAN NEEDED TO SAVE A MONARCH'S LIFE

"Prince O Patters" Presented at the Grand Opera House Last Night by a Clever Company of Amateurs—Bright Chorus Girls a Feature.

Timberling, a little kingdom that exists, by an effort of the imagination, down among the tropics, is further supposed to have a king, duly crowned, sceptred and royal robed, but who has acquired, probably by his association with missionaries, the habit of wearing carefully creased black trousers. Timberling also has a peculiar constitution. The king holds office for twenty-five years, and at the end of that time is allowed to retire on half pay and in peace, provided he can find in his domains one woman who is perfectly and confessedly happy. Failing in this single condition he forfeits his head, and a popular expression of the opinion that his life has been a failure.

The above is an outline of the plot of the comic opera, "The Prince o' Patters," that was produced at The Grand by talented local amateurs last night, under the direction of Canada's best known professional actor, Mr. Louis George NeVille. With two exceptions, the cast is the same as that which presented "The Turning Point" last season for the same object, money for the prisoners of war fund of the Peter Robinson Chapter of the I. O. D. E. The house last night was filled, and the performance went smoothly through, all of the singers and dancers being repeatedly recalled. Many a splendid bouquet was [illegible] over the footlights to tho[illegible] appeared on the stage.

The main part [illegible] play, that of the King, was taken by Mr. J. G. Campazzie, who made a typical small state sovereign, ferocious in his monarchial dignity and gullible in his intercourse with strangers from another sphere of existence. His Royal Highness is naturally solicitous for the safety of his neck, and to save it by finding the happy woman that the constitution requires him to produce. The King enlists the services of William Slick, a visiting showman and gentleman of other fortunes, whose part was played by Mr. NeVille himself. Then the fun starts. Diogenes himself, with his lantern, looking for an honest man, did not have a more strenuous or disheartening task. Evevery woman Mr. NeVille approaches lacks something, from a diamond ring to a sealskin coat, or a lover, to round out her happiness. Finally the long-looked-for female is located. She is a girl associated with the theatrical company over which Mr. NeVille as William Slick presides. The guest is as much of a surprise as that conducted by the shepherd in Virgil, wh started out to find Love and at last discovered it as a steady dweller in the rocks around his home.

If any member of the audience last night was asked offhand for his opinion as to who was the best amateur in the bunch—Mr. NeVille's professional standing putting him out of the comparison—the chances are he would name Mr. G. Walter Fitzger-

ACTIVE LIFE OF MR. J. B. McWILLIAMS IS CLOSED

Filled Many Public Offices in His 60 Years Here.

The funeral of the late Mr. J. B. McWilliams, who died yesterday afternoon at his residence, 558 Gilmour street, will be held Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock to Little Lake Cemetery. Many prominent citizens and representatives of civic bodies and many organizations with which the late Mr. McWilliams was identified during his long residence in the city will attend the obsequies.

In the active years of his life Mr. McWilliams took a prominent part in the undertakings of the town and city. He was born in Belmont and spent his early years in Norwood, coming to Peterborough in 1857. He was an enthusiastic member of the Orange society, which he joined in 1863, at the age of 18 years, being continuously a member for fifty-four years, and received many evidences of the confidence of his brethren of the society. He was elected Deputy-County Master in 1870 and County Master in 1871; and occupied the latter position for sixteen years. Upon his resignation he was presented with a gold jewel by the District Lodge of Lakefield, and a complete dinner set of French china, by the County Lodge. In 1910 be was made an honorary member of L.O. L. No. 80. He was elected County Master in 1896 and in 1903. He also held the position of Grand Lecturer and Deputy Grand Master for Ontario East, and also that of Deputy Grand Lecturer of British America. At the meeting of the Grand Lodge of British America in Peterborough, in May, 1909, Mr. McWilliams was presented with a beautiful scarlet collar. In 1912 he was made an honorary member of the Royal Black Knights.

He also took an interest in military matters, was a member of the Peterborough Rifles and served with that company at the front during the Fenian Raid of 1866, and in recognition of his services received a medal and land grant and also the $100 gratuity from the Dominion government.

Mr. McWilliams occupied several positions of prominence besides those mentioned. He was appointed deputy sheriff of Peterborough in 1869 and Crown Timber agent for the Midland District in 1872.

Mr. McWilliams was first elected a member of the town council in 1877—at the head of the poll and in the years 1897, '98 and '99 was again elected, each time at the head of the poll. He was also a member of the School Board for four years. He was a director of the Agricultural Society for two years and vice-president of the Horticultural Society. He was made a Justice of the Peace in 1886, and a Justice of the Peace for the districts of Algoma, Parry Sound and Manotoulin Island.

Mr. McWilliams was a Presbyterian and a Liberal in politics. His house was a home for years for leading Liberals on their visits to this district, among his guests having been Hon. T. B. Pardee, Hon. A. S. Hardy, Hon. John Dryden, Hon. J. M. Gibson, afterwards Lt.-Gover-

WOMEN'S UNION LEAGUE

An important meeting of representative women was held Monday afternoon when a number of prominent women met and formed a Woman's Union Government League.

The importance of union for the welfare of the country in this crisis and for the support of the men at the front were points that were thoroughly appreciated by the ladies present and a desire to give support to the Union Government was the keynote of the evening.

A resolution to form a Woman's Union Government League was unanimously adopted. The following officers were elected:

President:—Mrs. Arthur Stevenson; vice president, Mrs. W. R. Morris; secretary, Miss Lillian Pearce; treasurer, Miss Effie Munro; organizing secretary, Miss Marion Rush.

It was decided that a mass meeting of all women interested in Union Government, and all women voters be called for Thursday the 29th, to stimulate interest in the work of the women.

This meeting will be held in Victoria Hall at 8 p.m.. Mrs. L. A. Hamilton of Toronto and several local speakers will make addresses.

The Union League named a deputation to meet the War Veterans in the evening to offer and to request co-operation in the work of canvassing the women electors.

The deputation from the Women's League asked that at least fifty of the women relatives of the veterans volunteer assistance in the Ward Committees, to canvass the women electors.

The Veterans promised to interest their friends in the meeting on Thursday evening, and the Woman's League hopes to see a large attendance.

COL. ROOSEVELT SPOKE TO VAST TORONTO CROWD

Thousands Heard Him; Thousands More Were Turned Away.

INTERNATIONAL GOOD WILL

Distinguished Visitor Makes One of His Forceful Addresses.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—Twelve thousand people thronged the great Toronto Armories last night and gave Colonel Theodore Roosevelt a genuine Toronto welcome, mingling cheers with tears, as the fighting statesman from the south took his place on the platform. Patriotic fervor had reached a splendid height and exploded with full force as the man with the smile, known all over the world, stood in recognition while the band of the 48th Highlanders played the national anthem, followed immediately by "The Star Spangled Banner." The immense audience sang, and many a voice was choked by the sobs which come when moments of intense sentiment are reached.

The muscles of Col. Roosevelt's face tightened and relaxed as he held himself in check. None there were who did not feel the solemnity of the occasion, and then everyone let loose those pent up feelings when the band played "Rule Britannia, Britannia Rule the Waves." Again the great throng burst into song and all remained standing.

NO SYMPATHY FOR THE YOUNG MAN WHO SAYS HE WILL NOT KILL

Judge Huycke Speaks in Blunt Manner to Conscientious Objector Whose Case First Received Favorable Consideration.

"Take the gum out of your mouth if you're going to give evidence," commanded Judge Huycke to Martin P. Roddy, aged 24, and a shell-maker, the first claim for exemption before the tribunal this morning. Decision on the claim of the brother John J. Roddy had been deferred till today for a joint hearing of the two cases. Martin Roddy asked to be excused from military service as he supported his mother. The father was away from the city. Roddy said he expected to go to Montreal with the Metal Products Co. His brother was in the woods, and both contributed to the upkeep of the home. Claimant said his wages averaged from $4.50 to $5 a day. As a shell-maker his brother made 35 cents an hour.

Col. Clegg urged that one of the brothers don khaki.

"It's pretty hard to part with either of them," said Mrs. Roddy.

"But one of them will have to go," decided Magistrate Dumble. "You're claim is disallowed," his worship said, addressing the claimant.

Farmer Exempted.

James Rice, an A2 man, farms 50 acres in Otonabee. "I've been helping my neighbors and doing my own work," said the applicant, who is a husky young soil-tiller, aged 21. His only brother, a C.P.R. lineman was applying for exemption elsewhere.

"We allow you exemption so long as you remain on the farm," announced Judge Huycke. "See that you get in a lot of good stuff for next year."

Two Brothers Over There.

The father of Alex. Brotherson, Concession street, made an appeal for the exemption of his son. "I have two sons in the army, one having been over there since the First Contingent, 28 months, and I think we have done our share."

"The boy who has been there two years should come home, and I think this boy would be glad to take his place," said Judge Huycke.

Decision in Brotherson's case was deferred until later in the week.

A Conscientious Objector.

William Bernard Rose, an A2, aged 22, went to Montreal with the Metal Products Co., as a [illegible]-maker. He married three months ago, and was not aware, he said of the marriage clause in the Military Service Act. Rose said he supported his widowed mother, a brother and a sister both in ill-health. His father and a brother were drowned in the Humber Bay, Toronto, 12 years ago.

"This young man doesn't look very strong," remarked Judge Huycke to Magistrate Dumble. "He's got good pluck and good principles," commented his worship.

Then the scene changed. Rose said a younger brother earned $2 a day. "See that Bible," said Rose, "the seventh commandment says 'thou shalt not kill' ad I will not kill."

"O, he's one of those conscientious objectors and I have no sympathy for him," said the Judge, warming up. "What church do you belong to?"

"The Sacred Heart Church; I'm a Roman Catholic."

"But that is not one of the tenents of their church, thank God," said His Honor.

Decision was deferred, and when Rose ventured the statement that he was going to Montreal, Judge Huycke warned him that he would be arrested.

Will "Come Across."

Hugh Stewart, an employe of the Bell Telephone Co. will answer the call of his many former chums at the front to "come across." Stewart said he felt it his duty to remain at home with his parents as he is the only son.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1917

NO MORE IS NEEDED.

AT HIS MEETING in Victoria Hall Saturday night Mr. Hall fully and fairly answered the questions that were asked him by The Review.

Mr. Hall said, in reply to the query as to whether, if he was elected, he would vote for the immediate enforcement of the Military Service Act, or would favor Sir Wilfrid Laurier's policy and demand a referendum, that the Act, now being a law of the land, must be obeyed. He claims, however, that it requires revision. This revision would in all probability be found to mean the suspension of the Act. Mr. Hall and the other Liberal members elected from the English-speaking provinces would be in a hopeless and helpless minority among the solid contingent that Quebec is sure to send to the next Parliament.

The more important question of the two submitted to Mr Hall has to do with the matter of the Premiership. Mr. Hall says he would support Sir Wilfrid for the office of Prime Minister rather than Sir Robert Borden. No more is needed. His position is now perfectly clear to the electorate. Just because Mr. Hall is of that mind is the main reason why West Peterborough cannot afford to risk his election to Parliament. That would mean the advancement of Sir Wilfrid Laurier one step nearer the Premiership with all that that implies. The suspension of the Military Service Act, the desertion of the men at the front, no further sacrifice on behalf of the Empire—nothing save a campaign for the production of food and munitions.

Mr. Hall has been endorsed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier as his follower. With that trade mark upon him he can no longer attempt to pose as an independent. He is irretrievably committed to the cause of Laurierism and the party whose sole policy is to win the war will now naturally pass by on the other side of the way when they see him approaching.

BROTHERS NO LONGER.

"NO MATTER what we have been in the past, Grit or Tory, we are all brothers now."

The words rang like a clarion through the dining-room of the Empress Hotel less than a year ago, when Mr. Dan O'Connell was speaking at the banquet tendered him by admiring citizens on the occasion of his removal to Toronto. As only Mr. O'Connell could, he was painting a picture of how working in unison for the winning of the war had broken down all political, racial and other differences and united all men into a common fraternity.

But it is different now. The election seems to have divided the people into two camps again. Mr. O'Connell no longer regards as brothers the men whom he now brands as grafters and puppets.

DAN O'CONNELL AND THE WAR.

MR. DAN O'CONNELL was in his time one of the best workers for the cause of recruiting that this city has ever had. He spoke everywhere in the county, and appealed with marked success to all classes of citizens. As a member of the Patriotic League, too, he was recognized as the official spokesman, and it was he who devised the plan for raising the fund by taxation instead of by voluntary contribution.

How Mr. O'Connell's conscience must trouble him now, as he realizes that he helped to induce so many men to enter a state something less than bondage, when, after being persuaded to enlist by his eloquence, they were sent to the front poorly equipped and wretchedly paid. That is what was done to Canada's soldiers, according to Mr. O'Connell in his speech here Saturday.

It may be merely a coincidence that Mr. O'Connell's discovery of the abuse—and worse—of the soldiers synchronized with the probability of an election. The eloquent gentleman from Toronto sprang something of the same import at a political meeting in Norwood more than a year ago. There was nothing of this propaganda, not a hint of poor pay and equipment, when it was his mission to induce men to enlist. But it is different when the manufacture of political capital is the matter in hand.

MR. GORDON AT HAVELOCK.

MR G. N. GORDON declares that he has not made a political speech in East Peterborough for five years. Of course, this lets him out of the charge made in The Review on Saturday that he had fallen from grace by speaking on behalf of the Laurier candidate in Havelock a few days after he had openly professed Unionism at a public meeting in this city.

The Review regrets that it has done Mr. Gordon an injustice, but he can blame his own party organ rather than this paper for the mistake.

The article in The Review was based on the following which appeared prominently in The Examiner on Tuesday of last week:

> The Liberal meeting in Havelock last night drew a big attendance to the town hall. The speakers were the East Peterborough candidate, William Johnston, and Messrs. Hartley Dewart and William Lee, of Toronto, and Mr. G. N. Gordon, of Peterborough.

Why did Mr. Gordon not take the trouble to put in a disclaimer then and so free himself from the suspicion of inconsistency and a relapse to his former associations after he had made public renunciation of his old-time idols?

And yet Mr. Gordon cannot set himself right without showing those old claws of his. If he did not appear at Havelock on behalf of a Liberal candidate, he does as much for that candidate in the columns of The Examiner. The temptation to dabble in the same old brand of politics is too strong for his new creed. He pitches into Mr. Sexsmith and boosts his opponent.

Notwithstanding what Mr. Hall says, Mr. Sexsmith is the Union candidate in East Peterborough, duly endorsed by the Premier as such. He has at least as faithfully discharged his public duties as some other officials that could be mentioned, never striking for extra compensation when those duties in the natural course of business increased.

Mr. Gordon need not go to Havelock or to any other point in East Peterborough to deliver a campaign speech. So long as the columns of The Examiner are open to him he can give Mr. Johnston, the Liberal candidate, a course of absent treatment. It comes easier and has the same result.

WHY WOMEN SHOULD VOTE.

IT IS ESTIMATED that not half of the soldiers overseas will be able to cast heir votes at the coming election. When the British Columbia election was held less than one-third of the soldiers could be reached. The man who at the time the ballots are collected is on duty in the trenches is likely to be overlooked. The soldier suffering from gas or shell shock, the one unconscious on the hospital cot, will not be able to take a part in the election.

To give the soldiers something like a fair representation, the Borden Administration extended the franchise to their wives, mothers and sisters at home. These women will vote as their friends overseas would have them vote, so that the result is not in doubt.

The half million or more new women electors who will vote for the first ime at a Federal election on December 17 will control the situation. The issue will be decided by them. In West Peterborough there are nearly three thousand women who have the right to vote, and their verdict is to be the decisive factor in the contest. They have taken the first steps in organization. They realise their duties and responsibilities. They cannot be swerved from what they regard as their mission by the specious pleadings of the politician. In this election they see only one issue, the winning of the war, and their course will be shaped accordingly.

SIR WILFRID'S CONSCRIPTION ACT.

IT IS HARD TO understand how Sir Wilfrid Laurier can consistently oppose conscription or how he can even insist upon a referendum as a condition, with his record behind him. In 1904, while he was Premier of Canada, his government passed a measure of military compulsion that was more drastic than the Act recently set in operation. This Act was passed at a time when the country was at peace. It rendered every man in Canada from 18 to 60 years of age liable to military service either within or beyond the boundaries of the country. That is vastly different, to begin with, than the law which includes only unmarried men from 20 to 34 years of age.

So long as the nation was at peace and the Act in abeyance, Sir Wilfrid Laurier was a conscriptionist; when the occasion arose to put that Act into operation, he repudiated his own measure. He is opposed to compulsion in the time of war, although he adopted the principles during a period of peace.

It has been frequently asked why Sir Robert Borden did not accept the Militia Act of Sir Wilfrid Laurier instead of drawing up a measure of his own. For the simple reason that the Act of 1904 was defective in many particulars, in fact considerable of a joke. In the first place, the age limit was unreasonable. In the second, the men required for service were to be selected by ballot, an indiscriminate method that would make no distinction between those engaged in essential and non-essential pursuits. The man needed on the farm or in the workshop would have no more chance for exemption than the idler on the street corner. The Borden Act takes no married man from his family, none under twenty or over thirty-four years of age. It is perfect in its design where the other was defective. It is to be fairly operated, not by a hit or miss method.

An opportunist always, Sir Wilfrid Laurier repudiated his own measure when the time came to give it a trial. He is opposed to compulsion now for no other reason than to catch the votes of those who are of the same mind. He has proved himself a doughty warrior only in the time of peace. At the first roar of the cannon he breaks for cover at the head of his followers.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

TALK OF EXEMPTING the ball players seems to have been only a foul tip.

• • • •

OF COURSE, the Laurierites want to win the war, but are willing that all the real sacrifices be made by someone else.

• • • •

THE WOMEN VOTERS of the city are not planning to punish the anti-suffragists. The punishing has been done already.

• • • •

THE TROUBLE with so many political speakers is that when they have a foolish inspiration while on the platform they have no chance to think twice.

• • • •

HEAVEN forbid that the glory of the exploits of the Fort Garry Horse at Cambrai be tarnished by some deluded individual who imagines himself a Tennyson.

• • • •

NO ONE MUST REGRET the election more than Mr. Dan O'Connell, seeing that it has broken up the brotherhood he boosted and set all Canadians by the ears again.

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

Stands By His Boy.

David Carey, the Labor candidate in South Toronto, has wired Sir Wilfrid Laurier to say that he does not wish to be associated with opposition to the Military Service Act. Mr. Carey has a son at the front and stands by his boy.

Squandered Time.

(Boston Transcript.)

We have taken our time even in our support of Britain and France. Alas for that element of time! "Ask of me anything you will," said Napoleon to one of his generals, "except time." We have acted very much as if we had all the time there is. Now, the swift advance of the Teutons toward Venice may for a while make a mock of such assistance as we can give.

AN OPEN LETTER TO SIR WILFRID

Dear Sir Wilfrid:

Your sole hope of political success rests upon your opposition to the Military Service Act. But upon whose shoulders, if not on yours, Sir Wilfrid, does the responsibility rest for the need of this act? It seeks to add to our forces one hundred thousand men. You know that if that quarter of Canada from which you are sprung had given to our forces in the same measure as the rest of Canada, this additional one hundred thousand men would now be under arms. What have you done during the last three and a-half years to make your people understand and come forward. In the other provinces, where our English tongue prevailed, we have worked day after day and month after month to enlighten our people and to make them give the nation of their strength. We have given our sons and our manhood; we have brushed away our tears over the untimely deaths of our first-born and soothed the aching of our hearts with our pride in the valor of our blood. What have you done, Sir Wilfrid? Have you gone among the cities and the villages and the hamlets of Quebec preaching the gospel of service in this war? Have you, disdainful of the infirmities of age, let no fear of toil or weariness deter you from urging unceasingly upon the French-Canadians their duty and their place in our armies. It is to you, their greatest son, their beloved and trusted leader, that these people have looked for guidance and inspiration. Have you guided them, have you inspired them. Have you manifested by deeds your faith in the voluntary system which you now extol. In what way did you strive to make it a success? How can we have faith in the sincerity of the devotion to voluntary service which you now proclaim, seeing that during the years when you could have made such devotion useful and effective you have stood silent and apart? How can we avoid the suspicion that you are seeking to climb back to power upon the natural repugnance of people to perform a distasteful duty, to make a grievous sacrifice no matter how needful it may be? Why is it only now, when the alternative to voluntary service is compulsory service, that you are beginning to talk of what may be accomplished by voluntary enlistments?

Why have you not made it clear that if, as you propose, a referendum of Canada be taken on the question of compulsory service, your great influence will be used to promote its adoption? Do you believe in conscription if our needed forces cannot be otherwise obtained. Are you afraid to say that you do believe in it lest you lose the votes of those that fear to be compelled. Are you afraid to say that you do not believe in it lest you lose the votes of those who seek to salve their consciences by the procrastination of a referendum, knowing full well that in conscription only lies the performance [illegible] Is it decent, is it honest, is it brave, or is it merely polite for you, who seek to be the leader of this land, to keep your lips sealed upon the greatest issue ever presented to our people? Is it dignified to dodge the question and to try to conceal your true position behind the smoke of generalities and of platitudes which trip lightly from the tongue?

With the rest of your manifesto I have no quarrel. But for a few matters of entirely minor import, it scarcely differs from the announced program of the Union Government except that what you say is mere words without concrete proposals in place of the definite propositions of responsible administrators. You have not shown that your devotion to Canada's share in the war is more than lip-service; until you can prove this you may be able to cajole the timid and those whose minds are muddled, but you will not be able to convince those clear-minded citizens who put Canada glorious and true above all other considerations.

A LIBERAL.

TODAY'S STORY

"I read an interesting story in a British newspaper the other day," related the bookseller. "Stanley J. Weyman, author of 'A Gentleman of France' and other corking stories, announced some years ago that he had finished. He felt he had unloaded fiction on a defenceless public long enough, and would quit while the quitting was good.

"He had a million admirers scattered over the world, and they heard this announcement with amusement. The idea of a successful novelist putting away his tools in the middle of his harvest was too ridiculous. But Stanley J. stuck to his vow. From that day to this he hasn't published a thing. Recently his publishers wrote him and begged him to produce a novel bearing on the present war. They offered him his choice of all the varieties of money. They knew that a war novel by Weyman would be a best seller from the first. But this remarkable man replied that there was nothing doing. No offer could tempt him to take up his trenchant typewriter again.

"So we see another record broken, and have no way to gather up the pieces."

"Weyman is as wise as a serpent," commented the librarian. "Few writers have the courage and sense to quit when the signs are right. There are thousands of people who think Rudyard Kipling should have quit years ago. Every time they read a new poem or story by him they groan and say there ought to be a law. It's too bad.

"Kipling isn't a ruin, and the stuff he writes in his old age is good, but lacks the spontaneity of youth. It is unfortunate that a writer can't always be twenty-five years old, but it isn't exactly his fault. Yet it would have been better for him and his everlasting reputation had he quit when he realized that he was losing his punch.

"I've always had a profound admiration for Thomas Grey, who wrote the 'Elegy.' I think that the best poem in the world. It has more sense and feeling than any other, and its rhythm is perfect. That and a few odes were the entire product of Thomas Gray. He wouldn't take a fall out of his lyre unless the occasion really demanded it.

"I have no doubt there were people in Stoke Pogis who wanted Tom to write verses boosting the town, and he probably had countless chances to write epitaphs and campaign songs. Probably the local paper would have been glad to have him contribute to its 'Poets' Corner.' But Tom would write poetry only when he swelled up with the divine afflatus so that his buttons were flying off.

"Wordsworth went to the other extreme. He was slopping over with poetry all the time.

"Had he written one poem a year there would be no question about his greatness. But he wrote so much junk that a man gets tired hunting through it for the occasional sliver of gold."

"I want the earth," howled the assistant.

BRITISH FORCES NOW HOLD SOME FAMOUS BIBLE TOWNS

Berrsheba, Near Gaza, is Small Town in the Southern Extremity of Palestine.

One writer says: Beer-sheba, to give it the customary Bible spelling, has a fame going far outside the regular Bible reader. "From Dan to Beer-sheeba" is a proverbial expression that has been popularized in election campaigns. Yet few politicians know where the place is. Beer-sheba is the southern extremity of Palestine and is a small almost insignificant place twenty-eight miles from Gaza, which was taken by the British forces in March last.

The most probable meaning of the word is "seven wells," as seven wells still exist there from ancient times. In the fourth century the place was mentioned as a big village and the seat of a Roman garrison. A number of valuable mosaics and inscriptions were found there, but the vandals of Turks, like their fellows, the Huns at Rheims, wantonly knocked them to pieces. The Biblical Beer-sheba probably exists two miles away from the village and is known today as Bir-es-Seba. So much for the geographic interest of the place the British troops have occupied.

Older City Interesting

The older Beer-sheba is far more interesting. For those, a growing number, who only take their Bible in pellet form from the news prints, it may be mentioned that the politico-Biblical expression occurs in Judges xx., 1; "Then all the children of Israel went out and the congregation was gathered together, from Dan to Beer-sheba." This must have been "some" gathering, equivalent to our "Halifax to Vancouver" convention.

But there is some confusion about the origin of the place. In Genesis xxi, 22, we are told there was a dispute there between Abimelech and Abraham, because the former's servants, anticipating the Turkish army of today, had "violently taken away" one of the wells. Verse 28 runs:

"And Abraham set seven ewe lambs of the flock by themselves. And Abimeloch said unto Abraham What mean these seven ewe lambs? And he said. For these seven ewe lambs shalt thou take of my hand that they may be a witnes unto me that I have digged this well. Wherefore he called the place Beersheba, because there they sware both of them. And they made a covenant at Beer-sheba, . . and Abraham planted a greve at Beer-sheba."

In Genesis xxvi., 26 to 33, however much the same thing is attributed to Isaac. Verse 32 says: "And it came to pass the same day that Isaac's servants came to him and told him concerning the well they had digged and said unto him, We have found water. And he called it Shebah. Therefore, the name of the city is Beer-Sheba unto this day."

References are made in other parts of Holy Script to Beer-sheba, especially those concerning the Divine manifestations to Hagar (Gen. xxi., 17), to Isaac (Gen. xxvi., 24) to Jacob (Gen. xi., 5, and Amos v., 5). In I. Kings, xix., 5, Elijah is said to have left his servant at Beer-sheba while "he himself went a day's journey into the wilderness and came and sat down under a juniper tree and requested for himself that he might die." What the British artillery grilling of the Turks on entering Beer-sheba may have been can only be guessed yet. but possibly many a heathen Mussulman there has heartily repeated Elijah's request by now "for 'twas a famous victory."

INCIDENTS IN THE LIVES OF SOME FAMOUS WOMEN

How Louise De Vandemont Received the News that She was to be Queen of France.

A never-to-be-forgotten epoch in French history, when women played a great part in the political world, is that of the reign of the Valois. Nearly all of those who cast their lots with this most unhappy race led lives full of sorrows and strange adventures.

History has sketched the portraits of these women with an unprejudiced hand; their virtues and vices are shown with equal truthfulness.

The character of Louise of Vaudemont, the Queen of Henry III, shines out with clearer light because of the general corruption that surrounded her. "All the world respected her. Calumny itself was silent in the presence of this good queen."

Louise was the daughter of Nicholas of Lorraine, Count of Vaudemont, and was equally distinguished for her great piety and sweetness of character and for her remarkable beauty. While her family was numbered among the greatest of France, there was no reason to believe that she would ever be chosen to wear a crown. But Henry III., the young king, in paying a brief visit to Nancy, was greatly impressed by the beauty and modesty and goodness of Louise of Vaudemont, and when his councillors advised him to select a queen from among the princesses, he flatly refused to consider marriage with any one save the lovely daughter of Nicholas of Lorraine.

Insisting that there was nothing to prevent his union with Louise, Henry sent an ambassador to ask the Count of Vaudemont for the hand of his daughter.

Nicholas of Lorraine was overjoyed when he learned of the honor that was to be his daughter's, and summoned her to the audience hall. But he was told that Louise had gone to the Chapel of St. Nicholas, in the neighborhood of Nancy, to pray.

Ever since she had been a little girl of 12, Louise had made a weekly visit to the church to distribute the 25 ecus, which her father gave her each month for pin money, among the poor. She always went there on foot dressed in the simple garb of a peasant, and the entire community considered her an earthly saint.

Upon her return to the castle, Louise immediately went to the chamber of her stepmother, who, as a rule, treated her with great severity.

"Madame, I crave your pardon for being absent from your levee this morning," said Louise. "I went to the chapel, being in a mood for prayer."

Much to her surprise, this time instead of scolding her the countess kissed her warmly, saying: "It is I who should attend upon you, my child, for you are now Queen of France. I claimed the joy of telling you this great news first. I beg you to forget, in receiving it, any unhappiness I may have given you, and when you are seated on the throne do not refuse your love and protection to your brothers, my children, and on their account, to their mother."

Louise assured her stepmother that any honors which good fortune saw fit to bestow upon her would be shared with her family. Then she dressed herself in her handsomest robes and attended by her maids went down to the great audience hall to meet the king's ambassador.

TURBAN OF FEATHERS.

Looks like fur, doesn't it? But it isn't. This striking turban of dark crimson velvet is banded together with brown and cream-colored uncurled ostrich feathers. The standing quill is also an ostrich feather, unclipped. The turban is certainly unique and pretty. It gives the wearer that dashing appearance that is so hard to obtain without in many cases using freak clothes and hats.

Explaining the Reason For Peevy's Absence From Church Services.

THE new minister in the parish was making his first calls, and when he reached the home of the Peevys he said to Mrs. Peevy:

"I don't think that I have seen Mr Peevy at church yet, have I, Sister Peevy?"

"Well, no, you ain't," replied Sister Peevy. "The fact is, Peevy likes to lay abed late of a Sunday morning, an time he gets up an' has his breakfast an' gets through the Sunday papers an' does his Sunday shavin' an' mebbe an hour or two of tinkerin' around the house that he allus puts off to do on a Sunday an' then has a smoke an' mebbe cuts some o' the children's hair or beats rugs for me or even mops up the kitchen if I'm hurried—time he's done all that it's too late for church. Fact is, Peevy ain't a real spiritual minded man nohow—at least not the same as I am."—New York Post.

Six Years After.

A young man and a young woman lean over the front gate. They are lovers. It is moonlight. He is loth to leave, as the parting is the last. He is about to go away. They swing on the gate.

"I'll never forget you," he says, "and if death should claim me my last thought will be of you."

"I'll be true to you," she sobs. "I'll never see anybody else or love them as long as I live."

They part. Six years later he returns. His sweetheart of former years had married. They meet at a party. She had changed greatly. Between the dances the recognition takes place.

"Let me see," she muses, with her fan beating a tattoo on her pretty hand. "Was it you or your brother whom I used to know?"

"Really, I don't know," he says. "Probably my father."—Weekly Telegraph.

Edward Earle Has Gained 14 Pounds

Gets Complete Relief From Suffering of Five Years Standing.

"When I tell you I have gotten complete relief from five years of suffering and have actually gained fourteen pounds in weight besides, you can readily see why I think so highly of Tanlac," said Edward Earle, of 17 McGregor avenue, Toronto. Mr. Earle is a well known union carpenter employed in the Canadian Pacific shops and has lived in Toronto for the past eight years.

"My stomach was all upset," he continued, "and so out of order that I couldn't digest anything. I had no desire for food of any kind and what little I did eat would lay on my stomach like lead. I would bloat up terribly with gas and had sharp pains in my sides and all around my heart. My tongue was always coated. I had a bad taste in my mouth and would have dizzy spells when it seemed like a film of skin would form on my eyes and my vision would fail me. My sleep was poor, I was out of sorts all the time, felt tired and sluggish and had no energy. I really dreaded to eat anything because I know how I would suffer afterwards.

"This is just the condition I had been in for five years, and while I tried all kinds of medicines I kept getting gradually worse until I read about Tanlac and began taking it. It's the only medicine I have found in all these years that I could conscientiously recommend to my friends. My stomach trouble has disappeared entirely with all the gas, pain and other bad feelings and I'm feeling well and strong in every way. My appetite is fine and I know I am getting nourishment from my food or I could never have gained as much in weight. I sleep good every night now, all my weak, dizzy feelings and bad taste are gone, and all this good has come from two bottles of Tanlac for I have just started on my third. Tanlac is my medicine from now on and I believe anybody suffering like I did will do well to try it.

Autumn Colors.

Already Paris is busy planning fall fashions, and the very first thing to be decided is the question of colors, so that manufacturers of materials may set to work. After that there will be time enough to arrange about styles and silhouettes.

Decidedly rusty is the shade that promises to be most fashionable next fall. It is called rouille, which, in fact, means rust.

There are two rust shades, both reddish brown, but one very much brighter than the other. All the new grays are metallic grays—nothing so soft as smoke.

Silver, nickel, gun metal and iron gray are represented. There is platinum gray, too, and there is pewter. Even aluminum gray is not forgotten.

Quite appropriately for autumn time, the new greens are called duck greens, and the browns are known as pheasant browns. Most of the new blues are called army blue, and the shades number as many as there are kinds of blue uniforms in the world. Of course the choice of Paris is the French uniform blue.

TO THE ELECTORS OF EAST PETERBORO

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

I believe no greater disaster could at the present time befall our country than the defeat of the Borden Union Administration at the polls on December 17th.

The policy of this Administration is the speedy and continuous reinforcements of our Canadian troops on the battle-front; and the putting forth of all our national strength for the cause of civilization and freedom.

To carry out this policy, a number of Canada's ablest public men of vision—sinking for the present all political differences—now stand together—strong to battle for the right—united to WIN THIS WAR.

For over three years thousands of loyal Canadians of many creeds and of different nationalities have stood shoulder to shoulder on the battle-fields of Europe, gallantly fighting our common foe, and sometimes, sometimes falling, have won for the name of Canada undying fame. Shall we, with all possible speed, send help to these, our heroic defenders, now holding the battle-line, or shall we, breaking faith with them as well as "with those who die"—delay—vote—while the enemy advances?

A Vote For Sexsmith Means a Vote For Our Gallant Soldiers

As the Union Candidate in this Riding, I am putting forth every effort to win East Peterborough to the support of the Borden Union Administration, and, if elected, shall to the utmost of my ability support the same.

To this end I now earnestly solicit the co-operation and influence of every loyal and patriotic man and woman in East Peterborough.

I have the honor to be, faithfully yours.

JOHN A. SEXSMITH.

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN" RELIEVES STOMACH DISTERSS IN FIVE MINUTES.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in revolt; if sick, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented and turned sour; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated — just take a little Pape's Diapepsin to help neutralize acidity and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have dyspepsia. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach sweetened and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it stops fermentation and acidity and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

McMullen Released To Report for Duty

SUSPENDED SENTENCE FOR DEFAULTER—MUST SURRENDER TO THE AUTHORITIES

At the police court this morning William McMullen of Havelock was charged with being a defaulter under the Military Service Act. He was up a week ago, when he was remanded until this morning.

Prisoner was willing to surrender to the military authorities, but County Crown Attorney Hatton and Mr. G. N. Gordon for the defence disagreed on the question of costs. The former holding out for same while the latter contended that an imposition of costs in such a case would be contrary to the Act, and he was not inclined to compromise. The case was here proceeded with. Chief Thompson testified to arrest of accused who had not reported for examination or applied for exemption. Accused had admitted to him that he was 31 years of age, a bachelor, and had not reported because he was disgusted with repeated urging by a fellow English employee and his foreman that he report. A notice was posted in the C.P.R. shops at Havelock where accused was employed to the effect that the services of all men who had not reported for examination or service would no longer be required, and he packed up his tools and quit work.

To Mr. Gordon, the Chief admitted that he was satisfied that there should be no conviction were prisoner to surrender himself to the military authorities.

Mr. Gordon said the man was willing to surrender, but he (Mr. Gordon) was not willing that his client should pay costs when there is no provision in the act for payment of costs.

Mr. Hatton replied that while the military act does not provide for costs, such, however, can be imposed under the criminal code.

Mr. Gordon said he was not adducing any testimony for the defence. He also contended that the court was not properly constituted, their worships had not recorded his testimony in defence, and he could quash any conviction. Mr. Gordon further added that he would not consent to a travesty of justice, by the payment of costs in order that a man may not be convicted. He was not offering a price for this man's liberty.

McMullen was finally released on suspended sentence, to be handed over to the military authorities, and costs to be paid. While Mr. Gordon finally consented under protest to the imposition of costs, he declared that he is going to put up an external fight against the costs question.

Their worships H. Rush and Frank Adams, Justices of the Peace, were on the bench.

WOMAN'S UNION LEAGUE WORK FOR CAPT. BURNHAM

Will Organize and Canvass the City--Women Kin of Soldiers who Joined Imperial Forces in Old Country Have a Vote.

Ladies of Peterborough yesterday afternoon formed a Woman's Union League, and eight members of this organization waited upon the Great War Veterans' Association last night, and offered cooperation in securing the vote of women for Captain Burnham and the Union Government, in the interests of the boys overseas.

Mass Meeting For Women

Mrs. A. Stevenson explained that a great deal of visiting and organizing will be needed to win the women's vote in the right direction, and the object of the Woman's Union League is to work to this end in conjunction with the G.W.V.A. Women, she suggested might use arguments with soldiers' wives and kin, the men would not think of.

Secretary Miss Pearce reported that at a meeting yesterday afternoon the Woman's Union League it was resolved to call for Thursday evening a mass meeting for women to be addressed by Mrs. L. A. Hamilton of Toronto, and possibly by Capt. Burnham.

Miss Rush, she continued, has been appointed organizing secretary, and may be consulted any afternoon after this week, in headquarters' room, next to Edward's butcher store, George street.

Women Who Have Votes

Mrs. W. R. Morris suggested that the G.W.V.A. give the names of five or six wives or kin of soldiers to work in each word with members of the new league, instruct the women as to the importance of voting for Capt. Burnham in support of their relatives in the trenches, and to secure as complete a list as possible of all women entitled to vote under the new elections act. She pointed out that English women residents here who have kin in the Imperial Service (having enlisted in the Old Country) are entitled to vote, but regretted that this was not clear to most of such women, and they should be instructed accordingly. Also it is not generally understood that the kin of nurses overseas have a vote.

Will Work Jointly

The association appreciated this timely assistance offered by the Woman's Union League, and Comrades Watson, Perks, Theobald and Gilbert were named a committee to meet the ladies in consultation as to ways and means.

Secretary Whatley said it is the duty of every member of the G.W.V.A. to get out after the women's vote.

To Appoint Teams

On motion of Comrades Smith and Perks, the Executive Committee, will appoint teams to canvass each ward in the city.

You have only four days more to buy Victory Bonds.

SECOND CHANCE FOR MENTALLY DEFECTIVE AND BACKWARD PUPIL

Thirty Children Attending Public Schools are Mentally Deficient—School Board has Conference with Dr. Helen MacMurchy—Hard Problem to Solve.

PETERBOROUGH'S SCHOOLS

"You've a good school system, and splendid teachers," was Dr. Helen MacMurchy's statement to the Board of Education last night, in the course of her conference with the Board. Dr. MacMurchy paid a visit to the public schools yesterday.

SOME PROBLEMS

Trustee Crane:—How many parents believe their children to be defective?

Inspector Mowat:—Backward children are not our serious problems; it's the defective children

Dr. McMurchy:— "We must take great care of the children in our hands today.

After hearing Dr. Helen MacMurchy of Toronto, speak on the question of the special treatment of mentally defective children attending school, and children who are backward in their studies, the Board of Education, last night had the suspicion confirmed, that the solution of the problem in Peterboro was not an easy one.

Chairman Vincent Eastwood's statement that there were between 25 and 30 mentally defective children attending the public schools will startle many parents. The number of children who are backward in their studies was not stated, but Dr. MacMurchy, speaking generally said that the number of backward pupils was much greater than the number of mentally defective children. In both cases, the pupils form a real problem for the teacher, and using the words of Dr. MacMurchy "the effect on the normal child is the great argument for the second chance," for mentally defective and backward pupils.

Aid From Government

In her outline of the special treatment for these children, Dr. MacMerchy told of the auxiliary classes which may be formed under government regulations, and receiving government grants, which includes 20 per cent. of the cost of equipment and 50 per cent. on any sum given to the teacher, above the regular salary. Last year $800 was paid to auxiliary classes, by the government. But the government does not provide the machinery for sorting out the two classes of children. There is no medical inspector, and the decisions, if the classes were tried out in Peterboro would have to be made by a local doctor. Dr. MacMurchy believed that the parents would abide by such decisions.

But Inspector Mowat reported an experience that provided a different belief. The Inspector made a number of tests and "the parents told me what they thought of me," remarked Mr. Mowat.

"What success has been attained in the classes," asked Trustee Crane

At Ottawa, Dr. MacMurchy replied the class was an unqualified success. Of classes elsewhere the speaker could not speak so glowingly.

Some Problems

Mr. Eastwood remarked that in Ontario the cases were purely institutional cases, that is, cases which should be taken charge of by the government. "They cannot do the ordinary school work," explained Inspector Mowat.

Mr. Eastwood saw a real problem in sorting out the children, alloting them to classes and getting the parents to accept the rulings.

"Why should they be under the Board of Education?" asked Dr. Neal. "Why should the government not take them at the start?"

Mr. Eastwood remarked that "it looks hopeless to single out the mentally defective children. The department supplies no machinery."

"You've got everything except the doctor," said Dr. MacMurchy.

"In a place the size of Peterboro the cost is terrific," commented Dr. Neal. "Do you think it wise to start in a place this size?"

"Yes, I do," replied Dr. MacMurchy.

But the doctor, evidently, was a doubter. How could they be brought together at a central place, and what would become of the children after leaving school? Would the institution and the expense incurred be lost?

The Board did not take any action, other than to thank Dr MacMurchy for coming before them. Mr. Justice Hodgins, Government Commissioner is preparing a report concerning the case of mentally defective children, and the Board may defer taking any steps pending this report, and its consideration by the government.

Decisions by Tribunal Board in the City Council Chamber—Thought He Was Food Manufacturer.

At the tribunal in the Council Chamber this morning, Norman A. Shaughnessy, Haggart street, asked exemption on the plea that he is a textile worker with the Brinton Carpet Co., who wish to retain his services. Mr. Turner, the company's manager, supported Shaughnessy's claim, and offered that the government, while urging the fostering of textile education are crushing the textile trade by wholesale drafting of skilled citizens. This claim was disallowed.

Manufactures Food

George Hynes, 21 Crickett Place, claimed to be a manufacturer of food he being employed by the Quaker Oats Co., in their puffed rice department, and thus entitled to exemption. The Board, however, could not accept this view, and refused exemption.

Had a Bad Knee

Elmer B. Liddell, 164 Aylmer St., said he had been hit by a train on July 1st, 1914, sustaining injury to his knee, from the effects of which he is still suffering. He had told the Medical Board of his knee, but they did not examine it. Liddell was sent back for re-examination.

Judgment Deferred

Percy Hooper, 181 Dalhousie street claimed exemption on the ground that being a baker he is needed for food production, and that considerable money is invested in the business. He has one married brother. Mr. Aylmer thought that baking could hardly be classed in the food production category and decision was deferred.

Exemption Allowed

Ward Hiram Weaver, Claraday P. O., cultivates 40 acres near the exhibition grounds and has recently rented 100 acres at Harwood. His father and mother are living, but the former cannot give him material help on the land. His father is 71 years of age.

CAPT. BURNHAM'S ADDRESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

Election-day is December 17th. Its nearness admits of no further delay on the part of candidates in formally addressing you. It was hoped that political parties in West Peterborough might unite, as the members of the Borden Union Administration have done, in its support. But since the Liberal Convention has met and chosen its standard-bearer, who has not declared himself to be a supporter of the Borden Union Administration, it becomes necessary for me, without more, to solicit your suffrages. At the convention of the Conservatives of West Peterborough, duly assembled, I was chosen as their candidate to support Sir Robert Borden and his Administration. The Prime Minister has formed a Union Administration, composed of Conservative, Liberal and Labour representatives, to the end that he may the more fully and surely carry in a spirit of national unity and co-operation Canada's share in the war to a successful conclusion.

I pledge myself, therefore, with that same spirit of unity and co-operation, to support the Borden Union Administration and its policies, and I earnestly and respectfully solicit your votes and support accordingly. This is no ordinary political campaign, and it is hoped that all well-wishers of the Borden Union Administration will make every effort to secure the return of its supporters.

I have the honour to remain,

Yours truly,
J. H. BURNHAM.

NEW ROUTE TO WESTERN CANADA PROVING POPULAR

Runs Through Famous Belt of New Ontario and the Cobalt Mining District.

On your next trip to Western Canada why not travel over a new route, see the wonderful land opened up in Northern Ontario by the Transcontinental Railway and gain a glimpse of Temagami, and the Cobalt silver mining region?

You may use the famous trains on your journey without any added expense for railway fare as compared with any other route. The International Limited will carry you to Toronto, where "The National" starts on its westbound flight. "The National" uses the rails of the Grand Trunk to North Bay, the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario (Provincial Government Line) to Cochrane, and the Canadian Government Railways to Winnipeg, where it links up with the Grand Trunk Pacific for all important points in Western Canada.

A pleasant daylight run to Toronto, an evening in the Queen City, and "The National" is ready to carry you westward. The departure of "The National" from Toronto is at 9.00 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. North Bay is reached next morning and there opens up for your admiration all the lakeland beauties of the territory served by the T. & N. O. line. These are followed by a wonderfully interesting trip through the sparsely populated territory of New Ontario, giving the traveller an opportunity of inspecting this fertile region, including the famed clay belt where tens of thousands of settlers will make their homes in the future. The area of New Ontario is 330,000 square miles, fully four times the size of Old Ontario, and in addition to great expanses of good farming land, it has wonderful resources in timber, minerals, water power, fish and game.

The three railways have combined to make the passenger service over this new road the equal of that offered anywhere on the continent. The smooth, straight and level roadbed embodies all that has been learned in three quarters of a century of railroad building. The dining car service is unexcelled, and the greatest travel comfort is assured. Full particulars from any Grand Trunk Ticket Agent, or C. E. Horning, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

FIREMEN OUT AT MIDNIGHT HOUR

FURNACE PIPES START BLAZE IN HOUSE OCCUPIED BY T. McGARRITY

At 12.51 last night, Fire Chief Grange and his men were called out to a fire in the home of Thomas McGarrity, New Romaine street, where overheated pipes leading from the furnace, started a fire in a partition. The family were awakened, and with the help of the firemen succeeded in preventing the trouble from spreading. The damage amounted to about $100.

"The fire was outside the city limits, but we could not stand and see the people suffer," said the Chief.

Much of the furniture had been moved to another house as the family were about to vacate the dwelling.

The firemen had another run when a chimney fire broke out at the residence of George Mathers, 529 Rogers street.

G. W. V. A. WILL INVEST $1000 IN CANADA VICTORY BONDS

Seats for Soldiers Wives will be Reserved at the Borden Meeting Friday Night—Vice-President Toone Leaving for Ottawa.

The Great War Veterans' Association met in general session last night, Vice-President Toone presiding.

Chas. Mongour was admitted to membership.

Secretary Whatley reported the receipt of a cheque for $50 from Mr. G. N. Gordon, to be appropriated toward giving children of men overseas a Christmas treat.

On motion of Comrades Coleman and Koppick a vote of thanks will be tendered Mr. Gordon.

To Help At Post Office.

Captain Burnham notified the association that two men, from December 20th to 25th, and 15 boys, under 18, from December 21st to 25th will be needed to help deliver the Christmas' mail. The men will receive $2.50 a day and the boys $2 a day. These temporary positions are open to veterans and their boys in preference to others.

Comrades Victor Haggerman and M. J. Gahaghan were voted to fill the positions. A selection of boys could not be made at the meeting.

To Keep Out of Politics.

The Provincial Secretary of the G. W. V. A. wrote, sending a note of warning to the members to hold aloof from any political alliance, but at the same time to support the candidate for Union Government.

No Assistant Caretaker.

The Association was notified from Ottawa that it is not intended to appoint an assistant caretaker for the armories at present, but when such an appointment is decided on a veterans' nominee will have first consideration.

Discharge Papers Found.

Secretary Whatley reported that he had recovered the discharge papers lost by Comrade Patrick Bisonett, after advertising the loss of same. They are awaiting claim by their owner.

The balance sheet of the association showed both the relief and working funds to be in a healthy condition.

The Borden Meeting.

On invitation of Captain Burnham, the association appointed Secretary Whatley to preside at the Borden meeting on Friday night.

The Veterans will attend this event clothed in their khaki.

Seats will be reserved for soldiers' wives.

$1000 For Victory Bonds.

Secretary Whatley reported that Provincial Secretary Turley had advised investment by the association of $500 in Victory Bonds. He (Secretary Whatley) suggested that $1000 be used for this purpose.

On motion of Comrades Muir and Koppick, $1000 will be transferred from the relief fund into Victory Bonds.

Leaving For Ottawa.

Secretary Whatley notified the brethren that Vice-President Toone has accepted a position on the Association's Investigating Committee at Ottawa, and consequently will be leaving shortly.

A hearty vote of appreciation of valued service was here tendered Vice-President, who in returning suitable thanks said he hoped to still retain his membership in Peterborough branch, to which the meeting raised no objection.

G.W.V.A. Band.

Comrade Muir here wanted action taken on the question of forming a band for the association, and a delegation to wait upon the city council with a view to securing the 93rd instruments.

Secretary Whatley said the council is willing to hand over the instruments when the association can show that the nucleus of a band has been organized.

Comrades Hughes, Gilbert, Bodley and Harkness were named a committee to push this movement.

Comrade Hughes, late bandmaster of the 93rd, thought it would be wise to get 15 bandsmen as honorary members of the association. That number added to the eight or ten players in the order would form a promising nucleus for a good band. When the bandsmen who are overseas return they can be added to the organization, and then the G.W.V.A. will have a band to be proud of.

Secretary Whatley was instructed to write Dominion headquarters at Ottawa, and ascertain if honorary members for band purposes are permitted.

The sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, who was at the commencement of the present war, and has since continued to be, a British subject or a subject of an allied or neutral country, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion Land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for District. Entry by proxy may be made on certain conditions. Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of land in each of three years.

In certain districts a homesteader may secure an adjoining quarter-section as pre-emption. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Reside six months in each of three years after earning homestead patent and cultivate 50 acres extra. May obtain pre-emption patent as soon as homestead patent on certain conditions.

A settler after obtaining homestead patent, if he cannot secure a pre-emption, may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

Holders of entries may count time of employment as farm laborers in Canada during 1917, as residence duties under certain conditions.

When Dominion Lands are advertised or posted for entry, returned soldiers who have served overseas and have been honorably discharged, receive one day priority in applying for entry at local Agent's Office (but not Sub-Agency). Discharge papers must be presented to Agent.

INAUGURAL MEETING OF NEW 10-PIN LEAGUE

R. W. Williams Takes Presidencey of Organization.

Last night the inaugural meeting of the Ten Pin League, to be played at the Water street alleys, was held. The captain of each team was present, and the following officers were elected:

Hon. Pres.—Mayor Duffus.
President—R. W. McWilliams.
Vice-President—Mr. Jardine.
Sec.-Treas.—Wm. Henderson.
Executive: J. D. Fitzpatrick, H. Carter, R. N. Early, N. Routley, F. C. Weber, W. D. Thomas, E. Smith, E. McDonald and the officers.

The following are the opening games of the league:

Monday, Dec. 3—Grocers vs. West Ends.
Tuesday, Dec. 4—The Macs vs. De Laval.
Thursday, Dec. 6—High Rollers vs. C. G. E.
Friday, Dec. 7—Printers vs. Centrals.

Toronto vs. Peterboro

Mr. J. D. Fitzpatrick received word from the Toronto Bowling Club, the champions of the Commercial Five-Pin League of the Queen City, that they will play the second match of the inter-city championship on Saturday night next at the Water street alleys.

It will be remembered that the local rollers journeyed to Toronto a few weeks ago defeating this team in their own backyard, and a good game is expected as they are looking for revenge. All bowling enthusiasts and others are invited to witness this match.

NO SYMPATHY

Hockey Player Appears.

A doctor's certificate said Gordon Long, a former player on the local Junior O.H.A. team, was unfit for military service. The Military Board placed Long in Category A2. It was decided that the applicant should undergo another medical examination. "I am perfectly willing to go," said the former junior defence man.

Ernest Moore, aged 32, in Category A2, applied for exemption on all grounds except one. He put special emphasis on domestic grounds. One brother has been disallowed exemption and a third has yet to appear.

Judge Huycke could not understand why one or more of the brothers, all A2 men, had not enlisted.

"I think it is fairly understood that two of you should go and one remain," Judge Huycke told the applicant, who said his brothers had agreed that he should stay with the parents. Decision was deferred till Saturday.

Percy McFadden, a farmer in category A2, was exempted, so long as he remains in his present occupation. His claim was supported by J. Gordon Mann.

James V. Grady, a telegraph operator at the C.P.R. uptown office, applied for exemption on domestic grounds. The application was laid over until further information is secured relative to the disposition of cases where the claimants are employes of the C.P.R.

Mr. Skinner, the agent had a letter yesterday from the head office, asking for a list of A2 men in his office. The other male operator was previously given exemption till next July.

HERZOG BEST IN NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Experts seem to agree that the National League's best all around player is Charley Herzog of the Giants. Herzog can play anywhere except behind the bat. He made splendid records at third base and shortstop before he discovered that his skill as a second baseman was unsurpassed except by Eddie Collins. The National League for that matter seems to have a greater number of capable all around men than the American. Hi Myers of the Brooklyns is not far behind Herzog. Myers covered first base in dashing style when Daubert was incapacitated last summer. Then he filled Cutshaw's place at second base in excellent fashion. In September Myers was assigned to third base where he made the fans forget Mowrey and young O'Rourke. Yet Myers' natural position in centre field. Bert Niehoff of the Phillies has played every infield position. Fitzpatrick of the Braves has made good as an infield and outfield substitute. Heinie Groh of the Reds, one of the leading third basemen, has displayed rare quality at second and short. McKechnie, also of the Reds, is a versatile infielder, while First Baseman Hal Chase is a clever outfielder, and Shortstop Kopf has made good at the middle bag. Other conspicuous all around players in Gov. Tener's circuit are Hornsby and Betzel of the Cardinals, Kilduff and Merkle of the Cubs, Bigbee of the Pirates, Whitted of the Phillies, Sherwood Magee of the Reds, Burns, Zimmerman, Robertson and McCarty of the Giants and Johnson of the Robins.

MR. CAMPAZZIE AS A SONG WRITER

Mr. J. G. Campazzee is a gentleman of various attainments as was demonstrated at the performance of a "Prince O' Patters" at the Grand Opera House last night. Not only did he play the difficult role of a King with a conglommerate collection of subjects but he led the chorus in singing a topical song of his own composition, sung to the music as officially stated of "There was a little hen who had a wooden leg," from the Bing Boys. The following are the words of the song:

This job of King in Timberling
Used to be a sinecure,
And my fondest hope at all time was
That the condition would endure,
But since Sylvia Pankhurst butted in
With Carrie Chapman Catt.
The Timberling girls are not content.
'Till they're togged out just like that.

Now, isn't that the limit.
Now, isn't that the limit.
Now, isn't that the limit.
In this late day and age.

Sir Joseph's sure a hummer
In accumulating coin.
His specialty being sausage
And porky tenderloin,
With half a dollar bacon
And pork chops worth a farm,
Do you think another war tax
Would do Sir Joseph any harm?

Another little war tax,
Another little war tax,
Another little war tax,
Wouldn't do him any harm.

If you're seeking an exemption
Just take a tip from me,
There's no use in making effort
To deceive the Mighty Three.
They're on to every wrinkle,
So your camouflage won't work,
Let's get in to Canuck khaki
And "clean up" the Hun and Turk.

Another husky Rookie,
Another husky Rookie,
Another husky Rookie,
Will help to win the war.

The air is rife with rumor
And political disputes.
Looks as though some politicians
And the Huns were in cahoots,
Let's stop the petty bickering
And the everlasting jaw
And support the men of honor
Who want to win the war.

Let's support the worthy leaders,
Let's support the worthy leaders,
Let's support the worthy leaders
Who want to win the war.

Old Uncle Sam's a hustler,
When it comes to making war,
With his men and guns and munitions
Into Germany he'll bore.
When the Sammies join the Poilous
And the Tommies in the scrap,
They'll raise sure hell with Kaiser Bill
And wipe the Crown Prince off the map.

Another plucky Ally,
Another plucky Ally,
Another plucky Ally,
Will help us win the war.

Editor Review: If Labor in Peterborough would care to interview Sir Robert Borden or to occupy a few minutes in addressing the meeting I would be glad to arrange it. ACTIVE LIFE

nor: Sir George Ross and Sir Richard Cartwright.

Mr. McWilliams never tasted strong drink nor used tobacco.

On May 15, 1867, he was married to Miss Isabella Davidson, who survives him, together with three sons — Messrs. Roland F McWilliams, K. C., Winnipeg: Theodore McWilliams, of the Peterborough Hardware Company, city, and Dr. V. H. McWilliams, New York; and Mrs. Miller.

A HAPPY WOMAN

ald, the black-faced comedian, and the only man whose part called for a cork-treated countenance. A native could not have played the part more true to life, and his work at no time was overdrawn. There is a future in the minstrel line for Mr. Fitzgerald if he ever cares to take up the stage as a profession.

Mr Herbert Rush was Piper Heidseick, the owner of a house of public entertainment for men and monarchs. He was an Irishman, and one of the hits of the evening was his leading the chorus in singing "Ireland Must Be Heaven, for My Mother Was Born There."

Mr. Donald Denham looked the part of the Harvard professor who had a weakness for side-whiskers and the collection of butterflies, a man who was under due subjection to Miss Jessie Spence, his wife for the purposes of the play.

Miss Jessie Cressman was a native princess, and Miss Madge Graham, in a gay and natty uniform, was a prince of the royal line, and a duet which they sang together was one of the most popular offerings in the bill.

Miss Mabel Patterson as Stella Foxey was no stranger to the audience, and her work last night was equal to her representation of the enchanting young widow in "The Turning Point" a year ago.

Misses Helen McLaren, Florence Scott and Mrs. Marguerite Birnie all sustained their reputations both as actors and vocalists.

Mr. D. Lennox McLaren's role appeared to be to reinforce the comic offerings of the colored gentlemen by a contrasted variety of lighter vein, and he faithfully performed his task.

The Beauty Chorus.

Mr. NeVille evidently combed the city from end to end to get the prettiest bunch of chorus girls that was ever seen together on a stage. They were: Marie McCarthy, Irene Scott, Genevieve McCarthy, Hazel Laton, Stella Fleming, Olga Johnson, Annie Kelly, Stella Cuffe, Lettie Shearer, Mazie Armstrong, May Lynn, Phyllis Dawson, Ida Lynn, Celia Dunsford, Margery Hatton, Seabourne Hamilton, Georgia Stevenson, Olive Conway, Edith Kerr, Mamie Cottingham, Alice MacFarlane, Kathleen Fanning, Emma Worth, Mamie Drope, Hazel Austin, Esmie Aylmer, Helen Stapleton, Gladys Mulholland, Margaret Eastwood, Dorothy Amor and Margaret Neill.

Musical Numbers.

The musical program was as follows:

Opening Chorus, "Where Do We Go From Here."
Duet, "Show Me the Way to Loveland"—Prince and Marie.
His Own Composition—The King.
For Me and Ma Gal—Marie and Chorus.
The Bluebird—Rita and Chorus.
Hong Kong—Nakita and Chorus.

Sir Robert Borden to Speak at the Armouries, Friday Evening, Nov. 30th, at 8 O'clock

VOTE FOR REFERENDUM IS VOTE AGAINST THE BOYS IN TRENCHES AND FOR KAISER

Dr. Shields Says Only Way the Line can be Reinforced is by the Selective Draft—Everybody, Muddles, but the British Muddle Through.

The only way that the line can be reinforced is by selective draft. We must have men.

While I do not charge men with entending it, it is my deliberate judgment that any man or woman who votes for the referendum, is casting a vote against the boys in the trenches, and for the Kaiser.

The enemy is at work and at our gates. I wonder that Henri Bourassi has not been put in jail.

Why is it that the United States is not ready with 3,000,000 men tonight? The answer is Bernstorff and his horde.

An air raid in London will teach you more in ten minutes than you can learn from your newspapers in ten months.

It is no accident that less than 15,000 French Canadians are not in uniform. It is design.

Anything that threatens to dampen the enthusiasm of Canada is serving the Kaiser.

Gen. Turner said that so far as the Canadians were concerned he had the liquor question well in hand. If the men were suddenly transported to Canada we wouldn't be able to handle them any better.

Everybody muddles, but the British muddle through.

The above were some of the observations made by Rev. T. T. Shields, D.D. of Toronto in his lecture on England in wartime, before a large congregation in Murray street Baptist church last night.

Dr. Shields spent considerable time in England, since the outbreak of war. He sat by the side of the wounded, he chatted with the mourners; on one ocasion, in St. Paul's Cathedral he had a seat fifteen feet from the King; he has been in the war zone, both on sea and on land—he has felt the pulse of Britain, and last night he gave to his audience the impressions gained from the experience.

But he did more. Coming back to

WAS AFRAID OF BRIBING THE MEDICAL EXAMINERS

Reason Offered by Young Man for Concealing His Ailments—Given Another Chance.

At the tribunal in the Council Chamber today, W. Leslie Hardwick, 489 Cross street, storeman in the Peterborough Hardware Co. He has two brothers at the front, both wounded, father and mother and two young sisters at home, and asked exemption on the ground that he is the only boy left at home. Exemption was granted until Class 2 is called up.

Austrian Exempted.

Mike Germak, a naturalised Austrian, residing in the city, a laborer by occupation, was exempted. his naturalization papers only dating back to 1915.

Physically Unfit.

John Roland Knox, son of Mr. John Knox, R. R. No. 7, Peterborough, has been too ill with pleurisy to appear before the tribunal or medical examiners. A letter from Dr. Moir stated that the young man might never be fit for service. Exemption was allowed until his physical fitness has been finally determined, and his services are required.

Exemption Granted.

George Murray Goodfellow, 583 Park street, was allowed exemption until he is no longer employed as inspector of shells.

One Taken, Other Left.

John Dougal Matchett, father of Alexander Matchett, asked exemption for his son on the ground that he himself cannot do much work, and both his sons are needed to cultivate his 285 acres of farm land in Otonabee. The tribunal ruled that Matchett can spare one of his two sons, and while allowing exemption for John Dongal, aged 26, refused exemption of the younger, Jas. Hutchinson, aged 22.

Must Don The Khaki.

James Stephen Guirey, 171 Perry street, a shell operator, late with the Metal Product Co., asked exemption for domestic and occupation reasons. He has two brothers in khaki, but not overseas. His father is a locomotive engineer with the C.P.R.

Would Not Bribe Doctors.

Archie Rose, Lundy Block, married July 28th, a weaver by trade, with the Brinton Carpet Co., asked exemption on the ground of ill health. His certificate is A2, but he claimed to be a chronic sufferer from more than one complaint of which he had not told the medical board. He understood from the papers that bribing the doctors by informing them, when being examined, of any weakness in one's physical condition was not allowed. Mr. Aylmer explained the difference between bribery and informing a doctor of one's ailments, and was allowed another chance with the medical examiners.

"B" Exemptions.

Gordon Douglas Carlisle, 359 Reid street.

Wm. Percy Killen, R. R. No. 1, Peterborough.

CAPT. HOTCHKIS

Capt. Hotchkis, late of the Imperial Veterinary Corps, France, who was invalided home and honorably discharged as unfit for further service, paid a surprise visit to Dr. T. Johnson's office yesterday. Capt. Hotchkis was a student with Dr. Johnston in 1913. He was in France for two years and six months.

Capt. Hotchkis was recently appointed one of the inspectors of the Department at Ottawa. He is the guest of Dr. Johnston.

ARTHUR HAWKES' MISSION

Capt. Burnham today received the following despatch from A. H. Birmingham, secretary of the Liberal-Conservative Association for Ontario:

"No one authorized to overhaul any organization. Hawkes sent out by Win-the-War League to speak, and, I believe, to write, impressions of conditions."

London—The Daily Mail says if [illegible] wins the election, Canada must drop out of the war.

SEE THAT WOMEN ARE ENROLLED

Notwithstanding the uncertainty as to WHO is entitled to vote, and HOW and WHERE to get their names on the list, the Mothers, Wives, Widows, Sisters and Daughetrs of the glorious Peterborough and district soldier heroes who are sleeping their last sleep in France, or who are still overseas suffering the tortures of the damned and still willing to sacrifice their lives to save the hides of those of US who stay at home in safety, THESE DESPERATELY ANXIOUS WOMEN WILL NOT BE TRICKED OUT OF THEIR VOTES.

Only a few days remain for getting their names on the list, and great ignorance prevails as to WHO is entitled to have their names enrolled. Nevertheless the men folk f the women who are entitled to vote will take care to see that the great bulk of these women are enrolled. DEATH OF HUGH S. MACDONALD

FOR TWENTY-FIVE YEARS HE WAS ENGAGED IN THE DRUG BUSINESS

At Nicholls Hospital yesterday evening there passed away one of Peterborough's well known citizens in the person of Mr. H. S. Macdonald. The illness that terminated in his death was of about six weeks duration.

The late Mr Macdonald came to Peterborough thirty-seven years ago, and for over twenty-five years of that time was engaged in the drug business in the stand at the corner of Hunter and George streets, now known as Kent's drug store.

He is survived by his widow, three daughters, Mrs. W. P. Reynolds of Lethbridge, Alta., Margaret and Helen at home; also by three sons, W. D. and H. F. of Detroit, and Sapper J. Douglas, who is at present in a military convalescent hospital in Woolwich, England, where he is recovering from severe wounds sustained while on active service at the front. One sitser, Miss E. F. Macdonald resides in Montreal.

The funeral will be held from the family residence, 338 Rubidge street, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The service will be conducted by Rev. R. Pogue of St. Paul's church where Mr. Macdonald was for many years a valued and honored member.

THOUSANDS TO HEAR PREMIER

ENTHUSIASTIC GATHERING LISTENS TO SIR ROBERT AT WINDSOR

Windsor, Nov. 28. — Over seven thousand people, the biggest and most enthusiastic crowd Sir Robert Borden has addressed since opening the Union Government election campaign, packed the Armories in this city last night to hear the Premier's message. The great building was jammed to the doors an hour before the meeting was billed to commence. Hundreds went away disappointed, realizing there was no possibility of gaining admission, but a great crowd still remained outside, vainly clamoring for admittance, and it was finally decided to hold an overflow meeting in the Salvation Army Hall. Escorted by a guard of honor composed of men who have served their country in Flanders, the Prime Minister was accompanied by ex-Mayor Joseph Oliver, Toronto, by the two Union candidates in Essex, Lt.-Col. Wigle, who distinguished himself on Flanders' fields, where he commanded the famous 18th Battalion of Western Ontario, and Capt. (Dr.) J. W. Brien, South Essex, who has given notable war service with the A. M. C. Enthusiastic cheering mingled with the strains of martial music played by the band of the 21st Essex Fusiliers as the Premier mounted the platform.

MR. ROWELL HERE WITH PREMIER

Capt. Burnham received a wire this afternoon stating that Hon. N. W. Rowell will be in the city with Premier Borden Friday and will address the meeting in the Armories.

Gompers Leads Labor Parade

Toronto, Nov. 28.—Probably the biggest international figure in the huge spectacular Victory Loan holiday parade here today was Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor. Gompers rode in an automobile with several local labor officials at head of the labor section of the parade.

EMPLOYMENT APPLICATIONS ARE NUMEROUS

SOLDIERS' AID COMMISSION WILL ASK EMPLOYERS TO GIVE WORK TO RETURNED MEN

WILL MISS MR. LOGIE

How to deal with the unemployment among returned soldiers who find their outside work cut off by the coming in of winter, and how best to deal with the unemployment question generally as it effects the returned men, was the important question discussed by the Soldiers Aid Commission in meeting last night in the local office of the commission.

Many applications for employment were received from men who have seen service in France or have been on duty in England but have now returned to civil life.

It was decided that the employers of labor in Peterborough be communicated with, seeking their aid and co-operation in the problem of the moment.

The Commission on motion of Mr. E. F. Mason and Ald. A. H. Stratton, the chairman, took occasion to pass a resolution extending to Mr. Gordon Logie, the warm thanks and appreciation of the Commission for his splendid work in the interest of the work being carried on by the organization and regretting his removal to Edmonton.

London—The British casualties last week announced to 31,314, including six thousand dead.

SMITH FARMER'S HOME IS WIPED OUT BY FIRE

Samuel Northey Lost Home and Bulk of Furniture.

Samuel Northey, a well known farmer on Concession 14 of Smith, on the main road from Selwyn to Buckhorn, suffered a heavy loss by fire yesterday afternoon, when his large brick dwelling and practically all the household effects were destroyed. Neighbors gave much assistance but their combined efforts were of little avail in the attempt to stay the course of the flames.

Fortunately, the wind was not dangerous, and none of the outbuildings were burned. The barns were well filled with crops.

The fire started about 1.30 and was caused by over-heated pipes or a defective chimney. In a comparatively short time, only the blackened brick walls of the dwelling were left.

Included in the loss was a considerable quantity of furniture, the property of Mr. Northey's widowed daughter who with her four children had their home there.

The fire loss is partly covered by insurance.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 28, 1917

VOTING AGAINST THE PARTY.

THERE ARE MEN in Canada who at the coming election will vote against the Liberal party for the first time in their lives. Others cannot yet bring themselves to the point of deciding to do so. Old habits are strong. The political faith of a lifetime is not easily shed.

The life-long Liberal who on December 17 votes for the Union Government is not really abandoning his party except on the one great issue of the war. He is not voting for a Conservative, but for a Union Government. He is not voting for a Conservative candidate, but for such staunch Liberals as F. B. Carvell and N. W. Rowell, by whom he has sworn for years, and the other Liberal members of the Union Government. There are eight of them now. It will be a fifty-fifty government, according to the promise of Premier Borden, if the people approve of it at the polls.

The man who breaks away from the associations of a lifetime and votes for the Union Government may be just as good a Liberal as he ever was. He really surrenders none of his political principles. He gives up none of his allegiance to his departed leaders, Mackenzie or Brown, but is voting just as those devoted patriots would advise him to vote if they could speak to him today. They are gone, but surely thir influence still lives. George Brown entered a union government in 1867 to create the Canadian nation. Were he living today he would take the same course, make the same personal sacrifice to save what he helped to form out of the chaos of five separate and jarring provinces.

The Liberal who votes for the Union Government gives up none of the allegiance to the principles of his party. He does not change his views on the all-important question of trade or on the problem of railway regulation. All these matters are in abeyance for the time. The Government to be elected is simply a war-time Government, to last only until victory is achieved. The election that follows peace will be a real settlement of all the issues before the country, and every man can return to his own political camp.

The London Daily Mail can surely take an impartial view of the situation in Canada. It says today that if Sir Wilfrid Laurier is elected, Canada must drop out of the war. Are the Canadian people to bring upon themselves such a condition after all these millions have been spent, after all these promising young lives have been lost? Is Canada, in effect, to record as its verdict that these sacrifices of blood and treasure have been unwarranted from the outset, and that her sons have worse than died in vain? That is how other nations would interpret a withdrawal from the war before victory is assured.

The people know just what to expect from the Union Government and from the Lauriar party should the latter be placed in power. All other belligerent countries with the exception of Australia have avoided an election since the war broke out. An office-hungry faction has forced this nation into a division at a time when all should be harmony. Let there be unity instead of party strife. Let all unite to win the war.

GETTING THE DINNER READY.

BACKED UP by his party organ, Mr. Hall continues to preach that the outstanding need of our Allies is more food, and not the reinforcements they are calling for. The Examiner would not send men overseas, but would set them to work producing food and building ships.

The present rate of production relieves the world of all alarm as to the likelihood of a famine. The United Stater has embarked on a shipbuilding campaign such as was never before designed by any nation. The Americans have the facilities and the men for this purpose and millions besides for military service. There should be no overlapping of effort by the various allies.

Mr. Hall and The Examiner are in the position of members of a family who, when the house is on fire, refuse to help put out the blaze, but volunteer to prepare diner for those who take the risk. They are willing to have Canadians help in the work of winning the war, but only as sutlers and cooks.

THE WORK OF THE ENUMERATORS.

THE ENUMERATORS who are engaged in the work of preparing the voters' list for the coming election are supposed to complete their labors by the end of the month, after which the work of revision will begin. The main duty of the enumerators has been to secure the names of those who will be entitled to vote for the first time, the women kin of soldiers overseas especially.

Complaints are received at this office daily from residents who claim that they have been passed over by the officials. There will be a chance to supply any omissions that may occur. In the meantime, any whose names have not been taken will save themselves and the election officials further trouble if they will look up the enumerator in their district and have their names recorded. A list of the enumerators in the various wards and townships throughout the riding will be found printed in another column of this issue.

It is possible that enumerators have made mistakes in their work through a lack of understanding of their duties. All such errors, however, will be corrected. One enumerator in the city was reported to this office as refusing to take the names of any young men who had applied for exemption. No such provision is made in the new Franchise Act. None are to be disfranchised except those born in enemy countries and who were not naturalized prior to 1902.

Every married women and widow entitled to vote on December 17 should be designated on the voters' list by her own Christian name, not by that of her husband. Have the enumerator write it Mrs. Jane Smith, not Mrs. William Smith. You will lose your vote on election day if this formality has not been observed. Any woman who has the vote should have individuality enough to be recognized by her own name instead of being sheltered under that of her husband.

Several soldiers' wives have removed from the city in order to find cheaper domiciles. Enumerators have refused in some cases to take the names of these. This, too, is held to be an erroneous interpretation of the Act. No woman should lose her vote by a recent change of residence.

The clause in the new law which says what women are entitled to vote is reprinted in another column. All are urged to avail themselves of the privilege. There are buried in France and Flanders thirty-five thousand young Canadians, the flower of the national life, who would have voted at this election but for the sacrifice they so ungrudgingly made. Their grieving female relatives at home are given the oportunity to take the places of the gallant dead at the polling booths and vote as they believe in their hearts the country's martyrs would have voted had they been spared.

FARMERS AND EXEMPTION.

MAGISTRATE DUMBLE says that here is no wholesale exemption of farmers designed by the Military Service Act, and that anything the politicians may say to this effect is not to be taken literally. The Magistrate is certainly right, and any prominent public man whose statements have been so construed has been misunderstood.

Every day some authoritative explanation of this feature of the Act is given the public. Only yesterday it was announced that it was designed to leave one farmer's son on every hundred acres to assist his father in working the land. That should practically leave conditions undisturbed in Peterborough county.

If a farmer has one hundred acres of land, and, say, five grown sons, it will generally be found that only one of them has remained at home. The others are usually following a profession or some other line of work in the cities. The son on the homestead will be exempted, the others must take their chances under the Act. Even if the son at home is denied exemption by the tribunals, Minister of Militia Mewburn makes it clear that he will not be compelled to do military duty. The best possible service he can render the coutry is to help in the campaign of production.

The same ruling will apply to bona fide farm laborers. The Act is a measure intended to protect the farmers, not to cripple them still further. It will be so understood before it is put into final operation.

SEE THE PREMIER.

THE FARMERS appear to be in some doubt as to just how the Military Service Act is likely to affect their interests. They have been confused, instead of enlightened, by legal members of the tribunals, who insist on technicalities. The farmers should accept the invitation of Capt. Burnham and send a deputation to interview Sir Robert Borden when he is in this city Friday. The Premier is the only man who can speak with authority on this subject, and Capt. Burnham will arrange an interview, just as he has offered to do on behalf of Organized Labor.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

LIKE THE GREEK of old, Mr. Hall approaches the Allies bearing gifts.

• • • •

TALKING of German tools, there are Trtozky, Lenine and Laurierism.

• • • •

DO YOUR Christmas shopping early, especitily in buying those Victory Bonds.

• • • •

MR. HALL'S propaganda is the Trojan horse that he sends as a gift to the men in the trenches.

• • • •

RUSSIA, for quitting the war, is execrated by every civilized nation on earth. Is Canada to bring a like curse upon her own head?

• • • •

THERE DOESN'T seem to be much in a name after all. Kitchener could not have done worse, even if it were still known as Berlin.

• • • •

AND NOW SOMEONE suggests a smokeless day. "War has its horrors," remarks the confirmed disciple of My Lady Nicotine, "other than elections."

• • • •

HOWEVER, put yourself in Mr. Hall's place and you would probably hand out the same line of talk, none other to be found to answer the purpose.

• • • •

There being some doubt as to whether the greatest need of Europe is a big American army or vast stores of American supplies, Uncle Sam is obligingly sending both. —Chicago News.

CANNOT Mr. Hall see the question in that light?

OPINIONS OF OTHER EDITORS.

No Kaiser-Made Peace.

(Detroit Free Press.)

There's one thing about this war—no one who has been to France and seen the effects of it comes back wanting to make peace on the Kaicer's terms.

A Precedent.

(New York World.)

The Germans were once nearer to Paris than they are to Verdun, but they did not get there.

Useful Service.

(Chicago Herald.)

What is the British navy doing? Among other things helping us to get our soldiers across without loss of life.

Beyond Laurier's Appeal.

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)

Hon. W. L. M. King says that a Laurier Government will raise troops by appealing to the nation's chivalry. Much of the nation's chivalry is overseas and beyond Sir Wilfrid's appeal. The appeal in behalf of our defenders was made in vain to Sir Wilfrid's own chivalry.

Worth Money To See.

(Hamilton Herald.)

Merely to see George E. Foster and Newton W. Rowell on the same political platform would be worth a respectable admission fee. As an openig hymn, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" would be appropriate.

THE TRIUMPH OF THE TANKS

Gen. Byng's remarkable victory this week against the German forces in front of Cambrai was due in large measure to the effective service performed by a large number of armed and armored tractors, the so called tanks, which first waddled into worldwide fame a year ago last September. Then the famous landships, Cognac and Creme de Menthe, went out at a late stage of the battle of the Somme and cleaned up a series of German trenches amid shouts of laughter from the appreciative Tommies. More and more tanks have been fighting with the British army ever since, levelling barbed wire and overcoming machine gun resistance.

Col. Swinton, the first commander of tank crews, officially shares with Winston Spencer Churchill, former first lord of the admiralty and now minister of munitions, the credit for conceiving the idea of designing and employing these effective fighting machines. The task of developing them was assigned to a small expert committee presided over by the chief naval constructor of the admiralty. The British war office says on this point: "There is a certain analogy between the principles of construction involved in building a ship and those to be taken into consideration in planning a machine required to travel over very broken country and exposed to similar strains and stresses in crossing trenches and plunging in and out of shell holes. Hence the knowledge and experience of the chief naval constructor were invaluable as chairman of the committee on designs."

A year was passed in experimentation. Then workable tanks were constructed and elaborately tested in England. The secret was successfully guarded and so the tanks were a complete surprise to the Germans when the weird contrivances first appeared in war array. Though "the cramped quarters, the head splitting noise and the difficulty of ascertaining what was going on outside made the lives of the tank crew anything but agreeable in battle," the service has proved very popular with the men. There is now in the British army a special tank corps commanded by a director general.

"In France," says the British war office in a special report on the subject, "the tanks have been in action in successively increasing numbers at each attack delivered on a large scale. At Arras in April, at Messines in June and at the third battle of Ypres in August they have continued their valuable work." The Germans are still trying to discover ways successfully to combat them, having now "established special observers and aeroplanes to watch for tanks and signal their appearance and guns both in the rear and in the trenches to deal with them. Armor piercing bullets are served out to their riflemen and machine gunners for use at close quarters and elaborately concealed tank traps are prepared to engulf the monsters."

In the face of all these efforts the tanks go waddling on to victory.

WHEN THE TOTAL IS PULLED

Saturday is the first of December and the last day of the Victory Loan.

The totals will be added up at noon. The whole country will hold its breath—to see whether or not we have done what we aimed to do—double the subscription to the Victory Loan.

Think what a blow that will be to the spirit of the Germans. Think how it will make them feel—"Canada doubles her subscription!" "Canadian spirit unquenchable!" "Canada gives twice what she is asked!"

Such a piece of news will have a clear and definite effect upon the morale of the enemy. It will have an unmistakable and serious effect. It will actually help shorten the war by weakening his resistance.

But if, when the last figures are punched in on the adding machine, and the last total is "pulled," we have fallen short—what delight for the Kaiser. . . . "Canada weakens!" . . . "Promised double-subscription fails!" . . . "Canadians war weary!" THINK!

And it may just be the lack of a few fifty, hundred or five hundred dollar subscriptions It may just be for lack of those dollars you did not subscribe.

Don't let the failure rest on Canada.

Subscribe again before it is too late.

TODAY'S STORY

"After this when the McMix family gets into a hot argument I hope they keep it to themselves," remarked the janitor's wife on meeting the woman from the third floor. "The one who settles arguments for others is always taking the count, my Oswald says.

"It happened like this, Mrs. Zimmer. It seems Mr. McMix was supposed to be home for dinner at a prompt hour one evening last week. He never showed up till 11.30. When he did come home the neighbors all knew it. For two hours and a little bit more she just sat down and gave him a few hundred reasons why she was sorry sha married him in the first place. She told him he had no manners and she always knew it. She said everything along those lines — you know how.

"But I must say Mr. McMix was every inch a gentleman all through the argument. I happened to be sitting by the ventilator where the voices come down and I never heard his answer once. The next morning when I passed their apartment she called me in. She asked me if the telephone wires of the building was out of order at any time last evening. I said I would have to know the reason why she asked. You got to be wise in our business.

"She then told me how Mr. McMix never showed up till the nice dinner she had cooked could almost be used for breakfast. The whole time she was telling the story Mr. McMix was sitting at the table drinking ice water and looking sad. Then he pardoned himself. He said it was all a most horrible mistake. He said he was detained at the office and tried seventeen times to get Mrs. McMix on the phone. But the bloomin' phone was out of order or something. Then Mrs. McMix piped up and said the whole thing rested on whether or not the phone was out of order, as he said. She doubted it, but would ask me to tell them.

"Mrs. Zimmer, I wisht you could see the funny eye Mr. McMix gave me without her noticing it. It went to my heart cause I knew the poor feller was in trouble and maybe my Oswald would be in the same kind of a fix some time. I said, 'Mrs. McMix, that phone was completely on the bum last night. I think there was frost on the wires or something. When I tried to phone myself it seemed to have spasms.'

"When I left a minute later she was putting her arms around his neck and asking him if he ever could forgive her for doubting him so. Now they pass me by like a pair of icicles. No more for me! When they have family troubles after this they can call the police station and ask for an officer."

A FAIR HEARING

Editor Review:—I notice in the Daily Press that the complaint is made that Sir Robert Borden does not get a fair hearing at his meetings and that some of them are disturbed to such an extent that he can only get a very indifferent hearing.

I trust that when he comes to Peterborough he will have no cause to complain on that account.

There is no doubt that the maladministration of Sir Robert Borden during this last six years deserves the severest censure. He has tamely submitted to the grafter. He has permitted the food Barons to become millionaires at the expense of the people. He has done nothing to stimulate food production and has simply advised the working people to eat less. He has neglected the soldier's widow and the orphan. He has ground down the soldier to starvation wages and has let the returned soldier hunt for a job instead of making proper provision for him. He has outraged public sentiment.

I trust the electors will give him every opportunity to excuse himself and reserve their expressions of condemnation and disapproval for the 17th of December. Yours truly.

R. R. HALL'S ADDRESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH

I have the honor to accept the unamious nomination of the Liberal Party to contest the election as a Candidate to represent the people of West Peterborough in the House of Commons.

MASSES REQUIRE JUSTICE

Now is the time in the history of this country when we should be guided by true Liberal principles and stand by the masses as against the classes; stand by the people who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow and against the classes who exact unjust profits and extortionate tolls out of even the very necessities of life.

WAR POLICY

Today we are engaged in a great War with the Germanic powers in defence of Canada and the Empire. In the great struggle is involved the very existence of the freedom and liberty of mankind.

Our duty is plain. Our course is clear. We must prepare for any sacrifice of blood and treasure. We must fight Germany until we secure a just and a lasting peace. In this resolve all Canadians are united from Lake Champlain to the North Pole and from our furthest East to our furthest West.

Such being our Nation's resolution I pledge myself to support any effective war measure no matter from what source it may come. We must give immediate and constant support to our noble Canadian armies who have covered themselves with glory. We must support them with men. We must feed them. The rich and poor alike must serve. Our only difference is in how to serve but serve we will.

FOOD PRODUCTION

Great Britain has appealed to Canada to send her 300,000,000 bushels of wheat to feed her teeming millions and those of Italy and of France.

This enormous quantity of wheat would feed 40,000,000 people for a whole year. This shows our Allies want food.

To this appeal the Borden Rowell Government only answers, eat-less, slay and eat the calf and the lamb and prepare for meatless days.

Let the Government encourage the Farmer to produce more. Give him agricultural implements duty free. Supply him with suitable labor on fair terms to till the soil. Use our banks and Loan Companies to lend him money on fair and easy terms of payment to assist in every possible way to plant and produce food stuffs. Supply the farmer with steam or gasoline tractors to enable one man to do the work of five. Shield us from the profiteer who plunders the farmer and robs the consumer, makes a profit of a million a year and supports Sir Robert Borden and his hypnotizer Sir Joseph Flavelle.

A forward policy on these lines would be a double blessing. It would reduce the cost of living at home and would help supply the necessities of our Allies overseas.

Remember one single North West farmer produces 2000 bushels of wheat per year when well directed and equipped. 100,000 men would produce 200,000,000 bushels of wheat. Those already on the ground in the North West properly equipped and manned could produce 200,000,000 bushels more.

I pledge myself, if elected, to support prompt and immediate efforts to reduce the high cost of living.

BORDEN DISCRIMINATES AGAINST ENGLAND

Since the war began the Borden Government imposed an increased duty of 5 per cent. on British made goods entering Canada. This should be removed at once. Our great Mother of Nations has troubles enough without the Borden Government thus increasing them.

PROFITEERS AND SOLDIERS

The profits made by War Profiteers should be investigated. The profiteer should be made to disgorge his excessive profits to be used to increase the pay of our soldiers and to increase the pensions or allowances to our soldiers, their mothers, wives, sisters and dependents. None of them should ever be subjected to the indignity of "cold charity" by this grateful Nation on whose behalf they have suffered or died.

NO CONFIDENCE IN BORDEN

Sir Robert Borden has been for six years and is now the Prime Minister of this Country. Its chief head and front with full power to choose and remove his Ministers. He is appealing to this Country under an assumed name, but the policies and methods of his Government remain.

I cannot stop to repeat the well known charges of grafting proved on sworn testimony from the mouths of unwilling witnesses respecting the purchase of motors, of horses, of binoculars, of bandages, of drugs, of boots, of shells of gauze fuse and of all the implements of war

These unseemly transactions have taken place under the nose of Sir Robert Borden who now seeks to stifle and conceal further investigation with the hollow pretense of so called Union Government which in no sense whatever represents true believers in the principles of justice, truth and liberalism.

BORDEN CONDEMNED FOR SUPPLYING DEFECTIVE AMMUNITION

I have no confidence whatever in Sir Robert Borden who supplied our troops for many months with the Ross Rifle and defective ammunition which he must have known would jam and become a useless weapon after our Canadian boys had nobly entered the battle. The Ross Rifle was used by our troops at the six battles of St. Julien, of Givenchy, of Festubert, of St. Floi, of Zillebeke and of Sanctuary Wood. In each battle the rifle jammed and many a Canadian soldier was needlessly killed or wounded and some of them today languish in German prisons justly cursing the Borden Government without a chance of voting against it.

GRAFTERS

We must destroy the parasite, the profiteer, the grafter and camp follower, who are our worst enemies and fight our common foe with all the resources at our command.

TO OUR NOBLE WOMEN

I [illegible] to the women of this Riding who are casting their vote for the first time to act on the pure impulse of your heart alone and vote according to the dictates of your own conscience. My heart goes out in sympathy for you in these anxious times. I know your "beloved is white and ruddy; the chiefest among ten thousand. His countenance is as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars" and by him and his I pledge myself to stand.

UNITY OF ACTION AND SENTIMENT

Let us unite our people in this Great War as the armies of Great Britain and of France are united, marching and fighting side by side, the parents and guardians of Freedom and Justice.

"With firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right" I appeal to you fellow electors to press on to finish the great war in which we are engaged "to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, his widow and the orphan to do all which we may achieve and cherish a just and a lasting peace with all nations."

For these reasons I appeal to you my fellow electors for your vote and influence in the pending election.

Your Obedient Servant.

Taunton, Mass.—"I had pains in both sides and when my periods came I had to stay at home from work and suffer a long time. One day a woman came to our house and asked my mother why I was suffering. Mother told her that I suffered every month and she said, 'Why don't you buy a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' My mother bought it and the next month I was so well that I worked all the month without staying at home a day. I am in good health now and have told lots of girls about it."—Miss CLARICE MORIN, 22 Russell Street, Taunton, Mass.

CITY WILL NOT MAKE APOLOGY

KITCHENER COUNCIL REFUSES TO REGRET INSULT TO PREMIER

Kitchener, Nov. 27. A special meeting of the City Council was held Monday afternoon, called by Mayor Gross at which he suggested that an apology on behalf of the city be tendered to Sir Robert Borden for the treatment he received on Saturday evening when he was howled down and refused a hearing by rowdies in the gallery. By a majority of 7 to 3, the members were of the opinion that events at the Unionist meeting were no worse than what transpired here at New Year's when the city was put under martial law for several days, and also that as the disturbances were created at a political meeting, therefore no action should be taken. No apology will be tendered by the Council, was the final decision.

WHITE RIVER, ONTARIO.

Where It Is, And What It Is Noted For.

White River is a divisional point on the main line of the C.P.R. about half way between Sudbury and Fort William, and is directly north of the centre of Lake Superior, on the height of land separating the waters flowing north to Hudson Bay from those flowing south to Lake Superior. Its altitude is about 1350 feet above sea level. While it has a population of less than 300, it has the reputation of being one of the coldest (if not actually the coldest) places known, and its only rival is a small, obscure place on the north-eastern corner of Siberia.

The Dominion Weather Bureau has had a station there for a number of years, and while the figures given out by the first observers were viewed with some suspicion, frequent changes of instruments and observers, have but confirmed the first reports. Lower figures are reached in White River, Ont., than in Dawson City, or Nome, Alaska, and not only are lower cold dips recorded, but mean figures for the winter are lower in White River than in the Yukon.

The section of country where White River is located is not only high but is located in the path that most of the cold dips take on their passage from the great plains of the West on their way eastward.

CAPT. BURNHAM'S ADDRESS

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

Election-day is December 17th. Its nearness admits of no further delay on the part of candidates in formally addressing you. It was hoped that political parties in West Peterborough might unite, as the members of the Borden UnionAdministration have done, in its support. But since the Liberal Convention has met and chosen its standard-bearer, who has not declared himself to be a supporter of the Borden Union Administration, it becomes necessary for me, without more, to solicit your suffrages. At the convention of the Conservatives of West Peterborough, duly assembled, I was chosen as their candidate to support Sir Robert Borden and his Administration. The Prime Minister has formed a Union Administration, composed of Conservative, Liberal and Labour representatives, to the end that he may the more fully and surely carry in a spirit of national unity and co-operation Canada's share in the war to a successful conclusion.

I pledge myself, therefore, with that same spirit of unity and co-operation, to support the Borden Union Administration and its policies, and I earnestly and respectfully solicit your votes and support accordingly. This is no ordinary political campaign, and it is hoped that all well-wishers of the Borden Union Administration will make every effort to secure the return of its supporters.

I have the honour to remain,

Yours truly,

J. H. BURNHAM.

Peterborough, Nov. 10, 1917.

TO THE ELECTORS OF EAST PETERBORO

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

I believe no greater disaster could at the present time befall our country than the defeat of the Borden Union Administration at the polls on December 17th.

The policy of this Administration is the speedy and continuous reinforcements of our Canadian troops on the battlefront; and the putting forth of all our national strength for the cause of civilization and freedom.

To carry out this policy, a number of Canada's ablest public men of vision—sinking for the present all political differences—now stand together—strong to battle for the right—united to WIN THE WAR.

For over three years thousands of loyal Canadians of many creeds and of different nationalities have stood shoulder to shoulder on the battle-fields of Europe, gallantly fighting our common foe, and sometimes, sometimes falling, have won for the name of Canada undying fame. Shall we, with all possible speed, send help to these, our heroic defenders, now holding the battle-line, or shall we, breaking faith with them as well as "with those who die"—delay—vote—while the enemy advances?

A Vote For Sexsmith
Means a Vote For
Our
Gallant Soldiers

As the Union Candidate in this Riding, I am putting forth every effort to win East Peterborough to the support of the Borden Union Administration, and, if elected, shall to the utmost of my ability support the same.

To this end I now earnestly solicit the co-operation and influence of every loyal and patriotic man and woman in East Peterborough.

I have the honor to be, faithfully yours,

JOHN A. SEXSMITH.

BOUQUETS FOR LADY MEMBERS OF COMPANY

MR. L. G. NEVILLE MAKES AN EXPLANATION REGARDING THE FINANCES

A shower of bouquets greeted a number of the lady members of the company presenting for the second time the Prince O' Patters, at the Grand Opera House last night. The amateurs gave another highly creditable performance and the audience was a large one.

Mr. L. G. NeVille, who directed the rehearsals, staged the piece, and took the role of William Slick, stepped out of his stage character, to explain to the audience that when he received 60 percent, of the receipts of the two performances, he paid all the expenss, including the opera house. Mr. NeVille was a bit nettled over some reported criticism directed against him.

VOTE FOR

Canada, he discussed the question of sending more men to the trenches, he told of the urgency of the need for more men, and he warned against the Kaiser-coated happenings of the day. He also provided much food for reflection.

Dr. Shields wove an interesting story around John Bull, his wife and his sons, the latter being represented by the colonies, and incidentally spoke of the much-discussed pitfalls in the path of the Canadians overseas. "When did that little spot on the map become comparable to a leper spot", he asked. For seven months in Bramshott, where there was a military population of from 16,000 to 20,000, the total number of cases of drunkenness was 119 There were only 11 cases of drunk and disorderly. "I dare to assert," said the lecturer, "that no civilian population of like number in Canada can show a better record than that"

Dr. Shields said he had no sympathy with the letter which went out from an organization, to Premier Borden, demanding that no further troops be sent overseas until Great Britain took action on the liquor question. He did not believe that prohibition in Britain was within the realms of practical politics. And he was convinced that the British government was not tied up with the big interests. "The great mass of people in England regard their beer as we do our tea," said Dr. Shields.

The recent happenings at Kitchener and the action of the City Council in deciding by a vote of 7 to 5, not to send a letter of regret to Premier Borden, led Dr. Shields to make the statement that "the enemy is at work and at our gates."

Of the referendum, he said the devil could not make a viler suggestion, and any man who made that suggestion was absolutely unworthy of the name of Canadian.

Judge Huycke spoke appreciatively of Dr. Shields and his lecture, which he said should be heard in every hamlet in Canada.

Rev. J. R. Webb was chairman. Miss Ida Sanderson presided at the organ. Young ladies in Red Cross costume took the collection.

—your wife—your mother?

A gift of Victory Bonds works three ways:

The recipient will appreciate it and be benefited;

You have the pleasure of making a valuable gift;

Also you will render a patriotic service to Canada.

And, are you going to give a bonus to your employees this Christmas?

If you are, why not make it in the form of Victory Bonds, fully or partially paid, as you can afford in each case?

Victory Bonds are a little better than cash and Canada needs the money.

HANDSHAKE FOR NEW SOLDIER OF THE KING; GOOD LUCK EXTENDED

Mattress-Making is Not Work of Import.

DISALLOWALS

"I can't say anything too strongly in their favor. They say take the whole staff if necessary," commented Judge Huycke this morning when hearing the application of Alfred H. Fielder, an electrican in the C. G. E. test department. The Company did not ask his exemption. Two married brothers are in khaki.

"I'm willing to go if one of them is brought back," said Fielder. His mother in London, England, whom he helps support, he has not seen for twelve years. His claim was disallowed.

"Good Luck" said the chairman as Fielder departed a soldier of the King.

Fred W. Hartshorn an A2 man was transferred to the next class. He is a munitions inspector. He was previously rejected as unfit for military service. Two brothers enlisted in the 93rd battalion and are now in France. The mother is living.

Herbert Frost of 701 George street a pattern-maker at the Wm. Hamilton Co. said he was willing to join the army, but the company asked temporary exemption. Two months respite was given. Frost has a sister nursing in Mesopatamia and a brother in France. His parents are in England.

The Right Sort

The young man was so frank and his conduct so pleasing to the Tribunal that both Judge Huycke and Magistrate Dumble gave him a parting handshake and wished him good luck.

O. E. Lister presented a discharge record, after 17 months service overseas, and he was promptly exempted. Lister is an electrical tester at the C.G.E.

James Ellis, proprietor of the Peterboro Mattress Factory, applied for the exemption of his employe, James Patrick Sloan, on the grounds of National importance of the work, as mattress-maker.

"The C.G.E. and the Quaker Oats Co. are not applying for the exemption of a single man," remarked the chairman.

The claim was disallowed.

Fred Sutcliffe, in business as a barber and tobacconist at 228 Charlotte street, and categoried A2, was sent back to the Armories for re-examination. He is forced to wear ankle supports.

The Farmer Again

Another interesting case cropped up in the application of Joseph Coughlin, aged 32, who with a brother, father, and two sisters farm 225 acres in Douro of which 175 acres are cultivated. The brother has been exempted from military service, and the father, according to the applicant is unable to do active farm work.

The Tribunal decided to hear Dr. McGrath, the family physician, as to the father's condition before giving a decision.

Eugene Fitzgerald, Park street, a laborer, was sent to the Medical board, with a doctor's letter, he did not have when he was examined and placed in A2 Category. Fitzgerald claimed ill-health and infirmity.

David Ahern, machine hand, aged 21, 423 Downie street, allowed till E Class is called.

Reginald O. Hanes, laborer, aged 25, 39 Lafayette Ave., allowed till E men are called.

Alban C. Wolff, Mgr. men's department store, 452 Donegal street, allowed till E men are called.

John C. Ken-ealley, toolmaker, aged 27, 466 Patterson street, allowed till Class 2 is called out.

Robert K. Harstone, student, aged 20, 565 Water street, allowed till E men are called.

Joseph W. Deyell, farmer, aged 27, R. R. No. 6, Peterborough, allowed till E men are called.

Vincent J. Sullivan, druggist, aged 30, 83 Robinson street, allowed till E men are called.

Henry H. Lush, inspector, aged 27, American Hotel, allowed till E men are called.

George H. Goodfellow, farmer, aged 34, R. R. No. 3, allowed till E men are called.

Bert Crofts, bolter, aged 22, 309 Burnham street, allowed till E men are called.

Gordon Martyn, 134 Lock street, disallowed.

Thomas H. Leahy, Bartholomew Leahy and John J. Leahy, three brothers were exempted so long as they remain at their occupations.

A PREVISION FROM THE PAST BY F. M. D.

A Prevision from the past

Passing some hours a few days ago among my humble collection of books, picked up at haphazard in all sorts of odd corners, I came across a bound volume of magazines published in the year 1832. It was in a decidedly tattered condition and no amount of mending would have sufficed to restore it to a state fit for public or private display on a shelf. The sight of that disreputable-looking specimen of bookcraft took me back in memory many years to the place wherein I had purchased it, a humble shanty in the very heart of Muskoka. That district is today, I believe, in a progressive and prosperous condition: the farmers own substantial buildings, and in spring and summer months cattle roam through rich, luscious meadows which in the time I speak of were existent only in the ardent aspirations of the indefatigable settlers. Indeed, at the time I write of, nothing could have been further from one's mind than the likelihood of picking up a treasure trove in such an out-of-the-way part of the world.

Listlessly I turned over its pages and was just on the point of consigning it to the limbo of oblivion at the bottom of a packing case when my eyes lit on the heading of an article entitled "Aeronautics, Real and Fabulous." The writer was Leigh Hunt, erstwhile friend of Byron and one of foremost literary men of his day. I read the article to the end and learned many things in the reading. Conversant as many of us are with the fact that the art of flying has engaged the minds of mortals from the very earliest times, it may yet be a surprise to some to discover that even in the time of Charles the Second a man was to be found so far-seeing as to foretell the conquest of the air by human agency. In the course of his very interesting article Leigh Hunt instances Bishop Wilkins, the friend of Evelyn, and cites his opinion on the possibility of flying. "I doe seriously, and upon good grounds affirm it possible," says Bishop Wilkins, "to make a flying chariot in which a man may sit, and give such a motion into it as shall convey him through the aire and this perhaps, might be made large enough to carry divers men at the same time together with food for their viaticum, and commodities for traffique. It is not the bigness of anything in this kind that can hinder its motion, if the motive power be answerable thereunto. We see a great ship swim as well as a small cork, and an eagle from the same principles by which flies in the aire as well as a little gnat. This engine may be contrived. Archytas made a wooden dove and Regiomontanus a wooden eagle. The perfecting of such an invention would be of such excellent use, that it were enough not only to make a man, but the age also wherein he lives. For, besides the strange discoveries that it might occasion in this other world, it would be also of inconceivable advantage for travelling above any other conveiance that is now in use, so that notwithstanding all these seeming impossibilities, 'tis likely enough that there may be a means invented of journeying to the moone."

Thus far Bishop Wilkins. Leigh Hunt finishes his article in his own words by saying "Should a time arrive however, when balloons shall be equally safe and guidable, steerable against the wind, etc., (and who in this age of science and steam engines shall say there will not?) it is very pleasant to fancy oneself keeping one's balloon, like a carriage, ordering it hither and thither, visiting one's friends over the housetops and "looking in" not at the street door, but at the drawing room window, etc.

And he adds, "But war. What a horrible thing to be shot in balloon, to fall gloriously that way in battle. Think of two armies, or navies rather, meeting over Salisbury Plain, and commencing their broadsides. What a tumbling forth of bodies and cocked hats; of mid-balloon men and admirals of the sky-blue. "Skyscraper" would then indeed be a proper term for the top of a vessel and "Pegasus" and "Bellerophon" names to some purpose. But war must go out as nations advance, whether they arrive at these altitudes or not. Peaceful railroads will supersede hostile inroads (as old Fuller would have said); nations will no more go to war, when they become such close neighbors and their interests are so bound up together, than Middlesex will fight with Surrey, or tradesmen with their employers."

All which goes to show that, remarkable man as he was, there was one consideration that did not enter into Leigh Hunt's philosophy and that was the inherent brutality of man. That weakness in his moral fibre that compels him, whether he wishes it or not, to distrust his fellowman, and to endeavour to keep pace with him in the invention of weapons of destruction as well as of usefulness in the great race for superiority in the world.

NEW ROUTE TO WESTERN CANADA PROVING POPULAR

Runs Through Famous Belt of New Ontario and the Cobalt Mining District.

On your next trip to Western Canada why not travel over a new route, see the wonderful land opened up in Northern Ontario by the Transcontinental Railway and gain a glimpse of Temagami, and the Cobalt silver mining region?

You may use the famous trains on your journey without any added expense for railway fare as compared with any other route. The International Limited will carry you to Toronto, where "The National" starts on its westbound flight. "The National" uses the rails of the Grand Trunk to North Bay, the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario (Provincial Government Line) to Cochrane, and the Canadian Government Railways to Winnipeg, where it links up with the Grand Trunk Pacific for all important points in Western Canada.

A pleasant daylight run to Toronto, an evening in the Queen City, and "The National" is ready to carry you westward. The departure of "The National" from Toronto is at 9.00 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. North Bay is reached next morning and there opens up for your admiration all the lakeland beauties of the territory served by the T. & N. O. line. These are followed by a wonderfully interesting trip through the sparsely populated territory of New Ontario, giving the traveller an opportunity of inspecting this fertile region, including the famed clay belt where tens of thousands of settlers will make their homes in the future. The area of New Ontario is 330,000 square miles, fully four times the size of Old Ontario, and in addition to great expanses of good farming land, it has wonderful resources in timber, minerals, water power, fish and game.

The three railways have combined to make the passenger service over this new road the equal of that offered anywhere on the continent. The smooth, straight and level roadbed embodies all that has been learned in three quarters of a century of railroad building. The dining car service is unexcelled, and the greatest travel comfort is assured. Full particulars from any Grand Trunk Ticket Agent, or C. E. Horning, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

SIR ROBERT BORDEN THINKS NO MORE MEN WILL BE REQUIRED

Oshawa, Nov.27.—The question of a heckler drew from Sir Robert Borden the important statement that he believes the hundred thousand men provided for in the Military Service Act will be sufficient to reinforce the Canadian army at the front "until victory crowns our effort and peace is restored." The Prime Minister added that "if my confident anticipation in that regard is not realized, then we will have to go back to Parliament and consider the matter with a view to seeing that the Canadian Army Corps is not left without reinforcements."

May Marry in Lent, And Also in Advent

ARCHBISHOP BRUCHESI ANNOUNCES NEW NUPTIAL ARRANGEMENT

Montreal, Nov. 27.—In future marriage may be celebrated in Catholic churches in Lent and Advent. In a circular letter from Archbishop Bruchesi, read in the Catholic churches yesterday, he states: "It is decreed in the new code of Canon Law that marriages may be contracted at all times during the year. The nuptial blessing only is forbidden from the first Sunday of Advent until Christmas Day, inclusively, and also from Ash Wednesday until Easter Sunday, inclusively."

Another announcement made by the Archbishop is this: "In future we shall not have the customary fast days of Advent. Fridays alone shall remain days of abstinence."

Ember Week, however, is excepted from this rule.

A Victory bond has been placed in every home in Saskatoon.

Inheritance Tax Argument

Inheritance taxes are very heavy. Unlike Fire hazard, they are not merely possible, they are absolutely certain.

They deplete your estate at once, and to your heirs represent a specific and definite loss of money.

In New York a $250,000 estate would pay a combined federal and state tax of about $12,000. If left to a friend or distant relative, about $22,000. The John Jacob Astor estate paid $3,150,000. J. P. Morgan has insured his life for $2,500,000 to cover a similar loss.

Thus the estate is provided promptly with the ready cash to pay this tax and other expenses without the need of hurriedly disposing of securities or other assets, perhaps at a loss, to meet such needs. The logic of the situation urges immediate action. Premium rates, however, low, advance with age, and so does the possibility of entering the physically impaired group and losing the opportunity to secure this protection.

Knowing that this loss is actually coming, it is simply a matter of ordinary business prudence to guard against it. The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada offer you a plan to do so at very low cost.

FATHER AND SON TO 100 ACRES

The very acute problem of what portion of the farming community in Class One should or should not be exempt from military service is dealt with fully in instructions issued by Lieut.-Col. R. H. Greer, district military representative, to the military representatives that will act before the appeal tribunals in the Province of Ontario. "Each case will have to be dealt with on its own foundation," say the instructions. The representatives are asked to make sure in each application the kind of farming carried on, and the possibility of replacing the claimant with female help or the aid of boys.

AN AGRICULTURAL COUNTRY.

"It is quite apparent, of course, that in a country so given to agriculture as Canada," say the instructions, "a reasonable proportion of men should be allowed to remain on the land as long as possible." But it is emphasized that this, in all cases, is subsidiary to the primary duty of raising the necessary reinforcements. It is pointed out that, in any event, according to the terms of the Military Service Act, there should be no unconditional exemptions granted, and warns the representatives to watch that the appeal tribunals do not issue such to applicants.

FATHER AND SON ON 100 ACRES.

"The necessity for allowing farm work to be carried on would seem to make it necessary to allow one mature son, even if of Class One, to assist an elderly father on a farm of 100 acres under cultivation. The question of agriculture varies in different portions of the country, from mixed farming to the growth of small stuff in garden farming. In the latter case much of the cultivation can be done by female help, or even children, so that the question of the kind of farming and the necessity for the presence of men in this First Class must be ascertained definitely in each case."

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

CRICKET IN DANGER OF BEING SUPPLANTED BY BASEBALL

New York, Nov. 28.—Baseball has taken hold in England and France, and is now being played in the rear and the front line trenches in northern France and in Belgium, where two years ago it was barely tolerated as "glorified rounders." It is no uncommon thing for a ball game to draw anywhere from 5,000 to 11,000 spectators. A recent press despatch quoted a prominent English sportsman to the effect that cricket is in grave danger of being supplanted by baseball in British esteem, a development the most ardent fanatic would have regarded as absolutely impossible of achievement had it been suggested but a few years ago.

"BIG SIX" MATHEWSON TO DO HURLING FOR THE REDS

He Has Made Good as Pilot in His New Berth

Cincinnati, Nov. 28.—Christy Mathewson, famous pitcher of the Giants, who has made good as manager of the Cincinnati Reds, will return to the pitching mound next season. "Big Six" made this announcement in Cincinnati yesterday. The eighteen-player limit has brought this state of affairs about. Matty says his team will have to get along with six pitchers. Therefore, he is going to keep himself in condition, and will take his turn on the mound. Mathewson publicly announced that he was through as a pitcher when he defeated Mordecai Brown of the Cubs at Chicago on Labor Day, 1916.

COLLINS TO ARMY

Camp Meade, Md., Nov. 27.—It was said here that Eddie Collins, the famous second baseman of the world's champion White Sox, will probably come here soon as a selected man. Collins lives in Philadelphia.

AMERICAN LEAGUERS

Boston, Mass., Nov. 28.—Del Ganer, substitute first baseman of the Boston American League Baseball Club, enlisted at the Boston Navy Yard yesterday as a first class yeoman. He will report for duty next Monday. Jack Barry, Duffy Lewis, "Chick" Shorten and Ernie Shore, all of the Red Sox, have already enlisted at the Boston yard, as has "Rabbit" Maranville, of the Boston Nationals.

WEEGHMAN LIKES TO TALK.

Viewed as a self kidder, President Weeghman of the Chicago Cubs seems to have the world beaten. Always, in the off season, he is making some big trade, and with similar frequency he just misses putting it over. He is out now with a statement that at the New York meeting, in December, he will announce a deal that, in his own words, "will rock the baseball world." Mr. Weeghman says that "it is not one deal, but three deals." This reveals no secret, as it has been known for some time that the Chicago, New York and Philadelphia clubs were discussing a triangular trade.

A fitting time for a magnate to discuss these things is after he has put the dicker over. Weeghman has improved much in his methods, which formerly were to name the player that he sought, and thus—innocently enough on his part—to cause that athlete to become dissatisfied. Now he works more smoothly, but the men that he wishes, though not named by him, are fully aware that he is seeking them. This sort of thing is wrong. Numerous National league players have become disgruntled, and have given only half hearted work, because it has been conveyed to them, that the Giants would like their services. Some of these players now wear the New York uniform.

A FURLOUGH MIGHT HAVE SAVED LIFE OF THIS GALLANT OFFICER

But Col. Alex. Thompson of Port Credit Had to Stay in the Trenches for Three Years Owing to Lack of Reinforcements.

Another great martyr of the voluntary system and of the demand for the delay of conscription has been sacrificed in Col. Alex. Thomson of Port Credit. He survived the perils of nearly three years of incessant war. Long ago he should have been home on furlough. But men of his calibre do not abound, even in a veteran army, and the drying up of the stream of reinforcements kept him at his post. He has paid the victim's price when he should have been saved for the victor's crown.

Such as Col. Thomson never complain of the misofrtunes of war. But they have a right to ask that the spirit of their country is at least creditable to their own service in it, and that they be not too cruelly held under burdens that mortal flesh may bear too long. Less than twenty-nine years of age, rising from lieutenant to colonel while his comrades died around him, he was a quiet citizen, had grown into a great soldier. Three years of war were not enough to bring him relief, because Canadian casualties, these many months, have far exceeded Canadian recruits. The pitiful truth is an abiding reflection upon the promises we made. It should be a spur, red with innocent blood, for the overtaking of our laggard shame.

Example of Unsuspected Splendor

Col. Thomson was an example of the unsuspected splendor that is latent in many who do not dream they are born to fight and to command. He had a lumber business at Port Credit. His public spirit overcome his modesty sufficently to carry him into the village council. A little before the war, the Peel Militia was going to Niagara Camp. The company which was derived from Port Credit had no lieutenants. Its captain skirmished about till he persuaded Mr. Thomson and Gordon Duncan, the eldest son of the Rev. G. P. Duncan, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, to join the army. They went reluctantly, and the camp life inspired them with no enthusiasm for military affairs. But they decided to stay in the militia because there was no quitters' strain in their mothers' sons.

The war came. Lieut. Thomson and Lieut. Duncan, having soldiered for fun, decided at once to soldier for fair. They enlisted in the first contingent. They marched out of Port Credit in August, 1914, with twenty of their neighbors, to the plaudits and the pledges of the crowd. Before winter was out they were in France. Duncan lasted six months. He and half a dozen others were smashed to pieces in their quarters. Thomson remained and seemed to bear a charmed life. He developed the highest qualities of leadership. Soldiers are born, not made, and in their grief his parents know that he was indeed well born. He was in all the big fights in which the Canadians took part. He was promoted on pure merit, took second in command of the gallant 10th, and a few months ago was given command of the 4th.

A Soldier of Highest Breed

And now the young colonel has been claimed. He never lamented his luck, for he was a soldier of the highest breed. But if his friends could be induced to speak their inner minds, they would declare that at least he should have been given a rest and a glimpse of home. His presence, for a little while, would have meant renewed consecration to the war wherever he would have gone. In his own country his appeal for his comrades would have been irresistible. All that has been impossible, because relief was out of the question. But if ever the dead could speak, that time is now. Thomson's voice would be raised with Duncan's, as their friends' voices are heard. They would ask for reinforcements to be sent in the quickest, largest fashion. The blood of the martyrs for their faith has always been the seed of the church. The blood of the martyrs for their country cries aloud from the ground whereon it has been shed. It must be the renewing power of Canadian patriotism, translated into the conscription of men and resources, on which the Union Government is founded, and on which the future honor of Canada must depend.

HINDENBERG HAD PERSONAL CHARGE OF ITALY'S INVASION

Plans for Conquest were Upset by Stubborn Resistance of Italian Troops—British are now Shelling Cambrai—French Losses by Subs in Past Week.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Nov. 29. — The Austro-German invaders in Italy, official despatches received here today from Rome say, are compelling the civilian population of the captured region, without respect to age or sex, to work on the fortifications of the Tagliamento, the left bank of the Piave, and The Cadore zones. A German officer taken prisoner, the despatches say, confirms the report that Hindenburg had personal charge of the drive into Italy. According to this plan, say the despatches, Gen. Conrad's army was to roll down like an avalanche on the sette communic plateau, while the armies of Krobatin and Von Buelow were to pour into the Brenta valley, surmount the mountainous barrier and descend into the fertile Venetian plains. The Italian resistance upset the plans of Hindenburg.

Heavy Artillery Fighting.

Rome, Nov. 29. — Heavy artillery fighting is in progress all along the front, but no further infantry actions of importance are reported by the war office today. On the Lower Piave River the Italian batteries directed a destructive fire at the enemy's boats.

No Change at Cambrai.

London, Nov. 29.—No change in the British positions on the Cambrai front is reported in today's official communication. The Belgians repulsed a German attack.

French Vessels Lost.

Paris, Nov. 29. — Three French steamships of more than 1600 tons and one of less than that tonnage were sunk by submarines or mines during the week ending Nov. 25. One fishing vessel was lost and three steamers were attacked unsuccessfully.

Huns Lose to the French.

Paris, Nov. 29.—The Germans, after a heavy bombardment, undertook extensive raids into French territory but were repulsed with heavy losses. French troops made raids, bringing back prisoners.

Cambrai Besieged.

Berlin (via London), Nov. 29. — British artillery yesterday was shelling the town of Cambrai, the objective of the latest British offensive on the Somme front in France, the German general staff announced today.

APPLICANT WARNED TO KEEP TONGUE SILENT

His Remarks Draw Censure from Tribunal Chairman — Doesn't Want to Fight — Hockey Player Refused.

Timothy P. Bowler, aged 29, is the sole farm-helper of Arthur Blodgett, who has 122 acres in Smith and 25 head of cattle. He is an Englishman.

"Don't you want to get back to the old sod?" asked the chairman.

"No", replied applicant.

"Don't you want to fight?" "No."

"Why?" "I've seen enough of it."

"Isn't England worth fighting for?" "No".

"Is Canada worth fighting for?"

"In a kind of a way.'

"If you talk like that young man, you'll be arrested and sent to the penitentiary," said Judge Huycke. "If you stay in this country you want to keep a still tongue. I'm ashamed of you." Decision was deferred, pending further consideration of the application.

Eugene Fitzgerald came back from the Medical Board with an E. sheet and he was exempted till the class is called.

Another Soldier

William R. Tiernan, one of six brothers, two of whom are in the big fight, left the tribunal, a soldier of the King. He is 27 years old, an A2 man, and is employed by Adam Hall, as a laborer.

The Medical Board placed Timothy Collins, 223 Perry street, insurance superintendent, in A2 category. He based his exemption claim on grounds of infirmity and domestic position, but added that he was willing to fight if conditions were better. He had tried to enlist but when his mother died he did not go overseas.

Col. Clegg, objected to exemption. The Tribunal were favorable to a temporary exemption. Decision was reserved.

Category Changed

Fred Sutcliffe, Charlotte street, barber, reported again, this time with a C. paper. He will await the call for C. men.

Croy Taylor, was ordered to report for re-examination, and to produce before the Board, a letter written by Dr. Harvey, expressing the opinion that Taylor was unfit for service. He is in category A2, aged 29, and a tool-maker.

Grover Francis Halpen, the sterling defense player on the Peterboro Intermediate O.H.A. team last season will "join the throng that go marching along." Grover should be a hard nut for the Germans if he can "get away" for a rush with the line, in an attack on the enemy, as he so well did on many occasions in upholding the colors of the local hockey club. His claim for exemption was disallowed.

Robert P. Armstrong, 85 Hunter street, an auto mechanic by trade, was refused exemption. He is in Class A.

Sherman Estcourt Graham, 709 Bethune street, was refused exemption. He is employed as a driver, and is 22 years old.

James Henry Whatley, 523 George St., will remain a civilian till the bugle sounds for E men.

William Ewart and Roger Patrick Moloney, R. R. No. 9, Peterborough, engaged in farming, were exempted so long as they remain farmers.

MR. HALL STILL RAISES THE CRY OF BLUE RUIN

Says the Allies and Canadians Alike Are Threatened With Famine.

FOOD, NOT MEN THE GREAT NEED

What He Preached to the Farmers at Centreville Last Night.

Mr. R. R. Hall addressed a large meeting of the Electors of South Monaghan at Centreville Sunday School Hall last evening over which Mr. McRoberts presided as chairman.

During the course of his address Mr. Hall pointed out the great danger which confronted the Allies was the shortage of food to feed the men at the front and to feed the civil population of Great Britain, France and Italy.

The British Government sent representatives to both Canada and the United States to urge upon both Governments the absolute necessity of producing at least ten million tons of food stuffs consisting of wheat, meats and fats upon the receipt of which the whole success of the Allies depended and the non-receipt of which would certainly result in "victory "slipping from their united grasp."

The Highest Duty

"The highest and most patriotic duty," said Mr. Hall, "that the farmers of South Monaghan can perform in the best interests of Canada and her allies is to strain every nerve to produce during this coming year the greatest quantity of food stuffs that they possibly can and thereby help fill the orders for cereals and meats which the British statesmen fervently pray that we may send to them.

Hear Sir Robert Borden

"I would strongly advise every one present to go to Millbrook and hear Sir Robert Borden and the Hon. Wesley Rowell for themselves or if they cannot go to Millbrook then come to Peterborough and hear them speak in Peterborough and you will find that neither Sir Robert Borden nor the Hon. Wesley Rowell will propound any policy that will look forward to the production of grain and meat stuffs during the coming year on a large and extensive scale. Neither one of these men will point out to you as practical farmers what steps they are actually taking to produce in this country 200,000,000 bushels more wheat than we did last year and to produce 300,000,000 bushels of oats more than Canada did last year, nor will they show what steps they propose to take to produce double the quantity of meat stuffs during the coming year than Canada did last year.

And yet the British statesmen have appealed to Sir Robert Borden for food to feed the British people, but he neglects to take any steps whatever to increase production.

Calls It Double Curse

The neglect of Sir Robert Borden to lend Government aid on an extensive scale is a double curse. It will be a curse to the British people to be deprived of the food they require to keep them from starvation and it will be a curse to our people who live in our cities and towns to go hungry through Borden's neglect.

There is no one in the Dominion of Canada more anxious to win this war than I am. To win this war I believe that we should co-operate with the British Government and ask them for their advice how Canada can best serve. If Great Britain says she must have men then for God's sake let us send the men at Montreal, Nov. 29.—Addressing an audience at Verdun, near here, last night, Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, said that the Government expected to get the one hundred thousand men required from the unmarried men classed now and being called out, but he did not think the people of Canada would suggest that Canada should drop her military effort because one hundred thousand men were not forthcoming from the unmarried men.

HAD SECOND EXAMINATION AND RETURNED FIT FOR THE FRONT

Several Claims for Exemption Disallowed at the Council Chamber Tribunal This Morning — One Hearing in Private

At the tribunal in the Council Chamber this morning the first case heard was that of Archibald Wilbert Ackinson of R. R. No. 2 Smith, who rents a farm from his father, and owns the stock thereon. His sister keeps house for him, his father lives in the city, and he has no brother of military age. Exemption was allowed.

Hearing in Private.

Harry Currin, 272 McDonnell street, who has a father and mother living and two brothers, one of whom is an invalid, claimed exemption on the grounds of serious hardship owing to domestic complications. He asked for a private hearing, which was allowed.

A Discharged Man.

John S. Holmes, 133 Aylmer street, showed his discharge papers from the 23rd Battery at Barriefield Camp in 1915, and claimed exemption on this pea. His home is in Belleville, and he was discharged owing to weak eyes. Holmes is classed in A2 category, but declares he is physically unfit owing to several ailments which he did not disclose to the Medical Board. As he appeared anxious for another examination he was allowed this opportunity. Holmes subsequently returned from the armories and reported that the doctors advise that there is nothing seriously wrong with him. Exemption was disallowed.

Must Join the Colors.

Francis J. Gradey, butcher, works with his father, Jas. Gradey, Charlotte street, and has three brothers, the oldest of whom is eighteen. He asked exemption on the ground that he is needed by his father in business. Claim was disallowed.

Claim Refused.

John Buller, tinsmith, 281 Aylmer street, said he is the main support of his family, his father being dead and a younger 18 years old brother being delicate. His sister barely earns enough to support herself.

Decision Reserved.

W. J. Collins, 88 Hunter street East, a telephone inspector, claimed that he is needed at home to look after his mother and a younger brother and sister. An old brother is also asking exemption. His mother owns the house she lives in, and has rental from two other houses and a grocery business run by his married brother. He also has a brother at the front.

Exemption Disallowed.

Michael Coughlin, 439 Euclid avenue, who works in the Peterborough Canoe Factory, complained that his physical condition unfits him for the front. His claim for exemption was supported by a letter from his employers, saying his drafting would mean a loss to their business. This claim was disallowed.

An American Subject.

Thos. B. Martin, 368 Downie street, is an American citizen over draft age, and consequently does not come under the military act in either country.

Decision Deferred.

Wm. Jas. MacFarlane, 261 Lake street, is an only son and his two sisters are delicate. He is a carpenter working with the DeLaval Co. While his father earns good money when employed he has been ill for a long time, and may not be

CANADA URGED TO ECONOMY IN USE OF COAL

U. S. Fuel Controller Points Out Necessity of Conserving the Supply.

MORE NEWS FROM RUSSIANS

Rumors of Another Revolution — American Government Reserves Decision.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Washington, Nov. 29.—The necessity for the practice of the strictest economy in the use of coal in Canada is emphasized in a communication forwarded to the Dominion Fuel Controller by the Fuel Administration here today. Calling attention to the fact that the most intensive kind of coal conservation movement is under way in this country, the Fuel Administration asked Eastern Canada to adopt a similar method to safeguard its supply which is derived chiefly from the United States.

Word From Russia.

Out of the maze of the Russian complications there emerged today word of renewed trouble at Petrograd with the hint of another revolution. What proportion the movement assumed was a matter of conjecture, early reports telling of firing, and of the wounding of several persons and an epidemic of political turmoil. No official message has come on the outbreak.

Like other Entente Allies, the United States Government is reserving a formal expression of its attitude toward the Bolsheviki regime pending further developments, and its concern is focussed largely on the conference set for next Sunday between the Bolsheviki leaders and the Germans regarding an armistice and peace.

"FOR A GREATER PETERBOROUGH."

PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1917

DR. SHIELDS' ADDRESS.

DR T T SHIELDS is acknowledged to be the most prominent personage in the Baptist Church in Canada, if not in all America and the entire world. He is matchless in his oratory and unexcelled in his knowledge of human affairs. From first-hand experience he knows the world and the people in it. The fact that he has been called from Canada on three separate occasions to fill the pulpit of the famous Spurgeon Tabernacle in London, England, is all that need be cited as to his reputation in the denomination to which he belongs.

When Dr. Shields came to Peterborough to deliver an address he was not expected to talk politics, and he did not. But he certainly did preach sturdy patriotism to his audience, and roused his hearers to a new sense of their duties and responsibilities as citizens of Canada and members of the human family. He spoke with all the authority of a man whose inspiration is the knowledge he has gained at first hand. There was no trimming of opinion to catch this or that faction. He was fearless as he was eloquent.

To the friends of the Canadian soldiers in Europe, Dr. Shields brought a message of comfort by refuting the slanders that malicious or misinformed and ill-judging persons have from time to time uttered against them. Their morals are not impaired by their new life. They are as safe from temptation in trench or training camp as they are at home, probably more so, hemmed in as they are by military discipline.

But above all Dr. Shields was impressive when he emphasized the necessity for sending men overseas to help win the war. All the sophistries of the politician scheming for place were torn to shreds. It was in no sense a political address, but the moral was obvious. It was a clarion call to the Canadain voters to arise and do their duty.

THE NEED OF MEN.

THE TOTAL WASTAGE of Canadian troops during the first two weeks of November was 11,211, or 9,000 almost ten battalions, in excess of the number of recruits. And yet the Laurier party, including Mr. Hall and The Examiner, have the effrontery to contend that the voluntary system is all that is required. And in the face of this fearful wastage they would call a halt in order to take a referendum as to whether more men are needed. Sir Wilfrid Laurier taking a trip to Europe in the meantime to look the situation over.

If the Canadian fighting force in Europe decreases by 18,000 men a month, it is not hard to compute how long it will be before the four divisions are exhausted, and Canada has no further individual part in the war.

A MODERN MARC ANTONY.

WHEN JULIUS CAESAR was slain, Marc Antony was selected to pronounce his funeral oration. He set out to counsel peace in the community, forgiveness for the slayer of his friend. That was his avowed purpose, but the wily orator had other plans in view, and he accomplished his purpose when, while pleading for toleration, he so worked upon the fellings of the populace, what with showing them Caesar's vesture wounded and his body pierced with daggers, that the "very stones of Rome rose in mutiny," and Brutus and his fellow-conspirators were obliged to flee for safety.

Mr. R. R. Hall, somewhat unnecessarily, it would seem, advises the people of Peterborough to give Sir Robert Borden a fair hearing when he speaks in this city Friday night. If he had stopped with that counsel, no one would have been justified in suspecting him of working out a plan somewhat similar to that devised by the foxy Marc Antony.

But Mr. Hall lacks the tact of the famous Roman orator. Antony confined himself to facts, while Mr. Hall gives free rein to his imagination. Antony told the cold truth, Mr. Hall wanders off into fiction. Antony handed out polished periods of refined satire. Mr. Hall jabs his opponent with the javelin of coarse vituperation. Antony's charges had the point of truth. No one is likely to take seriously Mr. Hall's picture of the Premier. If they did, the people would be inclined to go directly opposite to his advice, following the example of the Roman populace of old.

"There is no doubt," says Mr. Hall, "that the maladministration of Sir Robert Borden during the last six years deserves the severest censure. He has tamely submitted to the grafter."
